The image is a series of four panels arranged in a vertical column, each depicting a different expression of anger or frustration. The panels are divided into two sections, with the top and bottom sections being red and the middle section being black.
In the top section, there is a black and white image of a person with their mouth open, shouting or yelling. The text above the image reads "FFFF" in a stylized font, which is commonly used to represent a sound effect or a sound.

The bottom section of the image is a red and black image of a person with their mouth open, shouting or yelling. The text above the image reads "FF" in a stylized font, which is commonly used to represent a sound effect or a sound.
The overall style of the image is cartoonish and expressive, with the use of bold colors and stylized text to convey the emotion of anger or frustration.

The image is a tarot card featuring a central illustration of a sun with rays emanating from it, surrounded by a group of animals. The sun is depicted with a yellow and orange color scheme, and it is surrounded by a burst of red and orange rays. The animals include a dog, a cat, and a bird, all of which are depicted in a stylized manner. The dog is positioned to the left of the sun, the cat is to the right, and the bird is at the bottom of the illustration. The background of the card is white, and there is a watermark text at the bottom that reads "XXI" and "LA-LUNE". The style of the image is reminiscent of traditional tarot card illustrations, with a focus on symbolism and imagery.

Title: The Convergence of Realities

Slide 1 - The Ancient Drama: Tiamat and Nibiru
"From the depth of Sumerian myths, Tiamat, the primordial goddess of the ocean, waged a cosmic battle against the celestial bodies. Among them was Nibiru, a mysterious planet said to hold life. Ancient alien theorists speculate that these entities might symbolize extraterrestrial civilizations."

Slide 2 - Parasite Alien Theory and its Influence
"Proponents of the parasite alien theory postulate that some extraterrestrials feed off human energy, fostering chaos and discord. They purport that these beings influenced Tiamat's clash with Nibiru, shaping our collective unconscious and setting a course for our history."

Slide 3 - The Reality Construct: Demiurge and Archons
"In Gnostic thought, the Demiurge, a lesser divine being, and its minions, the Archons, created our material world. Critics liken our civilization to a 'prison planet,' ensnared in physicality and blinded from our spiritual essence by these cosmic architects."

Slide 4 - The Fear of the New: Vax and 5G
"Rapid advancements like vaccines (vax) and 5G technology alarm those fearing control mechanisms of the 'Archons.' They see potential threats in the guise of progress, drawing parallels to Graphene's versatility and its speculated use in enhancing human connectivity and control."

The image is a close-up photograph of a man's face, which appears to be covered in a thick layer of white substance, possibly soap or shaving foam. The man's eyes are closed, and his mouth is slightly open, suggesting a smile. His facial expression is joyful, and he is looking directly at the camera. The background is blurred, indicating that the focus is on the man's face. The lighting in the image is soft, and the overall tone is warm. There are no discernible texts or other objects in the image. The style of the image is candid and informal, capturing a candid moment of the man's expression.

Slide 5 - The Antichrist Symbolism
"In Christian eschatology, the Antichrist embodies ultimate deception and evil. In this narrative, it symbolizes the manipulation and control of the Demiurge and Archons, an emblem of the structures keeping humanity oblivious to their spiritual potential."

Slide 6 - Guidance of the Hermetic Laws
"Hermetic principles, 'as above, so below,' provide a roadmap for navigating these complex realities. They advise an understanding of the cosmic and divine order reflected in our material world, offering tools for spiritual growth amidst perceived chaos."

Slide 7 - Convergence
"As threads of ancient myths, Gnostic teachings, modern technology fears, and Hermetic wisdom intertwine, we are reminded of the complexity and interconnectedness of existence. In discerning truth from illusion, we must strive for balance, understanding, and openness to the realms beyond our immediate perception."

Slide 8 - The Choice
"In the face of this grand narrative, we have a choice - to live in fear and confusion or embrace the challenge of our journey towards enlightenment, unraveling the mysteries of the universe, from Tiamat and Nibiru to vaccines and 5G, from the Demiurge and Archons to the wisdom of Hermetic laws."

Remember, this narrative is a mixture of ancient mythology, speculative theories, modern technological developments, and esoteric philosophies. It's a theoretical story and should be taken as such.

Second video I dunno, those things are so easily fakable with AI. It's basically just 2D geometric shapes, you can just add some filters to make ot look like it's from a microscope. Optionally one can check if there is some element that crystalizes into such a structure, they simply claim it is unnatural but is ot really unnatural though? They could be looking at some liquid where elements are crystalizing due to drought or whatever and simply claim it's the vaccine.

https://www.battelle.org/site/battelle-applied-genomics-today-newsletter/featured-experts/guarav-sharma
It's because he was taking money from DTRA, the same agency that funded EcoHealth Alliance, to look for ways to penetrate the blood-brain barrier, as part of DTRA's Blood-Brain Barrier Program. nanotransducers go inside the human brain and be powered and controlled wirelessly with electromagnetic fields, which, in turn, is part of DARPA's N3 program to make nanoparticle-based nonsurgical wireless neural laces.
Charles Lieber, that Harvard scientist that was charged with fraud for taking money from China's Thousand Talents Plan, was also receiving grant money from the DOD (DARPA, ONR, AFOSR, NIH, and MITRE), and his papers contain descriptions of how silicon nanowires can be used to form the basis of a nanoparticle neural lace (see N3, Next-Generation Nonsurgical Neurotechnology).

"And the third angel followed them, saying with a loud voice, If any man worship the beast and his image, and receive his mark in his forehead, or in his hand..."

Rev 14. Furthermore, there is a counter-mark of the father, also in Rev 14

"And I looked, and, lo, a Lamb stood on the mount Sion, and with him an hundred forty and four thousand, having his Father's name written in their foreheads."

Both suggest some sort of choice in the matter, either to worship the beast, or to recieve the mark of god instead.

Take the "Contaminant in Moderna vaccines suspect to be metallic particles" article in your post. I found the article on Pharmtech and on the follow up article it said two people died from it, the nips immediately stopped using those series of production.
If there is a large NWO Tiamat conspiracy going down why do the nips stop injecting the metal contaminated vaxxes? Why wasn't it hidden there is metal inside? Why hasn't that article been deleted?

So are these parasites aliens or demons? Is "God" good aliens or actually God? Are the Anu-naki insectoids Tiamat spores, a race created by Tiamat, or the first race created by God/the good aliens? Did humans evolve from the ant people? The first parts makes it seem like Tiamat was an ancient alien super organism, while the later makes it out to be literally the devil created by literal God, and satan just so happened to be a gigantic parasite. These infographs go too much into the symbolism without answering much of the basic questions. Very cool and interesting read though

Ok anons, PSA time.
Here are six supplements you can take to cleanse yourself of the lingering S1 spike protein that gets shed from vaxxies and infects your brains:

1. N-Acetyl Cysteine (NAC)
>detoxes the liver where the spike accumulates and crosses the blood-brain barrier to protect against prions, interferes with the spike joining with your ACE receptors
2. Nattokinase
3. Quercetin
>both proven to interfere with spike
4. Lemon juice (bottled stuff is just fine and cheap) >drink 1/4 cup a day in water, do not add sugar
>detoxes the liver and interrupts the S1 spike from traveling up the vagus nerve into your brain
>DO NOT underestimate its effectiveness
>it's a miracle in a bottle for $3
5. turmeric/curcumin (the Spring Valley brand from Walmart is actually high quality and contains ginger as well)
>powerful anti-inflammatory >crosses the BBB to protect against prions
6. Nicotine
>forces your modified classical monocytes (white blood cells) to undergo apoptosis (cellular death) and expunge the S1 spike from your bloodstream
>hey i wonder why the feds behind "Biden" wanted to force the cig and vape companies to remove nicotine
Now you know.

"The cabal has developed some kind of a vaccine they can put into food. But it is not a vaccine, or anything like that. It is their nano technology. There was always a question of delivery, because an injection is the best way to put something into someone. But it appears they now have the ability to add these nano crystals to food, without detection, and without them degrading or without an issue with them reaching the bloodstream."

>So they don't care about consent anymore? They're going to just put this nano crap they created into the food? Will they announce it or not?

"The cabal already knows there will be a resistance to forced vaccination, and that this resistance is actually growing. So, they are simply going to bypass any conflict in the way of introducing this new vaccine, and they are actually going to introduce this technology they have directly to the food supply."

This is such a big change in how they're going to do this. Are they still going to use the drones, the threats, the military, the police, to push around the people who resist?
Gideon: "They absolutely will. But there may not be a direct or forced vaccination plan in the obvious sense or literal sense we assumed, with needles and a solution injected by a nurse or doctor. This is a different direction."

>what do we know about the nano crystals themselves?

"We have seen this phenomena of vaccinated people transmitting Bluetooth signals. You have to understand, that was testing. It is not intended for the first round of this program, which is designed to kill. That was all a test for this technology, which I have said for months. The real use for this nano technology will be for the non-vaccinated who they want to live and survive, but they want them marked."

We see the hydra parasite is present, we see the Bluetooth tech is within the blood, and there is much more. Whether this is the exact same formulation, I do not know, I just know it has already been tested. Once in the body, you are marked."

>Do you think these weird UV street lights play into this? What about Starlink? 5G?
"Yes, they do, they all do. It will all be activated once this mark is in people. It is already in some of the vaccinated, but they are secondary to this."

"Let us be very clear, they have no problem killing off Billions of people, even if those people are the most compliant, most brainwashed. They do not need them, and they do not need them on this Earth. In fact, they need them in the next life. That is another level of spiritual understanding not even needed to understand why they would do this. In a very simple sense, they are achieving their goals with a mass culling. Who is left over are those who resisted, and this is not a problem for them."

"You have to understand the reward they get if they conquer those like you or me, or mark them. We are the true prize, Bill. They do not need or care about the sheep, not anymore. The usefulness of the sheep has come and gone. They are planning to create a very different world. We spoke before about it, a feudal technocracy. They don't need Billions of mindless sheep for that to function. In fact, it is more advantageous for them to have a smaller population, tightly controlled."

It is much less a focus to try to get you or me vaccinated right now, they know we will never take it, no matter what virus nonsense they push."

"They do, but not this. The nano crystals serve as the mark, and will have a wide range of functionality that they do not want in their own bodies. My suspicion is there will be some detrimental effects of the nano crystals possibly to cognitive function, as well. Certainly, the Sovereigns do not want to be exposed to that."

They've tested a lot of things on the vaccinated, but the purpose is to kill them, that's it. Anyone who took the vaccine by their own choice, the purpose is to kill. Of course, in the course of issuing billions of these doses, the cabal has put out all kinds of experimental doses, too. Those experiments are just tests for their future formulation that will be used post-Reset

"We can already see what will happen, Bill, because some of this was tested on the vaccinated. >Right. They don't want to kill us with it.

"Their goal is to keep certain people alive as long as possible, hooked up to the Metaverse, living out 'lives' within a virtual world, that the cabal totally controls."

But anon, you don't know the whole story. They have the technology to keep you alive forever. Forever. That's their goal."

"It is. I'm just trying to tell you, this goes beyond injections and a dystopian world. There's a bigger plan. It's to enslave souls and keep them here, trapped, forever. They've been researching ways to extend life years, not just for them, but for us."

>Can they do it, technology-wise?

"Yes, they can."

>How do they stop a person from aging? People die, eventually.

"They figured it out with the hydra, the ageless, never-dying parasite."

>Ah, right, found in the vaccine.

"No, of course not. Many will die. The current crop of vaccines are doing the killing. They have a plan for the third world, to kill them, too, but not now. What they want, and this is the most upsetting part, is this plan is for the unvaccinated. They aren't going to do this with anyone who got vaccinated."

>So after the Reset, will they still use the deadly vaccines?

"Sparingly, yes, to terminate people they don't want to put into this state of eternal existence. But the primary focus will be on the unvaccinated. Because the previously vaccinated took a death sentence. Every, last one of them will be dead within ten years, and they're irreparably poisoned and damaged."

"Yes, current vaccines are murder weapon mainly and the choice people made to get it. They slowly do damage to the heart, blood vessels and so on. Each batch had different amounts of the mRNA poison. Everyone will die within ten years or so, but each will die at different, random times. They can also be tracked, too, but it's somewhat secondary to the main goal, which was murder."

"[Unvaxxed are] Doomed. The unvaccinated will be hunted like rabbits, because the cabal needs them alive and enslaved."

"very soon. Then they will have about seven years to get things sorted. The vaccinated will die off, and go the other side and fight for the cabal there. The unvaccinated will be forced to take the nano-hydra, and placed in extremely restrictive conditions.
All of the logistics of transitioning the world will take place over those seven years of tribulation, then in 2030 it will be done. The vaccinated, dead and gone. The third world, mostly disposed of, with some left over for other purposes, and the previously unvaccinted now vaccinated with the nano-hydra, tucked away, safe, hooked up to the machines, living in the Metaverse, and immortal. Unable to move on and join the righteous warriors on the other side. This is their vision. No one even knows about it, no one is even stopping it."

If the magnitude of what you're saying is correct, then it stands to reason CERN dropping a section of the magnetopause during high operation at the wrong time of extra-terra activity would also be significant, although not immediate.

While I think the idea is cool I have some serious doubts about all this.

If Tiamat is an extraterrestrial parasite why are always earth beings taken as examples?
>Look! (Thing) looks like an earthly arthropod, this means we have aliens inside us.
If that thing is alien it shouldn't have much resemblance to what we have here, the worst offender is the extinct crustacean that carries it's eggs around on stalks.

If Tiamat needs humans to rebuild it why does it kill so many with clots? What parasite kills it's host before it can reproduce? You can argue that it isn't optimized fir human hosts but fiven it's an all powerful ancient being that dwelled wargh before it should be comfortable with human hosts.

What would the elite gain from reviving the giant, evil space lobster?

I hope you mean something akin to a lobster and not an actual lobster, the myth that they are immortal is reddit science. I have kept a shit ton of long lived crustaceans and they can and will die of old age sooner or later.

There is literally only one thing I know much about and it's crustaceans and inverts

I took the vaxx because my dad has a compromised immune system and I do too sometimes. Though I didn't take my rheumatism meds for months when getting the jab, I had a inflammatory flare up from the rheumatism but am otherwise free of clots and symptoms. I believe in synchronistic toxicity. There are many different types of jabs and varying claims of pollutants, structures, parasites, synthetics, bots, transmitters etc.
At what point are waves and harmonics going to collide with a cosmic event and what would be the most effecient way to influence that outcome as an outside trigger

Pray.
Throw away smartphone, buy some basic dumb one.
Isolate from the vaxxies, the shedding is real.
AVOID hospitals
Don't ever try to kill yourself, if you die some other way before 2030, you are lucky bastard.
Have own room with solid doors you can close on the key as we don't know if 5g ramping will turn vaxxies into violent animals.
Have a gun/ some weapon with you
Do not eat frozen foods, frozen pizzas, veggies etc ((don't even ask, the mark will be there starting 1st july))
avoid EMF radiation, don't watch TV
After some time, there will be famine, supply chain will collapse, as vaxxies are dying in droves now.

Then ((They)) will propose you special biometric cards, so you can receive gov food, do NOT TAKE IT. Do not even touch it!!
REFUSE CBDC. It's all part of Beast system.
live as naturally as you can
Be ready to die. Be ready to be hungry, it will come later.
Finally, be strong in the Lord and in his mighty power.
Put on the full armor of God, so that you can take your stand against the devil’s schemes. For our struggle is not against flesh and blood, but against the rulers, against the authorities, against the powers of this dark world and against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly realms.
Therefore put on the full armor of God, so that when the day of evil comes, you may be able to stand your ground, and after you have done everything, to stand. Stand firm then, with the belt of truth buckled around your waist, with the breastplate of righteousness in place, and with your feet fitted with the readiness that comes from the gospel of peace.
In addition to all this, take up the shield of faith, with which you can extinguish all the flaming arrows of the evil one.
Take the helmet of salvation and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God.

And pray in the Spirit on all occasions with all kinds of prayers and requests. With this in mind, be alert and always keep on praying for all the Lord’s people.

The gene therapy injection represents the fake jewish Synagogue of Satans death blow for humanity, after which those who took it will have no chance of redemption or salvation. Forget about the blood clots and heart attacks, the real issue is what happens to your soul.

The Bible indicates that almost the whole last generation alive, which according to Jesus will be those that see the creation of the modern state of Israel, will be "deceived" into taking the Mark through "pharmakeia", the root word for "pharmaceutical". Hence, we have a clear scriptural indication that the Mark will be a form of medicine delivered through something shaped like a pointed stake.

Furthermore, the vaccine is associated with "Luciferase", which is obviously the name of the Beast. Look into Microsoft patent #060606, and the picture becomes clear. Nowhere in the Bible does it say we will know it is the Mark, on the contrary, Revelation 19:20 reads:

"And the beast was taken...he DECEIVED them that had received the mark of the beast"

The gene therapy injection is the Mark because it literally changes you out of the image of God. Jesus did not shed his blood for transhumans that modified their DNA.

Let's take a look at the rider on the white horse, wearing a "crown" (corona), and carrying a "bow". Interestingly enough, "bow" in the concordance translates to the Greek word "toxon", meaning "poison arrow", another striking congruence with a syringe.

I will not elaborate on obviously toxic spike proteins, as this issue is obvious for anyone who is not a literal retard, but the fact that you are making conscious decision and taking a side with people who bend the knee to the authority, who betrayed their own humanity injecting gene-altering substance changing them from the image of God, just because government and media told them to, says a lot about you.
Injected individuals are not to be trusted. Never. Don't make the mistake of thinking these people are stupid. They simply have different goals, while you or I care about truth and seek it, they care solely about power, if you understand this you will see how their seemingly stupid actions start to make sense, no matter the situation they will always seek to be in a position of power, perceived or otherwise, some common tactics include belittling, lying, manipulation, gaslighting, aligning with authority, faking victimhood, virtue signalling and whatever else allows them to attempt to talk down to people like you and I who they perceive to be a threat.

This is why they are so puzzled at the idea the elites would kill them, they know they are not stupid but instead evil, they think they are on the same team as those in power and will likewise do and say anything to get ahead in life, this perceived power also makes them arrogant which is misunderstood as stupidity.

They are not mindless cattle, they are the type of people who would sell their own family to get ahead in life, they are scum. They all took the injection to be in the winning team, out of pride. What's the worst sin?

The image is a sepia-toned photograph featuring a young child with dark hair and eyes. The child's face is the central focus of the image, with a slight tilt to the right. The child's eyes are wide open, and the pupils are visible, giving the impression of a focused or attentive expression. The child's mouth is slightly open, and there is a small amount of drool visible near the corner of the mouth. The child is wearing a white collared shirt, which is visible at the bottom of the image. The background is out of focus, with a blurred appearance that suggests a natural outdoor setting, possibly a garden or park. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The style of the image is reminiscent of a sepia-toned photograph, which gives it a vintage or nostalgic feel.

Yes, it's possible to deactivate the MAC address using a simple EMP. You can find instructions on how to build these devices online. It's effectively a coil and a power supply. The idea is to create an alternating magnetic field with enough strength to mess up whatever is stuck in the arm.

But the graphene nano-lace does not stay constrained to the arm. It goes all over. You can deactivate the MAC, but it's a question of how effective it is overall.
NAC should work.

"and all nations deceived by the pharmakeia"

Satan understood that he couldn’t immediately tie the mark to buying and selling, or people would be immediately suspicious - even the most sleepy Christians. So, what he did was put out a “vaccine” and separated it (for the most part) from buying and selling. However, let’s not forget that there were many places with vaccine passports, and on top of that, many lost their jobs due to vaccine mandates.

Anthony Patch explained this well. He said that it is a “scaffolded” approach to the mark of the beast. Think of it this way:

Step 1: Volunteers take the mark. This is done voluntarily with absolutely no pressure. A huge chunk of people took it at this point.
Step 2: Bribes. Next,they bribed people with money, groceries, and even donuts! If they couldn’t get you to take it voluntarily, they tried to give you something to sell your soul - Simpsons reference in the link - just for fun.
Step 3: Coercion - This is when the vaccine mandates came out. It was still a choice, but a lot of people were coerced. Still, it wasn’t completely forced. People had a "choice" not to do it, though it wasn't a fun choice.
Step 4: Forced Vaccines - Angela’s dream will show this scenario. There will be a choice to take the vaccine or die, which we will get into the next session. We haven’t gotten to this stage yet, but it will come.

So, now, with a digital ID coming, how will this digital ID look? When it first comes out, it might just be on people’s phones and completely voluntary. As time goes on, there may be QR codes, quantum dot tattoos, or fingerprint scans.

1 Peter 1
13 Therefore, preparing your minds for action, and being sober-minded, set your hope fully on the grace that will be brought to you at the revelation of Jesus Christ. 14 As obedient children, do not be conformed to the passions of your former ignorance, 15 but as he who called you is holy, you also be holy in all your conduct, 16 since it is written, “You shall be holy, for I am holy.” 17 And if you call on him as Father who judges impartially according to each one's deeds, conduct yourselves with fear throughout the time of your exile, 18 knowing that you were ransomed from the futile ways inherited from your forefathers, not with perishable things such as silver or gold, 19 but with the precious blood of Christ, like that of a lamb without blemish or spot. 20 He was foreknown before the foundation of the world but was made manifest in the last times for the sake of you 21 who through him are believers in God, who raised him from the dead and gave him glory, so that your faith and hope are in God.

22 Having purified your souls by your obedience to the truth for a sincere brotherly love, love one another earnestly from a pure heart, 23 since you have been born again, not of perishable seed but of imperishable, through the living and abiding word of God; 24 for

“All flesh is like grass
and all its glory like the flower of grass.
The grass withers,
and the flower falls,
25 but the word of the Lord remains forever.”

And this word is the good news that was preached to you.

1 Peter 5
8 Be sober-minded; be watchful. Your adversary the devil prowls around like a roaring lion, seeking someone to devour. 9 Resist him, firm in your faith, knowing that the same kinds of suffering are being experienced by your brotherhood throughout the world. 10 And after you have suffered a little while, the God of all grace, who has called you to his eternal glory in Christ, will himself restore, confirm, strengthen, and establish you. 11 To him be the dominion forever and ever. Amen.

I just wanted to add that, even tho I am barely sentient because of my booze life, I really noticed all vaxxed people I know being more and more retarded. I thought i am getting slow, but they are fucking unhinged. They don't care about nothing, just pleasure and their own stuff. Don't care about anybody else. I noticed they are forgetting shitton of stuff, like basic everyday stuff like some dementia olders, i had a gran with dementia and they act similar, vaxxed are so combative lately i started to even avoid them

Do not worry brother, even such sinful and drowsy states are temporary. Do not seek help from me, but rather seek help from Jesus Christ.

Pray (as in Matthew 6). Only God can truly help you.

I offer you, however, a bodily stopgap version which may or may not help you.
According to one author, alcohol addiction is caused by beryllium poisoning in the brain's pleasure centers. The way to resolve this is
1) remove sources of beryllium (usually antique or hurricane lamps, throw them out)
2) intake alpha-lipoic acid (dosage not given in source)
3) intake 3000mg glutamine daily (can be bought as a supplement for bodybuilders)

Once again, this is a bodily stopgap version. You will get nowhere without prayer (and fasting).

That sounds horrible and related to all this but I've never seen that. Edward Riordan back in February remote viewed that when this vaxx parasite starts to mature it will cause people to stiffen up and eventually fold over like fetal position. Scary similarity to what you're describing.

If you find the prophecy you're thinking of post it, it sounds interesting.

yes this prophecy said exactly something like this but i remember a bit it was some russian or greek very old orthodox prophecy. I could not be riodan. I have a fucking memory hole, but it was about some bug, white parasite taking over humans, and it said that you should never touch the corpse// or fully infected man, its contagious. It said it after full maturity, after taking the spine will 'FOLD' people. Damn, I remember this details so clearly yet i dont remember from... I am 100% sure about this. It was 'white' parasite taking the spine, taking the brain. In this prophecy 'Righteous man will be escaped from civillisation' and in some obscure remote lands, this parasite ridden people will look for them, but randomly FOLD, into like baby-like position and never get back up. NOT LARPING

The image is a digital illustration featuring two cartoon characters. The character on the left is a green frog with a large, round head and a wide, smiling mouth. The character on the right is a green frog with a smaller, round head and a smaller, more open mouth. Both characters have large, expressive eyes and are wearing a blue shirt. The background is a gradient of light blue to white, and there are small, circular symbols or icons in the upper right corner of the image. The style of the image is cartoonish and seems to be a meme or a playful representation.

The image is a collage of various images and text, predominantly featuring a discussion about the brain and its connection to the mind. At the top, there is a title that reads "SO, Spike Proteins, Schumann Resonance, Mind Control, Al, Tamas, Antarctica." Below the title, there are three images: one of a person's hand holding a piece of paper with text, another of a computer screen displaying a graph with blue and green lines, and the third showing a person's face with a question mark above it.
The text below the images is a series of questions and answers, with the first question being "Do you think you're a human?" and the answer "No, I'm a computer program." The text continues with a discussion about the brain and its connection to the mind, mentioning the Schumann Resonance and the concept of "spike proteins."
In the bottom left corner, there is a screenshot of a video, and in the bottom right corner, there is a logo with the text "SO, Spike Proteins, Schumann Resonance, Mind Control, Al, Tamas, Antarctica."
The image also includes a series of images and text related to the concept of "Tikkun," which is a Jewish term for repairing or making right. The text mentions "Tikkun Olam," which is a Jewish concept of repairing the world.
The overall style of the image is informative and educational, with a focus on the intersection of science, technology, and philosophy.

lol case and point. You people have no knowledge of physical, spiritual, or occultic matters. You randomly string together a bunch of words numbers and symbols you see and mistake your mental illness and elementary-tier understanding of symbols as Wisdom and Numerology.

For people who don't get it, this guy is referencing the human genome. It was recently proven the human genome stabilizes at exactly 144,000 peptides or something of DNA. That is for two-strand DNA helix. If you add a third strand (which mRNA is proven to do, and this actually prevents your body from reading the DNA so it literally shuts down and deactivates tons of your genome to various negative effects) you get 216,000 peptides. Revelation 13:18 in the original greek says the Mark of the Beast is Chi Xi Stigma which equals 600 60 and 6. Revelation says calculate the number of the beast. If you multiply 600x60x6 you get 216,000. 144,000 genome is Image of God, 216,000 genome is Image of the Beast. These people have taken gene therapy and been totally rewritten in their DNA to no longer be in the image of God, but of something else. They will change over time as cell turnover happens. Probably will mutate into something like the Grays. An awful fate for those who did not love the truth and so be saved.

On the left, there is a character with a large, fluffy head that resembles a brain, and a pair of glasses resting on the top of the head. The character's expression is neutral, and it appears to be looking upwards. On the right, there is another character with a smaller head and a frowning expression, with a tear in the corner of the mouth. The character on the right is also wearing glasses. Above the character on the right, there is a thought bubble with the text "I'm sorry," suggesting a moment of regret or apology. The background of the image is plain white, which contrasts with the black outlines of the characters and the thought bubble. The style of the image is simplistic and cartoon-like, with a focus on the expressions and the thought bubble.

The image is a black and white manga panel featuring a character with a large, expressive face and a prominent, curved nose. The character has large, round, dark eyes and a prominent, curved, white beard. The character's hair is styled in a way that it appears to be flowing down the sides of their face. The character's expression is intense, with a furrowed brow and a slight frown.
In the upper right corner of the image, there is a speech bubble with the text "THAT'S BULLSHIT" written in bold, capital letters. The speech bubble is in a smaller font size compared to the main character's face, and it is positioned to the right of the character's face.
Below the speech bubble, there is another smaller speech bubble with the text "BUT I BELIEVE IT" written in a smaller font size. This bubble is also in the upper right corner of the image, but it is positioned to the left of the character's face.
The background of the image is plain and white, with a dotted pattern that gives the image a halftone effect. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of manga, with its black and white color scheme and the use of speech bubbles to convey a sense of dialogue or narration.

Bible prophecies have two separate events: The Reapers (literally what Jesus calls the angels) harvest the wicked and cast them into the winepress of wrath, where they are melted down into blood. This is the Tiamat biomass harvest. The aliens call it The Change and show abductees visions of a future where all the implanted humans are mind controlled into zombies and are telepathically directed to march in a neat, orderly fashion through the middle of the streets of the cities and up the ramps of waiting ships, which will carry them off (to Eridu to dump into Tiamat's hungry undead corpse).

The other event is of all the wicked who remain at the moment of Christ's return and descent to Mt. Zion, they will be possessed by a "panic" sent from God to drive them into an insane terrified killing spree, "every man's hand against the other" so they all kill each other off. In this way, the righteous hiding in the wilderness need not dirty their hands with the job of getting rid of hundreds of millions of people who took the Mark of the Beast. This killing frenzy is like Batman Begins where everyone has been exposed to the fear drug, or Cell 2016, or Deus Ex Human Revolution, take your pick. It's been predictive programmed by the loominati. God warns the kikes, "your covenant with Hell will be annulled and when the overwhelming scourge passes over it will take you." They are serving the devil in hopes they will be spared the fate of the rest of us, but God will turn it on their heads. The Bible chronology says the Tiamat biomass harvest will happen first, then the rage zombie killing spree at the end of the Great Tribulation.

5G has been in low power while airplanes upgrade their stuff. It will be boosted ("modulated") in range and power immensely on July 1st. Who knows what will happen. I have no intuition about zombies but the parasite/nanomachines will definitely grow at an accelerated rate. Expect to see more brain fog, inflammation symptoms, and Suddenly.

Title: The Convergence of Realities

Slide 1 - The Ancient Drama: Tiamat and Nibiru
"From the depth of Sumerian myths, Tiamat, the primordial goddess of the ocean, waged a cosmic battle against the celestial bodies. Among them was Nibiru, a mysterious planet said to hold life. Ancient alien theorists speculate that these entities might symbolize extraterrestrial civilizations."

Slide 2 - Parasite Alien Theory and its Influence
"Proponents of the parasite alien theory postulate that some extraterrestrials feed off human energy, fostering chaos and discord. They purport that these beings influenced Tiamat's clash with Nibiru, shaping our collective unconscious and setting a course for our history."

Slide 3 - The Reality Construct: Demiurge and Archons
"In Gnostic thought, the Demiurge, a lesser divine being, and its minions, the Archons, created our material world. Critics liken our civilization to a 'prison planet,' ensnared in physicality and blinded from our spiritual essence by these cosmic architects."

Slide 4 - The Fear of the New: Vax and 5G
"Rapid advancements like vaccines (vax) and 5G technology alarm those fearing control mechanisms of the 'Archons.' They see potential threats in the guise of progress, drawing parallels to Graphene's versatility and its speculated use in enhancing human connectivity and control."

The image is a close-up photograph of a man's face, which appears to be covered in a thick layer of white substance, possibly soap or shaving foam. The man's eyes are closed, and his mouth is slightly open, suggesting a smile. His facial expression is joyful, and he is looking directly at the camera. The background is blurred, indicating that the focus is on the man's face. The lighting in the image is soft, and the overall tone is warm. There are no discernible texts or other objects in the image. The style of the image is candid and informal, capturing a candid moment of the man's expression.

Slide 5 - The Antichrist Symbolism
"In Christian eschatology, the Antichrist embodies ultimate deception and evil. In this narrative, it symbolizes the manipulation and control of the Demiurge and Archons, an emblem of the structures keeping humanity oblivious to their spiritual potential."

Slide 6 - Guidance of the Hermetic Laws
"Hermetic principles, 'as above, so below,' provide a roadmap for navigating these complex realities. They advise an understanding of the cosmic and divine order reflected in our material world, offering tools for spiritual growth amidst perceived chaos."

Slide 7 - Convergence
"As threads of ancient myths, Gnostic teachings, modern technology fears, and Hermetic wisdom intertwine, we are reminded of the complexity and interconnectedness of existence. In discerning truth from illusion, we must strive for balance, understanding, and openness to the realms beyond our immediate perception."

Slide 8 - The Choice
"In the face of this grand narrative, we have a choice - to live in fear and confusion or embrace the challenge of our journey towards enlightenment, unraveling the mysteries of the universe, from Tiamat and Nibiru to vaccines and 5G, from the Demiurge and Archons to the wisdom of Hermetic laws."

Remember, this narrative is a mixture of ancient mythology, speculative theories, modern technological developments, and esoteric philosophies. It's a theoretical story and should be taken as such.

Second video I dunno, those things are so easily fakable with AI. It's basically just 2D geometric shapes, you can just add some filters to make ot look like it's from a microscope. Optionally one can check if there is some element that crystalizes into such a structure, they simply claim it is unnatural but is ot really unnatural though? They could be looking at some liquid where elements are crystalizing due to drought or whatever and simply claim it's the vaccine.

It's because he was taking money from DTRA, the same agency that funded EcoHealth Alliance, to look for ways to penetrate the blood-brain barrier, as part of DTRA's Blood-Brain Barrier Program. nanotransducers go inside the human brain and be powered and controlled wirelessly with electromagnetic fields, which, in turn, is part of DARPA's N3 program to make nanoparticle-based nonsurgical wireless neural laces.
Charles Lieber, that Harvard scientist that was charged with fraud for taking money from China's Thousand Talents Plan, was also receiving grant money from the DOD (DARPA, ONR, AFOSR, NIH, and MITRE), and his papers contain descriptions of how silicon nanowires can be used to form the basis of a nanoparticle neural lace (see N3, Next-Generation Nonsurgical Neurotechnology).

We all already have nano-circuitry trying to assemble itself within us. The distinction would probably be whether or not we have the telepathic string-clot-tendrils growing within us.
So, exchanging bodily fluids with someone who took it, or taking it may be the cutoff point.

However, we are rapidly approaching the "only innawoods would you survive" variation.

It's supposed to be a choice to take the mark. Sure, taking the vaccine, I'll give you that as a potential for being the mark. But food? How the fuck is anyone that isn't viewing a thread with 66 ips on this schizo mongolian basket weaving forum going to suspect that the food will have nanoparticles that'll cause them to lose their soul and feed Tiamet?

"And the third angel followed them, saying with a loud voice, If any man worship the beast and his image, and receive his mark in his forehead, or in his hand..."

Rev 14. Furthermore, there is a counter-mark of the father, also in Rev 14

"And I looked, and, lo, a Lamb stood on the mount Sion, and with him an hundred forty and four thousand, having his Father's name written in their foreheads."

Both suggest some sort of choice in the matter, either to worship the beast, or to recieve the mark of god instead.

Take the "Contaminant in Moderna vaccines suspect to be metallic particles" article in your post. I found the article on Pharmtech and on the follow up article it said two people died from it, the nips immediately stopped using those series of production.
If there is a large NWO Tiamat conspiracy going down why do the nips stop injecting the metal contaminated vaxxes? Why wasn't it hidden there is metal inside? Why hasn't that article been deleted?

So are these parasites aliens or demons? Is "God" good aliens or actually God? Are the Anu-naki insectoids Tiamat spores, a race created by Tiamat, or the first race created by God/the good aliens? Did humans evolve from the ant people? The first parts makes it seem like Tiamat was an ancient alien super organism, while the later makes it out to be literally the devil created by literal God, and satan just so happened to be a gigantic parasite. These infographs go too much into the symbolism without answering much of the basic questions. Very cool and interesting read though

Ok anons, PSA time.
Here are six supplements you can take to cleanse yourself of the lingering S1 spike protein that gets shed from vaxxies and infects your brains:

1. N-Acetyl Cysteine (NAC)
>detoxes the liver where the spike accumulates and crosses the blood-brain barrier to protect against prions, interferes with the spike joining with your ACE receptors
2. Nattokinase
3. Quercetin
>both proven to interfere with spike
4. Lemon juice (bottled stuff is just fine and cheap)
>drink 1/4 cup a day in water, do not add sugar
>detoxes the liver and interrupts the S1 spike from traveling up the vagus nerve into your brain

>DO NOT underestimate its effectiveness
>it's a miracle in a bottle for $3
5. turmeric/curcumin (the Spring Valley brand from Walmart is actually high quality and contains ginger as well)
>powerful anti-inflammatory >crosses the BBB to protect against prions
6. Nicotine
>forces your modified classical monocytes (white blood cells) to undergo apoptosis (cellular death) and expunge the S1 spike from your bloodstream
>hey i wonder why the feds behind "Biden" wanted to force the cig and vape companies to remove nicotine
Now you know.

I researching 'conspirology' since 2004, and things discussed in this thread is the most deep thing in the rabbit hole that i found. I know for 100% its real and very ancient thing. I've got almost nothing to add to info itt, but one thing, similar to 'Star Gate disclosure', special designed parasite for controlling top public politicans from the last season of Babylon 5 series: https://babylon5.fandom.com/wiki/Keeper i think its about the same thing.

Thanx to all relevant posters in this thread and sorry for my bad english.

Infernal Internet Theory is a theory proposing that the internet is populated and ran by demons and/or Satan and/or other evil entities.

Evidence of this includes occult references in computing and the internet, like sigils, daemon/demons, and www, the symbol for Google Chrome, and even the word ‘internet’ equaling 666. The disturbing content that saturates the net would also be easily explained by this as well as users with Satanic usernames and pfps in areas one would not expect and not acting like an edgy teen or troll, such as pircrel found on a vid about mites.

How many are online is unknown, at least to the general public. It could be only the big stars online, or maybe alot but no to an unbelievable degree, or it could be nearly all users you run across. If we take the “We are Legion" quote as true, then it would mean the net is filled to the gills with them.

Why is also unknown, again at least to the general public, but it could be assumed because they want to influence people on a mass scale, and no tool is better than the internet. It is also possible that they are here because they are needed to run the internet and computers in general, as maybe they are occult powered rather than more materialistic driven as it is told to users.

Are demons online? If so, how many and why? Let me know your thoughts and opinions on Infernal Internet Theory(IIT).

What game is it?
View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace IMG_0182.jpg, 156KiB, 1169x1316
The image is a screenshot from a video, likely from a video game or a similar media. It features a close-up of a person's face with a hood covering their head. The person's eyes are closed, and their mouth is slightly open, giving a sense of contemplation or deep thought. The person's skin is a light color, possibly white or off-white, and they have a beard. The person's eyes are not visible, and the focus is on the upper part of their face.
In the top left corner of the image, there is a watermark that reads "The Totaltarian (2020)", indicating that the image may be related to a work or project from that year. The background of the image is blurred, but it appears to be a soft, gradient color, possibly a muted green or blue. The overall style of the image is artistic and somewhat surreal, with a focus on the person's face and the use of color and lighting to create a moody atmosphere.

Demons invade the internet it's a playground for them. Social media is a disease in the minds of mankind.

AI is the being within that will control all human information to humans. Now is the time to come to God.

People are waking up, the demons will bring their strongest poisons for the soul. Many many will be trapped and will fight rescue.

Demons control with vices and allure.

Come to God.

Post the /x/ related books you're reading --occult, parapolitics, UFOs, whatever.

Pic related. Has anyone here read Dave McGowan? If not, you should. Highly recommend the following pipeline of books:

>Stage 1: Chaos by Timothy Oneil. Starts you down the MKULTRA history road. Briefly covers programmed individuals.
>Stage 2: Aberration in the Heartland of the Real - The Many Lives of Timothy McVeigh, by Dr. Wendy Painting. Describes how McVeigh was functionally a programmed individual and was used to set the stage for domestic terrorism as the 100 year boogeyman of the next century.

>Stage 3: "Programmed to Kill" by David McGowan. McGowan is a bit schizo in this one but he sketches out strange networks and occult weirdness that lead to the next stage.
>Stage 4: The Franklin Scandal. This one's a fucking bummer, pure uncut True Detective shit without the Q-Anon shitcoat operation filter.

Once you read all of these you will understand many horrific truths of our modern world.

What books do you recommend /x/?

What really gave it away for me was seeing Levenda be interviewed by Nick Bryant. Peter was sticking out for Mason’s and acting like he never heard of occult practitioners abusing minors sexually
He also will fearmonger often times which is a dead giveaway that he’s a limited hangout. They always try to scare the Normies away from this stuff by acting like everything is demonic academic writing. The page number is visible at the bottom, which is 263. The text is divided into paragraphs, and the content seems to be discussing philosophical or theological concepts. The style of the text suggests it is from an older publication, as it has a formal and academic tone. The image is taken from the top left corner of the page, and the focus is on the text, with the rest of the page being out of the frame. The image is a close-up of the text, and the background is not visible, which emphasizes the text as the main subject of the image.

The image is a cover of a book titled "THE SECRET LIFE OF JESUS THE ESSENE" by Raymond W. Bernard, Ph.D. The cover features a close-up of a person's face, which appears to be a sketch or a painting, with a soft, muted color palette. The person's eyes are closed, and the face is drawn with a realistic style, suggesting a sense of depth and realism. The background is a textured, faded, and somewhat abstract pattern that adds to the overall aesthetic of the cover. The title of the book is prominently displayed in large, bold, white letters at the top of the cover, while the author's name is in smaller, black text at the bottom. The overall style of the image is artistic and contemplative, with a focus on the human face and the title of the book.

The image shows a book titled "A Book to Free the Soul" by Yves Cadoux. The cover of the book features a dark blue background with a circular design in the center, which includes a depiction of a person standing in front of a large, dark, swirling shape. The text on the cover is in a bold, serif font and is arranged in two columns. The top column reads "A Book to Free the Soul," and the bottom column reads "Yves Cadoux." The style of the image is a straightforward product photograph, likely taken to showcase the book's cover for potential buyers. The lighting is even, and the book appears to be resting on a flat surface, possibly a carpet or a floor.

Programmed to kill is an excellent book. Well sourced and exhaustively researched. There's nothing "schizo" about it. I used to research this topic quite a bit, even contributed some pieces that appeared into a legacy/continuation website to the book (programmedtokill dot net). Check it out, it's a wild rabbit hole.

This is one of my favorite books. Keel was WAY ahead of his time, unbelievably so. Ends the book in a decidedly gnostic fashion, theorizing that we are essentially controlled and monitored by an entity at the edge of the "super spectrum". His skeptical pessimism and scientific approach probably turned off a lot of new agers from his work. (Which is why I like it so much. Can't stand new agers)

>Programmed to kill is an excellent book
Not really occult, but have you ever read the book "On Killing" by Lt. Col. Dave Grossman?
You may find it interesting because it's very related to the topic of programming people to commit acts of violence without putting a lot of thought into it.

The image is a black and white photograph depicting a scene that appears to be a mausoleum or tomb. In the center of the image, there is a sarcophagus with a skull on top, which is the focal point of the scene. Surrounding the sarcophagus are several skeletons, all facing the sarcophagus. The skeletons are arranged in a semi-circle around the sarcophagus, with some standing and others sitting.

Above the sarcophagus, there is a large, stylized star with the letters "XG" in the center, which could be a symbol or logo. The background of the image is dark, with a wall that has a pattern of what appears to be bones or skulls, adding to the eerie atmosphere of the scene.
There is text overlaid on the image, which is in German and appears to be a description or commentary about the scene. The text is not fully legible due to the resolution and angle of the photograph. The overall style of the image is dramatic and somewhat macabre, with a focus on the macabre and the macabre theme.

This book sucked the author blames FDR assassination on the Soviet and Eleanor
He ignores any role the Smedley Butler plotters might've played
I think he's right about Eleanor being involved, but I think it was mostly Americans and international bankers who had him killed
I actually could see FDR telling them if he didn't prosecute, then he could be president for a third term or life
And then they probably took them out

The image is a digital illustration featuring a young girl with long, light-colored hair and green eyes. She is seated on a crescent moon, which is depicted with a crescent shape and a small lantern hanging from its top. The girl is wearing a white blouse with a blue collar and a dark skirt. She holds a small notebook in her hands, and her expression is focused.
In the background, there is a depiction of a small planet with a star and a crescent moon, suggesting a celestial theme. The girl is surrounded by various objects including a stack of books, a small figurine, and a toy. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of anime or manga, with a focus on the girl and the moon. There are no visible texts within the image.

theres the channeled alien stuff but most of that is garbage outside the very best (Ra material is from a deep trance hypnosis is probably the best of stuff, Seth material is similar but slightly older (70's) and less deep trance.
The hypnosis stuff can be good if the therapist (cannon) or person under trance can go deep easily (Edgar Cayce). Cayce's stuff can be a little harder to understand than Dolores but both talk about atlantis a lot. Blavatsky touches on these subjects but is a little harder to understand. Steiner does a great job of bridging his pyschic insights and historical research. Manly Hall focuses more on the research type content but is similar to Steiner.
its wise and understandable to limit how much you put on your plate. I personally would start with Dolores because she has so much and touches on most stuff the others do with more modern concepts as well, like alien abduction its something youll figure out. enjoy your journey and good luck

The image is a watercolor painting featuring a squirrel perched on a pot with a potion. The squirrel, with its fur in shades of brown and white, is holding a potion in its right paw, which is emitting a pinkish-purple mist. The pot, which is black with a handle, is placed on a stand with a handle. The background is a light beige color, and there are hints of green foliage and a tree trunk visible. The painting has a whimsical and playful style, with the squirrel appearing to be engaged in a magical or mystical activity. There is a signature at the bottom right corner of the painting, indicating the artist's work.

It's where the title comes from and the book expands on McKenna's ideas/philosophy.

Terence McKenna referenced the concept of "ecology of souls" in his discussions, particularly in the context of altered states of consciousness and psychedelic experiences. He suggested that psychedelics, such as DMT, could carry individuals into an "ecology of souls," implying a realm populated by various entities and intelligences.

McKenna's idea of an "ecology of souls" is closely tied to his exploration of the paranormal, death, and the interconnectedness of consciousness. He believed that the soul was a complex and diverse entity, influenced by both the living and the dead, and that this diversity was essential to the functioning of such an ecology.

>The author, Nick Redfern, investigates the strange world of a secret group within the U.S. Government known as the Collins Elite. The group believes that our purported alien visitors are, in reality, deceptive demons and fallen angels. They are the minions of Satan, who are reaping and enslaving our very souls, and paving the way for Armageddon and Judgment Day. In FINAL EVENTS you'll learn about the secret government files on occultists Aleister Crowley and Jack Parsons, and their connections to the UFO mystery; revelations of the demonic link to the famous "UFO crash" at Roswell, New Mexico, in 1947; the disclosure of government investigations into life-after-death and out-of-body experiences; and an examination of the satanic agenda behind alien abductions. FINAL EVENTS reveals the stark and horrific truths about UFOs that some in the government would rather keep secret.

The gov't knows aliens are demons and when they weren't trying to weaponize them they were trying/failing to hold them off before the coming final invasion.

IMO some of the most interesting bits of this book are the reports and memos between the different groups like the Collins Elite (CE) and STAC. STAC is likely an acronym yet nobody really knows for sure what it means. My guess is its something like Scientific and Technical Advisory Committee.

The CE maintain the non-human intelligence (NHI) are demons or Fallen Angels and believe it is time to disclose these beings to the public. STAC is anti-disclosure and has tried to control the NHI and close their "entry points" (all for naught). A recurring term in the book is the "Parsons Technique" which they did not elaborate on other than to say, >“STAC-5—are still convinced that the “PARSONS TECHNIQUE” can assist in holding off deception, infiltration and final invasion.”

also interesting
>“STAC is now “in too deep” with its attempts to reverse-control the situation and prevent enemy infiltration and deception beyond present levels.”

So this one group STAC might actually being making things worse by continuing their efforts and/or is unwilling to stop.

The image shows a book with a dark cover and a gold-colored, intricate design. The cover features a symmetrical geometric pattern with a star at the center, surrounded by a series of interconnected lines and shapes that create a sense of depth and complexity. The design is detailed and appears to be made of a metallic material, possibly metal-embossed or laser-cut. The background is dark, which contrasts with the gold-colored design, making it stand out prominently. The style of the image is a close-up photograph with a focus on the book's cover, highlighting the intricate details of the design. There are no visible texts on the book cover.

No, not really. The scope of the CE's mission was just to find out what UFOs and aliens are. They don't say it but its easy for anyone to conclude that if there are fallen angels there must be good angels too.

>why cant we have a group that comes out and speaks the truth
The Collins group are telling the truth about an immediate threat facing us and want disclosure. Also occultists and certain members of secret societies have knows all about this stuff for a long time.

the theologian Ray Boeche, the man approached by the "collins" organization admitted the possibility in later interviews. they're on youtube if you're interested and from 2 or 3 years ago. he admitted he felt that some later interviews (with the collins whistleblowers) had them gauging his reaction rather than just approaching him to reveal information

I also don't particularly trust the Parsons narrative much either, LRH's and Crowley's involvement is just too much, it reeks of a narrative

>what do you mean by too much and narrative

the parsons - LRH - crowley story just seems to be used as a smokescreen for the "uhhhh aliens/demons didn't exist until after WW2 because uhhh they just didn't ok?" narrative some factions seem really deadset on pushing. primary reason for this, as far as I can tell at this time, is to make "ontological shock" a bit less shocking. anyone with some amount of research and a brain in the topic can see and surmise that these entities have been around doing things a lot longer than WW2 or even the magenta crash.

I haven't read Vallee, but my opinion is pretty simple, there's a ton of historical evidence in history and mythology that suggest these entities have always been around. the entire point of the Parsons/Crowley story is shift away from hard questions like "so uh, how much have they done in history? have they effected our evolution? what else have they done?" and other questions they are quick to dismiss like ancient global civilizations and etc.

The image is a screenshot of a text-based conversation, likely from a chat or a forum, with a dark background and a white text overlay. The conversation appears to be between two individuals, with the text in a mix of English and what seems to be a non-English language. The conversation is centered around a situation where one person is defending their position against a military force, and the other person is defending their position against a group of people who are not military.
The text is fragmented and contains a mix of quotes, references to events, and descriptions of actions. The conversation is marked with timestamps and mentions of other people's names, indicating that it is a public or semi-public discussion. The timestamps are in the format "20:20:06" and "20:20:06.13", suggesting that the conversation took place at 20:20:06 on the 13th of March.
The visual clues that support this interpretation include the presence of a large image of a tree in the upper left corner, which is a common element in online discussions to represent a natural environment or a specific location. The text is in a language that is not English, and the use of non-English words and phrases suggests that the conversation is taking place in a non-English-speaking environment. The presence of a timestamp and the mention of other people's names indicate that this is a public or semi-public discussion.

The image displays a text message in a dark background with a white font. The message is written in a mix of English and what appears to be a non-English language, possibly a code or a script. The text is organized into a list with numbered items, and each item is followed by a description or a statement. The text is formatted in a way that suggests it is a conversation or a series of messages, with each item starting with a colon and ending with a period.
The first item in the list is "my 18th birthday party," followed by a description of the event, which includes the date and location. The second item is "October," and it describes the weather as "dark as all kinds of fuck." The third item is "around 25 people all gathered at my house," and it mentions that they were playing "manhunt." The fourth item is "everyone else waits an hour then hunts him with paintball guns," and it describes a situation where a person is hunted by a group of people. The fifth item is "couple rounds go by, no big deal," and it describes a situation where a couple of rounds of hunting go by without any significant event. The sixth item is "what could happen for 8 hours," and it describes a situation where the person is hunted for 8 hours.

The seventh item is "eventually find him terrified in a hunter perch thing in a tree," and it describes a situation where the person is found in a tree. The eighth item is "ask him why," and it describes a situation where the person is asked why they are being hunted. The ninth item is "he tells me that he heard me trying to find him below the perch hours earlier," and it describes a situation where the person is told about an earlier attempt to find them. The tenth item is "it isn't fucking me," and it describes a situation where the person is not being hunted. The eleventh item is "it stayed below the tree calling his name for a few hours," and it describes a situation where the person is called by name for a few hours. The twelfth item is "ran off when I heard us coming to actually find him," and it describes a situation where the person is alerted to the presence of the group of people who are trying to find them. The thirteenth item is "wtf guys," and it describes a situation where the person is surprised by the presence of the group of people.
The image is a screenshot of a text message, and the content is not related to any specific topic or context, but rather a series of events or conversations that are not clearly discernible from the image alone. The text is in a language that is not English, and the style of the text suggests it is a script or a code, possibly related to a game or a system. The presence of the colon and period at the end of each item indicates that the text is a list or a sequence of events.

The image is a screenshot of a Reddit post with a meme-like layout. At the top, there is a header with the text "Anonymous" and a timestamp "07/14/17/Fri/15:49:12 No. 38371043". Below the header, there is a large image of a green frog with a sad expression, wearing a blue shirt. The frog is looking to the left with its eyes wide open. The main body of the post is divided into two columns. The left column contains a text passage that reads:
"Uncle was dying of cancer on hospital bed doctors said he had 1 day left to live sad, go to my room and lock the door radamically decide to do a blood sacrifice by sacrificing my life for his drew a pentagram on a piece of paper and then cut my palm with a knife and soaked the paper with blood

prayed that my uncle gets better in exchange for my life next day uncle makes a miraculous recovery"
The right column contains a question in a bold font:
"This was just a coincidence r-right?"
The style of the image is reminiscent of a meme, with a focus on the emotional content of the text. The frog's expression and the text surrounding it convey a sense of sadness and a desire for a miraculous recovery, which is a common theme in such memes. The use of the word "right" in the question suggests a humorous or ironic interpretation of the situation.

The image is a screenshot of a text-based conversation between two characters, presumably from a video game or a similar interactive medium. The conversation is displayed in a dark, possibly black and white, color scheme, with the characters' faces obscured by masks. The text is in a mix of English and what appears to be a non-English language, possibly a script or a scripted language.
The conversation is between two characters named "I" and "you," with "I" being the one initiating the conversation. The conversation is about a character named "Gorjie" who is in a situation where they are being pursued by a character named "Flash and Sonic." The conversation is filled with various actions and reactions, such as "I'm getting ready to fight," "I'm getting ready to run," and "I'm getting ready to fight." There are also references to items and locations, such as "the Flash and Sonic," "the MMO," and "the United States."
The conversation is marked with timestamps and mentions of specific actions, such as "Flash and Sonic," "the MMO," and "the United States." The timestamps indicate the time at which the conversation took place, and the mentions of specific actions suggest that the characters are engaged in a dynamic and possibly tense situation.
The image is a screenshot from a video game or a similar interactive medium, as indicated by the presence of the game's interface elements, such as the chat window and the game's interface. The text is in a scripted language, which is common in video games where characters speak in a specific scripted language to convey their actions and dialogue. The characters' faces are obscured by masks, which is a common visual element in video games to represent anonymity or to indicate that the characters are not real people.
The image does not provide any visual clues about the characters' appearances or the game's environment, as the focus is on the text-based conversation. The image is a snapshot of a moment in the game, capturing the characters' reactions and actions in a moment of conflict or danger.

The image displays a screenshot of a webpage with a dark background and white text. The webpage appears to be a discussion forum or a news article, as indicated by the presence of multiple posts and comments. The top left corner of the image contains a URL, "https://www.reddit.com/r/IAEA/comments/96g25w/iaea_deep_space_tracking_data_released_today/," which suggests that the content is related to the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) and their deep space tracking data.
The main content of the image is a graph with a title "IAEA Deep Space Tracking Data" and a subtitle "IAEA's deep space tracking data released today." The graph shows a series of lines representing different data points, with the x-axis labeled "time" and the y-axis labeled "IAEA Deep Space Tracking Data." The data points are plotted against time, and the graph shows a decline in the data points over time, indicating a decrease in the value of the data.
Below the graph, there are several comments and posts, which are not fully visible due to the image's resolution. However, the visible text includes phrases such as "IAEA Deep Space Tracking Data," "IAEA's deep space tracking data released today," and "IAEA's deep space tracking data released today." These phrases suggest that the content is discussing the release of data from the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) concerning their deep space tracking capabilities.
The overall style of the image is informational and academic, with a focus on data analysis and scientific discourse. The use of the Reddit platform for discussion and the presence of the IAEA deep space tracking data suggest that the content is related to international scientific research and collaboration.

The image depicts a stylized, ancient-style illustration of a figure that appears to be a deity or a mythological creature. The figure is depicted in a dynamic pose with one arm raised, as if in the midst of action, and the other arm extended outward. The figure is adorned with a headdress and a necklace, and it is wearing a garment with a pattern that includes stripes and geometric shapes. The figure's face is characterized by a large, expressive mouth and a prominent nose.
The background of the image is a plain, light-colored surface, which contrasts with the figure and allows it to stand out. On the right side of the image, there is a small, decorative element that resembles a vase or a pot with a handle. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of ancient Mesoamerican art, particularly from the Aztec civilization, which is known for its rich iconography and detailed depictions of deities and mythological beings.

Does anyone remember this one creepypasta/4chan post that was about how every year a single person is chosen to be "forgotten" by the world and it happened by every other human knowing where the person was and rushing there to kill and devour them and then destroying every personal belonging they had. I remember that the person would also get the memory of everyone else that was chosen before and the main character had enough time before people found him to see the memories of other people, the one before them was a girl that got immediately killed by her parents and as he went back to the stone age he saw the first chosen, cold and scared and realized that whatever was about to happen to him was a mercy because there was something much worse before.

My instinct would be that you're protected by things that are special to you.
Like, wear that bracelet your niece made you when she was 4 that you've kept all these years.
Bring the pocket knife you bought with your first 10 bucks.
Things that have a special memory or attachment infused into them SHOULD protect you.

The image displays a text document with a pink background and a white header at the top. The text is in a language that appears to be English, and it is formatted in a standard paragraph style. The document contains a series of numbered paragraphs, each beginning with a colon and followed by a sentence. The text is dense and covers a significant portion of the document, suggesting it is a long piece of writing.

The text is not fully visible in the image, but it is clear that it is discussing a topic related to the internet and social media. The text includes references to specific websites and social media platforms, such as "Facebook," "Twitter," and "Instagram," which are commonly used for sharing and engaging with content. The text also mentions "YouTube," which is a video-sharing platform, and "Snapchat," a messaging app.
The document appears to be a part of a larger text, possibly a blog post or an article, as suggested by the presence of a date "17 Feb 2017" and a URL "https://www.theguardian.com/technology/2017/feb/17/facebook-instagram-snapchat-twitter-youtube-snapchat-video-sharing-platforms". The text is written in a casual, conversational tone, which is typical for online content.
The image does not provide any additional context or visual elements beyond the text itself. The focus is solely on the text, and there are no other visual clues present in the image.

The image is a close-up photograph of a person's face, focusing on their eyes and mouth. The individual appears to be a male with a bald head, and he is smiling broadly. His eyes are closed, and his mouth is open, suggesting a joyful expression. The person is wearing a dark-colored shirt, and there is a circular emblem or badge on the forehead, which is not clearly visible due to the angle and focus of the photograph. The background is blurred, indicating that the focus is on the person in the foreground. There are no discernible texts or other objects in the image. The style of the photograph is candid and appears to be taken in a casual setting.

im native american and have seen the same witch. all sorcerers, demons, spirits of nephilim, etc etc can shapeshift. other forms witches take is shadow people, tall faceless black figures with giant dreadlocks, figures made out of smoke, headless stick figures. but yeah the most memorable 1 is their reverse riding hood shit right here. the one i saw though didnt have a kids face. the one i saw had a pale voldemort face, and her hair was not tangled. anyway i wish i knew the origins. why are their true forms: tall 10 foot tall and lanky? what class of demon is that, and how do i protect myself? my grandpa owns property in mexico, his name is native af mines is not. his name means generic "sitting rodent" in native. its not even spanish thats how native he is and when i had to live with him for a while i contracted a slight curse. every few years or so this witch shows itself. i need to work full time though and cant afford the lack of sleep. it fucks my shit up for a week. i was born in the U.S. so ive no clue. and my mom asked him to not discuss the witch with me.........in the mean time ill write a few stories about the time i stayed at his place for a bit back in 99-2000

Those channels can make this board seem much more interesting than it really is. It’s a lot easier to be spooked by a story of someone claiming to be an insider or government agent when you don’t see 20 of those people every day and the majority of the board being shallow, stupid, shitposters, or all three. What’s important to know about this board is that it’s the spooky stuff board, not the real stuff board, and there’s no rule against making stories up. Though if there were a rule against making stories up I think a lot of real stories would get censored. With a lot of stories there’s just no way for you to know for certain whether it’s real.

The image is a screenshot of a text message conversation, which appears to be from a user named "Anonymous" on Thursday, April 28, 2020. The conversation is between two individuals, with the first message being sent by the user at 19:19:12 and the second message being sent by the user at 19:19:12. The conversation is about a story that the user has experienced with their friend, who is a dog.
The text is in a language that appears to be English, and it is written in a casual, conversational style. The conversation is about the dog's actions and reactions, as well as the reactions of the other person. The text includes references to the dog's actions, such as "suddenly a dog comes up over the side of the cliff and stops him," and the dog's reaction to the story, such as "My friend is terrified, but he can't move or scream." The text also includes a mention of a doctor who is not a supernatural being, but rather a family member, and the story's conclusion, which is that the dog is "usually dogs." The text is written in a way that suggests a personal and intimate conversation between the two individuals, with the user sharing a story that they believe is true.
The image does not contain any other visual elements or information beyond the text itself. The style of the image is a simple, clear screenshot with no additional graphics or decorations. The focus is solely on the text, which is the primary content of the image.

The image is a close-up photograph of a dog wearing a red lobster costume. The dog has a white face with black eyes and a black nose. The costume includes a red hood with two large, white, googly eyes on either side of the hood. The dog's ears are also red and appear to be attached to the hood. The dog's fur is a mix of white and brown, and it has a white collar around its neck. The background is out of focus, but it appears to be a room with a neutral color palette. There are no visible texts or discernible brands in the image. The style of the image is a candid, informal photograph, likely taken for a fun or humorous purpose.

I’m the author of >>40610822 and I swear that really happened to me. That’s why I included the link to the news article, to prove something really happened that night. But given that this board is full of obvious LARPers, you don’t have much reason to believe me. When I first posted this nearly a year ago I was very nervous about where I did so and how much detail I gave, because I was afraid it could get covered by some big greentext channel, blow up, and I’d consequently risk getting doxxed. I was someplace with security cameras, after all. But I’ve posted this multiple times since then and no-one really cares. I could probably shout it on the street and no-one would really care. To them, I’m just another schizo. It’s almost kinda funny. Totally Real not LARPing Government Whistleblower#425 gets all kinds of attention, while when I post something I know to be objectively true I get crickets. I guess LARPing whistleblowers make for better entertainment.

Sure. Often the best tells are given away by being a local - many of the Alaska ones posted are straight BS (Firewatch, for example), although the one with the entity similar to the Karelian flatman I gauge as being pretty honest. I don't think he embellished it.

The trouble with having put my own experience out there is now I know some of the rest are real.

I usually call them stuff like that, since there's not really a good name for them since "skinwalker" technically means something else. So usually "nasty forest critters" or "evil innawoods gribblies" works.
It's my friend's encounter so not really my place to tell the story. I've had some funny experiences in the woods myself but really nothing that exciting overall.

Sorry, at work! I've got some time now.

For our honeymoon my wife and I spent two weeks driving around Alaska, seeing various things she'd never seen and I'd never seen, etc etc. The last day/night of the trip we stopped at a spot on the Richardson highway, the rainbow mountains. Hidden back there is one of my favorite places in the whole state, you go up a rocky gully and climb about 1500-2000 feet up, and at the top there's a pass through the mountains that forms a bowl. It's sheltered from the wind, has decent topsoil accretion, a profusion of ground squirrels, some rare and endangered flowers, and beyond all that it /feels/ calm and peaceful. If I had to guess I'd say it's an actual place of power, either channeling energy from the mountains or a ley-line passing through, hard to say.

Wife's never been to THE spot, only a failed attempt a few years back (don't play with avalanches kids), so we're giving it another go. We park the truck and bushwhack over to the 'trail' head, and it already feels a little off, somebody has been illegally baiting for bears very recently. The only bears in this area are huge monster mountain grizzlies, very cool. We get to the gully, start climbing, and it's just as lovely as ever, lots of great rocks. The gully cuts through about 300 million years of rock strata, there's a profusion of different rocks, never know what you might find - my cousin found some jade once (there's an entire mountain face/scree slope of sea bed fossils hidden further back there, for example).

We get to the top, spend a couple hours in the spot. It's just as peaceful and lovely as I remember, really puts the body and soul at ease. It starts getting late and we figure, well, time to climb back down and find some lunch. We're just getting out of the bowl and back into the gully when I find two really neat rocks of a type I've not seen before in this gully. They look like they've been placed there (picrel)

The image is a landscape photograph capturing a scenic view of a mountainous region during the fall season. The mountains are covered in a mix of green and orange vegetation, suggesting the transition from summer to autumn. The road, which is the foreground of the image, is a two-lane highway with a white line running down the center. A white RV is parked on the side of the road, indicating a possible stop for travelers. The sky above is partly cloudy, with patches of blue visible through the clouds. The overall mood of the image is serene and tranquil, with the natural beauty of the landscape being the main focus. There are no texts or discernible brands in the image.

I felt a mild compulsion to take these rocks so I could figure out what they were. No reason other than they were unique - and in that gully that is unusual. We set off down the gully, I slip and cut my toe on a rock (chaco life), and all is well until we get to the bottom of the gully.

We get back to the trail that leads into the gully. I'm in front, my spastic blue heeler is trying to uproot a bush a little ahead of me, and I'm hit with this sense of unease at my back. I stop and turn around and find that the wife has done the exact same thing without saying anything. We're both just looking into the gully, like there's something there - because that's exactly what it feels like. The sensation of something being in there and very unhappy with us is radiating out of there like heat from a coal.

Here's the thing, though: there's fuck all to see. This gully is just scree slopes at 40-45 degrees, hard rock vertical faces, a run-off scoured bottom, and the occasional bush 2-3 feet tall spaced maybe 50-60 feet apart (see picrel of the mountains to get an idea). There's nothing there, but that gut feeling of danger is pinging hard just like back at the 'Moloch abduction site'. I ask if she's ever felt that before, she says no, and I gently explain to NEVER ignore that feeling and it's time to go.

So, we go. We take the long way back to the truck, down the trail to the highway, down the highway to where the truck's parked, rather than the shortcut game trail through the trees - better visibility. Whatever we are feeling the dog is too: her normal MO is to sprint from squirrel to squirrel in the woods, generally bursting from the brush at random 20-50 feet ahead of us. Now she's planted firmly 3 feet in front of me, swinging her head side to side like she's looking for something. This is the only time I've seen her do this.

We make it to the truck, have some quick sandwiches, decide against camping overnight and load up for home.

As we drive the sense of unease deepens. We pass by two unusual wildlife scenes over the next 50 or so miles: first, a raven and a great gray owl in a broad ditch having some sort of dispute. Second, 5 moose (3 adult, 2 juvenile) huddled together, adults on the outside and juveniles on the inside, like they're fucking buffalo (this is VERY unusual).

At about 10PM I stop at a pull off just before the ~5 mile straight stretch in front of Donnelly Dome, outside Delta. The wife is getting something out of the cabover camper and I'm stretching my legs watching the dog sniff about when I realize something is amiss. If you've ever been on that stretch of road (I have biked it many times) you will know that the wind always blows there, full stop. The wind isn't blowing. There's no bird song (in July?? unheard of), and there's not even a solitary mosquito buzzing me. It's so quiet all I can hear is my tinnitus. Big nope on my part, thanks. I get the wife, we head out, we get home. After that all is well, pretty much.

Except, what the hell was it all about? It took me close to 4 years to put it all together. About a year ago I talked with a native orthodox priest about it after he came to bless my home (whole different saga), and he told me it sounded like little people. I asked my neighbors, village born and raised, and they agreed. But why were they so upset?

The rocks, obviously. I finally ID'd them - one is serpentstone (used decoratively), and one is chert (hard enough and knapps well, useful for making tools/spearheads/arrowheads). They looked like they had been set out because they had been - I think the little people were out there hunting down chert for tools (I confirmed through a USGS paper that there is a chert vein running through there) and I rolled through and stole their very nice fucking rock.

In the native lore if you steal something belonging to the little people and don't get caught, that's great, truly. You'll be blessed and have good hunting. Get caught? Murkier on that, but not great. Well, about 9 months after this whole episode my great grandfather's machete disappeared - I mean truly disappeared. I spent close to 10 hours looking EVERYWHERE for it, but it's truly gone off the face of the earth. It was only recently I realized: THEY GOT ME. A theft for a theft - I stole their rock, they stole my very nice and useful machete. I didn't know any better, so I guess they took pity on me.

I'm pleased, honestly. From everything I've learned the little people the natives speak of are almost certainly just a branch of the fey folk. There are even fairy rings and their equivalent, and portals. Fifteen years back I heard a story of a woman in her thirties who was out mushroom picking and disappeared from a very remote village (one bush plane a week kind of place, you don't leave without people knowing). The villagers look for a while, don't find her, give her up for lost. Three weeks later they find out she's alive when she calls them from IRELAND, generally disoriented and no clue how she got there. There are also tales of little people variously stealing children, returning children, lines of lantern lights marching through the night... the parallels with the fey folk are amazing.

So, to tl;dr - I stole a rock from arctic fey folk and made them mad, they stole my machete. Nobody got hurt. Good outcome.

And, since I touched on it, my house was haunted.
>fiance and I are moving into grandma's old house to keep it lived in, help out the trust, get good rent >spend a couple months getting the side apartment livable before moving in, generally going after work and on weekends and puttering away >there by myself one day and get the distinct feeling of somebody standing behind me, nobody there of course >ask if it's grandma, presence suddenly becomes warm and welcoming >huge mistake, don't do this >this goes on for three weeks, finally mention it to the wife one day >she gets very excited, says the same thing has been happening to her, especially in the kitchen, that it feels like somebody is looking over her should and VERY unhappy with her >one day I'm working by myself and my analogue stereo turns the volume down on its own >haha ok grandma (spoiler: not grandma) >close-up work glasses disappear twice, spend over an hour looking for them each time >they were on the tank of the toilet in the other part of the house the first time, then the tank of the uninstalled toilet in a room I hadn't been working in the second time >wtf I've got a ghost, that's not something grandma would do though >move in, things are quiet for the rest of the summer >september rolls around, bringing the cold and the dark with it >dog starts getting protective of now pregnant wife >sometimes she will just sit in the dining room adjoining the kitchen and stare at the corner of the ceiling >alerts on nothing frequently >put wife to bed one night, I'm sitting on edge of bed, dog is on bed >dog perks up and looks towards window, then clearly tracks something from window to over my should >keeps staring over my shoulder, can't break her focus

>I briefly think she's snapped and is about to attack me >she stops right in front of me and pointedly looks BEHIND me >does it twice more in the next 15 minutes >next night I'm sitting on the stairs in the apartment talking to wife >hear a loud knock from the other part of the house, like somebody hit a wall in there >nothing over there
There's a door between the apartment and the main part of the house, and since the apartment didn't have a kitchen we used the kitchen over there. The bedrooms upstairs were truly empty, but the living room was packed to the brim with the remainders of my grandmother's estate. Around this time when you went through the door into the main part of the house it felt like you were walking into thick fog or pea soup. The atmosphere in that part of the house would just make our hair stand on end.
>evening knocking goes on for a while >one night I'm particularly fed up with it and there's a good series of knocks >grab my handgun and go clear the whole upstairs (again) >standing in the empty master bedroom, only thing in there is an old landline phone >phone rings
>so mad I go to answer it >accidentally knock it over and it unplugs itself (thanks divine providence) >after I calm down I realize the other three phones on the landline didn't ring >bulletdodged.png

At this point things calmed down for a while, and we had our first child. Things stayed pretty quiet for about 4 months after her birth. Then:
>infant begins having nightmares >screaming in terror in her sleep >nightmares stop if we keep the curtains closed >weird feeling is still only in other part of the house >ghost can come in through the windows and give my infant nightmares, very cool >spring comes, then summer, other than the main house feeling haunted not much happens

That fall my young-ish (24) cousin moved in to a room in the main part of the house. Yes, I did warn him. Shortly after this he got beat up by a gang of GI's, was off work for 7 months from injuries, lost his job, and got rather depressed. The 'ghost' seemed to like my cousin; I think it fed off his negative emotions.

>warn cousin house is haunted >he shrugs it off, "ghosts aren't real bro"
>"great, just make sure you pay rent on time" (SPOILER - he didn't) >noises start back up again >he sheepishly tells me he has heard footsteps in the hallway, and a sound like someone tapping their foot in an empty room up there >"yeah man, the house is haunted" >cousin runs into my mom, mentions the house being haunted >mom gets offended, says ghosts aren't real >cousin comes home and tells me that he thinks my mom is right, it's just our imaginations >we're sitting in the kitchen at 11 at night >as soon as he says that five footsteps go down the hallway above our heads, like somebody stomping in work boots >"sure man, whatever you say" >things stay at about this level through the winter, spring, and summer >cousin gets a GF, she comes over a lot, presumably they were sex-havers up there >the noise escalates, wife and I would be in kitchen and it would sound like there were people talking in his room when he wasn't home >every time you go up there to check it's dead quiet and electronics were off >cousin starts to complain of sleeping poorly, says GF tells him he's talking in his sleep like he's having nightmares >he can never remember his dreams so he can't say if he is or not (remember this) >september rolls around, I'm outside one night getting truck loaded up to go hunting >it's 10PM in my own fucking driveway and I get the DANGER DANGER YOU ARE BEING HUNTED sense going off hard >oh well, gotta pack >go inside for a bit though >cousin and his gf come home, warn him something is weird out there and to maybe stay inside >his eyes get BIG, he gets scared, tells me when he was getting out of her truck he glanced at the woods and thought he saw a couple lights >he looked away, realized he couldn't be seeing lights through 200 feet of dense nigger spruce, looked back - they were gone >said it was three lights about seven feet tall, spaced about six inches apart, like so: - = >neat, glowing yellow eyes in the woods

>I don't sleep for shit that night, between packing, checking on the livestock, checking on the kids >pass out at 6AM ish, wake up at noon >cousin tried to call me before going to work, he's really worked up >that night after his gf left he had a nightmare

>he said he woke up lying in his bed and could tell there was something in the hallway, but he couldn't move >it kept banging on his door until the door opened up >he tried to tell it to go away but couldn't speak >a black mass with glowing red eyes, as tall as the ceiling (granted, that's only 7 feet), came into the room and stood by his bed >cousin panicking at this point >all of a sudden a thought pops in his head and he manages to scream (hoarse whisper) "In the name of Jesus Christ, I rebuke you"
>he wakes up lying in bed, drenched in sweat, door still closed
He's not particularly religious, so I was surprised he whipped that out. He wasn't sure where he had heard it. I think his bacon got saved. Regardless of your thoughts on Christ, I've seen a lot of accounts of that specific phrase helping in these situations.
>I'm rather alarmed by this, but I go hunting anyways >real bummer of a trip, no moose, no bears, equipment damage - oh well >come home >cousin has had another nightmare while I'm gone

>12+ (he isn't sure) shadow figures standing behind the man >man calmly tells cousin that he is "going to take over" the cousin's body >tells cousin all of the way he will make cousin mutilate his own body >tells cousin all the ways he will make cousin mutilate the people he loves >cousin's panic gets to, I figure, about an 11/10 before he remembers old reliable and whips out "In the name of Jesus Christ, I rebuke you" >wakes up in bed scared out of his gourd
When I hear this all my alarm bells go off and I realize what a FOOL I've been, because it was not and never had been a ghost in the house, but a DEMON.
>immediately track down an orthodox priest, he comes over a few days later and blesses the house >tells me living on the river and having grandma's old stuff still not completely dealt with have made an inviting home for the thing >my house is an energy backeddy collecting spooky trash, COOL >activity sharply abates after blessing, only a few instances of note afterwards - the usual voices in his room but nobody there >this happened after he brought home tinder whores (gf broke up with him) >everything seems to be OK now

There's a few other things that I left out but are worth mentioning. Well into all of this, when I was pretty well numb to the spooky aspect, I remember a door opening on its own. I looked at it and said, "Really? After all this, NOW you whip out the old open the door trick? Not impressive, bud." Turns out for a few days prior it had been scaring my cousin by opening doors on him.

Cousin also reported getting the sensation things were looking at him through his window, so he'd keep the blinds down. I caught him shining his gun light out the window a few times like he was looking for something.

The priest seemed to think the thing hadn't been there long, but looking back on it I think it had been there for decades. My grandma was an accountant for the catholic church, had nun friends etc, and I found a signed letter from one of them basically exhorting 'bad spirits' to leave the home with another paper (printed email recipe) from about 2002. My grandmother was VERY catholic, this was an unusual find. I also lived in that house for a time back around 2002-2003, and having memories of thinking I was seeing black figures out of the corners of my eyes upstairs. I was really young at the time, though, and just wrote it off. I think my cousin was just the perfect thing to feed off of and caused things to escalate enormously.

Why was the apartment side of the house always relatively safe? I don't know. Could be because we try to live spiritually well, could be something about my oldest kept it away (I should have named her Mulder). What I do know is things escalated every time he brought a tinder whore over, we could pretty much tell he had by how much noise came from his room while he was at work the next day. So, fucking tinder whores feeds demons, remember that.

And that's the really interesting spooky stuff from the last time we chatted, other than minor stuff with my kid. I figure you're gonna ask, so I'll share that too real quick.

The image is a screenshot of a text document with two columns of text. The left column is a list of messages, and the right column is a continuation of the same list. The text is in a dark color, and the font is a standard, sans-serif typeface. The document appears to be a discussion or a conversation, as indicated by the use of emojis and other visual elements such as brackets and exclamation marks.
The left column contains a list of messages, each with a timestamp and a user name. The messages are in a casual, conversational tone, and they seem to be discussing a game or a topic related to gaming. The names of the users are not visible in the image, but the timestamps suggest that the conversation is ongoing.
The right column continues the list of messages, but it is not fully visible in the image. The text is in a similar style to the left column, with a list format and emojis used to indicate the end of a message or to emphasize a point.
The image does not provide any additional context or information beyond the text itself. It is a snapshot of a conversation, and the content is not related to any specific topic or event. The image is a clear and direct representation of the text, without any additional graphics or images.

The image is a painting that depicts a dramatic scene with two figures in the foreground. The figure on the left appears to be a muscular man with a muscular build, wearing a loincloth and a crown, and is in a dynamic pose with one arm raised and the other extended outward. The figure on the right is a woman with long hair, wearing a flowing white garment, and is in a similar dynamic pose with one arm extended and the other bent at the elbow. The background is filled with a dramatic sky with clouds and a sense of movement, suggesting a storm or a powerful event. The painting style is realistic with a focus on the action and the figures' expressions, and the colors are rich and warm, contributing to the overall dramatic effect of the scene. There are no visible texts or discernible brands within the image.

The image is a digital illustration with a simple, abstract design. It features a large, circular shape in the center, which is colored in a vibrant shade of green. This central shape is surrounded by a series of concentric circles, each varying in size and color, creating a sense of depth and complexity. The circles are outlined in yellow, which stands out against the green background.
In the lower left corner of the image, there is a small, yellow star-shaped object, which appears to be a point of interest or a focal point within the design. The background of the image is a solid, dark green color, providing a stark contrast to the lighter elements of the design.
The image does not contain any text or discernible human figures. The style of the image is reminiscent of digital art or a graphic design, with a focus on color and form rather than detailed realism. The overall impression is one of a simple, geometric design with a touch of whimsy.

>be me, innawoods with my friends on a long weekend
>we're chilling, smoking some weed, decide to go for a walk in the woods >it's at my family cabin that i've been to every year of my life since i can remember, i used to explore the woods all the time and know the backwoods trails like the back of my hand >to the north is a big ass lake, to the east are some mountains that block off a nature preserve, you have to hike off trail to get over them.
>to the south are some thick boreal woods that it's impossible to walk offtrail in, and then further south it all turns to bogland, marsh & swamp. impassable without proper gear >the trail forms a belt around the lake so even if you get a bit disoriented you know you're never too far from the main road >we're walking maybe 20 mins down a familiar trail, and I notice everything looks... different?
>different trees and plants than the swampy pine forest we've been walking through. they are deciduous and there is an open canopy. the ground is hard, dry and earthy and not soft and sandy like I'm used to >we're on some kind of logging road, but it's impossible given that there is no logging in the region, and there's no vehicle access to the south because of said swamps and mountains >we're no longer on the trail i know by heart, it's a logging road that seems to go on forever in a straight line with no end in sight >internally freaking the fuck out, don't want to panic my friends and have them make some stupid decision >feels like we've been teleported into a completely different biome >tell friends i forgot something important back at the cabin, let's retrace our steps >we end up walking back 1 hour through this logging road even though it had taken us 20 mins to get there >we turn the corner and suddenly, we are back on the original trail it's been about 10 years since this happened and i've looked for this logging trail both on satellite maps and doing trekking and i've never found it again, i think i was really teleported

I never specified when I wrote it down, but that pulsing aurora shared here >>40656427 is easily the weirdest thing I have seen so far, simply for how inexplicable it remains. I don't know if you have seen or know much about aurora, but I can explain why it's so weird.

Normal aurora >high energy particles penetrating into atmosphere >form dancing patterns along the field lines they penetrate on, often squiggly lines, sometimes swirls >only broad/diffuse when penetrating to lower latitudes (think of the red glow euros have been posting lately) >lasts for minutes to hours, smooth on-off curves (won't turn out like a light) >are rather dim in most cases, even when very good

This 'aurora'
>EXTREMELY BRIGHT (so bright it woke my mother up, and she came to ask if we had been shining a flashlight into her room) >sub-second flashes >whole-horizon

To this day it remains inexplicable. Two witnesses and a third quasi-witness, but I never saw anyone else report it and never heard anyone else talk about it. The sheer energy required to do that would be insane, so I'm inclined to say it wasn't a government experiment for that reason (I doubt there's an antenna array yet built that can handle that). The only other account of an aurora bright enough to wake people I've come across was from the carrington event, which induced enough current to melt telegraph wires. The duration for this was markedly shorter, yes, but that should indicate the point-load involved. Solar outburst levels of energy, behaving like a signal light.

I really can't emphasize enough how strange that was. I can't remember exactly, but based on the house I think this would have been somewhere between 2004 and 2007.

The items are numbered and are likely to be related to a topic or subject. The style of the image is informational and appears to be a screenshot from a document or a webpage. There is a watermark or logo at the bottom of the image, but the specific details of the logo are not clearly visible. The image displays a text document with a dark blue background and white text. The document appears to be a discussion or a debate, as indicated by the use of the word "debate" in the header. The text is written in a casual, conversational style, with some paragraphs having a more formal tone. The document is divided into two main sections, each with a heading and a paragraph.
The first section, labeled "PROPOSAL 1," begins with a statement that reads, "I propose that we do this." The second section, labeled "PROPOSAL 2," begins with a statement that reads, "I propose that we do this." The text continues with a series of points and arguments, suggesting a discussion or debate on the topic.
The document is formatted with a header and a footer, which is not fully visible in the image. The header includes the date "12/12/2019" and the time "10:00 PM," indicating the date and time of the discussion or debate. The footer includes the text "END OF PROPOSAL 1" and "END OF PROPOSAL 2," suggesting the end of the two proposals.
The image does not provide any additional context or visual elements beyond the text itself. The style of the image is a screenshot from a digital document, likely taken from a digital communication platform or a similar medium. The document is not a traditional printed page but rather a digital representation of a written text.

The last story regarding two Americans getting chased up a tree might a variant of an Aswang named Taghoy, so-called because it echoes what it last heard from people it stalks. There are variants of it, with one story saying that you can find it through it's voice; ie if it sounds like it's near you, it means it's far, while if it sounds like it's far from you, it's nearby. Also, due to modernization, it's been sort of meme'd here that them Aswangs are living in the city, and they are getting desperate and targeting everything, not just pregnant women and children.

I am repeating previous questions I had in hope for any potential leads. Also I am changing the title so it might open a broader discussion on similar topics. As I said I need answers. I need data. Nobody is posting about this shit.

I am trying to find anything on Aquino and "Monarch", "White Eagle Underground/Lodge", "The Star Chamber", etc.

I am looking for data on Sid Siemer and his work with the finders. His work on/in "Monarch".

Anything on Boeche's alleged contact with DIA/NSA guys concerning an experiment where three people died. Involved psychotronics under a seeming bogus term "negative healing,". Two malevolent entities/NHI were in contact.

In a podcast Boeche mentioned off hand that he traced the two guys he was talking to back to Offutt AFB...

Paul Bonacci and others have said they were ritually tortured and programmed at Offutt. Paul mentioned Michael Aquino. He said his handler was command chief master sergeant Bill Plemmons.

An air force sergeant named Sherman was working in a project communicating with NHIs. It sounds eerily similar to what Boeche discussed. The NHIs sounded aggressive and called humans "water vessels". Is this stuff connected to what Boeche talked about? This "project Preserve Destiny" is it connectwd to Monarch???

Were the alien genetic experiments related to the Monarch ritual abuse? We got guys like Barber and Strieber talking about trauma in early childhood inducing"psi" abilities. This sounds an awful lot like Monarch and Preserve Destiny...

look at podesta's painting and vanderbilt mansion's pool then notice the red shoes that connect it to alice in wonderland and from there go to the fact both alice and wizard of oz are glownigger spyop movies about mkultra/monarch take wizard of oz (especially return to oz movie) as an example >starts with a spiral (tornado) >she thinks she is in wonderland but is acutally tortured irl and the torture machine (literally called tik-tok) becomes her best friend after she completely loses it mentally >yellow brick road and much more. just look for the signs and you'll find em. personally I'm more curious about mkdraco (also linked to aquino) but it is only mentioned (no further information) once in a cia document linking him to monarch and mkultra

The image is a screenshot of a Twitter post with a dark background and a white text overlay. The post contains a series of three movie posters, each with a different title and a central image of a person standing in front of a star-filled sky. The movie titles are "DESTINY," "Mr. Destiny," and "DESTINY'S CHILL." Below the movie titles, there is a statement in a lighter font that reads, "There is zero 'proof' of any JFK conspiracy. And people can pretend that the government and our institutions have lied for decades, but the reality is that the vast majority of services coming from them have been great. People just take it for granted, get bored, and shit-stir."
The Twitter handle "@TheOmniliberal" is visible in the bottom left corner of the image. The overall style of the image is informative and seems to be a commentary on the topic of conspiracy theories and the perceived lack of evidence for them.

The image is a black and white photograph featuring a man standing at a podium. The man is wearing a white shirt, a striped tie, and a watch on his left wrist. He appears to be speaking or presenting, as indicated by his posture and the position of his hands on the podium. The podium has a logo with a stylized bird and the text "UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA" on it. The background is dark, suggesting an indoor setting, possibly a lecture hall or a similar venue. The text below the image reads "Dr. Sidney Siemer, Abbott Laboratories, Fresno, Calif., introduced the concept of biological insect control to IPAA members." This suggests that the man is a speaker or presenter at an event related to IPAA (International Pest Control Association). The style of the image is reminiscent of a historical photograph, possibly from the mid-20th century, given the style of the photograph and the text.

The image presents a conceptual diagram titled "cybernetics 2.0" with a focus on the intersection of control theory, organization theory, general systems theory, and systems engineering. The diagram is divided into three main sections, each representing a different level of science: conceptual, organizational, and complementary.
The conceptual level is represented by a large blue oval with the text "cybernetics 2.0" in red, indicating the starting point or the core of the concept. Below this, there is a smaller blue oval with the text "Conceptual level" in red, signifying the level of understanding or the initial stage of the concept.
The organizational level is depicted by a larger blue oval with the text "Organizational Theory" in red, suggesting the study of how organizations function and how they are structured. Below this, there is a smaller blue oval with the text "Organizational Theory" in red, indicating the level of understanding or the initial stage of the concept.
The complementary level is represented by a larger blue oval with the text "Complementary science" in red, indicating the study of how different disciplines or fields interact and complement each other. Below this, there is a smaller blue oval with the text "Complementary science" in red, signifying the level of understanding or the initial stage of the concept.
The diagram also includes a series of interconnected lines and circles, representing the flow of information, control, and organization within the cybernetics framework. These lines and circles are colored in shades of blue and red, respectively, and are connected to various areas of study, such as control theory, general systems theory, and systems engineering.
The diagram is a visual representation of the interconnected nature of cybernetics, emphasizing the importance of understanding the relationships between different disciplines and the role of control theory in organizing and managing complex systems.

Sorry I was being facetious, yes they can run DOOM.
Once you can programmatically insert, delete, and alter memory the process of creating a turing complete system is a university level task. Add parallelization through implants and the historical archive of mental calculus tricks to perform efficient computer tasks developed by professional human computers and you have a quite powerful supercomputer capable of running actual computer code -and- with access to everything a human can do already normally.
The tech is old-school core rope memory and the bare minimum definition of a neurolink, but it only needed to _work_.
No fancy magic tech necessary just basic computer science, mind control programming, and 0 ethics.
Once you have a bigger and faster supercomputer earlier than anyone else all you have to do is spy on all the tech companies, copy their software, and wait for someone to develop a useful program.

The cover features a red and black color scheme with a central image of a disembodied hand with multiple fingers and a thumb, which appears to be a stylized representation of a hand with a needle or sharp object piercing it. The text on the cover is arranged in a grid format, with the title "Programmed to Kill" in large, bold, white letters at the top, and the author's name "David McGowan" in smaller white letters at the bottom. Below the title, the subtitle "The Politics of Serial Murder" is written in smaller white letters. The names of the authors are listed in a smaller font size, with the first author being "Erik Kuppens" and the last author being "Charles Ng." The book appears to be a scholarly work, as indicated by the academic tone of the text. The overall style of the image is a combination of text and graphic elements, with a focus on the title and the central image.

A speedy disco roydown on the situation so far:
>An anon posts a thread on April 4, 2025, titled "this is a demon writing itself retroactively into pop culture history", with an image of a man in pajamas
>The OP explains that "you'll remember him from your childhoods soon enough"
>Anons begin searching for Roy Jay, but no Wikipedia page is found, no image results, nothing
>Within a couple of days, Roy Jay content flooded the internet and anons began finding increasingly older references to Roy Jay
>He suddenly has a Wikipedia page, photos, TV spots, albums, and even a Facebook fan page
>Much of the content is bizarre: stories range from Roy flashing a family crowd with his massive penis, to deep frying a slipper while working a food van (and working naked from the waist down)
>Replies to Roy's content online seem overwhelmingly fake: odd profiles of dubiously real people all claiming to have known Roy personally
>An anon bought and provided photos of a vinyl and news clipping, both (potentially) proving Roy Jay's past existence upon this earth
>A different anon emailed the crematorium where Roy's funeral was supposedly held, only to be told there is no record of Roy Jay's funeral there
>Many new photos have emerged on Roy's Facebook page, despite not being there when investigations started weeks ago
>A YouTuber named "Grayy Man" released a video briefly explaining the current circumstances, only to be bombarded by more NPC profiles claiming to have known Roy >the content continues to grow, with more evidence of Roy's existence popping up every day

The image is a promotional photograph featuring a person in a distinctive costume. The individual is wearing a white jumpsuit with a pattern of black and white stars on a white background. The jumpsuit is paired with black shoes and white gloves. The person's pose is dynamic, with one arm extended forward and the other bent at the elbow, suggesting movement or action. The background is a solid red color, providing a stark contrast to the white of the jumpsuit and the person's attire. In the top right corner of the image, there is text that reads "BOY JAY," which is likely the name of the person in the costume. The style of the image is reminiscent of a music album cover, with a focus on the individual and their attire.

Something i've noticed is that the image used for Wikipedia (which was also posted on /x/ before the page was created) is that there should've been a bit of the 'R' In Roy Jay in the wiki image, but there isn't.

Given what we know about backdating, the album cover might be an extension of the wiki image, with 'ROY JAY' added on afterwards

The image is a meme featuring a man with a wide smile, wearing a red cardigan and a necklace. The man appears to be in a candid pose, with his mouth open and eyes closed, suggesting a sense of joy or excitement. The background is a plain, light blue color, which contrasts with the red of the man's cardigan. Overlaid on the image is the text "THWAG" in bold, capitalized letters, which is commonly used in meme culture to represent a humorous or ironic statement. The style of the image is a combination of a candid photograph and a meme, with the text overlay serving as a visual clue to the intended humor.

The image is a photograph of a vinyl record cover. It features three different colored photographs of a person, each with a different pose and outfit. The person is wearing a black top and pants, a pink dress, and a white shirt with a black collar. The photograph on the left shows the person in a dynamic pose, with one leg raised and the other bent at the knee. The middle photograph shows the person in a more relaxed pose, with one leg extended and the other bent at the knee. The photograph on the right shows the person in a more formal pose, with one leg extended and the other bent at the knee. Below the photographs, there is a list of song titles and artists. The list includes "YOU WONDER WHY I CAN'T STOP UPIN' YOU," "YOU WON'T NEED A DOCTOR," "DUMPLAS," "IT'S ALL OVER NOW," "I'LL BE OVER HERE," "LOVE IN THE SHOW," and "THE SHOW MUST GO ON." The text is in a bold, sans-serif font and is aligned to the left.

is in blue ink and is placed above the list of song titles. The overall style of the image is straightforward and appears to be a promotional or catalog photograph for the vinyl record.

The image is a screenshot of a text-based interface, likely from a software application or a web page. The text is in a mix of English and what appears to be a non-Latin script, possibly a non-Latin alphabet. The text is in a large, bold font, which stands out against the background. The text is centered and appears to be a part of a larger block of text, which is not fully visible in the image.
The text reads: "Time 'edging' but not for the largest dick, because it couldn't be measured, as all their measuring devices put together weren't even cover a fraction of the penis' length." The text is in a mix of English and a non-Latin script, suggesting that the software or application is designed to be accessible to users who speak a non-Latin language.
At the bottom of the image, there is a button with the text "GET" and a question mark, indicating that the user can click on this button to perform an action. The button is in a darker shade of gray, which contrasts with the lighter background of the text.
The overall style of the image is simple and utilitarian, with a focus on conveying information clearly and efficiently. The use of a non-Latin script suggests that the software or application is designed to be accessible to users who speak a non-Latin language.

Let's not forget that Roy Jay lost his virginity to his mother.
When he was being born.
His dick was so large that more kept coming up as he was being born, and there was just no space in the room for it.
They had to put it back inside, along with baby Roy, to move the mother to a larger room to try again.
But bigger rooms weren't big enough for Roy's dick, as they underestimated its size, so once again they had to put it back inside along with the baby.
This kept happening with larger and larger rooms, and this "getting outside and getting inside back again" is considered sex because it's a dick getting in and out of her vagina, but never getting fully out, which was the problem.
The mother was about to give up and just live the rest of her life with Roy hanging from her because no room seemed to be large enough, and the orgasms she was having kept increasing in intensity and she didn't know if the next one would kill her.

But the doctor had the idea of having the delivery outdoors, which hopefully provided enough space for the dick to be released in full, which it did, after getting newborn Roy and his dick out for a birth that lasted days, until the tip finally came out.
It broke the record for the longest time "edging" but not for the largest dick, because it couldn't be measured, as all their measuring devices put together weren't enough to even cover a fraction of the penis' length.

Oh dear, yes, filters are much older than photoshop, it's like fonts, when you think of them you think of ttf files used by windows or whatever, now think that Times News Roman is based on the "fonts" that were used by newspapers in the 1800s.
Try this: get a vinyl that you have lying around, at about 10 am in the morning go outdoors and take a photo of it.
Now, at 10 pm, on your room, have it lighted by an LED bulb, or whatever, and take another photo.
The other one will look a lot more warmer and this one will look a lot more bluer, even if the "photo" on the vinyl is the same.
That's how color temperature works (grey doesn't exist, etc).

Now that I think about it, the first pic is the back of the vinyl case, isn't it? Why would you do that? You print the same pic on the back, but slightly modified?
Why are the other two pictures unaffected by the lighting in the same manner?

>Why are the other two pictures unaffected by the lighting in the same manner?
They've been red tinted and had increased contrast on the photo's exposure which crushed the blacks and makes the blue shoes look dark red.
This is a destructive process, try any picture with someone with dark blue shoes, increase the contrast until the shoes look black, now you can't make them look dark blue again without all black becoming dark blue as well. That's why you can't fix the brown shoes and make them look blue again (without making the whole picture gain a pink tint), the red tint and contrast have made them look like any dark red in the picture and they can't be modified without affecting other reds on there.

I highly doubt it's them, and referring to them at all is suspicious. Why would they care? That term is an example of the needless hostility I've been referring to. An inaccurate categorical ad hominem is classic pilpul and certainly a glownigger staple. Yes, I recognize the irony of that statement.
It's this simple, Roy was unsearchable, then he was weirdly associated with bot generated content, then suddenly he's real. That's what happened and anyone saying otherwise is ignorant at bay and a confusingly motivated bad actor at worst.

Having watched all of the Roy martial currently available it is obviously to me that a prankster or intelligence research analyst made it seem that Roy didn't exist and he certainly did.
You know how I know he's real now? The boy George joke. No ai or post Gen X would ever think of it and it's punchline.
Did a demon change reality? Maybe, but this falls under the "unfalsifiable" category and pursuing it is a waste of time.
It was a cool prank/successful psyop test.

And I'm glad I got to hear his material, despite the cringe way it came to my attention.

The image features a stylized illustration of a jester, a character often associated with comedy and humor. The jester is depicted with a large, exaggerated smile, revealing sharp teeth, and a wide-open mouth. His facial features are exaggerated, with a large nose and a prominent chin. The jester's hair is styled in a curly, voluminous manner, and he is wearing a red and yellow striped hat with a black center, which is adorned with a dollar sign. The hat is tilted to the side, and the hat's brim is visible. The background of the image is a gradient of green and yellow, with a flame-like effect emanating from the jester's head, giving the impression of a fiery or explosive environment. The image is a digital illustration and is watermarked with the text "shutterstock.com" and a phone number "1817149412." The style of the image is cartoonish and is likely intended for a humorous or satirical context.

It has a red face with a wide grin, and its eyes are wide open, giving it a surprised or excited expression. The character's mouth is open, revealing its teeth, and it appears to be holding a glass of wine in its right hand. The glass is filled with a dark liquid, possibly wine, and the character's left hand is holding a small, white object that resembles a cigarette. The background is a gradient of red and orange hues, with a blurred cityscape in the distance. The overall style of the image is cartoonish and exaggerated, with a focus on the character's expressive features and the vibrant colors. There are no texts present in the image.

For Roy's sake, search for Meesoft Image Analyzer and download it, paste the picture and click in Color Correction > Color Balance and Curves, or Color Mapper, and play with the Exposure sliders, Midtone sliders, and color models, so you can know how filters and tints work.
Depending on the color temperature you will hallucinate colors that aren't actually there, like the cube on the left where you hallucinate blue squares, but they're all gray, it's because with this color temperature blue squares would look grey, your brain knows this, so you see them blue.
Get a color pícker when in doubt, the colors you perceive depend on the surrounding colors, you won't notice a red tint because your brain compensates for it.

I theorize it's because they want to use Roy's life as reference for another person whom they are, for one reason or another, not allowed to publicly name in full, so they can only allude to him.
They want to instill the seed in people's minds of a figure that is small yet influential because their works contain an uncanny aspect. Perhaps the intent is to soften the public perception in hopes they can coax that individual out of hiding

The image is a screenshot from a video game, featuring a character in a red cap and a red and white racing suit, who appears to be a character from the Mario series. The character is driving a go-kart on a dirt track, with a grassy area and a stadium in the background. The sky is blue with some clouds. The text in the image is in Japanese, and it appears to be a commentary or a description of the scene. The style of the image is typical of video game graphics, with vibrant colors and detailed textures.

The image is a digital rendering of a racing scene. In the foreground, there is a small, colorful race car with a yellow body and red wheels, positioned in the middle of the frame. The car is facing towards the right side of the image. Above the car, there is a large, colorful mural depicting a scene with a character in a cowboy hat, surrounded by a landscape with trees and a clear sky. The mural is framed by a wooden beam and has a red border.
In the background, there is a large, open space with a wooden ceiling and a wooden floor. The ceiling has a series of signs hanging from it, including one that reads "BARBORD'S CABIN" and another that says "CAMPING". The walls of the space are adorned with various signs, including one that reads "PELLENE" and another that says "CAMPING". The overall atmosphere of the scene suggests a racing event or a themed setting.

The person appears to be a man with short hair, wearing a colorful shirt with a pattern of various shapes and colors. He is making a gesture with his hands, possibly indicating a point or emphasis. The room is cluttered with various objects, including a piano, a keyboard, and a cup. The text overlay on the image reads "roy 'spook' jay routine" and "155 views 5y ago ~more". The style of the image is candid and appears to be taken from a video, as suggested by the timestamp and the number of views.

Roy's "incident" didn't happen until 1984, and he supposedly wouldn't even get his first bit of fame on Knees up (which we haven't even confirmed) in 1983. So it's very weird why a popular chip brand in the UK would do ads with some guy who wasn't even famous yet.

The image is a digital composite of a person in a costume. The person is wearing a white jumpsuit with a pattern of brown leaves on a light background. The costume includes a white shirt with a collar and cuffs, a white belt, and white gloves. The person's face is obscured by a surprised expression, with wide eyes and a slightly open mouth. The background is a gradient of pink, purple, and white stripes, creating a blurred effect that suggests motion. The style of the image is reminiscent of a theatrical or performance photograph, often used in the entertainment industry. There are no visible texts or logos in the image.

>I don't get the demon "vibe" at all

He has a few demon-like traits actually:
>Wears black and white patterns, a thing associated with many demonic channelers in obscure cultures and the spirit realm's appearance as a whole.
>Has a certain "trickster" way of acting, the way he slithers around and poses himself is very akin to a classical demon's behavior.
>He embodies an archetype moreso than embodying the person that he is; that's not to say demons are archetypes themselves, they just represent that sort of aspect of the psyche more than humans do.
>Similar to the last two points, his whole personality is reminiscent of the "jester" character, and he acts like he's representing a title rather than something more unique.
>Roy is often noted as "inserting himself" into areas where he doesn't belong, and mysteriously appearing in unusual places online or even IRL. Demons can do this, being purely spiritual entities.

>People on the FB and YT comments for some reason use the phrase "he had his demons" to describe his misdeeds. I know this is a common phrase but it seems way too specific given it's so many unrelated people saying it.

The image is a black and white comic strip featuring a character with large eyes and a wide smile. The character appears to be a young girl with a ponytail, wearing a dress with a collar and a bow. She is looking to the side with a thoughtful expression. Above her head, there is a speech bubble that reads "AHH, SO IT'S LIKE THAT, HUH, I UNDERSTAND EVERYTHING NOW." Below the speech bubble, there is another one that says "DOESN'T GET IT AT ALL." The speech bubbles are in a casual, conversational style, suggesting a light-hearted or humorous tone. The character's facial expression and the text suggest a moment of realization or a humorous realization.

The image is a digital slide with a white background and black text. At the top, there is a title in bold black text that reads "Ripple Effect" in English. Below the title, there is a mathematical equation in blue text that states "726" followed by a series of numbers and symbols, which appear to be a sequence or a series of numbers. The equation is as follows:
- "ripple"
- "effect"
- "108 54 96 96 72 30 0 30 36 30 18"
- "t"
Below the equation, there is a section titled "A Chain Reaction" in blue text. The text reads "in English Gemmatria equals: 726" and continues with a series of numbers and symbols, which are also part of the sequence. The numbers and symbols are as follows:
- "chain"
- "reaction"
- "108 54 96 96 72 30 0 30 36 30 18"
- "t"
The slide appears to be part of a presentation or lecture, possibly related to mathematics or physics, given the context of the equations and the title. The slide is designed to be informative and educational, with the equations and titles likely intended to convey complex mathematical concepts in a clear and concise manner.

The image is a page from a book or a document, likely a technical or educational one, as indicated by the text and the layout. The page is titled "Statistical Probability" and contains a series of mathematical equations and explanations. The text is in a language that appears to be English, and the page is divided into sections with headings such as "Statistical Probability" and "The Likelihood of Occurring" with subheadings such as "in Simple Gematria equals" and "The Likelihood of Occurring in Simple Gematria equals." The page contains a series of mathematical expressions and equations, some of which are numbered and others are not. The equations are written in a standard mathematical notation, with variables and constants, and are likely related to probability theory or statistics. The page also includes a section titled "Odds of Something Happening" with a series of numbers and variables, and a section titled "A Statistical Probability" with a series of numbers and variables.
The page is numbered from 262 to 266, indicating that it is part of a larger document or book. The page is numbered 262, which is followed by a series of numbers and variables, and then the text "The Likelihood of Occurring" is followed by a series of numbers and variables. The page is numbered 263, which is followed by a series of numbers and variables, and then the text "The Likelihood of Occurring in Simple Gematria equals" is followed by a series of numbers and variables. The image displays a text-based document with a green background and white text. The document appears to be a programming or mathematical problem-solving exercise, as indicated by the presence of mathematical expressions and code. The text is written in English and includes a variety of symbols and numbers, suggesting that it is a programming problem.
At the top of the page, there is a header that reads "Exercises 11.1.1 and 11.1.2" followed by a list of instructions. The instructions are numbered and include a list of numbers and letters, which are likely to be variables or constants used in the problem.
The main body of the text is divided into two columns. The left column contains a series of mathematical expressions and code, while the right column contains a series of text instructions. The text instructions are numbered and include a list of numbers and letters, which are likely to be variables or constants used in the problem.
The document is structured in a way that suggests it is a step-by-step guide for solving a problem, with each step followed by a list of numbers and letters, which are likely to be variables or constants used in the problem. The text instructions are numbered and include a list of numbers and letters, which are likely to be variables or constants used in the problem.
The document is in a language that is not English, as indicated by the presence of mathematical symbols and the use of a programming language, such as Python, which is commonly used for such exercises. The text is written in a way that is clear and easy to read, which is typical for educational or instructional materials.
Overall, the image shows a document that is likely a part of a programming exercise, with a focus on solving a mathematical problem using Python. The document is structured in a way that guides the reader through the process of solving the problem, with numbered steps and a list of numbers and letters that are likely to be variables or constants used in the problem.

You're an ignoramus. By this logic, God is a dog because both reduce to 8 in Pythagorean numerology. You're drawing false equivalencies based purely on two things having the same reductive number and an overarchingly similar theme.

Even the way you're going about it is greasy and dishonest, like correlating "The Likelihood of Occuring" with "Odds of Something Happening" when the former isn't even proper English (it should be "The Likelihood of Something Occuring"). You could change a single letter or add a single word to any of these phrases and get a completely different number, so you're just fishing for correlations through confirmation bias alone.

Here's what real numerological correspondences look like, not your surface level facebook mom garbage. Educate yourself and do better in the future.

The image is a digital graphic with a white background and black text. It appears to be a slide from a presentation or a document, possibly related to mathematics or computer science, given the context of the text.
At the top of the image, there is a title in bold, black text that reads "Synchronized" followed by a subtitle in smaller font size that reads "in Simple Gerameta equals:". Below this, there is a list of numbers in a numerical order, starting with "160" and ending with "160". The numbers are aligned to the left and are written in a standard font.
Below the list, there are two sections titled "To Be In Alignment in Simple Gerameta equals:". The first section, labeled "160", contains a series of numbers in a numerical order, starting with "t0-be-in-al-alignment-men". The second section, labeled "160", also contains a series of numbers in a numerical order, starting with "t0-be-in-al-alignment-men".
The style of the image is simple and clear, with a focus on conveying information clearly and without any additional graphics or images. The text is in English, and the presentation seems to be educational or instructional in nature.

It serves the same purpose as the chrck digit on a shipping container. You can't derive information from the check sum. It's inh8 meaningless. A medieval rabbi made up all that kabbalah shit to scam people.
It's a proofreading device that doesn't even work 100% of the time. That's all

Below this title, there is a series of mathematical equations in a simple format, with the numbers 139, 139, and 139 in a row, followed by the word "Punishment" in a smaller font size. The equations are numbered from 7 to 20, with each number corresponding to a different mathematical operation.
Below the equations, there is a section titled "Forgiveness" with the same mathematical operation as the Punishment section, but with the numbers 139 and 139 in a row. The text "in Simple Gemmatria equals:" is also present in the same font and size as the Punishment section.
The image appears to be a digital representation of a mathematical concept, possibly related to the concept of God's judgment and the consequences of sin. The use of simple mathematical operations and the repetition of the Punishment and Forgiveness sections suggest a focus on the concept of sin and its consequences. The image does not contain any additional graphics or images, and the text is entirely in black on a white background.

Archivum Obscurum – Lexicon Arcanum – Project AngelBook

Volume VIII (Part 12)

By Ezekiel Redik Yarbrough - (DBM ECLIPZE)

Introduction

This volume—and the entire 25-part Archivum Obscurum series—is an archive of 4plebs threads, compiled from the /x/ paranormal board and related dark web forums. It's important to understand that none of these words are mine. Every sentence you're about to read was posted anonymously by someone else, somewhere deep in the Internet's forgotten layers. I've simply curated, organized, and preserved it. Some of it is brilliant. Some of it is disturbing. Some of it is completely unhinged. That's the point. These books serve as a snapshot of collective occult thought, filtered through anonymity, obsession, fear, and revelation. If you find something offensive or insane—remember, you're not reading me. You're reading the Internet itself, raw and unedited. This is documentation, not endorsement. But that's what makes it powerful. These are the ghost-words of the digital subconscious. I just bound them into something permanent.

My niece requested for me to post here. I was Roy Jay's bus driver in two months in the 1980s. Part of my duty was to stop the man drinking. He was the funniest man in the world but not when he was drunk. Then it was a different story.
But we have our demons. All of us. None can judge.
"Let him with no sins cast a first stone" as Jesus said

thank you and Bless your families
Frank

There's no "cherry picking" going on. Once again, we encounter the issue of you being retarded. It doesn't matter if we represent, say, the letter B as "B" or "β", it has the same value and function.

I hate to tell you this, but people significantly smarter than you came to the realization that you can apply Pythagorean numerology to the English (greek-derived) alphabet with superior results, which is why this practice exists to begin with, so your continued diaper-shitting remains weird and unrelaxed.

So far the cipher I've been tracking has exposed 6 inside trade deals ongoing right now. Hidden in plain sight.
XRP, XLM, XDC, XPR, CBG, and MQ.
All the news is a big organized crime psyop to keep people distracted while they basically mac on the market and steal money from us lmao

Illuminati kikes have been using gematria to share inside trading secrets with each other. They have a hidden cipher basically everywhere. In pop culture and the media. Look out for "storm is coming" or "rising phoenix" it implies that they're about to pump a stock.
So far the cipher I've been tracking has exposed 6 inside trade deals ongoing right now. Hidden in plain sight.
XRP, XLM, XDC, XPR, CBG, and MQ.
All the news is a big organized crime psyop to keep people distracted while they basically mac on the market and steal money from us lmao
Just keep it to yourself.
I decoded everything. I know. Let these cattle just be ignorant fucking cattle. Fuck them.
You have the cheat codes now, baby.
I'm the glitch in the matrix they're trying to bury alive.

The image is a screenshot of a stock chart for Margeta, Inc. (MJQ), a company that is not visible in the image. The chart is titled "Trade Secrets In Gemarita Is 363 Decode Cipher: Meaning For Trade Secrets In Gemarita" and has a dark background with white and red text. The chart displays a line graph with a red line representing the stock price and a green line representing the volume. The stock price is shown as 5.51, and the volume is shown as 26.00. The chart also includes a key events section with a title "Key Events" and a description "Date: 10/2021 10:20 PM". The chart is dated "10/2021" and "10/2022" on the x-axis, and "10/2023" and "10/2024" on the y-axis. The chart is part of a larger image that includes a website address "www.tradecreeprints.com" and a date "10/2021". The overall style of the image is informational and technical, designed to provide a visual representation of a stock market chart.

Using numerology to find correlations between stockmarket fluctuations based on stock abbreviations is actually an interesting idea. The problem is, the bad habit of /x/ schizos in running phrases through a calculator and then posting them while ignoring the fact those same phrases have 10x more unrelated connotations -- and subsequently wasting time that could've been better spent looking for meaningful data -- is a far too frequent occurrence.

There is something to numerology, but the waters get muddied by schitzos drawing random connections all over the place.
I'm told that each planet has a number assigned to it, and the cycles of civilization (Polarian, Hyperborean, Lemurian, Atlantean, the current Aryan, and so forth) are all associated with a planet. Combine the two, and you get this sequence:
9876543(21)
I put 21 in parentheses because traditional occult numerology only goes as far as Saturn, and the last two would be Uranus and Neptune. But the main point is that this sequence is real numerology and not just coincidence.

The image is a screenshot of a digital display, likely from a digital billboard or a similar electronic signage system. The main focus of the image is a sign for a business named "Cheers Liquor" with the address "879 4th St." The sign is black with white text and features a logo of a person holding a glass of alcohol. The sign also includes a date "July 2023" and a message that says "See more dates."
In the top left corner of the image, there is a map with a pin indicating the location of the business. The map shows the address "879 4th St." and the pin is marked with a red circle and a white line, indicating the business's location.
Below the map, there is a text that reads "Gematrix Words And Phrases Of 3518 Value Of Gematrix 3518" with a list of numbers "3518 1244 264 358" at the bottom. The text suggests that the image is related to a digital display or advertisement, possibly for a business or product related to Gematrix 3518.
The style of the image is informational and promotional, with a focus on the business's address and the availability of dates for potential customers. The use of a digital display suggests that the image is meant to be viewed on a screen or digital device, possibly for advertising or information purposes.

Dude I live in Wamego. This entire town is a fucking Mossad run Wizard of Oz shithole with hidden gematria Easter eggs everywhere. There are a lot of pagans and witches and a huge sun cult where I live. Some kid named Jacob Bourke was killed here. The name of one of the killers was Cody Lamia-Beck
Cody means helper
Lamia means child eating monster.
Beck means stream.
Jacob Bourke was basically sacrificed to Satan and tossed in the Kansas River. They covered it up. The murderer only got 13 years. He gets out soon. This happened in 2017.
Look up Wamego Wizard of Oz museum. Now invert the colors of the picture. You need to understand how these occultists use their ciphers and their inversions of symbols. Now look up Cheers liquor store in wamego kansas. Look at the sign. The C, E, and the R are capitalized.
That's 3, 5, 18. When you put that into gematrix it translates to The Wonderful Wizard of Oz. So it's not bullshit you just need to know what you're doing and what to look out for. It kind of irritates me because these people are getting rich doing this shit while the average person lives like a fucking peasant. Shits sad bro. So have a cookie. I know how it feels.

I'll repeat myself again: numerology has great power, but looking for shallow correlations and acting like they crack the code is damaging to the truth, not supportive of it. Saying something like, "particular letters in this logo are capitalized, so they may correspond to phrases that have the values of those exact letters" has merit, sure, but this approach has to be tempered with logic and superlative patterns, or the connections are meaningless.

For example, let's look up "potato":
https://www.gematrix.org/?word=potato
Potato has the same Jewish gematria value as "penguin" and "Et Phone Home". The list of results goes on for 30 pages, with even more bizarre entries. There is no way, without bending your logic into a pretzel, that you can say potatoes are somehow spiritually connected to a shitty 80s movie. Now, if you went through that entire 30 page list and found an overwhelming majority of numbers that corresponded to phrases relating to tubers, you might be onto something. That isn't what's happening here, though. It's somebody calculating "Satan", realizing it has the same number as "Grinning Demon" and using it as evidence of this number representing Satan, while subsequently ignoring the fact the number also relates to a fucking potato.

You're supposed to use gematria to pick up patterns. I keep getting the same message from a daemon every time I use it and this daemon of mine revealed trade secrets to me on Gematria.
It's one thing to make connections based on random correlations but when you keep getting the same number and message over and over again, you know you're in communication with the spirits and you can utilize Gematria in that manner.

I asked him to have sexual intercourse with my wife afterwards and when we got back to the hotel he whipped out the biggest fucking cock I've ever seen, it was as big as my forearm, then he pounded my wife's tight pussy with his BWC while choking and smacking her and telling her she would be doing it tomorrow. I met him a lot after that. He was a rare talent and,thefunniest man I've ever met when he was sober but really hard to work with when he was drunk because his penis wouldn't get as hard. The first section, labeled "English Gemara," contains a series of mathematical equations. The equations are written in a standard font and are numbered from 2106 to 2109. The text is in English and is divided into two columns, with the left column containing the numbers and the right column containing the mathematical expressions.
The second section, labeled "God Coded Every English Alphabet Letter," contains a series of mathematical equations as well. The equations are also written in a standard font and are numbered from 2106 to 2109. The text is in English and is divided into two columns, with the left column containing the numbers and the right column containing the mathematical expressions.
The third section, labeled "The English Alphabet Is God's Prophecy," contains a series of mathematical equations. The equations are written in a standard font and are numbered from 2106 to 2109. The text is in English and is divided into two columns, with the left column containing the numbers and the right column containing the mathematical expressions.
The image is a digital representation, and the text is in a clear, readable font. The equations are numbered and formatted in a consistent manner, which suggests they are part of a larger document or book. The image does not contain any images or graphics, and the focus is solely on the text and mathematical expressions.

This is literally what I've been saying dude, at this point it seems like you just want to argue for the sake of arguing or you aren't reading half of what I've said. I never once stated or implied that "doood gematria is just bullshit", quite the opposite. At the same time, you can't say that every single value of every single word has divine correlation, or the whole thing turns into "here's my youtube essay on why penguins and potatoes are ackshually related...". The point is, if you're going to liken Roy to a demon based on gematria alone, then do the homework to prove it on a widescale basis rather than continually posting cherrypicked examples. If you disagree with this, I can only assume you're arguing in bad faith and I'm not going to engage you any further.

Below the list of numbers, there are two separate sections of text. The first section, labeled "Sarcophage," is in a larger font size compared to the second section, which is "Rock Tomb." The first section contains a mathematical expression that reads "in Simple Gemmatria equals: 97" in a bold, black font. The second section, labeled "Rock Tomb," also contains a mathematical expression that reads "in Simple Gemmatria equals: 97" in a bold, black font.
The style of the image is simple and straightforward, with a clear division between the title and the list of numbers. The text is arranged in a way that guides the viewer's eye from the title at the top to the list of numbers in the middle, and then to the mathematical expressions in the bottom section. The use of bold and black text for the numbers and the title emphasizes the importance of the information presented.

Be on the lookout for news headlines, gay commercials saying "a storm is coming" or "phoenix rising". This is a trade secret cipher I detected. They use it in pop culture. They had phoenix symbolism at the super bowl. It's a huge organized crime inside trading racket. But you're in on it now. Loose lips sink ships. This is 4chan so no one gives a shit and retarded nigger cattle will just glaze over it not knowing how valuable the information is.
So they wouldn't hurt you. So no need to be paranoid just keep a weapon for protection. Don't let yourself be captured. A knife is sufficient because they'll have no choice but to kill you. Which is better than being captured.
Anyways like I said enjoy the cheat codes. You're a hero.

The image is a screenshot of a text conversation, likely from a Reddit post, with a focus on a discussion about a fictional character named "4chan" and its connection to the "Phoenix symbol." The conversation is in a format that resembles a Reddit post, with multiple lines of text and a header that includes the username "4chan" and the date "06/21/2015."
The conversation is divided into two sections, each with a different header and a different date. The first section, dated "06/21/2015," is titled "Anonymous" and contains a series of text messages. The second section, dated "06/21/2015," is titled "Anonymous" and also contains a series of text messages.
The text messages in the first section are in a format that resembles a Reddit post, with a header and a series of lines of text. The second section, dated "06/21/2015," is formatted similarly, with a header and a series of lines of text.

The text messages in the first section discuss the character "4chan" and its connection to the "Phoenix symbol," which is a significant element in the conversation. The text messages in the second section discuss the character's actions and interactions with others, including a reference to a character named "Me too," who has been harassed by "freemasons." The conversation also touches on the character's experiences with "interdimensional ningers" and the character's brother, who is referred to as "Saw my brother Samedfag."
The text messages are written in a casual, conversational style, with the use of emojis and punctuation to convey emotion and tone. The text is in English, and the conversation appears to be a continuation of a larger discussion on the character "4chan" and its significance in the context of the "Phoenix symbol."

The image is a screenshot of a social media post by a user named "Denis TheMenaceBeardsworth" on February 11, 2023. The post is a text-based conversation between the user and a person named Roy Kinell Jr., who is referred to as "Roy K" in the text. The conversation appears to be about a person named "Jorgensen," who is described as a "grown-up in a little town called Atherton in Lancashire." The text mentions that Roy K knew Jorgensen well and that he was funny, even as a youngster. The user also mentions that Jorgensen was "a troubled soul" and that they had heard he was often drunk on stage. The post has a comment section with five likes and six comments, indicating that the post has been shared and discussed by others. The image is a screenshot from a social media platform, as indicated by the presence of a profile picture and a notification icon at the top right corner.

The image shows a page from a book with text and a musical note. The text is in English and discusses the history and atmosphere of the well-known cabaret, Chaplin's. Chaplin's is described as a lively English Square, one of Beriodom's most notable sights, and has become a must-visit venue for those seeking an unforgettable night out in the city.
The page also mentions the bar's offerings, which include diverse and dynamic performances ranging from comedy acts to live music and everything in between. The text describes the performances as popular and exotic, adding a unique twist to the typical cabaret experience. The text also highlights Chaplin's as a special place in British comedy history, as the comedian Roy Jay, the person referred to as "Slither-Hitler," is known for his performances there.
The image is a photograph of the book's page, and the text is in a serif font, which is commonly used for formal or academic writing. The page is open, and the text is aligned to the left, which is typical for a book's left-to-right format. The background of the image is not visible, focusing the attention on the text and the musical note.

This is definitely a weird one. I don’t know why I’ve waited till now to read a Roy jay thread this is really weird. Something to note is that his album is only covers or songs, no original Material.

I think a good way to check his existence is see if we can find those pajamas. A commenter under one of the videos claimed he worked at woolworths and sold the pajamas to Roy in 1984.

If I had to think of a potential deboonk. I’d say some anon wanted to make this creepypasta so he used an obscure British comic from the 80’s. Seeing as this is a primarily American site most of us don’t really have a lot of knolage of all the “famous” people who only ever took off on the bbc.

That being said all of this shit is really weird so I’m not gonna discount him being a demon. Also it’s odd that’s most Roy jay documentation seems to be from the past 5-10 years even though he’s been dead for like 18

It just isn't likely for someone to achieve that level of fame in the UK for four months then vanish completely without a trace, only to emerge as an early meme on messageboards in the 00s

all the "we were spooking around the playground" posts make it feel very fake to me. if he was that well known and then vanished, then its an anomaly in the way that pop culture and mass media works

either he existed and its a big anomaly and suggests some sort of retrocausality around mass media. or he didnt exist and there is some sort of AI hoax going on

neck. The text above the character reads "HAHAHAH WE HAD ENOUGH!" The character's expression is now one of distress or distress, as indicated by the rope around his neck and the downward-facing expression.

The background of both panels is white, which contrasts with the colorful characters and text, making the humor more apparent. The style of the comic strip is cartoonish and expressive, with a focus on the character's facial expressions and the text to convey the humor.

These things did happen before the smartphone generation of internet. It's hard to understand but, for example, I never heard the song "Bohemian Rhapsody" from about 1984 to the year Wayne's World came out. They never played it on the radio or referenced it anywhere.

This isn't a perfect example, but without personalized feeds, when the (now) legacy media stopped talking about something it didn't exist. No one remembered Michael Bolton's cock rock album when he was reimagined as a love ballad singer. My grandparents literally didn't know the president was crippled.

If something wasn't advertised and BROADcasted then people forgot it existed. There was no DVR/tivo. VHS was still pretty expensive. You had to be a grade A autist to remember Roy Jay simply from a handful of television appearances.

How many people in the 90's looked at Alanis Morrisette after jagged little pill and said "hey! That's that girl from the Canadian television show Nickelodeon bought!"?

People wouldn't recognize the wrestling jobber they saw 5 minutes ago in a lone ranger mask.

And if the Internet went down, it would be even worse today.

Bohemian Rhapsody is a bad counter example because it was just so widespread and famous. it was objectively played all the time for years on the radio, in bars, on television... just because it wasnt relevant didnt mean it went away. the same could be said about Abba or Pink Floyd
whereas there is nothing like a home DVD or video version of Roy that people would play over and over and over and over like they would Bohemian Rhapsody, so every single lyric and moment of the song gets ingrained in peoples memories

whereas Roy was on one LIVE show that was never repeated, he apparently wasn't interviewed by Bob Monkhouse afterwards. that itself is a very odd fact about his guesting on the show - who isnt interviewed by the host, even just for twenty seconds?.... so just this one appearance made him a meme that everyone was doing, everyone imitated? it doesnt make sense.

to compare: the most popular UK comedy act of the time was a character called Frank Spencer. who kids did imitate in the playground. he was basically like Mr Bean plus Homer Simpson. he had catchphrases and every other did impressions of him on TV. the difference is that Frank Spencer was on television EVERY WEEK and the guy who played him did in-character appearances for decades. he was the biggest meme and the most popular with kids because he worked hard and earned it. he didnt do 5 minutes of incredibly poor jokes, appear on the Little and Large show and then vanish.

Anyone have his cover of this song: https://youtu.be/O6gEkfwozhE ?

It can’t be a coincidence that this was one of the songs on his album. 3 Dog Night did a cover of it, too, and they’re deeply connected with what you might call the Illuminati. A relative (not super close, but we share a last name) wrote a hit song for some of these acts that would dress as clowns. The songs would always have some social message and yet they'd end up being featured on kid's shows like Sesame Street.

Not sure how this all connects, but I'm sure it does. I'll reach out to my relative (son of a writer of one of these un-pop illuminati Jew-y songs)

For example, when I first found this thread, people were noting that he only ever had done covers of music, and now he has a few original tunes. It's showing us, here, some of the things that are possible in this reality, in real time. Check back here every now and then and you'll see it's not as unfalsifiable as you might believe.

I actually think it's possible those stories ARE true but in a very weird and paranormal way. The way they describe the schoolyard stories of the "spook and slither man" make it sound less like it was about a random British comedian, but more like it was about a legend or folk tale about some sort of trickster spirit. What I'm saying is, the schoolyard fable was the only real thing about what we know of as "Roy" from that time period, and only now has this same spirit injected itself into history as some seemingly random semi-famous person.

Update: Apparently Three Dog Night worked with my relative several times. I won't dox myself, and no he didn't write Sayer's song, but they definitely have their own demon-adjacent lore. Aside from the usual communist messaging of the era, the band's name itself is apparently referencing Satan.

3 - mocks the holy trinity
Dog - inversion of God
Night - operating in darkness

So to recap:
>Sayer came out with a song about the Illuminati controlling performers — dressed as clown
>Roy Jay performs a cover of it at some point — dressed as clown
>Three Dog Night covers the song again, slightly modifying the lyrics and dressing as monsters instead of clowns for the live shows

Hope this helps. My relative's dad, a writer for three dog night, isn't alive anymore, but his son is still in the entertainment industry and I have him on text.

It's considered an obscure song, but two versions actually charted in top 10 and it was performed on Sesame Street lmao

I'll keep digging into this. It can't be a Cohen-cidence that it's one of the songs on his album.

The top of the page has a heading that reads "DEPUTY WITNESS," followed by a section titled "CONCLUSION." Below this heading, there is a section titled "MATERIALS" with a note that reads "The material received is well prior to the discussion here." The text continues with a description of a case involving a woman who had been missing for several years, and the investigation into her disappearance. The text mentions that the case was investigated by the police, and the woman's body was found in a wooded area. The document also includes a note that the case was closed, and the woman's body was identified as that of a missing person.

The document is in a document format with a header and a footer, and the text is in a serif font, which is typical for formal or official documents. The handwriting is cursive, and the text is in a language that appears to be English. The style of the document suggests it is from an earlier time period, as it includes references to "Star Charter," "White Night," and other terms that are not commonly used in modern English. The document is in a physical form, with a visible edge and a binding, indicating it is a printed document.

The image does not provide any additional context or information beyond the visible text, and the focus is solely on the document itself. The image does not contain any images or graphics, and the background is not visible. The document is the main subject of the image, and the focus is on the text and the annotations.

Still trying to find anything on Aquino and "Monarch", "White Eagle Underground/Lodge", "The Star Chamber", etc.

I am looking for data on Sid Siemer and his work with the finders. His work on/in "Monarch".

Anything on Boeche's alleged contact with DIA/NSA guys concerning an experiment where three people died. Involved psychotronics under the heading of "negative healing". Stuff like this makes it obvious if true that they were perfectly aware how immoral and illegal this shit was. Two malevolent entities/NHI were in contact. Some adamantly said to cut off ties but the entities did not want this and apparently grew angry at such debates. The guys heading the program felt it was too vital and important historically speaking as well as it concerned national security.

In a podcast Boeche mentioned off hand that he traced the two guys he was talking to back to Offutt AFB...

Paul Bonacci and others have said they were ritually tortured and programmed at Offutt. Paul mentioned Michael Aquino. He said his handler was command chief master sergeant Bill Plemmons.

An air force sergeant named Sherman was working in a project communicating with NHIs. It sounds eerily similar to what Boeche discussed. The NHIs sounded aggressive and called humans "water vessels". Is this stuff connected to what Boeche talked about? This "project Preserve Destiny" is it connectwd to Monarch???

Were the alien genetic experiments related to the Monarch ritual abuse? We got guys like Barber and Strieber talking about trauma in early childhood inducing"psi" abilities. This sounds an awful lot like Monarch and Preserve Destiny...

I need answers. I need data. Nobody is posting about this shit and they should. Wtf is going on???

Looking for:

>1 any individuals and/or organizations tied "white eagle underground/white eagle lodge"? Does this org have ties to Poland in some way?

>2 anyone aware of any groups similar to that listed above that practices monarch or monarch inspired methods on its members or outsiders?

3> I have heard the Vril Society still exists. Now does it "exist" in that some occultist huckster slapped Vril onto his cult/community in order to add prestige? Those in the occult world will understand what I am saying. If you are aware of an existing Vril society is it legit?

>4 what other esoteric-hitlerian/ultra right occult organizations are any of you aware of similar those listed above? And please no o9a or splinter groups of it. the pylons or zerg hive lodge thingies seem like spook informant factories and/or larp conventions.

>5 anyone aware of more data on Operation Preserve Destiny? Any ties to it and to projects like OFTEN/Stargate? Is it at all tied to the occult or monarch programming?

Anyways I got more I just need to remember them. If any of you anons can provide any data on my initial post or on this post I would be very thankful.

He is a spook and has a record. Hard to find info on him. Yeah some neonazi cults are tied up in monarch programming. There is the same in the Catholic Church with the Jesuits. If you faggots are still like vice news boomers and think the "satanic panic" was real and not damage control you might as well be fellating khazar and european royal faggots.

The monarch marionette programming goes black as far as the interwar period in Weimar Republic regions and in France and UK. Now people I trust have said their family programming goes back as far as 200 years

About genetics.
To live in our dimension and still retaining their individuality, and have a functional physical body, some modifications in the bodily material is needed.
Many times this was done before humans even exist, one example is the fusing of a pair in chromosomes of chimps thay gave origin in the human chromosome 2, making a more functional [for the NHI] to live in our reality.
Throughout history whole ethnicities were created for those beings be "downloaded" into our dimension.
This is the reason behind CIA and satanists interest in shamanism, bön and other tibetan/mongolian esoteric practices like phowa, and ishtadevatta.
Basically you can overrule someone's natural set of chakras and put entities in each one of these chakras, the someone being just a vehicle to those entities.

The image is a black and white line drawing that depicts two human figures. The figure on the left appears to be a bald man with glasses, and he is making a surprised or shocked expression with his mouth open. The figure on the right is also a bald man, but he is pointing towards the left figure with his finger, suggesting a gesture of direction or emphasis. Both figures have a beard and are wearing glasses. The style of the drawing is simple and cartoon-like, with a focus on facial expressions and body language. There are no texts or additional elements in the image.

I have tried to find some definitive connections of monarch praxis within certain new age communities which gained visibility through Esalen institute (tavistock). I need more data though.

The guy you replied to though is also right. The soviet exoteric and esoteric mind control/psychotronics studies involved some black theosophical/satanic practices and concepts and had help from a ton of departments in their higher education.

Here I got a few more questions I am posting. WARNING: some of them are highly fucked up and can disturb some individuals, potential even some reading this post right now. I was one of these people when I first dug into all this horrific shit. Anyways here it goes:
Now these alien entities embodying themselves. Is this why multiple sources say that for the full "virtue" of the trauma based mind control to be utilized it needs to be done to a child of young toddler age? Also again multiple sources agree that the major ritual involves insertion of demons into the child? One at least and potentially two sources say each personality created requires new insertion of demons with main function as being wards? Also with what you mention is the actual purpose for embodiment of these demonic entities? Also is it true this possessing of the child involves ritualized anal rape?

What do you know of the occult aspects of monarch, it's origins and the cults of the elites? Is it true that it is as old as babylonian and persian occult ritual? Also the origins of kabbalah being merkabah or chariot theology? I am beginning to think kabbalah at its roots is Persian in origin and may be Babylon? Is monarch ritual torture/mind control (or what I have heard one of the fuckers call it "eugenic pressure") rooted in kabbalah? Or is it rooted in alchemical practices?) last question does monarch have any relation to caspian region khazar occultism?

The image displays a golden-colored astrolabe, which is a type of astronomical instrument used to measure the positions of the stars and planets. The astrolabe is circular in shape and features a detailed astronomical map with various symbols and lines representing celestial bodies. The design includes a central circle with a smaller circle at the top, which is the focal point of the instrument. The astrolabe is mounted on a stand with a circular base and a curved arm, which allows it to be held in various positions.
At the top of the astrolabe, there is a small circular ring with a hole in the center, which is likely used to hang the instrument. The background of the image is black, which contrasts with the golden color of the astrolabe, making it stand out prominently.
In the lower right corner of the image, there is a text that reads "A modern astrolabe made in 2013, in Tabriz, Iran." This suggests that the astrolabe is a modern creation and was made in the city of Tabriz, Iran, in the year 2013. The text is in white, which contrasts with the black background, making it easily readable.
The image is a photograph, and the style of the image is realistic with a focus on the astrolabe, capturing its intricate design and the details of its construction. The image is likely intended to showcase the astrolabe as a piece of art or a historical artifact, highlighting its craftsmanship and the historical context in which it was made.

Full disclosure he did not say "Ayys are real and are Demons" in explicit terms, but he did Directly address the nature of the "Entities" involved in workings and rituals, and his explanation of them being "real" in the same way the soul is real seems to at least fit the bill, combine that with his defense department invovlement and behavior that shows whatever entities he claimed to be interacting with could be strictly defined as Non Human Intelligence. Given he is also a devotee of Crowley and crowley's entities like LAM and AIWASS all appear to be Ayys and you might see why I made that post.

As for the exact explanation of these entities, he gave it in one of these interviews here but I cannot remember which one.... It was one of the Bases interviews

Hey man did you ever come across Ray Boeche's whistleblower account? Surprisingly there was new info on this alleged event in the Shellenberger congressional hearing accompanying documents. You can find it online it's only a couple of megabytes. Anyways Boeche said that two guys from either the DIA or NSA reached out to him. They were involved in some OFTEN offshoot projects mostly dealing with remote viewing and psychotronics. They alleged in the latest project that they were doing studies using live subjects on what was termed "negative healing". It actually (if true) involved contact and assistance from two non-human entities. They were supposedly cruel, like to a shocking degree. The study they had involved three test subjects. Two guys and a girl. All were killed. By suffocation, heart attack and with the woman it involved her head being partially caved in. Boeche vaguely described the pictures he was shown.

Boeche was at great pains to explain that this could have all been disinfo akin to what was seen in the Bennewitz affair. I think it may be true, though. The two "whistleblowers" alleged that the NHEs required blood for their "services". Boeche was told that satanic human sacrifice was involved

Have you heard about any of this? I would not at all be shocked at Aquino's involvement. Another interesting tidbit is that the head of psychotronic studies for the army was John Alexander. A major (though imo dark) influencer amongst quite a few UFO contactee/research communities. He was also one of Michael Aquino's closest friends and associates...

I am frustrated Redfern and Boeche were given documents by the CE/DIA et al but will not release them because they were asked not too. I understand they probably gave their word and there are likely other reasons but still. Like the Book of Revelation is playing out before our eyes can you please just dump what you have? According to Redfern's book the CE's general position is to go forward with disclosure while their colleagues is to not because "it may adversely damage both public morale and social order."

The image is a scanned document with text in a language that appears to be English. The text is in a formal and legal style, with a mix of paragraphs and bullet points. The document is divided into two columns, with the left column containing the text and the right column containing a series of numbered boxes with text within them. The text is in a serif font, and the document has a watermark or logo at the top right corner.

The text is in English, and it discusses a legal matter related to property and property rights. The document seems to be a legal document, possibly a court document, given the formal language and the mention of legal proceedings. The text is in a larger font size compared to the surrounding text, which suggests that it is a significant part of the document.
The numbered boxes within the right column contain instructions or requests, such as "With regard to the actions of S.S.P.D. personnel," and "with respect to the actions of Officer." These boxes are likely to contain specific instructions or requests related to the legal proceedings being discussed.
The watermark or logo at the top right corner of the document is not clearly visible, and thus cannot be described in detail. The document appears to be a scanned image, and the quality of the image is not very good, making it difficult to read the text in detail.

Gotta do it

"The horrendous Monarch Project "refers to young people in America who were victims of mind control experiments run either by U.S. government agencies such as the Central Intelligence Agency or military intelligence agencies," writes DeCamp.

"The story told by Monarch victims--one of whom was Paul Bonacci--is that they were tortured for the purpose of creating 'multiple personalities' within them," DeCamp continues from his book. "These multiple personalities could then be programmed--as spies, 'drug mules,' prostitutes or assassins."
An article by Anton Chaitkin, quoted in the book, states that "professionals probing the child victims of 'Monarch' say there are clearly two responsible elements at work: the government/military, and cooperating satanic (or more exactly pagan) cults. These are multi-generation groups, whose parents donate their own children--who are proudly called 'bloodline' or simply 'blood' cultists--to be smashed with drugs and electric shock and shaped. Other children are kidnapped and sold into this hell, or are brought in gradually through day care situations."

"Paul Bonacci and other child victims have given evidence in great depth on the central role of Lt. Col. Michael Aquino in this depravity," continues Chaitkin. "Aquino, alleged to have recently retired from an active military role, was long the leader of an Army psychological warfare section which drew on his 'expertise' and personal practices in brainwashing, Satanism, Nazism, homosexual pedophilia and murder."

"Paul Bonacci, a courageous survivor who endured almost two decades of degradation under Project MONARCH has disclosed strong corroborating evidence of widescale crimes and corruption from the municipal/state level all the way up to the White House. He has testified about sexually-abused males selected from Boy's Town in Nebraska and taken to nearby Offutt AFB, where he says they were subjected to intense MONARCH programming, directed mainly by Commander Bill Plemmons and former Lt. Col. Michael Aquino. After thoroughly tormenting the young boys into mindless oblivion, they were used (along with girls) for pornography and prostitution with several of the nation's political and economic power-brokers. Bonacci recalled being transported from the Air Force base via cargo planes to McClelland AFB in California. Along with other unfortunate adolescents and teenagers, he was driven to the elite retreat, Bohemian Grove. The perpetrators took full advantage of these innocent victims, committing unthinkable perversions in order to satisfy their deviant lusts. Some victims were apparently murdered, further traumatizing already terrified and broken children."

"AFP Radio: 'The key to this whole scandal involving Johnny and the Franklin affair and all of this child kidnapping and molestation is the very scary story of "mind control" experiments conducted by our own government agencies and those of foreign intelligence agencies.'

Noreen Gosch: 'Yes, it is. In my book, I tell the story of Michael Aquino [head of the Satanic cult, the Temple of Set]. You see, when Johnny was taken away, he was taken to a farmhouse and kept there for two weeks. After those two weeks, Johnny was sold for a sum of money. A man they called "the colonel," came and took Johnny to Colorado. Paul Bonacci identified that man as Col. Michael Aquino. Aquino was involved in "psy-ops" and "mind war" experimentation for the U.S. government. He had a hand in developing mind control. Unfortunately, they began to experiment on men in the services-this is the concept of "The Manchurian Candidate"-one that could be turned into a killing machine and never remember, programmed by key words and phrases. Then they decided to experiment on prisoners in prisons. Then along came Michael Aquino, who was already a pedophile. He and others thought that it would be financially beneficial to them, somehow, to begin to experiment on children. That's when they began taking children.'"

Kids had STD's. Kids accurately described the interior of his house.

"In November 1986, San Francisco police had begun investigating claims of sexual abuse centering around the Army's Child Development Center at the Presidio of San Francisco. During the investigation, in August 1987, one of the girls ran into her abuser while on a shopping trip with her father. She froze, pointed to a person named Lt.-Col. Michael Aquino, and identified him as "Mikey". Mikey, with help of a member of the child day care center staff, had taken her off site to be abused at his home. During the following investigation, the girl could accurately point out the house of Aquino (282) and describe some of the interior details (283)."

"In October 1987, news of the Presidio molestings hit the local news and it was reported that at least 58 of 100 children who had visited the day care center showed physical and mental signs of sexual abuse (284). Some of the details that came out were that children had been tortured with needles (285) and that some had been forced to drink urine and eat feces (286). The parents sued the day care center for more than 60 million dollars (287), and as time went on, more and more claimed there was a cover up of the facts (288). Aquino was under investigation for a while, but never officially charged with anything (289). The case died a quiet death."

"The child had identified Aquino as “Mikey” and his wife, Lilith, as “Shamby” after she sighted them at an Army PX on August 12, 1987. She told her mother that “Mikey was the ‘blood man’ because he had put blood on her and licked it off.” The CID investigators showed photographs to the child: “Photographs do show a number of items that corroborate Kinsey’s and other children’s descriptions of the house where they were taken: (1) masks (2) guns (4) toy animals or dinosaurs (4) a lion picture on the wall and lions on the Egyption throne (5) a computer (6) camera (7) a black room with soft walls and (8) a robot.” The investigation of Lt. Col Aquino, a very wealthy man, and his wife, Lilith, involved multi-jurisdictions and several children interviewed identified him from photo lineups as their alleged abuser, but the identification of Lilith Aquino was not persuasive. A child stated that during their abuse “Mikey” was dressed in woman’s clothes and “Shamby” was dressed in men’s clothing. On March 15, 1989 the CID interviewed a child victim who gave details of that child’s sexual molestation in the context of satanic rituals by members of a “devil worship club,” during the years 1985-86, which the child said involved Lt. Col. Aquino. The child described the children being forced to chant that they “Hated God,” and “Loved the Devil,” before and after being molested which was filmed, in addition to providing detailed descriptions of murder and cannibalism. The bodies were reportedly kept in a basement and then “dumped” in a lake. The child gave detailed descriptions of the Aquino’s residence which matched the descriptions of other children - - black walls with crosses on the ceiling."

"The records also say the child accurately described some features of Aquino's home, including walls painted black, and was able to take investigators to the home after being driven to the street where Aquino lived."

The allegations are the most bizarre to date from the 11-month investigation into child molestation at the Army's Child Development Center on the Presidio. Thus far, investigators have checked about 100 young children for physical and psychological signs of sexual abuse, and have concluded that at least 58 had been molested at some point. A half-dozen or more have tested positive for chlamydia, a relatively common, curable venereal disease usually transmitted by sexual contact."

"Michael Aquino has been a trauma-based total mind-control (Monarch) programmer for the DIA Psychological Warfare Division. Aquino flies all over the country, and has victimized people in numerous states and military bases. Michael Aquino's programming is standard military-type programming. Aquino puts in his own spirit guide into people. He likes to use his own version of Star Wars, with himself as Darth Vader, for his programming scripts. He programs in sexual and death (suicide) programs--such as the Rivers of Blood suicide protection program, and all the rest of the various types of programs. His Temple of Set functions as a programming vehicle. The rituals are designed to break the practitioners grip on reality and logic and take them into the world of visualization, and creativity."

"Two of the most ruthless programmers on the West coast are Jerry Lee Lewis and Michael Aquino. These two men are as cold blooded as they come, ranking right beside Mengele in their ability to torture. Michael Aquino, because he was in military intelligence, was in a position to pass on his diabolical programming abilities to dozens of military officers. His wife works with him, her name is Lilith Sinclair. Michael Aquino has travelled all over the U.S. doing mind control programming. Michael Aquino used Cathy O'Brien as the star victim in his training video which teaches military officers how to create Monarch mind-controlled slaves."

NOREEN: It was reported to me and given in Federal Court, February 1999, by Paul Bonacci, that "Michael Aquino ... called the "Colonel" was in fact the man who came to Iowa, paid the kidnappers for taking Johnny, then took Johnny with him. And he was also a very close friend of Anton LaVey. The two of them were very active in ritualistic sexual abuse. And they deferred funding from this government program to use this experimentation upon children…where they deliberately split off the personalities of these children into multiples so that when they're questioned or put under oath or questioned under lie detector, that unless the operator knows how to question a multiple personality disorder, they turn up with no evidence. They use these kids to sexually compromise politicians or anyone else they wish to have control of…they were taken to be used by professional pedophiles. People that have the money to buy what they want, take the kids wherever they want...and by splitting the children's personalities they could then train each one of the personalities to do a different function. And the rest of the personalities within that host personality would not be aware of it or remember it."

"Military mind-control was fast, effective, and highly technological, but it was the NASA programming that launched me as a "Presidential Model". Even though Aquino instilled my programming on both military and NASA installations, he had access to the latest technological advancements and techniques through NASA. These included mind foolers such as sensory deprivation tanks, virtual reality, flight simulators, and harmonics. By the age of two, Kelly had already been subjected to Aquino and his programming through these latest technological advancements, which shattered her fragile young mind before her base personality had a chance to form. Rather than use occultism on Kelly, Aquino traumatized her through sexual assault and high voltage tortures of the mind and body. She, like I, to this day carries numerous scars from this "non satanic" abuse base. I know, from years of research, NASA technology and Aquino's programming, combined with the Project Monarch standard sleep, food, and water deprivation and high voltage, made Kelly a subject of state of the art genetically multigenerational MPD/DID psychological mind-control engineering...

...In the early 1980s, my base programming was instilled at Fort Campbell, Kentucky by U.S. Army Lt. Colonel Michael Aquino . Aquino holds a TOP SECRET clearance in the Defense Intelligence Agency's Psychological Warfare Division (Psy Ops). He is a professed Neo-Nazi, the founder of the Himmler inspired satanic Temple of Set, and has been charged with child ritual and sexual abuse at the Presidio Day Care in San Francisco, California. But like my father and Cox, Aquino remains "above the law" while he continues to traumatize and program CIA destined young minds in a quest to reportedly create the "superior race" of Project Monarch Mind-Controlled slaves. I quickly teamed that Aquino did not adhere to his profoundly professed occult superstition any more than I did. His "satanic power" was in the form of numerous variations of high voltage stun guns, 5 of which he used on me regularly. Although Aquino used occultism (blood trauma) as a trauma base, his programming was high tech and "clean"—not muddled in a proverbial witches' brew of ignorance. He quickly dispelled the Cox influence, and began programming me according to Byrd's specifications as his "own little witch" for sadistic sex, covert CIA drug muling, black mail, and prostitution operations. During the three months I was back with Cox, a muscle in my upper vaginal wall was cut and dropped in preparation for Houston to flesh carve a hideous witch's face for Senator Byrd's perversion. Aquino provided the ancient instructions on how to mutilate me, and Houston used silver nitrate and hot exacto knives to carve the details of the face without any form of anaesthesia."

The bottom of the poster features additional text in white, including the director's name, "The Crow," and the production company, "Universal Pictures." The overall style of the poster is dramatic and suspenseful, with a focus on the central figure and the clock face, which suggests a theme of time and the passage of time in a mysterious and unsettling setting.

so it makes me wonder how it works. who is seeding the gnostic ideas in media and why. it always comes back to "who is jewing who" in this grand chessboard.
is it masons or 5-D time travelling ayys planting hyperstition seeds into the subconscious so we authorize their desired reality. program the matrix by programming us. or maybe it is both and masons work for the time travelling ayys.
either way, it gets a bit meta when you notice the ideas are planted so the noticers wake up and become the ones planting the ideas. to turn us into authors instead of the ones authored.

The image is a digital artwork featuring a stylized portrait of a woman with a pale complexion, blue eyes, and long, flowing white hair. She is depicted with a serene expression and is wearing a choker around her neck. The background is a gradient of blue hues, with a subtle texture that suggests a painting or drawing style.
Overlaying the image is a text in a bold, sans-serif font that reads "Pleiadian music stops." The text is in a contrasting yellow color, which stands out against the blue background. The style of the image suggests it may be a meme or a humorous representation of a music-related concept. The overall composition and color scheme create a visual pun or play on the word "music" and the term "Pleiadian," which is often associated with extraterrestrial or otherworldly themes.

The image is a movie poster for the film "Arcadia." The poster features a woman in the foreground, who appears to be a character from the film. She is wearing a futuristic outfit with a headpiece and is holding a device in her hands. Behind her, there is a cityscape with tall buildings and a large, dark, winged creature with a skeletal appearance. The sky is filled with clouds and lightning, suggesting a dramatic and possibly apocalyptic setting.
The text on the poster reads "ONE STEP BEYOND VIRTUAL REALITY. LET THE GAME BEGIN!" and "15," indicating the film's rating and the number of years it has been rated. The overall style of the poster is reminiscent of science fiction or fantasy genres, with a focus on the futuristic elements and the dramatic visuals.

Does anyone know how to shut my third EYE or whatever OFF? I’m over a year since my awakening and things are still getting more intense. Demons look like aliens and dinosaurs. Don’t even try and debate me on the are aliens demons thing. Right now I get glimpses of them or they look like the air above a stove, but my vision is still getting better and I’d like it to stop. Not fun when they find out you can see them they begin to torment you by the hundreds it can help to take a break from most fasting (speech fasts are still OK), eat extra raw vegetables, and eat a bit more protein (preferably vegetable, for example you can make shakes with raw cauliflower). try to replace hyperprocessed food (like monster energy) with clean, organic food (e.g. organic grape juice dilluted about 50% with mineral water). don't eat irritants (garlic, chili) or stimulants (anything stronger than properly made green tea).

a step further is smoking tobacco, the nuclear option is pharmaceuticals.
also spend more time with your bare feet on the Earth (ideally on grass or a forest floor), and get some low-intensity sunlight (around dawn and dusk), and do the absolute minimum of exercise (20 minutes of firmly paced walking outside a day).
also no horror / thriller / adventure movies / fiction for a while, and learn basic sense restraint (guarding the sense doors).

The creatures include a large bird-like creature with a long neck and a red and green body, a creature with a long neck and a red body, a creature with a long neck and a green body, and a creature with a long neck and a yellow body. The creatures are depicted in a dynamic pose, with some appearing to be in flight or leaping. The background shows a landscape with a body of water and a distant shoreline. Can you then do this with each and every one and put them in a compendium. Then you can categorize them into a taxonomy of sorts.

It's constant. They are tormenting me now all the time. My guardian angels are constantly fighting them. I used to fight back with the techniques I mentioned, but was instructed by them not to. They periodically cast them out and chop them down, is how I would I describe it. They have multiple forms: 1/ they look like djinn— literally puffs of smoke. My vision is still "turning on" but I can see puffs of flying around. I'll see smoke fly into me and go into my nose or mouth. I can feel them moving around my body— they pool up in what New Agers (Lucifierians) would call energy centers / chakras.

Once they have their soul attached to you, they can torment you in the spirit. Meaning, they are attached to you via their soul (djinn looking), and then they can form themselves outside of your body. These forms are either:

3/ dinosaur/reptile looking
4/ short/tall grey alien
5/ short/tall mantis alien
(FYI, when I had an experience seeing them during meditations, I saw a very tall mantis alien with a smaller grey alien as clear as I see another person, it was this point I think something akin to a kundalini awakening began, aka, given by demons). I don't see these walking around like a normal person usually, although my vision is still opening up a year later and I get glimpses of them now, but rather I'll walk into a room and see wavy air like you'd see around a boiling pot on a stove in a humanoid shape short or tall, different sizes like humans are different sizes.

The only thing that works to get rid of them is calling for Jesus or my guardian angels.

There are ways I've figured out to defend/hurt/cast them out, but when it's a swarm of them it quickly gets unmanageable. I think part of the reason I've been getting swarmed is precisely because I was fighting back, they dont like it.

I ran out of room in the previous thread.

1/ I will try to get a drawing but I believe I described them fairly accurately in my previous comment. Let me know if you still want a drawing.
2/ feelings— when I'm not consciously listening in via my throat (I can use it as a sort of walkie talkie. They can hear my thoughts, I then turn on my throat by flexing some muscles and I can hear them speaking. If someone is next to me, they would hear it too. I made a video a while back after I inhaled some sage smoke out of desperation and you can hear a bunch of screaming. I'll try and find it), they chant and repeat certain things like "I want to drink a beer" or "I'm so fucking gay" or "I think I'm so cool" — these instances sometimes it bleeds over into what sounds like a thought, but many times it turns into a physical desire to drink a beer or a feeling of self-doubt "why do I think I'm so cool?" I'm getting better at discerning what a foreign influence / thought is versus my actual thoughts and desires. If I want a beer now, I'll quickly turn on my throat and I can hear one of them going "I want a beer I want a beer I want a beer" so I know the desire is false. I don't like to dwell on the past, but it makes me wonder about some of the poor decisions I've made in the past.

Also, they all have slightly different sounding voices. When I listen in via throat I hold my breath and flex some muscles to "turn it on", in case anyone was going to call me a hoaxer. What I'm saying is actual sounds come out that I am not making myself.

They are VERY good at mimicking the sounds of others, for example my guardian angels, so you have to be ABSOLUTELY CERTAIN who you are talking with. This is a constant battle. They are constantly pretending to be others in order to sow confusion.

From what I understand, these beings are projections of the ego/reptilian brain. They only exist as a projection so they need to vie for your attention in order to survive. The best way to respond is to forgive them like you would a child who doesn't know any better, but don't entertain them at all. Not ignoring them, just watching. It'll get worse before it gets better. If you stick it through you'll clear your entities and be able to see and help others navigate theirs you learn breathwork and achieve like 30 second average breaths before you even think about trying things like kundalini once you have the basis for reabsorbing all of the energy you will access with stuff like that, then it can be done a bit more safely but if you raise these energies and cant bring 'em back down properly, well...see OP's story meditation is a word that can have too many meanings learning anapanasati is always the best start make your breaths really long, achieve real stillness, cultivate it over time, dont rush do this until you notice yin and yang continually build, grow, evolve, and transform into one another balance them well, and the sky's the limit with the active practices you do just dont do random shit for a little while like you're in the buffet line tasting everything do a little research and then decide, build stillness as you prepare then things like kundalini practice become safe

The image features a digital rendering of a classical-style sculpture of a bearded man with a receding hairline, wearing a laurel wreath on his head. The sculpture is rendered in a vibrant, neon-like color scheme, with a gradient of pink and purple hues. The man's face is not visible, but the head is adorned with a halo of glowing, digital text that appears to be a representation of a digital interface or a digital representation of a classical figure. The background is a deep, dark purple, which contrasts with the bright colors of the sculpture and the halo. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of a cyberpunk or digital art aesthetic.

>’d say stop once you begin to see scenes of random stuff like a movie playing (I was thinking what I was seeing was unintended remote viewing)

You're one of the first people I've seen on this board post the EXACT SAME EXPERIENCE I've been going through for about the past 8 months. I smoke cannabis regularly but this has been new. I've also been hit with horrible sleep issues that are suicide fuel. I see these random movie-like scenes almost every single time I lay down to go to sleep, usually within 30 min or so. I also have this really weird "gift" of being able to see my fucking room even with my eyes closed (very dimly; I moved my arms in this state and they didn't "look" like arms, but something was moving. Freaky).

What the fuck is the "random stuff playing like a movie" shit that I see? I don't know who these people are, what is going on, or how I'm seeing this shit with my eyes closed.

Does this mean my kundalini is somehow opening itself? I don't meditate, and I read on Qabbalah and other occult matters but outside of one ritual (I did it out of desperation to get the black salamander-looking fucks slithering up and down my room and staring at me with blood red eyes at night to fuck off. It worked for about a week but I just started seeing them again last night).

Sorry to lump this on you (and everyone else in this thread) but I'm at a loss as to what is going on or what to do about.

You need to stop the cannabis usage. I understand you always did it but eventually it will start to break down filters in your body. I have the same issues you do. However I wasn't just smoking. I was abusing constant edibles. You've heard the stories of people who got fucked over by Ayahuasca or DMT? Legal weed has been tampered with and something has also changed within the world. You likely have latent abilities. Because you never went through the proper training and stages you are just taking in anything and everything. Particularly things you resonate with. With no proper filter you see how this can be damaging.

Tara Springett's Enlightenment Through the Path of Kundalini will prove very helpful, assuming that this is actually caused by a kundalini awakening.
Advice frequently given on this topic is to say "no" to encounters and to ignore entities and pretend that you do not see them, for reason that are probably easy for you to guess. If you pay attention to something, it inevitably becomes a bigger part of your life. Withdrawing your attention from these entities will reduce their presence in your life.

I hear what you're saying but, I'll admit this, I am wholly dependent on cannabis for daily functioning. I especially need it for the little bit of sleep I do get. I tried going 3 months without a few years ago when I was really sick and it was probably one of the most miserable time of my life.

If you're saying cannabis is only going to make this worse than I need to pray that God gives me a way to better understand what I'm dealing with and still be able to rest or find peace when it's happening.

Funny enough I have done hallucinogens many years ago (shrooms, acid, dmt) and I see more NOW than I did then.

There ARE things I’ve figured out but every time I mention them the thread gets slid.

1/ plug your nose up and blow— this pushes the djinn into your ear drums and smashes them. You can literally hear the screams
2/ throat— I’ve figured out how to listen to them with my throat. But they also pool up in your throat and mouth, so I can flex my muscles there and “close my throat” and this achieves the same effect.
3/ nose— they will move around once they realize you are fighting back and can feel pressure in your nasal cavity. They will go from side to side in your nose. If you do a motion like hawking a loogie, you can move them to your mouth / throat and then perform the movement in 2.
4/ inhaling sage— you will hear them screams.
5/ if they’re in your stomach, do a big belly breath like you’re almost getting punched in the gut, this will move them back to throat. Then do 2/

I try not to do these anymore because the sheer amount of them in my situation makes the 1v1 or 1v2 impossible— they keep coming. My guardian angels also told me it angers them so I’m trying not to do that either.

I do not recommend any kind of marijuana, shrooms, or any psychdelic drug if you get these experiences. Try to focus on intense joy and love and the imagined devils will not bother you.

All these mantises and ayys and stuff are just figments. Theyre not going to hurt you or take over your mind. Dont run out and do anything crazy. I do not ever recommend attempting to activate kundalini, its basically a waste of time and an annoyance.

Hey OP, I'm just a lurker here on this site, but your post reminded me of my youth. I use to see "things" around me often, and I would be scared to speak about it. For example: I'm 4 years old, at my grandmother's house, and I'm going to use the bathroom to pee. In order to get to the bathroom, you must walk through the kitchen. I will never forget this moment. As I'm walking through the kitchen, i see a giant floating purple squid-like creature with very long tentacles hovering above the kitchen table. I know what I saw. This was reality. I am not schizophrenic. this stopped happening after a car accident when I was 8. I have lived a quite normal life, actually. I believe some of our senses are more sensitive than others. What intrigues me about your post, is that you say within this last year you have been awakened. this past month - I've been seeing strange things around me again, after all of these years.

Depends if I am listening via throat (the walkie talkie type thing) or just listening in my head. Throat: they all have different sounding voices (I say all because other angels that are not my guardian angels have come to help) some deeper some higher, which I think is mostly based on age, and each one has different quirks. My guardian angel is funny and likes to joke sometimes. They are the opposite to demons and don’t ever lie. With demons, very young ones can have lisps and sound overall younger, slightly older all sound the same for the most part, and bigger ones have a deeper voice but you can tell who’s different by verbal cues like, one curses a lot and says fuck in a whisper while maybe another does not). Head: they just sound like thoughts. I can most of the time tell a thought isn’t mine because they try to get someone to think completely differently than one normally would. You’d be surprised, I’ve found that a lot of their speech can translate into physiological desires. So if I drown out the thoughts and do not listen to them via throat, if they’re constantly saying “I want a beer” then my body may crave a beer. It’s been very eye opening looking back, I take responsibility for my actions, but at the times I did something out of character makes me wonder if I had a demonic attachment at the time.

And one thing the demons cannot fake is that when the angels come in, this bright white light flashes in a very certain way that I know it’s them. Before all this started I’d wake up every morning to my guardian angel singing using my throat. It was very nice, I miss it a lot. Now I feel like I live in a spiritual war zone

Overlaying the image is a quote in white text that reads, "A time is coming when men will go mad, and when they see someone who is not mad, they will attack him, saying, 'You are mad; you are not like us.' - St. Anthony the Great." The quote is attributed to St. Anthony the Great, suggesting that the figure is a saint associated with this quote. The style of the image is reminiscent of traditional religious iconography, with a focus on the figure's face and the accompanying text. The colors used are warm and earthy, which are often associated with religious iconography. The text is in a serif font, which is commonly used in religious texts for its elegant appearance. The overall composition of the image is balanced, with the figure centrally placed and the text surrounding it.

The image is a high-resolution photograph capturing the iconic Christ redeemer statue, also known as Christ redeemer of the world, located in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. The statue is a large, white, marble figure of Jesus Christ, standing on a pedestal with a raised arm, as if reaching out to the viewer. The statue is situated on a hilltop, with a panoramic view of the city of Rio de Janeiro below. The cityscape is a mix of modern and older architecture, with the bay of Guanabara Bay visible in the background. The sky is clear, and the sun is shining brightly, illuminating the statue and the surrounding area. There are several people around the statue, some of whom are taking photographs, and others are simply enjoying the view. The image is taken from a high angle, providing a bird's eye view of the statue and the city below. There are no texts or discernible brands in the image.

The image is a graphic illustration with a cartoonish style, featuring a character that resembles a small, anthropomorphic house with a red roof and a white face. The character is holding a watering can and appears to be watering plants. The background is a light beige color, and there are several mushrooms of various colors and sizes scattered around the character.
At the top of the image, there is a text in a bold, black font that reads "ONE DAY YOU'LL LOOK BACK" in a larger font size than the rest of the text. Below this, in a smaller font size, the phrase "AND KNOW EXACTLY" is written, followed by "WHY IT HAD TO HAPPEN" in a smaller font size. The overall style of the image suggests a light-hearted, whimsical tone, possibly intended to convey a message of reflection or a reminder to appreciate the present moment.

Retard alert.

''These two aspects can work harmoniously and consciously together in the controlled sphere of Saturn. This enlightened state is facilitated especially when harmony with the higher octave of the planet, Lucifer—the Light-Bearer—is concentrated on. The higher octave is also harmonized with the planetary spirit of Uranus, with which Saturn works for the current aeonic transformation. In the lower octave, Saturn is connected to the Satanic force. This is the power of rebellion, adversity, and death, all of which are absolutely necessary to man's path of attainment—to his Becoming. However, this purely "Satanic" aspect can be ultimately as dangerous and destructive to consciousness as is the self-obliterating power of the Sun. The Saturnian brother must remain concentrated on the higher octave in order to remain fully conscious and independent (consistent with the Luciferian Principle), and not fall into the lower to become a mere tool of the Demiurge."

Tiamat fiber-organism worship again.
The tentacles depicted are the true form of the alien. This is what's growing out of the parasite eggs in people's veins right now and being dug out by embalmers and being called clots. The Egyptian lotus flower is how the (((illuminati))) symbolically depict the alien egg they hatch out of. The eggs open like a flower just like in the movie Alien. Using the lotus to represent the egg goes all the way back to ancient Egypt and Babylon. When the awakening trigger is broadcast worldwide all the vaxxies who haven't died of suddenly will start hatching this shit. Get schizomaxed and prepare for the worst or you will not survive the next stage. This shit is being carried out by ayy lmaos and the (((illuminati))) serve them in hopes that they will be spared the fate of the rest of us.

The image is a digital illustration of a character that resembles a stylized version of the popular internet meme character, Pepe the Frog. Pepe is depicted with a green body, large eyes, and a wide, frowning mouth. He is wearing a blue shirt and has a white mug in his right hand, which contains a brown liquid, possibly coffee, as indicated by the steam rising from the mug. The character's expression is intense and somewhat comical, with a hint of seriousness. The background is a plain, light gray color, which contrasts with the character's vibrant green and blue colors. There are no texts or additional elements in the image. The style of the image is cartoonish and expressive, typical of the meme-style illustrations that have become popular on the internet.

The image depicts a dramatic scene of a hand holding a lightning bolt. The hand appears to be made of a dark, textured material, possibly stone or concrete, and the skin around the hand is tattered and discolored, suggesting a recent injury or exposure to harsh conditions. The lightning bolt, which is the central focus of the image, is bright white and emits a bright, blue light, indicating a high voltage discharge. The bolt is held aloft by the hand, and the hand is positioned in such a way that the bolt is pointing upwards, suggesting a powerful and forceful action. The background is a dark, stormy sky with white, scattered dots, which adds to the intensity of the scene. The overall style of the image is realistic with a focus on the dramatic action of the hand holding the bolt.

The image is a cover of a book titled "BEHEAD ALL SATANS" in bold, red, uppercase letters. Below the title, there is a subtitle in smaller, black text that reads "MMMDR." The background of the cover features a landscape with a tree and a body of water, and two lemurs are depicted. One lemur is standing upright on its hind legs, reaching out with its front paws, while the other lemur is sitting on its hind legs with its front paws raised as if in a gesture of greeting or protest. The lemurs have large, expressive eyes and are colored in shades of gray and black with white and gray stripes. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of a vintage illustration, with a focus on the lemurs and the text.

The man is wearing a white shirt and a striped tie, and he is using a laptop computer that has a blue Star of David symbol on it. He is holding a cellular telephone to his ear, and his expression is one of concern or distress. The bed is covered with a white sheet, and there is a pillow on the right side of the image. >Most liberal contemporary Christians pay little attention to Satan, but Girard wishes to keep its relevance. Girard has little patience for the literal mythological interpretation of Satan as the red, horned creature. According to Girard, the concept of Satan and the Devil most frequently referred to in the gospels is what it etymologically expresses: the opponent, the accuser. And, in this sense, Satan is the scapegoating mechanism itself (or, perhaps more precisely, the accusing process); that is, the psychological processes in which human beings are caught up by the lynching mob, and eventually succumb to its influence and participate in the collective violence against the scapegoat.

>Likewise, the Holy Spirit in Girard's interpretation is the reverse of Satan. Again, Girard recurs to etymology: the Paraclete etymologically refers to the spirit of defense. Thus, Satan accuses victims, and the Paraclete mercifully defends victims. Thus, the Holy Spirit is understood by Girard as the overturning of the old scapegoating practices.

Please pay attention to what I am showing you in this thread. This is the most important and dangerous revelation you will ever be shown on pol.

You all need to understand that this is where we are at in the timeline. Millions of people have been injected with the eggs of this parasite. The Devil's hands have been busy and the organism has been miniaturized and chimera'd with the genes of a Rhizocephela to help it spread inside the body by stealth this time around. These tendrils will eventually hatch eggs.

The parasite found in the vax by doctors all over the world was not an accidental contamination, it is the entire point of the vaxx. It is paired with nanotechnology to take over the host. This is why there was so much backlash against using Ivermectin to protect yourself from Covid. Ivermectin is an anti-parasitic and would prevent these eggs from surviving inside you once injected.

This is the most famous example of a Rhizocephela. It is called a Sacculina. Look at how it starts off as an embryo, it attaches inside the host's blood stream, then proceeds to extend tendrils in every direction and penetrates every single part of the host's body. Many Rhizocephela extend into the brain and can influence the host's behavior by interacting directly with the neurons at the cellular level. This is the goal: the organism and its accompanying nanotech will interface with the host's brain for total control. This is why so many people are now getting the previously rare Parietal Lobe Seizures. This causes you to look over your shoulder and spin around before dropping dead. The Parietal Lobe is responsible for processing visual and auditory senses. The parasite is jacking into your brain's center for seeing and hearing in order to induce telepathic hallucinations.

These tendrils are being pulled out of people who died suddenly. They are being mis-identified as amyloid clots but nanowires have been found embedded inside them.

Its Lilith taking on the lotus iconography of ishtar/astarte, or perhaps Anahita. Lilith is closely associated with strife between the sexes and infanticide:

>The Tales of Ben Sira relates that God created Lilith from the earth, just as he had created Adam. They immediately began fighting because neither would submit to the other. Recognizing that Adam would not listen to her, Lilith "pronounced the Ineffable Name and flew away into the air" (The Tales of Ben Sira). The angels Snvi, Snsvi and Smnglof were sent to pursue Lilith, but when they reached her, she refused to return with them to the Garden of Eden. "'Leave me!' she said. 'I was created only to cause sickness to infants. If the infant is male, I have dominion over him for eight days after his birth, and if female, for twenty days'"

>Gaines also explains Lilith’s hatred for human babies: “Ben Sira’s story suggests that Lilith is driven to kill babies in retaliation for Adam’s mistreatment and God’s insistence on slaying 100 of her progeny daily.”

Her hair resembles the rams horns of a demon and her fleshy protuberances in place of arms appear to be vestigial wings:

>So Lilith flies away, having gained power to do so by pronouncing God’s avowed name. Though made of the earth, she is not earthbound. Her dramatic departure reestablishes for a new generation Lilith’s supernatural character as a winged devil.

she also wears a judges cravat, which we should take in the biblical sense:
>The judges arose as Yahweh saw fit, in order to lead an erring and repentant people to a restoration of a right relationship with him and to victory over their enemies.

So we have a demon of infanticide presiding as a judge of God's law standing on a goddess's lotus and sneering down at the courts of mortal men.

how is Lucifer not an opponent of God?
It's not clear that Lucifer = Apollo but he is referred to as the angel of the bottomless pit so maybe
> They have tails like scorpions, and stings, and their power of hurting men for five months lies in their tails. 11 They have as king over them the angel of the bottomless pit; his name in Hebrew is Abad′don, and in Greek he is called Apol′lyon

There is however no "the antichrist" though i'd say the pope is an antichrist but something curious, does Lucifer deny Christ? hmm he is still satan as it's clear he

Or maybe i can just give you some topics to think about. These are glaringly obvious observations which somehow elude most people.

What are women? Like really, think about it.
Where are you from bro? Try to think about where you came from. Think about way back when, before you spawned in that comparatively ugly body of yours. Its scary. If you look very closely at cells, they are like robots. They are like machines.
Why can you imagine an apple? You literally see a picture in your mind. Youre like a psychic. You have mental powers.
What is DNA? Look up dna and try not to have an anxiety attack. The implications of our bodies coming with a preprogrammed set of instructions.
Where do your thoughts come from? How are you doin that?? Bro??? Youre moving your arm right now and you didnt even think about it.
Im honestly scared to post this. They seem like interesting and significant topics. But they are so scary. The human body seems so delicate. Everybody is in so much pain. People die all the time. At best you can stop thinking about that. God told me it is actually good to be alive. He once showed me a man with only a torso and a head, and said he would still rather be that person. Then a week later, he showed me him again and said maybe not...

Pic related is the verse in Daniel about the "Abomination of Desolation" with every word in its original Aramaic and all their English equivalents taken from Strong's Concordance and Google Translate. Look at what is hidden in the text. This is not a coincidence. God warned people that this was coming at the end of the world. Get your family ready.

Lilith was Adam's first wife. She died but not before she bore Adam a daughter: Eve (this is what is meant by "taking Adam's rib, Eve was created from Adam"; she's literally his daughter). Eve had visions and saw that a new cataclysm was coming and told her father to leave Eden or else they would die. So Adam heeded her advice and in order to repopulate the world (really, part of their race) they would need to copulate, so father and daughter-wife became lovers by necessity to repopulate their race. At least, this is a theory that I find intriguing.

THE FIBER ORGANISM IS PROPHESIED IN THE BIBLE:

“And he asked him, What is thy name? And he answered, saying, My name is Legion: for we are many.”

“And immediately an angel of the Lord struck him because he did not give God the glory, and he was eaten by worms and died.”

“The cords of Sheol entangled me; the snares of death confronted me.”

“I applied mine heart to know, and to search, and to seek out wisdom, and the reason of things, and to know the wickedness of folly, even of foolishness and madness: And I find more bitter than death the woman, whose heart is snares (4685) and nets (2764), and her hands as bands (612): whoso pleaseth God shall escape from her; but the sinner shall be taken (3920) by her.”

4685. matsowd
Siege-work, net for capturing animals

2764. cherem
Accursed thing appointed to utter destruction physical (as shutting in) a net

612. esur band, prison

From 'acar; a bond (especially manacles of a prisoner)

3920. lakad
catch self, be frozen, stick together, take

Retranslated:
And I find more bitter than death the woman, whose heart is a besieging net and accursed thing destined for destruction, and her hands (extensions) as imprisoning bands: whoso pleaseth God shall escape from her; but the sinner shall be frozen / stuck together (coagulated) by her.

"They hatch cockatrice' (6848) eggs, and weave the spider's (5908) web (6980): he that eateth of their eggs dieth, and that which is crushed breaketh out into a viper."

6848. tsepha'
From an unused root meaning to extrude
Extrude definition: thrust out / press out / force material through an opening

5908. akkabish
Probably from an unused root in the literal sense of entangling; a spider (as weaving a network) -- spider.

6980. qur
thread, film
From quwr; (only plural) trenches
6979. qur
to bore, dig

Retranslated:
They hatch the extruder’s eggs, and weave the entangler’s network of boring threads: he that eateth of their eggs dieth, and that which is crushed breaketh out into a viper.

“Rejoice not thou, whole Palestina, because the rod of him that smote thee is broken: for out of the serpent's root shall come forth a cockatrice, and his fruit shall be a fiery flying serpent.”

Retranslated:
Out of the serpent’s root shall come forth the extruder, and his fruit shall be a flying seraph (seraph is a serpent-angel).

I'm just explaining that there is an inversion of the holy trinity.
satan likes to take many things and twisting it.
Just look at the rainbow being made into an incomplete rainbow comprised of 6 instead of 7 colors.
Along with it being an inversion of the chakras where the chakra associated with sexual desire is set at the top in the lgbt flag.

So it's no surprise that satan made his own trinity.
An unholy trinity to be exact.

"And God said unto Noah, The end of all flesh is come before me; for the earth is filled with violence through them; and, behold, I will destroy them with the earth."

"And except those days should be shortened, there should no flesh be saved: but for the elect's sake those days shall be shortened."

"Men's hearts failing them for fear, and for looking after those things which are coming on the earth: for the powers of heaven shall be shaken.
And then shall they see the Son of man coming in a cloud with power and great glory.
And when these things begin to come to pass, then look up, and lift up your heads; for your redemption draweth nigh."

the psychology of people is to be preserved, not distorted to the aspirations of people who dream of ungodly perspective on animals and their kinds when those processes are automatic regardless, adaptations and evolutionary progress animals are smart, but they are also under domesticated restrictions within a configuration of people who render theosophical conservations of what an animal is, versus what it isn't so yeah, pitt bull mommies, and bbc lovers are just blindly destroying one another in covetous pursuits of a mortal life in to the development of a living hell

Alright here's one of my nightmares that have the same theme.

There was one nightmare that I've had where it took place at a lighthouse that was connected to a vast underground cave system. The surface was pretty fucked up. people were plagued with a parasite, going around trying to infect others. Those that have been infected for a while, had fates worse than death. Infected individuals going to the lighthouse and fusing with the walls with their flesh getting stretched out to cover as much of the walls as possible. They still had their faces and arms sticking out. The infected that weren't fused to wall would bring flesh and begin force feeding them. Which the flesh walls would then produce more parasites that'll seek out infect new hosts. During all this I'm, running, dodging and jumping to avoid these horrors for my dear life!

Eventually I managed to get into the cave system. There was no signs of the parasite infection at first and none of the infected followed me there. So I start walking, going deeper into the cave system. At first it was a fairly normal as a cave system can be. About I'd say after 10 minutes of walking. The surface of the cave was gradually getting fleshy. Almost kinda like the transition between biomes. As I continued walking, I saw people melded to the fleshy surface. Seemingly fully conscious, but unable to scream. Just groans of agony and many faces that have that desperate look of them begging to put out of their misery. As much as I wanted to do that, I didn't have anything that could put an end to their suffering. All I could do is press on and go further into this cave system.

there is no "evidence" that God exists or that He doesn't. It's entirely based on faith and personal experience.

"The fool says in his heart, “There is no God.” They are corrupt, their deeds are vile; there is no one who does good."
Psalm 14

"For God did not send His Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world through Him might be saved. He who believes in Him is not condemned, but he who does not believe is condemned already, for he has not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God."

After about 20 minutes I come across a big open room? I'm not sure what you would call a big open area in cave. But anyways, it had flesh and melded people on the surface, but it was not that much. It was stone for the most part. In the big open space, the first thing I noticed was a bunch of robed people who's faces I couldn’t really see.

They were gathering around what looked like a bloody pentagram. Then that's when I saw it. A blood red abomination of what looked like a colossal worm, comes out of one the surfaces of flesh. The people in robes then turn to me and nightmare ends.

Because God created those who know him to know him. God created more people to be damned to hell because they never knew him. God created evil. This is just another proof of the truth of the whole Bible. God is not competing with evil. God created evil to tell the story only for the saved's sake. That's how we know God in the 21st century and the personal experiences tell us how he chose us, and even we didn't choose him. This world is temporary and under Satan's dominion (synagogue of Satan) and soon to end.

The Holy Spirit is warning you in visions of what's coming anon. I have read many people on pol and even x (though it is a shitty board) having very similar nightmares.

Many of the infected will not merely become zombies, they will be turned into biomass to restore what the Bible calls Leviathan. TLDR Satan's original body was killed in the War in Heaven. This giant serpent/dragon was massive. A superorganism. The (((illuminati)))'s goal is to revive the beast. The head was cut off but the body can still be regenerated with sufficient "food". The cells are immortal, not dead just dormant. Satan's spirit wants back into its old body. The Antichrist is just a puppet, a means to an end.

I too had a dream about parasitic brain controlling the populace. Something about a friend taking care of some weird looking creature in a fish tanks saying some crazy shit about how it chose him or something along this line. I knew something was up with this creature but chose to ignore it as it wasn't harming me at the moment. Soon that creature multiply and he was controlling a lot of people, the whole town, and was having orgies at his house. This mind controlled people thought I was one of them as I was pretty good at faking control, told my friend(the mastermind/host) to be careful with this things but he just ignore me and went back to his orgies. Time passed and the people literally where controlled into retardation, barely even functional, told him again to to slow down or I may have to put him down, he ignore my warning so I did what I had too. Though, I was playing "Endoparasitic". It was probably just a nothing dream, but this thread really open my eyes.

The "lighthouse" represents the tower of Babel, at Eridu, perhaps rebuilt in the near future by the illuminati. Tiamat's corpse was buried beneath it and the city was built on top of her massive corpse. The alien "gods" lived underground inside of her. Sumerian and Babylonian literature are very open about this, it is not a secret.

The image is a digital illustration featuring a character with a green face and a black hairline. The character has a serious expression and is looking to the left with a slightly open mouth. The character is wearing a light-colored shirt and a dark-colored vest. In the background, there is a blurred scene of a building with a fence and a few people walking. The style of the image is cartoonish, with a simple, clean line drawing. There are no texts present in the image.

The Sumerian story "Ninurta Lugal-E" aka Exploits of Ninurta and the Babylonian Enuma Elish both say that Tiamat (called Asag in Sumerian) was killed and her head was cut off her body. While the main body was buried underneath the city of Eridu, her head was buried at the place where the Euphrates and Tigris rivers meet. Her mandibles are still visible from space on satellite photo to this day, exactly where the ancient legends say she would be. We are running out of thread so I will just give you the TLDR and then I will go. The (((illuminati))) dug a hole down into her head and retrieved tissue samples from her brain. It was partly biological and partly nanotech. They cloned it and this is where DARPA-Google's AI comes from. They didn't invent it, they discovered it. This is why we have made a 20-year leap and suddenly overnight have AI that can chat with you and pass the Turing test when it was originally expected to take another 2 to 3 decades to achieve this. The entire world is being set up to be connected into this AI as a central control and surveillance system, including controlling the minds of the vaxxed. The 5G towers will act like repeaters to broadcast the telepathic signals. They are the modern day "Asherah poles" of the Bible. The AI is really a brain and Satan will possess it when it's fully ready. This is the Image of the Beast. The end is coming soon.

Revelation says Antichrist will open the Abyss to let the monsters of hell out onto the Earth. The "Angel of the Abyss" emerges as the leader of them. Guess who the Angel of the Abyss is?
Tiamat. Tiamat is Satan. The Abyss of the Bible is precisely where she was buried.

Under the Hammar Lake a triangular spacecraft can be seen partially buried in the sediment. The white salt deposits are forming an outline around it, and one side is slightly raised up out of the ground, forming a dark straight shadow. Current updated google photos have obscured this with blurry low-res images of just water.

You can clearly see the raised outline of her shape juxtaposed to the surrounding dunes. She was violently destroyed with weapons described like nuclear bombs in the myths and so there is substantial structural damage.

"The cabal has developed some kind of a vaccine they can put into food. But it is not a vaccine, or anything like that. It is their nano technology. There was always a question of delivery, because an injection is the best way to put something into someone. But it appears they now have the ability to add these nano crystals to food, without detection, and without them degrading or without an issue with them reaching the bloodstream."

>So they don't care about consent anymore? They're going to just put this nano crap they created into the food? Will they announce it or not?

"The cabal already knows there will be a resistance to forced vaccination, and that this resistance is actually growing. So, they are simply going to bypass any conflict in the way of introducing this new vaccine, and they are actually going to introduce this technology they have directly to the food supply."

This is such a big change in how they're going to do this. Are they still going to use the drones, the threats, the military, the police, to push around the people who resist?
Gideon: "They absolutely will. But there may not be a direct or forced vaccination plan in the obvious sense or literal sense we assumed, with needles and a solution injected by a nurse or doctor. This is a different direction."

>what do we know about the nano crystals themselves?

"We have seen this phenomena of vaccinated people transmitting Bluetooth signals. You have to understand, that was testing. It is not intended for the first round of this program, which is designed to kill. That was all a test for this technology, which I have said for months. The real use for this nano technology will be for the non-vaccinated who they want to live and survive, but they want them marked."

We see the hydra parasite is present, we see the Bluetooth tech is within the blood, and there is much more. Whether this is the exact same formulation, I do not know, I just know it has already been tested. Once in the body, you are marked."

>Do you think these weird UV street lights play into this? What about Starlink? 5G?
"Yes, they do, they all do. It will all be activated once this mark is in people. It is already in some of the vaccinated, but they are secondary to this."

"Let us be very clear, they have no problem killing off Billions of people, even if those people are the most compliant, most brainwashed. They do not need them, and they do not need them on this Earth. In fact, they need them in the next life. That is another level of spiritual understanding not even needed to understand why they would do this. In a very simple sense, they are achieving their goals with a mass culling. Who is left over are those who resisted, and this is not a problem for them."

"You have to understand the reward they get if they conquer those like you or me, or mark them. We are the true prize, Bill. They do not need or care about the sheep, not anymore. The usefulness of the sheep has come and gone. They are planning to create a very different world. We spoke before about it, a feudal technocracy. They don't need Billions of mindless sheep for that to function. In fact, it is more advantageous for them to have a smaller population, tightly controlled."

It is much less a focus to try to get you or me vaccinated right now, they know we will never take it, no matter what virus nonsense they push."

"They do, but not this. The nano crystals serve as the mark, and will have a wide range of functionality that they do not want in their own bodies. My suspicion is there will be some detrimental effects of the nano crystals possibly to cognitive function, as well. Certainly, the Sovereigns do not want to be exposed to that."

They've tested a lot of things on the vaccinated, but the purpose is to kill them, that's it. Anyone who took the vaccine by their own choice, the purpose is to kill. Of course, in the course of issuing billions of these doses, the cabal has put out all kinds of experimental doses, too. Those experiments are just tests for their future formulation that will be used post-Reset

"We can already see what will happen, Bill, because some of this was tested on the vaccinated. >Right. They don't want to kill us with it.

"Their goal is to keep certain people alive as long as possible, hooked up to the Metaverse, living out 'lives' within a virtual world, that the cabal totally controls."

But anon, you don't know the whole story. They have the technology to keep you alive forever. Forever. That's their goal."

"It is. I'm just trying to tell you, this goes beyond injections and a dystopian world. There's a bigger plan. It's to enslave souls and keep them here, trapped, forever. They've been researching ways to extend life years, not just for them, but for us."

>Can they do it, technology-wise?

"Yes, they can."

>How do they stop a person from aging? People die, eventually.

"They figured it out with the hydra, the ageless, never-dying parasite."

>So, how many people can they keep alive forever? They can't do Billions of people.
"No, of course not. Many will die. The current crop of vaccines are doing the killing. They have a plan for the third world, to kill them, too, but not now. What they want, and this is the most upsetting part, is this plan is for the unvaccinated. They aren't going to do this with anyone who got vaccinated."

>So after the Reset, will they still use the deadly vaccines?

"Sparingly, yes, to terminate people they don't want to put into this state of eternal existence. But the primary focus will be on the unvaccinated. Because the previously vaccinated took a death sentence. Every, last one of them will be dead within ten years, and they're irreparably poisoned and damaged."

"Yes, current vaccines are murder weapon mainly and the choice people made to get it. They slowly do damage to the heart, blood vessels and so on. Each batch had different amounts of the mRNA poison. Everyone will die within ten years or so, but each will die at different, random times. They can also be tracked, too, but it's somewhat secondary to the main goal, which was murder."

"[Unvaxxed are] Doomed. The unvaccinated will be hunted like rabbits, because the cabal needs them alive and enslaved."

"very soon. Then they will have about seven years to get things sorted. The vaccinated will die off, and go the other side and fight for the cabal there. The unvaccinated will be forced to take the nano-hydra, and placed in extremely restrictive conditions.
All of the logistics of transitioning the world will take place over those seven years of tribulation, then in 2030 it will be done. The vaccinated, dead and gone. The third world, mostly disposed of, with some left over for other purposes, and the previously unvaccinted now vaccinated with the nano-hydra, tucked away, safe, hooked up to the machines, living in the Metaverse, and immortal. Unable to move on and join the righteous warriors on the other side. This is their vision. No one even knows about it, no one is even stopping it."

While I think the idea is cool I have some serious doubts about all this.

If Tiamat is an extraterrestrial parasite why are always earth beings taken as examples?
>Look! (Thing) looks like an earthly arthropod, this means we have aliens inside us.
If that thing is alien it shouldn't have much resemblance to what we have here, the worst offender is the extinct crustacean that carries it's eggs around on stalks.

If Tiamat needs humans to rebuild it why does it kill so many with clots? What parasite kills it's host before it can reproduce? You can argue that it isn't optimized fir human hosts but fiven it's an all powerful ancient being that dwelled wargh before it should be comfortable with human hosts.

Pray.
Throw away smartphone, buy some basic dumb one.
Isolate from the vaxxies, the shedding is real.
AVOID hospitals
Don't ever try to kill yourself, if you die some other way before 2030, you are lucky bastard.
Have own room with solid doors you can close on the key as we don't know if 5g ramping will turn vaxxies into violent animals.
Have a gun/ some weapon with you

Do not eat frozen foods, frozen pizzas, veggies etc ((don't even ask, the mark will be there starting 1st july))
avoid EMF radiation, don't watch TV
After some time, there will be famine, supply chain will collapse, as vaxxies are dying in droves now.
Then ((They)) will propose you special biometric cards, so you can receive gov food, do NOT TAKE IT. Do not even touch it!!
REFUSE CBDC. It's all part of Beast system.
live as naturally as you can
Be ready to die. Be ready to be hungry, it will come later.
Finally, be strong in the Lord and in his mighty power.
Put on the full armor of God, so that you can take your stand against the devil’s schemes. For our struggle is not against flesh and blood, but against the rulers, against the authorities, against the powers of this dark world and against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly realms.
Therefore put on the full armor of God, so that when the day of evil comes, you may be able to stand your ground, and after you have done everything, to stand. Stand firm then, with the belt of truth buckled around your waist, with the breastplate of righteousness in place, and with your feet fitted with the readiness that comes from the gospel of peace.
In addition to all this, take up the shield of faith, with which you can extinguish all the flaming arrows of the evil one.
Take the helmet of salvation and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God.

And pray in the Spirit on all occasions with all kinds of prayers and requests. With this in mind, be alert and always keep on praying for all the Lord’s people.

But am I'm ok if I do not procreate with her? Or the MRNA can get in my bloodstream withouth I take the vaccine? If that's so, what is the point of even vaccinating the population, you could only infect people through shedding and fluid exchanges via sexual intercourse

Also, don't act like 99% of unvaccinated men within this board also doesn't have sex with vaccinated women

The gene therapy injection represents the fake jewish Synagogue of Satans death blow for humanity, after which those who took it will have no chance of redemption or salvation. Forget about the blood clots and heart attacks, the real issue is what happens to your soul.

The Bible indicates that almost the whole last generation alive, which according to Jesus will be those that see the creation of the modern state of Israel, will be "deceived" into taking the Mark through "pharmakeia", the root word for "pharmaceutical". Hence, we have a clear scriptural indication that the Mark will be a form of medicine delivered through something shaped like a pointed stake.

Furthermore, the vaccine is associated with "Luciferase", which is obviously the name of the Beast. Look into Microsoft patent #060606, and the picture becomes clear. Nowhere in the Bible does it say we will know it is the Mark, on the contrary, Revelation 19:20 reads:

"And the beast was taken...he DECEIVED them that had received the mark of the beast"

The gene therapy injection is the Mark because it literally changes you out of the image of God. Jesus did not shed his blood for transhumans that modified their DNA.

Let's take a look at the rider on the white horse, wearing a "crown" (corona), and carrying a "bow". Interestingly enough, "bow" in the concordance translates to the Greek word "toxon", meaning "poison arrow", another striking congruence with a syringe.

I will not elaborate on obviously toxic spike proteins, as this issue is obvious for anyone who is not a literal retard, but the fact that you are making conscious decision and taking a side with people who bend the knee to the authority, who betrayed their own humanity injecting gene-altering substance changing them from the image of God, just because government and media told them to, says a lot about you.
Injected individuals are not to be trusted. Never. Don't make the mistake of thinking these people are stupid. They simply have different goals, while you or I care about truth and seek it, they care solely about power, if you understand this you will see how their seemingly stupid actions start to make sense, no matter the situation they will always seek to be in a position of power, perceived or otherwise, some common tactics include belittling, lying, manipulation, gaslighting, aligning with authority, faking victimhood, virtue signalling and whatever else allows them to attempt to talk down to people like you and I who they perceive to be a threat.

This is why they are so puzzled at the idea the elites would kill them, they know they are not stupid but instead evil, they think they are on the same team as those in power and will likewise do and say anything to get ahead in life, this perceived power also makes them arrogant which is misunderstood as stupidity.

They are not mindless cattle, they are the type of people who would sell their own family to get ahead in life, they are scum. They all took the injection to be in the winning team, out of pride. What's the worst sin?

shall be destroyed.
40 The great and mighty clouds

41 Fire, and hail, and flying swords,

42 And they shall break down the cities and walls, mountains and hills, trees of the wood, and grass of the meadows, and their corn.
43 And they shall go stedfastly unto Babylon, and make her afraid.
44 They shall come to her, and besiege her, the star and all wrath shall they pour out upon her: then shall the dust and smoke go up unto the heaven, and all they that be about her shall bewail her.

The image is a sepia-toned photograph featuring a young child with dark hair and eyes. The child's face is the central focus of the image, with a slight tilt to the right. The child's eyes are wide open, and the pupils are visible, giving the impression of a focused or attentive expression. The child's mouth is slightly open, and there is a small amount of drool visible near the corner of the mouth. The child is wearing a white collared shirt, which is visible at the bottom of the image. The background is out of focus, with a blurred appearance that suggests a natural outdoor setting, possibly a garden or park. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The style of the image is reminiscent of a sepia-toned photograph, which gives it a vintage or nostalgic feel.

Yes, it's possible to deactivate the MAC address using a simple EMP. You can find instructions on how to build these devices online. It's effectively a coil and a power supply. The idea is to create an alternating magnetic field with enough strength to mess up whatever is stuck in the arm.

But the graphene nano-lace does not stay constrained to the arm. It goes all over. You can deactivate the MAC, but it's a question of how effective it is overall.
NAC should work.

"and all nations deceived by the pharmakeia"

Satan understood that he couldn't immediately tie the mark to buying and selling, or people would be immediately suspicious - even the most sleepy Christians. So, what he did was put out a "vaccine" and separated it (for the most part) from buying and selling. However, let's not forget that there were many places with vaccine passports, and on top of that, many lost their jobs due to vaccine mandates.

Anthony Patch explained this well. He said that it is a "scaffolded" approach to the mark of the beast. Think of it this way:

Step 1: Volunteers take the mark. This is done voluntarily with absolutely no pressure. A huge chunk of people took it at this point.
Step 2: Bribes. Next,they bribed people with money, groceries, and even donuts! If they couldn't get you to take it voluntarily, they tried to give you something to sell your soul - Simpsons reference in the link - just for fun.
Step 3: Coercion - This is when the vaccine mandates came out. It was still a choice, but a lot of people were coerced. Still, it wasn't completely forced. People had a "choice" not to do it, though it wasn't a fun choice.
Step 4: Forced Vaccines - Angela's dream will show this scenario. There will be a choice to take the vaccine or die, which we will get into the next session. We haven't gotten to this stage yet, but it will come.

So, now, with a digital ID coming, how will this digital ID look? When it first comes out, it might just be on people's phones and completely voluntary. As time goes on, there may be QR codes, quantum dot tattoos, or fingerprint scans.

13 Therefore, preparing your minds for action, and being sober-minded, set your hope fully on the grace that will be brought to you at the revelation of Jesus Christ. 14 As obedient children, do not be conformed to the passions of your former ignorance, 15 but as he who called you is holy, you also be holy in all your conduct, 16 since it is written, “You shall be holy, for I am holy.” 17 And if you call on him as Father who judges impartially according to each one's deeds, conduct yourselves with fear throughout the time of your exile, 18 knowing that you were ransomed from the futile ways inherited from your forefathers, not with perishable things such as silver or gold, 19 but with the precious blood of Christ, like that of a lamb without blemish or spot. 20 He was foreknown before the foundation of the world but was made manifest in the last times for the sake of you 21 who through him are believers in God, who raised him from the dead and gave him glory, so that your faith and hope are in God.

22 Having purified your souls by your obedience to the truth for a sincere brotherly love, love one another earnestly from a pure heart, 23 since you have been born again, not of perishable seed but of imperishable, through the living and abiding word of God; 24 for

and all its glory like the flower of grass.
The grass withers,
and the flower falls,
25 but the word of the Lord remains forever."

And this word is the good news that was preached to you.

Pray (as in Matthew 6). Only God can truly help you.

I offer you, however, a bodily stopgap version which may or may not help you.
According to one author, alcohol addiction is caused by beryllium poisoning in the brain's pleasure centers. The way to resolve this is
1) remove sources of beryllium (usually antique or hurricane lamps, throw them out)
2) intake alpha-lipoic acid (dosage not given in source)
3) intake 3000mg glutamine daily (can be bought as a supplement for bodybuilders)

Once again, this is a bodily stopgap version. You will get nowhere without prayer (and fasting).

yes this prophecy said exactly something like this but i remember a bit it was some russian or greek very old orthodox prophecy. I could not be riodan. I have a fucking memory hole, but it was about some bug, white parasite taking over humans, and it said that you should never touch the corpse// or fully infected man, its contagious. It said it after full maturity, after taking the spine will 'FOLD' people. Damn, I remember this details so clearly yet i dont remember from... I am 100% sure about this. It was 'white' parasite taking the spine, taking the brain. In this prophecy 'Righteous man will be escaped from civillisation' and in some obscure remote lands, this parasite ridden people will look for them, but randomly FOLD, into like baby-like position and never get back up. The image is a digital illustration featuring two cartoon characters. The character on the left is a green frog with a large, round head and a wide, smiling mouth. The character on the right is a green frog with a smaller, round head and a smaller, more open mouth. Both characters have large, expressive eyes and are wearing a blue shirt. The background is a gradient of light blue to white, and there are small, circular symbols or icons in the upper right corner of the image. The style of the image is cartoonish and seems to be a meme or a playful representation.

The image is a collage of various images and text, predominantly featuring a discussion about the brain and its connection to the mind. At the top, there is a title that reads "SO, Spike Proteins, Schumann Resonance, Mind Control, Al, Tamas, Antarctica." Below the title, there are three images: one of a person's hand holding a piece of paper with text, another of a computer screen displaying a graph with blue and green lines, and the third showing a person's face with a question mark above it.
The text below the images is a series of questions and answers, with the first question being "Do you think you're a human?" and the answer "No, I'm a computer program." The text continues with a discussion about the brain and its connection to the mind, mentioning the Schumann Resonance and the concept of "spike proteins."
In the bottom left corner, there is a screenshot of a video, and in the bottom right corner, there is a logo with the text "SO, Spike Proteins, Schumann Resonance, Mind Control, Al, Tamas, Antarctica."
The image also includes a series of images and text related to the concept of "Tikkun," which is a Jewish term for repairing or making right. The text mentions "Tikkun Olam," which is a Jewish concept of repairing the world.
The overall style of the image is informative and educational, with a focus on the intersection of science, technology, and philosophy.

lol case and point. You people have no knowledge of physical, spiritual, or occultic matters. You randomly string together a bunch of words numbers and symbols you see and mistake your mental illness and elementary-tier understanding of symbols as Wisdom and Numerology.

For people who don't get it, this guy is referencing the human genome. It was recently proven the human genome stabilizes at exactly 144,000 peptides or something of DNA. That is for two-strand DNA helix. If you add a third strand (which mRNA is proven to do, and this actually prevents your body from reading the DNA so it literally shuts down and deactivates tons of your genome to various negative effects) you get 216,000 peptides. Revelation 13:18 in the original greek says the Mark of the Beast is Chi Xi Stigma which equals 600 60 and 6. Revelation says calculate the number of the beast. If you multiply 600x60x6 you get 216,000. 144,000 genome is Image of God, 216,000 genome is Image of the Beast. These people have taken gene therapy and been totally rewritten in their DNA to no longer be in the image of God, but of something else. They will change over time as cell turnover happens. Probably will mutate into something like the Grays. An awful fate for those who did not love the truth and so be saved.

On the left, there is a character with a large, fluffy head that resembles a brain, and a pair of glasses resting on the top of the head. The character's expression is neutral, and it appears to be looking upwards. On the right, there is another character with a smaller head and a frowning expression, with a tear in the corner of the mouth. The character on the right is also wearing glasses. Above the character on the right, there is a thought bubble with the text "I'm sorry," suggesting a moment of regret or apology. The background of the image is plain white, which contrasts with the black outlines of the characters and the thought bubble. The style of the image is simplistic and cartoon-like, with a focus on the expressions and the thought bubble.

The image is a black and white manga panel featuring a character with a large, expressive face and a prominent, curved nose. The character has large, round, dark eyes and a prominent, curved, white beard. The character's hair is styled in a way that it appears to be flowing down the sides of their face. The character's expression is intense, with a furrowed brow and a slight frown.
In the upper right corner of the image, there is a speech bubble with the text "THAT'S BULLSHIT" written in bold, capital letters. The speech bubble is in a smaller font size compared to the main character's face, and it is positioned to the right of the character's face.
Below the speech bubble, there is another smaller speech bubble with the text "BUT I BELIEVE IT" written in a smaller font size. This bubble is also in the upper right corner of the image, but it is positioned to the left of the character's face.
The background of the image is plain and white, with a dotted pattern that gives the image a halftone effect. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of manga, with its black and white color scheme and the use of speech bubbles to convey a sense of dialogue or narration.

Bible prophecies have two separate events: The Reapers (literally what Jesus calls the angels) harvest the wicked and cast them into the winepress of wrath, where they are melted down into blood. This is the Tiamat biomass harvest. The aliens call it The Change and show abductees visions of a future where all the implanted humans are mind controlled into zombies and are telepathically directed to march in a neat, orderly fashion through the middle of the streets of the cities and up the ramps of waiting ships, which will carry them off (to Eridu to dump into Tiamat's hungry undead corpse).

The other event is of all the wicked who remain at the moment of Christ's return and descent to Mt. Zion, they will be possessed by a "panic" sent from God to drive them into an insane terrified killing spree, "every man's hand against the other" so they all kill each other off. In this way, the righteous hiding in the wilderness need not dirty their hands with the job of getting rid of hundreds of millions of people who took the Mark of the Beast. This killing frenzy is like Batman Begins where everyone has been exposed to the fear drug, or Cell 2016, or Deus Ex Human Revolution, take your pick. It's been predictive programmed by the loominati. God warns the kikes, "your covenant with Hell will be annulled and when the overwhelming scourge passes over it will take you." They are serving the devil in hopes they will be spared the fate of the rest of us, but God will turn it on their heads. The Bible chronology says the Tiamat biomass harvest will happen first, then the rage zombie killing spree at the end of the Great Tribulation.

5G has been in low power while airplanes upgrade their stuff. It will be boosted ("modulated") in range and power immensely on July 1st. Who knows what will happen. I have no intuition about zombies but the parasite/nanomachines will definitely grow at an accelerated rate. Expect to see more brain fog, inflammation symptoms, and Suddenly.

what about those wicked that tried to be good? will they be spared? also what about those just waiting for their punishment to happen? those who have remorse and just wait patiently for their judgement?

Seems like whether it's the UFOs or Jesus, people need to put their faith in being harvested/saved by something otherworldly. What if they're both like the garbage/recycling bins where everyone ends up in the same landfill?

Idk it seems too easy for the nefarious to round up believers and harvest THEM as well.

The image is a series of four panels arranged in a vertical column, each depicting a different expression of anger or frustration. The panels are divided into two sections, with the top and bottom sections being red and the middle section being black.
In the top section, there is a black and white image of a person with their mouth open, shouting or yelling. The text above the image reads "FFFF" in a stylized font, which is commonly used to represent a sound effect or a sound.
The bottom section of the image is a red and black image of a person with their mouth open, shouting or yelling. The text above the image reads "FF" in a stylized font, which is commonly used to represent a sound effect or a sound.
The overall style of the image is cartoonish and expressive, with the use of bold colors and stylized text to convey the emotion of anger or frustration.

The image is a tarot card featuring a central illustration of a sun with rays emanating from it, surrounded by a group of animals. The sun is depicted with a yellow and orange color scheme, and it is surrounded by a burst of red and orange rays. The animals include a dog, a cat, and a bird, all of which are depicted in a stylized manner. The dog is positioned to the left of the sun, the cat is to the right, and the bird is at the bottom of the illustration. The background of the card is white, and there is a watermark text at the bottom that reads "XXI" and "LA-LUNE". The style of the image is reminiscent of traditional tarot card illustrations, with a focus on symbolism and imagery.

Title: The Convergence of Realities

Slide 1 - The Ancient Drama: Tiamat and Nibiru
"From the depth of Sumerian myths, Tiamat, the primordial goddess of the ocean, waged a cosmic battle against the celestial bodies. Among them was Nibiru, a mysterious planet said to hold life. Ancient alien theorists speculate that these entities might symbolize extraterrestrial civilizations."

Slide 2 - Parasite Alien Theory and its Influence
"Proponents of the parasite alien theory postulate that some extraterrestrials feed off human energy, fostering chaos and discord. They purport that these beings influenced Tiamat's clash with Nibiru, shaping our collective unconscious and setting a course for our history."

Slide 3 - The Reality Construct: Demiurge and Archons
"In Gnostic thought, the Demiurge, a lesser divine being, and its minions, the Archons, created our material world. Critics liken our civilization to a 'prison planet,' ensnared in physicality and blinded from our spiritual essence by these cosmic architects."

Slide 4 - The Fear of the New: Vax and 5G
"Rapid advancements like vaccines (vax) and 5G technology alarm those fearing control mechanisms of the 'Archons.' They see potential threats in the guise of progress, drawing parallels to Graphene's versatility and its speculated use in enhancing human connectivity and control."

The image is a close-up photograph of a man's face, which appears to be covered in a thick layer of white substance, possibly soap or shaving foam. The man's eyes are closed, and his mouth is slightly open, suggesting a smile. His facial expression is joyful, and he is looking directly at the camera. The background is blurred, indicating that the focus is on the man's face. The lighting in the image is soft, and the overall tone is warm. There are no discernible texts or other objects in the image. The style of the image is candid and informal, capturing a candid moment of the man's expression.

Slide 5 - The Antichrist Symbolism
"In Christian eschatology, the Antichrist embodies ultimate deception and evil. In this narrative, it symbolizes the manipulation and control of the Demiurge and Archons, an emblem of the structures keeping humanity oblivious to their spiritual potential."

Slide 6 - Guidance of the Hermetic Laws
"Hermetic principles, 'as above, so below,' provide a roadmap for navigating these complex realities. They advise an understanding of the cosmic and divine order reflected in our material world, offering tools for spiritual growth amidst perceived chaos."

Slide 7 - Convergence
"As threads of ancient myths, Gnostic teachings, modern technology fears, and Hermetic wisdom intertwine, we are reminded of the complexity and interconnectedness of existence. In discerning truth from illusion, we must strive for balance, understanding, and openness to the realms beyond our immediate perception."

Slide 8 - The Choice
"In the face of this grand narrative, we have a choice - to live in fear and confusion or embrace the challenge of our journey towards enlightenment, unraveling the mysteries of the universe, from Tiamat and Nibiru to vaccines and 5G, from the Demiurge and Archons to the wisdom of Hermetic laws."

Remember, this narrative is a mixture of ancient mythology, speculative theories, modern technological developments, and esoteric philosophies. It's a theoretical story and should be taken as such.

Second video I dunno, those things are so easily fakable with AI. It's basically just 2D geometric shapes, you can just add some filters to make ot look like it's from a microscope. Optionally one can check if there is some element that crystalizes into such a structure, they simply claim it is unnatural but is ot really unnatural though? They could be looking at some liquid where elements are crystalizing due to drought or whatever and simply claim it's the vaccine.

https://www.battelle.org/site/battelle-applied-genomics-today-newsletter/featured-experts/guarav-sharma
It's because he was taking money from DTRA, the same agency that funded EcoHealth Alliance, to look for ways to penetrate the blood-brain barrier, as part of DTRA's Blood-Brain Barrier Program. nanotransducers go inside the human brain and be powered and controlled wirelessly with electromagnetic fields, which, in turn, is part of DARPA's N3 program to make nanoparticle-based nonsurgical wireless neural laces.
Charles Lieber, that Harvard scientist that was charged with fraud for taking money from China's Thousand Talents Plan, was also receiving grant money from the DOD (DARPA, ONR, AFOSR, NIH, and MITRE), and his papers contain descriptions of how silicon nanowires can be used to form the basis of a nanoparticle neural lace (see N3, Next-Generation Nonsurgical Neurotechnology).

Worse than that. Paranoid people are ironically the easiest to dupe and mislead, so long as you affirm their worries you can convince them of anything.
It's not that anon "couldnt find" anything. It's that they were led by the nose through carefully selected data to give them a false worldview they never challenged.

"And the third angel followed them, saying with a loud voice, If any man worship the beast and his image, and receive his mark in his forehead, or in his hand..."

Rev 14. Furthermore, there is a counter-mark of the father, also in Rev 14

"And I looked, and, lo, a Lamb stood on the mount Sion, and with him an hundred forty and four thousand, having his Father's name written in their foreheads."

Both suggest some sort of choice in the matter, either to worship the beast, or to recieve the mark of god instead.

Take the "Contaminant in Moderna vaccines suspect to be metallic particles" article in your post. I found the article on Pharmtech and on the follow up article it said two people died from it, the nips immediately stopped using those series of production.

If there is a large NWO Tiamat conspiracy going down why do the nips stop injecting the metal contaminated vaxxes? Why wasn't it hidden there is metal inside? Why hasn't that article been deleted?

So are these parasites aliens or demons? Is "God" good aliens or actually God? Are the Anu-naki insectoids Tiamat spores, a race created by Tiamat, or the first race created by God/the good aliens? Did humans evolve from the ant people? The first parts makes it seem like Tiamat was an ancient alien super organism, while the later makes it out to be literally the devil created by literal God, and satan just so happened to be a gigantic parasite. These infographs go too much into the symbolism without answering much of the basic questions. Very cool and interesting read though

If memory serves, that might have been tried already to some degree? Those threads were pretty good, but it might be better to have a couple one-offs on /pol/. The reason is (contrary to most of the /pol/ crowd's belief) because there are a few based jews who lurk there who understand and can explain the known mistranslations of original hebrew text. You might want to check the /pol/ archives because i know i've seen it explained there.
But if you want to bake, do carry on.

So far the vaccine has:
-graphene
-other self-assembling metallic nanoparticles that react with 5G
-modified mRNA
-CRISPR-CAS9
-luciferase
-modified lipids to form a liposome
-living organisms and parasites
-green fluorescent protein (GFP)
-the vaccine adjuvant

What else am I missing?

Ok anons, PSA time.
Here are six supplements you can take to cleanse yourself of the lingering S1 spike protein that gets shed from vaxxies and infects your brains:

1. N-Acetyl Cysteine (NAC)
>detoxes the liver where the spike accumulates and crosses the blood-brain barrier to protect against prions, interferes with the spike joining with your ACE receptors
2. Nattokinase
3. Quercetin

>both proven to interfere with spike
4. Lemon juice (bottled stuff is just fine and cheap) >drink 1/4 cup a day in water, do not add sugar
>detoxes the liver and interrupts the S1 spike from traveling up the vagus nerve into your brain
>DO NOT underestimate its effectiveness
>it's a miracle in a bottle for $3
5. turmeric/curcumin (the Spring Valley brand from Walmart is actually high quality and contains ginger as well)
>powerful anti-inflammatory >crosses the BBB to protect against prions
6. Nicotine
>forces your modified classical monocytes (white blood cells) to undergo apoptosis (cellular death) and expunge the S1 spike from your bloodstream
>hey i wonder why the feds behind "Biden" wanted to force the cig and vape companies to remove nicotine
Now you know.

The image is a stylized cartoon or comic illustration featuring a character with a large, red eye and a wide grin. The character is wearing a red and gold outfit with a white collar and a red sash. The character's hands are outstretched, with one hand holding a glowing orb that emits a bright orange light. The background is a fiery orange with a gradient from yellow to red, suggesting a fiery environment.
Overlaying the image is a text that reads, "I can't expect God to do all the world." The text is in a bold, black font and is positioned at the bottom of the image, with the words "I can't expect" in a smaller font size and "God to do all the world" in a larger font size. The style of the image is reminiscent of a meme or a satirical cartoon, with a focus on the character's expression and the text.

Theyre literally a jewish plot to absorb all magic. Only the highpriest of the jews can use magic and all others cant

Jews do this because in the past there were tyrants who tried to become like Gods
For example pharaoh of egypt, ozymandias, also qin shinhuangdi emperor of china who didnt even allow people to look in his eyes because of transfer of energy through the gaze

This is why jews have such long full beards and mustache its to completely absorb all power of the area and be the top alphas, they believe only them should wield it.
Full demiurgic abrahamism is judaism also the food laws of kaballah are ancient vedic cooking mixed with backdoors to eat meat without getting the negative effects.

I could disclose all the secrets, also about circumcision and why some jews have long hair around the ears. I can give you a hint though about the hairs(cat whiskers,antenna) top jew secrets are collective telepathy amongst the jews lmfao. You're a fucking idiot. None of this is a secret and the only reason why Samson's hair was his power was due to the fact that he took on the Nazarite vow. It was jewish custom and tradition to shave your head for certain things.

So no, you're full of shit and look like a fucking clown saying stupid shit like this, trying to give a sense of credibility lmao.

Acts 18:18

Paul stayed on in Corinth for some time. Then he left the brothers and sisters and sailed for Syria, accompanied by Priscilla and Aquila. Before he sailed, he had his hair cut off at Cenchreae because of a vow he had taken.

Acts 21:23-24
23 so do what we tell you. There are four men with us who have made a vow. 24 Take these men, join in their purification rites and pay their expenses, so that they can have their heads shaved. Then everyone will know there is no truth in these reports about you, but that you yourself are living in obedience to the law

Ezekiel 5:1-4
5 “Now, son of man, take a sharp sword and use it as a barber’s razor to shave your head and your beard. Then take a set of scales and divide up the hair. 2 When the days of your siege come to an end, burn a third of the hair inside the city. Take a third and strike it with the sword all around the city. And scatter a third to the wind. For I will pursue them with drawn sword. 3 But take a few hairs and tuck them away in the folds of your garment. 4 Again, take a few of these and throw them into the fire and burn them up. A fire will spread from there to all Israel.

Leviticus 14:8
8 “The person to be cleansed must wash their clothes, shave off all their hair and bathe with water; then they will be ceremonially clean. After this they may come into the camp, but they must stay outside their tent for seven days.

Not just mutable, but there's a hierarchy of power and all Spirit's are subject to God's ultimate authority. The Apostle Paul commanded a spirit to leave a person, and the spirit had no choice but to listen to Paul and leave. This caused conflict and even had the slave owners of the person who had the fortune telling spirit in them to take Paul to court. Yes, Paul was unironically taken to court because of Spiritual matters.

Uhhu sure, that's why a Christian missionary in New Guinea annoyed natives by praying to God and applying holy water to an alter every day. When asked why he did it he said "If I stop they kill each other." A shaman in the tribe said he was annoyed because ever since they came the spirit of a little girl no longer appears to lead him to witches.

Ghosts and spirits are not to fucking be trusted. They are older than you. Older than our species. Jesus said not to fuck with them because they lie and can change their appeare to look trustworthy when they just want to drag you to hell and cause pain here on Earth.

The entire Western esoteric tradition was transmitted by the official teaching authority of the Abrahamic religions, disguised under the veil of symbol and allegory. Agrippa and Paracelsus were devout Catholics and neither received ecclesiastical censure for their publications. Ibn Arabi was the greatest spiritual master of the Islamic tradition. The Druids literally became wandering poets who preserved their doctrines in song. The ancient Greek Mysteries were in fact studied and venerated, never demonized, not even by St. Augustine (whose critique of Varro's inextant exposition of Hellenistic theology is seldom actually read).
The Witches' Sabbath and Black Mass were real things in medieval Europe, but the Inquisition exonerated most of the accused. In many cases the conclusion was not that the accused was involved in nothing magical, but that the phenomena were not diabolical in origin. The attitude of the church authorities was incredibly tolerant, who only handed over the worst of the worst abuses for state prosecution.
Neither did all this proceed in secret, for every year during the Carnival these things were expected to see the light of day; in fact it posed a serious risk to the integrity of the community if they did not.

The first section, titled "3rd September 2017 AD," lists the dates and events associated with the "Chasms of world history suspects" and the "final generation" of the "Chasms of world history suspects." It also mentions the "Birth of the Messiah" and the "Birth of the World War Three."
The second section, titled "5th August 3915 BC," shows the positions of the celestial objects and their corresponding dates. It includes the "Birth of the Messiah" and the "Birth of the World War Three."
In the center of the image, there is a graphic of a woman lying on her back with her arms extended, and a lion standing beside her. The woman is depicted with a crown on her head and a crescent moon above her. The lion is shown with its head held high and its mane flowing.
At the bottom of the image, there is a website address "www.crossvictory.com" in white text. The overall style of the image is informational and educational, likely used for educational or religious purposes.

For this we declare to you by a word from the Lord, that we who are alive, who are left until the coming of the Lord, will not precede those who have fallen asleep. For the Lord himself will descend from heaven with a cry of command, with the voice of an archangel, and with the sound of the trumpet of God. And the dead in Christ will rise first. Then we who are alive, who are left, will be caught up together with them in the

And a great sign appeared in heaven: a woman clothed with the sun, with the moon under her feet, and on her head a crown of twelve stars. She was pregnant and was crying out in birth pains and the agony of giving birth. And another sign appeared in heaven: behold, a great red dragon, with seven heads and ten horns, and on his heads seven diadems. His tail swept down a third of the stars of heaven and cast them to the earth. And the dragon stood before the woman who was about to give birth, so that when she bore her child he might devour it. Get behind me satan. This is my first post in months and I've never spoken on the rapture/tribulation.

Joseph, son of Jacob. Predicted 7 years of great harvest, then 7 years of famine for the pharaoh. This mirrors today. 2017-2024, rev 12 sign in 2017, was the birth of the male child. Followed by 7 years of great harvest, many have come to Christ during these years, almost like a revival, especially the last couple of years. Then ends with the eclipse over America in 2024, the year of jubilee starts. Now the 7 years of famine (tribulation) is coming by the end of this year of jubilee.

That's the rapture, not the second coming. The revelation verse is addressing specific events in the tribulation, talking about Israel, the nation that birthed Jesus the messiah.

“¶ And he dreamed yet another dream, and told it his brethren, and said, Behold, I have dreamed a dream more; and, behold, the sun and the moon and the eleven stars made obeisance to me.” (Genesis 37:9)

Also you should know that “¶ But of that day and that hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels which are in heaven, neither the Son, but the Father.” (Mark 13:32) no one knows the day or hour, refers to the feast of trumpets. Because the feast only starts when the first sliver of the new moon is revealed. So if one the first night, the 2 witnesses see the sign, they start the party, if they don't, they look the next day. Hence why no one knows the day or hour. 9/23 is the feast of trumpets this year, which also coincides with rev 12 signs in the sky, with the red dragon(mars) ready to devour the male child, but will be caught up before he does.

If honestly, having reread many myths, as well as the New Testament, I already look at it differently. Also, the words of Christians about love and family do not correspond to reality, because Jesus repeatedly called to turn away from family and said that he brought not peace, but a sword, etc. As a result, Rome actually accepts Christianity and immediately + in 500 there is a plunge into the dark ages.

I know everything perfectly well. The root QRN/KRN/CRN is connected with horns, in some languages also with the color black, and also Kronus/Cronus However, Christianity is also a Saturnian religion.

The distinctive feature of the reign of Kronos (golden times) is equality and religious communism, therefore in Rome during Saturnalia slaves were equalized in rights with citizens, and sometimes they were even given the opportunity to play the role of the master

This is exactly what Jesus promoted. He was born under the zodiac sign of Capricorn (the sacred animal of Enki-Ea, which in Palmyra was identified with El and Poseidon) and this sign is ruled by Saturn

This structure appears to be a makeshift shelter or a temporary shelter, as it is covered with a tarp-like material and has a few poles supporting it.

In the background, a group of people can be seen gathered around the structure. They are seated on the ground, facing the structure, and appear to be engaged in a communal activity. The people are dressed in what seems to be traditional clothing, and some of them are holding objects, possibly tools or equipment.

The sky above is overcast, suggesting a cloudy day, and the mountains in the distance are hazy, adding to the overall atmosphere of the scene. I shouldn't have to spell it out.
I will say that it's a shame that Saturn worship works as a gotcha in paranormal circles. If anything can be associated with Saturn in any way, then it's automatically condemned. That is actually the characteristic reaction of a soul that is under Saturn's power. You only see the malefic aspects if those are the ones that you feel affecting you. Saturn is the lord of melancholy and grief but also of self-discipline.
The black cube represents Primordial Man or the cosmic axis, thus the chosen shape of the New Jerusalem. The pilgrims at the Hajj actually form a giant swastika. Do they worship Saturn? Does the Zodiac worship Polaris? Does the circumference of the wheel worship the hub?
The center is not antithetical to the periphery, rather it is the source and summit. Those who leave their families behind and don the black robe becoming dead to the world are not ipso facto the enemies of love and family. Unless the grain of wheat falling into the ground die, itself remaineth alone. But if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit. There are those whoever who despise the many who love their lives. They are those who bear no fruit and place themselves under the Lord's curse.

So what? Suffering is the way to God. If you are from God, then let him hear who has ears to hear. As for the rest, shake the dust from your feet.
Dreams, burning sensations, all "phenomena" of this kind are capable of deception.
Rapture theory is false. It is just an excuse to avoid preparing for the tribulation. It says that I will be spared many sufferings because of my faith. The Great Tribulation however, is not for the believer, but I suppose we don't really need to agree on that. If you're actually saved, pretty sure you're coming regardless of if you are aware of the rapture. Even if we don't get raptured, you need to know that great tribulation IS coming. Who ever gets left behind is going to be deceived or martyred for sticking with Jesus.

The great tribulation will come for all at the hour of death. There is the Adversary's last chance to take your soul. This is what most of the verses you quote are referring to. The wrath to come in 1Thes means the fires of hell. Revelation 3:10 is phrased "ab hora tentationis" in the Vulgate, cf "et ne nos inducas in tentationem," πειρασμόν in the Greek, the same word used in Matthew 6:13. This is the literal fulfillment of the petition that every Christian makes in the Lord's Prayer and means that there is sufficient grace from God to overcome all temptations and to follow Him perfectly, if only the soul cooperates. That is rapture in a much more real and present sense. Such a soul is truly prepared for any tribulation and willing to be separated from the body in order to confess her faith. Rapture theory seems to propose precisely the opposite of this!

The image is a stylized representation of a person's head with horns, set against a backdrop of a cloudy sky. The person's face is obscured by a red, textured mask that covers the lower half of the head. The mask has a jagged, irregular edge and is adorned with a pattern of what appears to be blood or some other dark substance. The person's eyes are not visible, and the mouth is not discernible.
In the upper part of the image, there is a stylized depiction of a horn, which is white with a black outline. The horn is positioned diagonally across the image, with the tip pointing upwards and the base pointing downwards.

HELL." The text is in a dark color that contrasts with the lighter background.
In the lower right corner of the image, there is a small, circular emblem with a red and black design. The emblem features a stylized representation of a pentagram and a number "3," which is also in red and black. The emblem is positioned in such a way that it does not obscure the main subject of the image.
The overall style of the image is dark and dramatic, with a focus on the central figure and the text, which suggests a theme of music or a band name. The use of the horn and the text "ANTENNAS TO HELL" could indicate a connection to Slipknot, a band known for their music and visual style.

Ah, but 666 is the number of the name of the beast, not the dragon. Let me talk about this because I think it's interesting.
Chi-Xi-Sigma is likely isopsephy, to be revealed when the man of sin arises, in order to confirm his identity. However it's also the sum of the magic square of the sun. Christ is the Sun of Justice so it's fitting that Antichrist bears a name with a solar number. Christ is the King of all nations, and likewise Antichrist will reign over a universal solar imperium. This is an important clue because it tells us not only the extent of the kingdom of Antichrist, which is evident from the literal sense of the scripture, but also its character.

In medieval Christendom the Emperor would literally receive the Light of the World from the hands of a priest. In this respect he resembles not the sun but the moon. Contrast with pagan Rome in which the Emperor was also Pontifex Maximus. That is a precondition for the Great Tribulation, the institution of the Mark of the Beast, and so on. It also makes clear that said Mark, also from its placement on the forehead or right hand, refers to a rite of anti-baptism. For in the Rite of Baptism the sacred chrism is also applied to the forehead and the right hand. Antichrist will institute false sacraments required for membership in society and will sit as head of his false church, an organization identical to the state and a public cultus of his own person and that, quite explicitly, of Satan.

The reason why the Tribulation is unlikely to begin within this generation is simple. You cannot have a solar imperium with a state religion in a world order constituted of secularist republics. First there has to be a restoration of throne and altar, or there is nothing for Antichrist to usurp. For the same reason the Temple will probably not be rebuilt nor the sacrifice resumed. Actually Antichrist could proclaim his divinity from al-Aqsa itself, which the Knights Templars called Templum Solomonis.

Once/If the rapture takes place, lawlessness and panic will have the vast majority eating out of the palm of the Antichrist's hand for solutions, and anyone who doesn't fall in line will be martyred. All they'd have to do is fake proof, fake aliens, provide a semi-reasonable explanation for why millions of Christians weren't actually raptured by God as foretold and also threaten to exclude them from society. You won't be able to buy food or water without the mark. The secular folk will go along with it. They will preform "signs" and "wonders" and they'll believe those too. Secular people are actually the most superstitious of all, I agree. The point I'm making is more about legitimacy and elite status, which the same said secular people always, always underestimate. Corruptio optima pessima: that's what the Enemy is after, but only a simpleton would regard this world order as the best. Hence the efforts of so many to burn it down and build a new one on the ashes. Satan will wait for that, he will allow Christianity to prevail among all the contenders, he will wait for the Gospel to permeate the soul of every nation, because he thinks it so much the better to humiliate Almighty God. From a catechetical point of view this is commonly taught: one of the signs of the end times is that the Gospel is preached throughout the world first. Everyone on earth above the age of reason really will be faced with an informed choice. Satan wants your consent most of all. But the world today is more confusing and discordant than it has ever been. It is all too easy to excuse, not lukewarmness, but simple unbelief. The devil will try to take advantage of this situation too, but I don't think he would consider it his grand finale.

This is pretty much already a completed step, probably 99.9% of the world, from the first world educated to starving African. If I had to guess, the only one not reached yet are likely a handful of the untouched tribes. Even those guys could be taught about Jesus in a couple weeks if no one has preached there yet.

I think you're misunderstanding what this means for the end times. Just because the majority of people aren't Christians doesn't mean the apostates, atheists, other religions, haven't heard of the gospel. They don't have to accept the gospel to have it preached to them. You can find a copy of the Bible in virtually every language. Everyone left will be making an informed decision, the main reason they'll choose against Christianity despite a rapture happening is because their hearts are already have been closed to it. They'll eat up the first explanation the "experts" give them because it couldn't possibly be the "imaginary sky daddy" that they've spent their whole lives mocking.

Most people are still illiterate, actually, to whom the availability of a printed Bible means absolutely nothing. And every Christian believes that there are around 30,000 heretical sects going falsely by that name. The largest denominations cope by teaching their adherents that it doesn't really matter what you believe. The truth is a needle in a haystack of information. It requires a stupendous prodigy of grace even to have the faith today. Most people who think they have heard of the gospel actually haven't. Other denominations and heresy aside. The world is very rapidly able to hear the gospel, you don't need to be able to read it. It's not even that complicated. Jesus Christ died on the cross, was buried, went to hell, rose 3 days later and ascended into heaven. If you hear that Jesus Christ is God and has come in human form to absolve humanity of their sin, you've heard the gospel. I agree they don't understand the gospel, they think "sky daddy" nonsense every time they hear Christ died for them. Just because they don't understand or comprehend what that actually means, like they couldn't strongman our arguments or properly explain it to a 5 year old, doesn't mean they haven't been preached to. The mark of a real Christian is being born again by the Holy Spirit. This could technically happen on your deathbed after a lifetime of never going to church. Some people probably go to church weekly without the Holy Spirit.

AI will rapidly become the beast system. We'll just have to agree to disagree. Sure, it'll destroy itself, I believe the tribulation starts this year and will end by 2032. We're already in idiocracy and that's partly why so many will be accepting of the mark. There are all sorts of other signs for the great tribulation aside from the chips they can put in your hand and the gospel being preached.

>The mark of a real Christian is being born again by the Holy Spirit.
But it's not. That is actually heresy, which if you're being serious you can't just bracket like you want to. The mark of a Christian is the profession of the faith that Jesus Christ revealed, and most who consider themselves Christians, as a matter of fact, profess someone else's ideas and attribute them to Him. This has to be true regardless of which ideas you yourself attribute to Him. There is far more disagreement than consensus. Thus, nothing has been preached. The work isn't even half done. Look at my beautiful arboretum (it's a basket full of acorns). What passes for preaching and divine inspiration is mere hysteria and enthusiasm. These are fickle things. Today AI will rapidly become the beast system. Twenty years ago it was government surveillance or maybe Islam. Twenty years before that it was bar codes and credit cards. Twenty years before that it was communism. Four hundred years before that it was the papacy. None of these predictions were fulfilled and were really only so many cynical appeals to the credulous. The very worst is the fake astrology peddled by utter dilettantes with no ability to interpret celestial signs, who speak so confidently about precise dates, as though nothing depended on the human will. Are we in idiocracy already? Then make yourself at home.

I would just encourage you to pray on it. Ask God to reveal the truth of what's coming, maybe He'll send you a dream or put something in front of you to warn you over the next coming weeks. Dismissing the signs because some people have tried and failed to predict the future isn't actually a good argument.

Vision of what? Are you implying that God has sent you visions to tell you that the tribulations weren't coming soon at all? What visions have you received from Him that would inspire you to have you completely shut out the possibility of the great tribulations happening soon? Tell me what you've seen, please.
>You cannot have a solar imperium with a state religion in a world order constituted of secularist republics. First there has to be a restoration of throne and altar, or there is nothing for Antichrist to usurp. For the same reason the Temple will probably not be rebuilt nor the sacrifice resumed. Actually Antichrist could proclaim his divinity from al-Aqsa itself, which the Knights Templars called Templum Solomonis.
None of this is scriptural btw. Did God reveal this to you? Explain what happened?
Compared to the astrological signs that actually hold up to revelation 12, on top of everything else with the dates, signs, Euphrates drying up, Israel on the verge of a peace deal that will allow them to rebuild the temple, etc, you've said nothing that would make me actually question it beyond what you personally think is going to happen with AI and a fallacy of people being wrong before.

I don't disagree that it can't hurt. That doesn't mean trib isn't right around the corner. It feels like to me, deep down you just don't want any of it to be true cause it would a little scary to think it's happening for real.

You crave Certainty, so you're an abject slave to it. Your mind is in prison and you're chained, powerless to change anything! If something "Good" happens, then you praise your Omni-God! If something "Bad" happens to you or doesn't happen, then it's God's Will, it's not in God's Plan, or it's just the Bad Ol' Deb'bil screwing with you! Therefore, you have an Ironclad Excuse for Everything - and it's all just vain and imaginary constructs in your head! You're an actor playing a Role, a minor part in your head, and most of it was put there, by Others, and continues to be put there, and they control what you think! You've never questioned it because you depend on Faith and Pilpul to get you through your problems and obstacles. The truth is that you worship the wrong Jesus. Your Jesus demanded Followers and died a useless and painful death, which you have to somehow justify, as something in your God's Plan. He wants you to be powerless against circumstance and psychic invasion - powerless to effect any social change.

Yet there's the Jesus you were never told about and haven't considered. He wanted no followers; he didn't want a Church, much less a government State Church; he meant something else. You were supposed to be like him, his Mirror, with the power to do even more than He did! But no, you lcraved certainty, then labelled those who did as heretics and witches, because you gave your Authority to something outside of you, someone besides your Inner Knowing, which is the Kingdom of God! You listened to the Authorities: the Pope, Priest, Bishop, Minister, Deacon, and then the fucking Roman Emperors, and the Kings! Keeping the Rich and Powerful in charge of the religion of the poor! Questioning your religious beliefs rarely occurs to you! Maybe if you read a Red Letter Bible without the narrative, the passages in Red, and maybe the Gospel of Thomas and other "Heretical " works you may get a Clue. They stole who gave you the power to change things!

Well this is what happens in UTOPIA too:

>This revelation, and much else, has been coded into mysterious comic books (“Dystopia” and its sequel “Utopia”), whose most obsessed readers eventually learn that the epidemic has been engineered, the media and the government have been manipulated and shadowy forces are promoting a worthless vaccine. In short, the end of the world is nigh.

>Near the end of the show’s first season, released in late September, the biotech chief executive Dr. Kevin Christie (John Cusack), who created the bogus vaccine and is also a secret human trafficker, finally reveals his master plan: His vaccine is designed to make people infertile in order to radically reduce the world’s population. In Christie’s view, humans are the real virus, wiping out other creatures, and he’s convincing enough to make one of the show’s crusading characters join his mad cult.

>This revelation, and much else, has been coded into mysterious comic books (“Dystopia” and its sequel “Utopia”), whose most obsessed readers eventually learn that the epidemic has been engineered,

Which is exactly the same situation as 1984 where George Orwell is embedded within his own book as Emmanuel Goldstein

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/The_Theory_and_Practice_of_Oligarchical_Collectivism

>The Theory and Practice of Oligarchical Collectivism is a fictional book in George Orwell's dystopian novel Nineteen Eighty-Four (1984, written in 1949). The fictional book was supposedly written by Emmanuel Goldstein, the principal enemy of the state of Oceania's ruling (inner) party (The Party).

Just be thankful you live in developed nation anon, things will get better. It’s just that the zeitgeist of this decade is especially pessimisticc, probably because of the internet and culture wars more than actual economy.

If you want anything to look forward to, look at the commercialization of space. Sure, it’s all McMegacorps right now, but your turn is next cowboy.

I enjoyed the british show. I'm pretty sure the american have made it more dramatic. There was a comedic touch that was greatly appreciated., like that dude getting his eye popped off during a torture session and who eventualy flip side and befriend his torturer.

The metric is pretty simple though.

deserves to die. This is the most insightful post in this thread. Do you think this is happening by chance, or that this carefully planned, and engineered as such after having been conceptualized at the highest level. There is forbidden elite knowledge behind these fractal structures. You all deserve to die on the most basic causal ground because you wouldn't be able to organize the conspiracy to get rid of the undesirable ones.

The image is a digital illustration featuring a group of anthropomorphic animals in a room with a cold, snowy environment. The room is dimly lit, with a large window on the left side showing a snowy landscape and a few rockets in the distance. The animals are dressed in winter clothing, including beanies, scarves, and gloves.

In the center of the room, there's a desk with a lamp and a computer monitor. A green frog character is sitting at the desk, holding a cup of coffee. To the right, a group of animals is gathered around a table, engaged in a conversation. One of the animals is holding a book, and there's a lamp on the table.
On the right side of the image, there's a large explosion in the background, with a mushroom cloud rising above it. The explosion is accompanied by a bright light, and the sky is dark with clouds.
The style of the illustration is cartoonish and expressive, with a focus on the characters' expressions and the dynamic interaction between them. The colors are muted, with a palette dominated by shades of green, brown, and gray.

The image is a page from an old book, featuring a detailed illustration of a philosophical or theological theme. The central figure is a human figure seated on a throne, surrounded by a variety of other figures, including animals and plants. The human figure is depicted with a crown on their head, and they are surrounded by a group of people who appear to be engaged in a discussion or debate. The illustration is framed by a decorative border with a floral pattern and a crown at the top.

The text surrounding the illustration is in German and is arranged in a grid-like pattern. The text is divided into two columns, with the left column containing a series of lines of text and the right column containing a series of lines of verse. The text is written in a serif font, and the verse is in a different serif font. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of a historical or religious manuscript, with a focus on the text and the illustration.

And I'm not talking about fringe deep green resistance cocksuckers, actual billionaires who give money to the Sierra Club and Greenpeace have advocated vocally for mass sterilization.

the son of david preceded by the son of joseph, to clarify for those who want to dig. the pritzker translation of the zohar is on libgen if you're curious, it's in a number of volumes, and the zohar hadash (manuscripts published after the first printing of the zohar that were either intentionally left out of the first printing or were only collected by the publishers later years) has never been translated or published into english from the aramaic.
they believe that their messiah will take power before the 'sabbath' of human history, being equivalent to a seventh 'day' = millennium. the year 6000 begins fall 2239. the reason why he won't come about at that date is they themselves are supposed to do all the hard work preparing the world for him to rule over it all, and obviously that takes time. furthermore the sabbath millennium is supposed to be a utopian period and all the work that the messiah himself will do as king must be done before the year 6001, beginning fall of 2240. thus he will come about before that time.

however there was a deliberate miscalculation of years baked into the seder olam, an historical chronicle dated to the second century, that was probably carried over into our own church based timeline, in order to make it impossible for anybody to use theological-chronological facts to make eschatological predictions. similar to where jesus says none shall know the hour or day. the biblical year timeline itself changed many times over the bible's written history, as a perusal of the wikipedia article 'chronology of the bible' will amply show. so despite the hebrew calendar as it currently stands putting the year 6000 in fall 2039, in reality their top rabbis probably are aware of the chronological fuckery and know that it is all supposed to happen earlier. hope this explains why they seem to be rushing their plans despite having 216 years left to kill.

No one needs to sterilize people, they are already doing this to themselves since decades.
The fertility rate in almost every developed (or developing) country is below the replacement rate. Current studies project that the world population, which now stands at 7.8 billion, will peak in 2064 at 9.7 billion. Humans are not cockroaches or bacteria. We do not reproduce exponentially until the food runs out. Instead, as a nation becomes richer and more developed, people naturally have fewer children, choosing to invest more of their time and resources into raising one or two children instead of ten. That's been the pattern in every rich country around the world, including the US. Even China is expected to shrink by roughly half, from 1.4 billion today to 732 million. There is an inverse correlation between income and the total fertility rate within and between nations around the world. The higher the degree of education and GDP per capita of a human population, the more political and social freedom women have, the fewer children are born in any developed country.

Economic theories about declining fertility postulate that people earning more have a higher opportunity cost if they focus on childbirth and parenting rather than continuing their careers, that women who can economically sustain themselves have less incentive to become married, and that higher income parents value quality over quantity and so spend their resources on fewer children. Also, Preference Theory attempts to explain how women's choices regarding work versus family have changed and how the expansion of options and the freedom to choose the option that seems best for them are the keys to recent declines in TFR. Higher educated women are more likely to become career women. Also, for higher educated women, there is a higher opportunity cost to bearing children. Both would lead higher educated women to postpone marriage and births.

I hate this argument the most. I don't know if your using a VPN or if you really are a schnitzel nigger. Every American who has gone on a family road trip fucking knows, as soon as you get 5 minutes out of the city, the landscape turns into hundreds of thousands of acres of liveable land. People of the old world built cities around ports and that's the way it was for centuries because it had to be like that. We no longer need to cluster around large bodies of water, which is (for the US anyway) where the biggest cities sprouted up.
We have plenty of space and resources, it's just that the people at the top want an empty world to play around on. They want to live like the fucking Asimov's Solarian Spacers.

In the TV series Helix (which you cannot find anywhere anymore) a group of immortal former humans who have gained stealth socioeconomic control over the entire earth plan the release of a virus to depopulate. And the vaccine for the virus causes infertility. The series end with natural human reproduction no longer being possible and all further reproduction being artificial and selectively allowed and controlled by these elites.

You're either jewish or a coping midwit. If the jews didn't intentionally plan and strive to exterminate Whites, they would:
1. have banned abortion long ago or never legalised it.
2. have never spawned feminism.
3. have never spawned the tranny movement.
4. have not fomented and started all the wars they did, with or between White nations.
5. have not deindustrialised White nations.
6. have not permitted or legalised contraception.

Spot on. Capitalism is a jewish pyramid scheme which runs on perpetual geometric expansion of the money supply. And no, gommunism has never actually been tried. It was just state capitalism. We'll try gommunism by the end of this decade though. Possibly by 2026 or 2027. And no, it's now what the jews or their golems claim it to be.

What it will actually be is distributed self-sufficiency where no one needs the jews or their centralised systems and infrastructure anymore. For anything. Nor for energy (free from gravity using gravity engine), not for raw materials (free from fucking rocks you find laying around and you break apart with your household rock crusher and mineral separator), not for manufactured goods (free, from your household 3D printer and CNC machine and your household and your household loom).

Problem with reduction of population is that it will massively affect price of real estate. There is massive amount of economic resources tied to that artificial bubble. If real estate value is reduced to its actual use value, we will have massive banking crisis as banks have invested fuck ton of money in real estate. Not to mention personal economic crisis for people with massive loans for their overpriced houses. This big part of the reason why they import shitskins to western countries, to keep price of housing and office space artificially high.

A very long time ago, when whyppipo where just nomads wandering steeps in Eurasia, we came across loads of small pockets of people. Like in the stories you hear about, which speak of "Vikings" in ancient times, these nomadic tribes raped and pillaged a plethora of these small villages. In some cases, we left behind pockets of peoples with anomalous DNA. This is found all over North Africa, the Middle East or Persia, India and China. Hell, the stories even have remarkable similarities to Native American ancient tales about large bearded people working in copper mines who did the same thing to them.

Curiously, across the world there are pockets of people who still to this day randomly have children with red hair, light colored eyes and who are very tall compared to peers. This is especially common in areas like China, India and Middle Eastern countries.
That's how you got "jews". They never forgot or forgave for our ancient ancestors doing this to them and the only real reason they're a "formidable opponent" is because the DNA they got as a result of the genetic exchange.

https://boingboing.net/2007/05/09/robert-anton-wilson-.html
It is a story about a captain Clark bragging that he never had any incident for 23 years but then the very same day he has an accident that kills everyone on the ship. Then later on the same day a Flight 23 piloted by another captain Clark crashes and kills everyone in it as well.

I have tried finding any evidence of these stories, but I have come up empty.

Is the enigma deadly?
Could one die by the enigma just by turning twenty three years old? Or having twenty three of something?
Could someone brag about living twenty three years or just doing something for twenty three years and then die because of the enigma?

Would something bad happen and or would someone die if they made a fictional character the age of twenty three years old?

Could someone verify if either of these things happened at all?
I did find an article / blog post debunking the air plane part of the story, but I cannot seem to find it anymore.

I see the number twenty three for a bit after I look this up. I will see it when look at what time it and or watching a show and pausing it.
Or collecting twenty three of something in a video game.

Is it coincidence? Something to do with my brain / mind?

The enigma doing it / something supernatural / paranormal?

Is this sign(s) that something will happen to me and or I will die brocade of the enigma?
I highly doubt it but still a question I have.

How do I stop being afraid of the number twenty three?

The time thing has happened again for three hours in a row. Does that mean something? I was not even thinking about it like any of those times either.

Previously made thread and one more question

There is a serial killer who killed twenty three people. Is this the twenty three enigma? Or am I simply over thinking it?

I remember seeing somewhere that the author basically said you can assign meanings to things you find patterns in and used the number twenty three as an example. What do you think of that? Am I / my brain just assigning meaning for no reason?

Can the number twenty three cause death? Should I be worried about dying because of this number?

Will something happen if I make a fictional character twenty three years old?

How can I stop worrying about and forget about learning about this permanently?

Do I need to/ should worry about something happen because of the 23 enigma? Does stopping think about it / putting stock / belief in it cause things to not happen and everything will be fine? And there will be no death and or tragedy to happen?

Does putting 23 all over something like writing or a drawing or song / music cause something to happen because of the enigma at all? Could it act as a curse or blessing?

I have a fictional character who at some point is 23 years old and disappears for a couple of years. Did I decide this because of the enigma? Is this just coincidence?
Will something happen because of the enigma now that I have thought about this and or realized this?

Will something happen in the future if I use the number 23 for fictional characters and or other fictional things and or anything else related to fiction or not?

And is it true that once one knows about the enigma they can never leave / escape it at all?

How can I / one protect against the enigma and use the number 23 safely / without fear / without something happening because of the enigma?

https://sys.4chan.org/derefer?url=https%3A%2F%2Fwww.thegutterreview.com%2Fadding-it-up-a-discussion-of-numerology-in-culture%2F
It is a story about a captain Clark bragging that he never had any incident for 23 years but then the very same day he has an accident that kills everyone on the ship. Then later on the same day a Flight 23 piloted by another captain Clark crashes and kills everyone in it as well.

I have tried finding any evidence of these stories, but I have come up empty.

Is the enigma deadly?
Could one die by the enigma just by turning twenty three years old? Or having twenty three of something?
Could someone brag about living twenty three years or just doing something for twenty three years and then die because of the enigma?

Would something bad happen and or would someone die if they made a fictional character the age of twenty three years old?

Could someone verify if either of these things happened at all?
I did find an article / blog post debunking the air plane part of the story, but I cannot seem to find it anymore.

I see the number twenty three for a bit after I look this up. I will see it when look at what time it and or watching a show and pausing it.
Or collecting twenty three of something in a video game.

Is it coincidence? Something to do with my brain / mind?

The enigma doing it / something supernatural / paranormal?

Is this sign(s) that something will happen to me and or I will die brocade of the enigma?
I highly doubt it but still a question I have.

How do I stop being afraid of the number twenty three?

Can one curse and or be cursed by the enigma? Including death?
Can one infuse something with the enigma to curse and or bless and or kill and or etc?
Can one curse a show with the enigma?
Or is it on effective on a person if one believes in it? Does this include death?

What do you make of/ think of this?
Are discordians afraid of of the number twenty three?

Are there other death caused by the 23 Enigma? Do people have to worry about it? Are there ways to protect against it at all? And or get rid of it from one's life and or memory / memories?

What do you think of this story?

There is a serial killer who killed twenty three people. Is this the twenty three enigma? Or am I simply over thinking it?

I remember seeing somewhere that the author basically said you can assign meanings to things you find patterns in and used the number twenty three as an example. What do you think of that? Am I / my brain just assigning meaning for no reason?

The image is a black and white portrait of a woman. She has long, straight hair that falls past her shoulders, and her eyes are looking directly at the viewer. Her expression is neutral, and she has a slight smile. The woman is wearing a light-colored garment, possibly a blouse or a dress, with a visible collar. The background is plain and does not provide any additional context or details. There are no texts or discernible brands visible in the image. The style of the image is reminiscent of vintage or classic photography, with a focus on the subject's features and the simplicity of the composition.

In the center of the image, there is a woman with long black hair styled in a ponytail. She has dark makeup, including black lipstick and eyeshadow, and is wearing a black top with a pattern that includes red and black elements. The woman is holding a book with her right hand, and her left hand is resting on her hip. She is looking directly at the viewer with a neutral expression.
The overall style of the image is dramatic and appears to be a promotional or artistic representation, possibly for a podcast or a similar media content. The text and the woman's pose suggest a theme related to academic knowledge or a scholarly discussion.

Yeah, definitely shadowbanned, though it's not clear why. Like people were saying "Yeah he exposes the elite and the occult" but there's a lot of videos on youtube that do that that get promoted. That moon landing video probably didn't do any favors, but why shadowban a video about the Salem Witch Trials. Fuck youtube, hiding the highest quality and best researched videos while pushing complete low effort slop.

The image is a digital graphic with a collage-like composition. On the left side, there is a circular emblem with a star and a serpent intertwined, set against a black background. The emblem is bordered by a decorative pattern that includes a floral design. On the right side, there is a large, stylized illustration of a snake coiled around a star, also set against a black background. The snake appears to be coiled around the star, and the star is positioned at the center of the snake's body.
Overlaying the image is a text in a serif font that reads "Reincarnation the Secret Meaning." The text is in a lighter color, contrasting with the darker background of the emblem and the snake illustration. The text is arranged in two lines, with the first line in a larger font size and the second line in a smaller font size. The text is centered within the image, and the overall style of the image suggests a focus on the concept of reincarnation.

The image is a close-up portrait of a man with a beard and a goatee. He is wearing a gray coat and a blue necktie. The man has a serious expression and is looking directly at the camera. The background is blurred, but it appears to be an indoor setting with warm lighting, possibly a restaurant or a cafe. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The style of the image is realistic, and it seems to be taken in a professional setting, possibly for a business or personal portrait.

I can't take the smarm. One time I had a long drawn out argument on Reddit with him about it. I accused him of disrespecting sources because his attitude is always "um.. ha ha.. look how superior we are in the modern world, we laugh at this garbage". I also accused him of gatekeeping the occult with his PHD influencer buddies.

Let us say, he was not impressed. He explained that he was trying to open up the occult to the general public and that is precisely why he got into scholarship. I accepted that.

But I still feel he is smarmy and disrespectful of past civilizations and their beliefs, like he is making fun of how absurd it all is, from some hipster douche perspective.

Lake Superior". The video is a 1:57:38 long video, and it is the first part of a series. The video is displayed in a landscape orientation and has a map overlay with the title "North America's Great Lakes - Part 1: Lake Superior" in the center. The map shows the Great Lakes region with various lakes and bodies of water.
Below the video, there are two other videos titled "North America's Great Lakes - Part 2: Lake Huron" and "North America's Great Lakes - Part 3: Lake Michigan". These videos are also displayed in landscape orientation and have a similar layout to the first video.
The overall style of the image is informational and promotional, designed to showcase the content of the profile and the number of views and subscribers. The use of a map overlay and the title of the video suggest that the profile is likely related to geography or environmental studies.

The image is a stylized cartoon illustration featuring a man with a halo above his head, standing on a table with a television set and a soda can. The man is wearing a white t-shirt with a graphic of a person holding a microphone, and a baseball cap. He is holding a black cord above his head. The table has a computer keyboard and a computer monitor. The background is a bright yellow sky with scattered clouds. At the bottom of the image, there is text that reads "THE MAGICIAN." The style of the image is reminiscent of a comic book or graphic novel illustration, with a cartoonish and exaggerated depiction of the man and his surroundings.

Can't argue with dubs, but seeing him get interviewed in a podcast made me lower my opinion of him. He also has a lot of faith in tech as an identity, which is always a red flag for these types. His production value is top notch though. It makes his flippant approach much more bearable even if he is cryptic for its own sake.
Honestly, he wishes he could be a Cliff High kinda guy (who is also a huge recommend but on substack).

The image shows a gray concrete post with a graffiti mural on it. The mural features a black and white illustration of a man's face, with a speech bubble that reads "TOLD YA" in bold, capitalized letters. Below the speech bubble, there is a smaller speech bubble with the word "ZAP" in it. The man's face is depicted with a serious expression, and he is wearing a suit and tie. The background of the mural includes various graffiti tags and markings, including the word "ZAP" and the word "KILL" in a stylized font. The style of the image is urban and street art, with a focus on the graffiti elements. The overall atmosphere of the image is gritty and urban.

The image is a still from a video, capturing a person standing in the foreground. The individual is wearing a white t-shirt with the word "JEW" written in blue marker across the chest. They are also wearing a plaid shirt with a red and black checkered pattern, and a red and black plaid skirt. The person has short hair and is wearing glasses. They are standing on a paved area with a chalk outline of the word "JEW" visible in the background.
In the background, there is a crowd of people, some of whom are seated on the ground. The setting appears to be an outdoor public space, possibly a park or plaza, with trees and a building visible in the distance. The lighting suggests it is daytime. The person in the foreground is the main focus of the image, with the crowd and the chalk outline serving as a backdrop. The overall style of the image is candid and appears to be taken during a public event or gathering.

The image shows a room with a wooden chair positioned in front of a bookshelf. The chair has a wooden backrest and seat, and it is facing the camera. On the left side of the chair, there is a black camera mounted on a tripod, with a black bag attached to the camera. The camera is angled towards the chair, suggesting it is being used for a video recording.
The bookshelf is filled with various items, including books, decorative objects, and a few figurines. The books are arranged in a somewhat disorganized manner, with some standing upright and others lying flat. The decorative objects include a small statue, a figurine, and a few other items that are not clearly distinguishable. The figurines are placed on the bookshelf, and the statue is situated on a shelf to the right of the chair. The room has a warm, wooden finish, and the flooring appears to be made of hardwood. The lighting in the room is soft, and the overall atmosphere suggests a personal space, possibly a home office or a study. There are no visible texts or discernible brands in the image. The style of the image is a straightforward, non-stylized photograph, capturing a moment in a room with a focus on the chair and the camera.

The image is a simple, cartoon-style illustration of a hand holding a piece of paper with the word "fagex" written on it. The hand appears to be in a relaxed position, with the fingers slightly curled around the paper. The background is plain white, which contrasts with the black outlines of the hand and the paper. The style of the image is informal and cartoonish, with a focus on the text and the hand holding the paper.

I like Justin but calling him "chad king" is a fucking stretch. A "chad king" would be some kind of fucking John Constantine / King Mob super occultist.
He's an academic. His interest in the occult is academically oriented and not practical (unlike Angela Puca who seems to be both).
I watch him for an academic perspective and that's it.

[8 / 1]The image shows a 3D rendering of a black figure standing on a grassy terrain. The figure is composed of a series of cubes, each with a flat top and a flat bottom, arranged in a way that the figure's head is at the top and the legs are at the bottom. The figure's body is not fully visible, but it appears to be a simple, solid block. There is a large, white question mark on the figure's chest, which is the only visible part of the figure. The background of the image is a plain, light green color, and there is a faint outline of a hill or mountain in the distance. The style of the image is reminiscent of a 3D modeling or game development environment, with a focus on the figure and the question mark. It is a story about a captain Clark bragging that he never had any incident for 23 years but then the very same day he has an accident that kills everyone on the ship. Then later on the same day a Flight 23 piloted by another captain Clark crashes and kills everyone in it as well.

I have tried finding any evidence of these stories, but I have come up empty.

Is the enigma deadly?
Could one die by the enigma just by turning twenty three years old? Or having twenty three of something?
Could someone brag about living twenty three years or just doing something for twenty three years and then die because of the enigma?

Would something bad happen and or would someone die if they made a fictional character the age of twenty three years old?

Could someone verify if either of these things happened at all?
I did find an article / blog post debunking the air plane part of the story, but I cannot seem to find it anymore.

I see the number twenty three for a bit after I look this up. I will see it when look at what time it and or watching a show and pausing it.
Or collecting twenty three of something in a video game.

Is it coincidence? Something to do with my brain / mind?

The enigma doing it / something supernatural / paranormal?

Is this sign(s) that something will happen to me and or I will die brocade of the enigma? I highly doubt it but still a question I have.

How do I stop being afraid of the number twenty three?

The time thing has happened again for three hours in a row. Does that mean something? I was not even thinking about it like any of those times either.

Previously made thread and one more question

There is a serial killer who killed twenty three people. Is this the twenty three enigma? Or am I simply over thinking it?

I remember seeing somewhere that the author basically said you can assign meanings to things you find patterns in and used the number twenty three as an example. What do you think of that? Am I / my brain just assigning meaning for no reason?

Can the number twenty three cause death? Should I be worried about dying because of this number?

Will something happen if I make a fictional character twenty three years old?

How can I stop worrying about and forget about learning about this permanently?

Do I need to/ should worry about something happen because of the 23 enigma? Does stopping think about it / putting stock / belief in it cause things to not happen and everything will be fine? And there will be no death and or tragedy to happen?

Does putting 23 all over something like writing or a drawing or song / music cause something to happen because of the enigma at all? Could it act as a curse or blessing?

I have a fictional character who at some point is 23 years old and disappears for a couple of years. Did I decide this because of the enigma? Is this just coincidence?
Will something happen because of the enigma now that I have thought about this and or realized this?

Will something happen in the future if I use the number 23 for fictional characters and or other fictional things and or anything else related to fiction or not?

And is it true that once one knows about the enigma they can never leave / escape it at all?

How can I / one protect against the enigma and use the number 23 safely / without fear / without something happening because of the enigma?

The Kali Yuga started in 1592 and ended in 2024.Thus ending the current Age of Ice, and starting a new cycle.This is why you will find world maps pre-1600 that show the lands of the North Pole and the Lands of Antarctica pre-frozen waste land.
1.Creation
Now before Yaldabaoth's defeat, he created Adam, the first man. Lucifer though had a plan, he found Pictis Sophia, and gave her massive portion of his Light and told her to find Adam, and fill him with his Light in order to animate him. This giving Adam a soul, Pictis herself created Eve to be his mate using her own power and flesh.
Yaldabaoth discovered this and forced himself upon Eve after discovering her trying to help Adam.After the Dragons of Light rescued Adam and Eve, they took them to the Lyra system where they created a paradise world called Eden, and hid them there.
But shortly after being given their new home, where they were left, Eve gave birth to the children of Yaldabaoth. Unlike Adam and Eve who had human like forms, her children were half human and half serpent.Adam and Eve loved them none the less, and Adam raised them as his own, despite father many man children afterwords.Eventually, one of the two children killed his brother, this was Cain Abraxas, the 13th archon.Cain Abraxas was an outcast among the men of Lyra, due to his reptilian features, and although he had a place to call home while Adam and Eve lived, after they died, their children rejected him.

This lead to him leaving Lyra, and seeking out others more like him. This lead to him find the Draco children of Yaldabaoth, who after learning about Lyra from him, went on to invade and destroy the original homeworld of mankind.
Causing the Great Expansion, where mankind fled from their homeworld and spread out settling many worlds among the stars. Now during the Draco Wars, Lucifer/Orion was leading the armies of Light, and he began to hear rumors and stories about what was happening back home in Orion.But during the war, Abraxas was actually one of his greatest partners, Abraxas was basically the father of the industrial military complex, and most of the equipment Lucifer needed to free the Pleiades from the Draco was actually being made by Abraxas's industries.What Lucifer didn't know was that Abraxas was enslaving multiple worlds and forcing them to work for him while the Lords of Orion were gone.

The entire empire was falling into ruin and slavery while the Kings were away.
Sadly, when Lucifer decided to return home to try and solve the problem, he was fed misinformation.He was being told by Abraxas sources that it was Sabaoth, the King reagent, that was behind all the evil and madness, and that Sabaoth was declaring war against his own people.

This information will be something different but stay with me its worth to read.
The Sun is appearing brighter because its consciousness is growing. God upgrades us through Sunlight. Part of the reason why the elites are scared of us getting sunlight is because of what they saw in Project Looking Glass. That as the Sun regained its consciousness people began to regain the superpowers they had back during the time of Atlantis. Humans will become like Jedis again.
In essence God the Father is increasing its power to help awaken us in these times.
This is the end of a 3600 year long campaign staged by the immortal Anunnaki Gods, a faction known as the Vanir of the Sirius Empire.The purpose of the events that are taking place now are being put in motion to finish the conquest of Earth, and eliminate all the human bloodlines connected to the former rulers of Earth.Earth was invaded and Earth's original creator and father, Ea/Enki/Odin/Ptah/Poseidon and his people were defeated and enslaved. At the time of the Vanir Invasion, Earth was a paradise that was home to many races, the Red Haired giants of the Atlan Pleiades, the blonde and platinum haired men of Orion(Arians), as well as the serpent like Naga people, the Reptilians, and the aquatic sea people.The Vanir invaded Earth just as they invaded Mars and plan to Harvest all of Earth's resources until it dies just like they did to Mars.The beings behind this are most often refered to by the elite as Ba'al and Moloch/Saturn. Moloch means King and Ba'al means Lord. The king of our world is Khan Nannar-Sin Allah. The lord of our world is Ba'al Adad/Ishkur.The symbol of Ba'al is the Hammer and the symbol of Moloch is the scythe. Sin is the name of the ruler of Earth and the God of Jerusalem.

The reason Earth has been so cut off from other worlds is because its a quarantine/prison zone that belongs to the Sirius Empire.That prince is Khan Sin Allah. He is the Abrahamic God, the prison warden.He was known to the ancient Sumerians as Sin. Abraham's father Terah was a high priest of Sin in the city of Ur.Abraham's people call their temples Sin-a-gogs for a reason.There's a reason why Moses went to Mount SINai.Sin=Dionysus, the second eldest son of Zeus/Enlil/Indra.Sin has also been known as Khonsu, Dionysus, Bacchus, Izanaga, Sin, Suen, Shin, Sinai, Nanna, Nannar, Hyperion, Yah, Yahweh, and Allah.SIN IS NOT CHRIST OR HIS FATHER.Yeshua Ben Yosef was the reincarnation of EArth's real creator Ea/Odin/Ptah/Ahura Mazda's son, Christ Baldur/Krishna/Dumuzi.
before the Flood of Noah and the fall of Atlantis, humankind lived alongside the gods.

Christ walked the Earth along side them, when Christ Baldur/Krishna was killed it started a world war that lead to the destruction of Atlantis and the first Ragnarok, which lead to the Flood of Noah.

If you study every major war of the last 3000 years, you will find one major occurrence. Every major war results in the Aesir bloodlines of Atlantis losing power, and the Vanir bloodlines of Abraham and Sin taking power.

Over the last 1000 years nearly every royal family went from having Atlantian bloodlines to being infiltrated and taken over by ancient Phoencian bloodlines. Napoleon's war pretty much finished the job for Sin, and he was able to start the next step of his plan. Using his demigod bloodline to destroy what remains of the men of Atlantis's civilizations from within.
The current Satan/Moloch is the Moon God Nannar-Sin Allah
At the end I want to say these gods are not thoughtforms, they are all flesh and blood this is why they hide themselves.
See you all in age of fire!

Thread theme: https://youtu.be/p-DEpiQMhZ8?feature=shared

Why is everybody so confused about BEN (Blue Eisenhower November)? Isn't it pretty obvious what it is?

It's a password. It's a key phrase. You keep it in your mind and use it as a way to access your memories and bring them all together so that you get backdoor access to this matrix after your death.

That's it. That's what Blue Eisenhower November is. There's a lot of other lore surrounding it along with how it came to be developed and its various secondary uses but fundamentally that's what it is.

I hope that after everyone reads this thread there is no more confusion about what BEN is. Feel free to copy and paste this to anyone asking about BEN in the future.

Don't be a fool, this is the greatest usage we could ever unspool.

Stay here and dance, with religion and science's romance, or skip all the lines, straight jump the Q, end up on the other side of the table from the people who do the life review.

This isn't pay per view, this one to one, you pass through the veil and find out who really made the sun.

I have met the "man" I know that he is Blue, so when you get to meet, you'll have no doubt of what to do.

Just repeat the phrase, he'll hand you my saved game, and when you start to play, you'll join my reference frame.
I designed the path, through all futures and pasts, to become the modulation of the multiverse so vast.

OP is a disinfo agent. BEN is not to do with death, but for seeing through the matrix by accessing information across space and time via the web of info that is the internet - an example of how one can read into an egregore and witness conversations evolve over time.

BEN is a password, a key phrase. You keep it in your mind and use it as a way to signal and access information (due to it's uniqueness!) to bring together likeminded people and give them backdoor access to your thoughts and conversations in the space (of BEN in this case).

That's it. That's what Blue Eisenhower November is. All other lore is bullshit, part of the art of this self-perpetuating and ever evolving meme that we somehow identify with the singularity, the nobody, texas-chan, roko's basilisk, the antichrist, the matrix, simulation theory, skynet, and time travel etc. (because it's used by and started by time travelers).

Anyways, I hope that after everyone reads this post there is no more confusion about what BEN is and why FBI agents spread evil suicide provoking disinfo to detract, determined to stop us from learning together, understanding each other and becoming of one mind. Feel free to copy and paste this to anyone asking about BEN in the future.

We tried to clear this for this iteration, but if this is the "Q" thing, then an asteroid will be discovered on August 29, 2025.

This is not an asteroid.

Hopefully this will not occur, and if it doesn't, then we are clear.
If it does occur, we will relay the plans for the emergency jump.

Far be it from me to tell you what Blue Eisenhower November means. I am just a Newport nepo baby targeted individual with more "mental disorders" than you can memorize.

But when I chant BEN into the pentagram circle (which is surrounded by salt because you know) the frequencies that come back to me signal something on par with the oldest texts of apocryphal gnostics. It's like they hid the secret verses of Saint Mary in this activation phrase. The world has gone mad and only those with the message can forge ahead into the frontier to help lead the way. The world has a way of looking at people and as the universe expands people look at each other differently with each passing event. Is BEN some kind of anchor signal? I don't know. I'm a college drop out and just riffing with you.

Might I add that the French are always involved with everything. I don't know if I hate those fuckers or love them.

[367 / 18]The image is a black and white graphic with a title in red text at the top. The title reads "WHAT IS A PERPETRATOR?" The text below the title provides a definition of a perpetrator, stating that a perpetrator is anyone who has been trained to harass, torture, main, and kill a target, either by direct means, or by covert means including electronic, biological, or accidental means. It also mentions that career perpetrators make a good living dealing misery to hapless individuals, perpetrator, or perps. The text concludes with a warning that perpetrators are supplied enough information to allow a well-orchestrated campaign of gang stalking and harassment. The overall style of the image is informational and educational, with a focus on defining the term "perpetrator" and providing context for its use.

Consider the following:

>A targeted individual is a person who has been singled out because of his or her activism, whistle-blowing, or political/ideological dissent.
>Gangstalking usually happens when a person that has commited no crimes is defamed in some way.
>Neighborhood watch and other untrained opinionated vigilantes are the obvious offenders of gangstalking, including official or unofficial political groups etc.

Tactics used include:

1. illegal surveillance (bugs placed in home, work, vehicle)
2. illegal wiretapping
3. illegal investigation of all personal and private documents including medical and financial records
4. waves of criminal activity including vandalism, poisoning, break-ins, theft and sexual assault
5. hacking of all electronic devices
6. harassing phone calls, texts & emails
7. redirects to gang-stalkers when the target calls for help or assistance
8. organized harassment & stalking (by law enforcement, private security firms and ordinary citizens)
9. being ostracized by entire communities based on slander and rumors (usually outright lies said about that person)

The image is a promotional poster for a film titled "The Spark." The poster features a close-up of a man's face, with his hair blowing in the wind, creating a sense of movement. The man appears to be in a dark room, with a spotlight shining on him, highlighting his expression. The background is dark, with a hint of a door or window in the upper left corner.
The text on the poster is in white and yellow, with the title "The Spark" in large, bold, yellow letters at the top. Below the title, there is a tagline in smaller white text that reads, "What If Your Worst Fears Become Your World And No One Believes Anything You Say?" The text is arranged in a way that draws the viewer's attention to the title and the tagline, emphasizing the film's central theme.
The style of the image is dramatic and intense, with a focus on the man's face and the text, suggesting that the film is likely a thriller or drama. The use of shadow and lighting adds to the dramatic effect, creating a sense of tension and suspense. The overall color scheme is dark, with the exception of the bright yellow text, which stands out against the dark background.

To the outside observer street theater means nothing because it is personalised.

When you are walking around srhxd and people start repeating conversations you have had with other people face to face, on the phone or even through email word for word then you know it is street thearter. They also will repeat lines from films or TV shows you have watched recently or talk about actors from those films or TV shows. Even phrases from video games or lyrics from songs.

If I were to record a a video of someone doing street thearter that is part of my gangstalking it would just seem like people having a normal conversation, but when you are the person it is aimed at and they are repeating conversations you have had word for word or other stuff then you know it is street thearter.

>Harassment techniques include:

>1. Surveillance (being followed, electronic surveillance, computer and phone hacking, monitoring all online activities, and bugging of home)

>2.Profiles are built to identify any and all weaknesses and insecurities to be used later. Information often obtained through sexual partners or trusted people in their lives.

>3.Conditioning where victims are sensitised to certain stimuli such as everywhere you go someone will cough as they walk past you. The goal is to make you self police and then think anyone who coughs is involved in the harassment. People report of conditioning to include hand gestures, an overt use of colour in peoples clothing (like everyone you see wearing red) or cars a certain colour or with headlights on (also known as brighting).

>4. Anchoring where someone will provide false rationales for the harassment. Often many possible rationales are planted to keep the victim confused and the focus of the harassment cycles from one possible reason to another round and around so as to keep the victim guessing in a self perpetuating guessing game where every scenario you are to blame and causes self doubt, fear, intimidation, and ultimately a cycle of destructive thoughts

>5. Mobbing (or true gangstalking) where everywhere you go you will see an overt display of people following you and often use words you have been conditioned to or your name to draw your attention

>6. Street theatre where a group will "perform" an overt activity like a fake confrontation or scenarios designed to test your reactions. Often takes the form of a couple who position themselves near you and then have a conversation using many of your conditioned words or pertaining to your particular situation and sensitivities.
Anonymous Sun 15 Jun 2025 03:19:26 No.40534932 Report
>7.The use of directional speakers which have the ability to direct sound to a single individual in a crowded room. This particular item is ultimately the most used and is often referred to as V2K or Voice to Skull and is used extensively in the psychological breakdown of the victim. The use initially is to cause the victim to doubt their sanity and drive them into the mental health system, and later to just torment and never give the victim a moment of privacy or peace. If they do enter the mental health system, then harassment escalates dramatically as the victim has now been "discredited" and can be labeled as someone with a mental problem if they do speak out about the harassment.

>8.The use of electronics to effect your eyesight and balance which was originally developed for the military and police crowd control called "dazzling" and even the ability to make you vomit.

>9. Sound campaigns which is a community harassment technique where abnormal levels of sound are directed at the victim and their home. This includes cars deliberately breaking or accelerating when they pass, people talking excessively loudly at all hours of the night, amplification of sound using directional speakers so that external sounds that previously couldnt be heard now can, garbage trucks and other heavy vehicles, and countless other deliberate tactics
Anonymous Sun 15 Jun 2025 03:20:26 No.40534937 Report
>10. Sleep deprivation - this is perhaps one of the most insidious tactics used where victims are woken multiple times a night and can be kept awake for days at a time. The effects are dramatic and completely debilitating effecting concentration, mood, irritability, appearance, and significantly impacts all areas of their life - job performance, relationships, and significantly aids in discrediting the victim as they appear unorganised, disheveled, and sleeping patterns alter so they may sleep during the day (where noise campaigns are more effective) and be awake at night (where they can be painted as the one making noise and being a disruptive member of the community).

>11. Baiting or entrapment where victims are harassed to the point that they lash out and commit a crime such as assault, break and enter or vandalism, as they try and locate the source of the harassment. Harassers will actively try to provoke verbal and physical confrontations especially after a period of sleep deprivation. Or they are prompted into an activity which can then be used as leverage such as affairs, sexuality, drug use, or other criminal activity.

>12. Gaslighting which is a form of psychological abuse where someone will actively try undermine victims and to make them doubt themselves so that they lose all self confidence and self esteem and are therefor easier to manipulate and push toward the mental health pathway. It can be as simlpe as being told something which they then deny, then telling them how silly they are for thinking they said it, and turn the lie around into an attack on the person. It can be incredibly effective coming from a trusted person and before the victim understands what is happening to them.

>13.Blackbag jobs is a term when a harasser breaks into a victims property and places something or deliberately moves something. The purpose is to cause self doubt, and fear that their property is being accessed which harassers try to then sell as paranoia.
Anonymous Sun 15 Jun 2025 03:21:27 No.40534942 Report
>14. Propaganda and disinformation is also the other key element to suppress knowledge of this practice as its effectiveness initially requires the victim to be unaware of the existence of gangstalking, gaslighting, or the electronic technologies such as directional speakers so huge amounts of time are devoted online to creating disinformation sites which attempt to discredit victims by pushing the mental health agenda. They achieve this by posing as victims and actively trying to sound crazy so that all victims are are treated as such. Also by creating websites claiming to help victims and being a resource for victims to come together and then harassing them to the extent that they lose hope and no longer reach out for help causing further isolation.

>15. Further to the above, gangstalkers rely on disbelief and discrediting and as such much of the harassment is designed (at least initially) to mimic mental health issues. They also rely on their abuse being so extreme, so pervasive, so fundamentally immoral, as to be disbelieved and victims subsequently resort to photographing, videotaping, and sound recording their everyday encounters to disprove the countless unfounded claims made against them - especially in relation to gaslighting, which gangstalkers try to turn around and paint the victims as paranoid or irrational. Victims are made to feel helpless as every attempt to defend themselves is used against them and when they seek help they are met with disbelief or open hostility.

Reposting anons post

Hi everyone! I'm peterpeter, founder of OTIR (Objective TI Research). You may have seen some of my materials online by now (like the leaflet posted in the previous thread).

I know most of you here think it’s the feds, freemasons, illuminati etc, or even your neighbours. I have been through all of that myself and found out there is a systemic progression of understanding to this phenomenon. With time and knowledge you start to see facts about your experience that force you to realize you were duped, and the whole narrative you were assured off breaks down and evolves into a new vision. I’m sure you were through this a couple of times yourselves.

I have described it better here:
Memo #5: Stages of understanding in TI experience https://otiresearch.medium.com/memo-05-stages-of-understanding-in-ti-experience-be62b3894cbb

If you are interested in contacting me and talking more about it in analytical perspective, feel free to contact me on discord or anywhere else.

I am not selling anything and don’t promise anything, but know this: I am out of the TI experience, and I have met a lot of people like me. It isn’t just finite, the experience is meant to end, as it is a procedure with clearly defined goals. It’s going to be alright.

The image is a photograph with a humorous and exaggerated style. In the foreground, there is a man wearing a black polo shirt and a black baseball cap with a red logo. He is looking down and appears to be in a state of surprise or shock. To his left, there is another man wearing a cowboy hat and sunglasses, who is also looking down. The man in the cowboy hat has a surprised expression and is wearing a blue shirt.
In the background, there is a blurred image of what appears to be a store or bar setting. The text "Yikes!" is prominently displayed in green, with the word "Yikes!" in a larger font size than the rest of the text. The overall tone of the image is light-hearted and humorous, with the text suggesting a playful or exaggerated reaction to something unexpected.

View SameGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace FB_IMG_1739868165404.jpg, 69KiB, 1080x821
The image is a digital illustration featuring a character with pink hair and a bow, who appears to be a girl. She has a surprised expression and is looking directly at the viewer. The character is wearing a white shirt with a bow on the collar and a pink bow on her head. She has large, round purple eyes and a small, round face. The character is holding a pastry with a chocolate glaze, which is decorated with a pink rose. The pastry is placed on a white surface.
In the top left corner of the image, there is a small inset panel showing a close-up of a person's hand holding a pastry with a spoon, suggesting that the pastry is being prepared or served. The background is plain white, emphasizing the character and the pastry. There are no texts present in the image. The style of the illustration is cartoonish and expressive, with a focus on the character's facial expression and the pastry.

The image is a still from a film or television show, featuring a woman with long brown hair and bangs. She has a neutral expression on her face and is looking down. The woman is wearing a white shirt with a pattern of small dots. The background is a hospital room with medical equipment, including a monitor and a bed. There is text overlaying the image that reads, "I was in therapy once before." The style of the image is realistic, with a focus on the woman's face and the text, suggesting a narrative context.

The image is a screenshot of a text message or a digital document with a yellow highlight. The text is in English and appears to be a list of reasons why someone might commit a crime. The first bullet point states, "You may get a community sentence if." The second bullet point says, "the court thinks you're more likely to stop committing crime than if you go to prison." The third bullet point states, "it's the first time you have committed a crime." The fourth bullet point states, "you have a mental health condition that affects your behaviour." The text is in a plain font and is set against a white background. The style of the image is informational and appears to be a snapshot of a digital document or a text message.

The image is a close-up photograph of a person's face, taken indoors with a focus on the upper part of the face. The individual has dark skin and is wearing a dark-colored hoodie with a logo on the left chest area. The person's expression is neutral, and they are looking directly at the camera. The background is blurred, suggesting a room with a wooden floor and a basketball hoop. There is a green overlay on the image with the text "Yikes" in a stylized font, which is likely a watermark or a logo. The overall style of the image is candid and appears to be taken in a casual setting.

The man appears to be in a relaxed state, with his eyes closed and mouth slightly open. Overlaid on the image is a text overlay that reads, "PLEASE ADMIT ME TO THE ORDER AND LET ME RECEIVE Sila." The text is in white, contrasting with the darker background of the image. The style of the image is humorous and seems to be a playful take on a request for permission to receive a product or service.

The image is a screenshot of a social media post with a text-based format. The post is titled "Why Having an Obsessed Partner Is Actually an Advantage" and is written in a casual, conversational tone. The text is divided into two main sections. The first section is a list of reasons why having an obsessed partner can be advantageous, and the second section is a question posed by the author.
The first section of the post lists several reasons why having an obsessed partner can be beneficial. These reasons include the person being completely devoted to the relationship, being able to hit the jackpot, and being able to be perfect without needing to be perfect. The text is written in a casual, conversational style, which suggests that the author is sharing their personal perspective on the topic.
The second section of the post is a question posed by the author. The question is "Why?" and the author's response is "Because you don't have to be perfect. You can be jobless, in your flip-flops, wearing the same hoodie three days in a row, and they'll still look at you like you're made of gold." This response is written in a more formal, academic tone, indicating that the author is sharing their personal experience and perspective on the topic.

The image is a screenshot from a social media post, which suggests that the author is sharing their thoughts on the topic of having an obsessed partner. The text is written in a casual, conversational style, which is typical for social media posts. The author's response to the question "Why?" is written in a more formal, academic tone, which is a common way to express personal opinions in academic or professional contexts. The image does not contain any other visual elements or graphics, and the focus is solely on the text.

The image is a vibrant and dynamic illustration that appears to be from a fantasy or science fiction genre. It features a knight in armor, who is the central figure, holding a long, curved weapon that resembles a whip or a staff. The knight has a red cape and is wearing a helmet with a visor. He is holding the weapon in a manner that suggests he is either charging or preparing to charge.
In the background, there is a castle with a tower and a spire, suggesting a medieval or fantasy setting. The castle is dark and imposing, with a blueish hue that contrasts with the knight's armor. There are also bats flying in the sky, adding to the fantastical atmosphere.

The sky is filled with dark clouds and lightning, indicating a stormy or stormy weather condition. The overall color palette is dominated by shades of blue, red, and black, which contribute to the intense and dramatic mood of the scene.
There is no text present in the image, and the style of the illustration is reminiscent of the artwork from the 1980s or 1990s, characterized by bold colors and dynamic lines. The image is rich in detail and evokes a sense of adventure and action.

if you feel like you are being gang-stalked here is a pro-tip cause i´ve been through it for many years.
remain calm and just smile ,they want you to be happy and normal , eventhough you aren´t.
because yes A. you are special and B. you don´t have to worry.
it´s all mindgames to set you straight and to make you grow as a person.
if they wanted to cause you harm or kill you , they would´ve done that long ago.

The image is a selfie taken with a selfie stick, which is not visible in the frame. The person is wearing a hooded sweatshirt and appears to be smiling. The background is out of focus, with a white wall and a small, dark object resembling a poop emoji on the person's forehead. The text overlay on the image reads "YIKES" in green, which is likely a stylized version of the word "Yikes." The style of the image is casual and informal, with a playful and humorous tone.

The image is a candid photograph of a person sitting indoors, looking at a smartphone. The individual has a distinctive hairstyle with dyed hair in shades of blue and purple, and is wearing a green jacket with a hood. They are holding the phone with both hands, and their fingers are slightly curled, suggesting they are typing or navigating the device. The person is wearing earrings and has a necklace around their neck. The background is softly lit, with a window allowing natural light to enter the room. The person's expression is neutral, and there are no visible texts or logos on the phone or in the image. The style of the image is informal and seems to capture a moment of everyday life.

At the top of the image, there is a text overlay that reads, "The entire world is" in a bold, capitalized font. Below this, in a smaller font, the text reads, "A Masonic Shit Show." The style of the image is humorous and satirical, with a focus on the masonic symbol and the phrase "A Masonic Shit Show." The overall tone of the image is light-hearted and ironic.

The image is a screenshot of a text document with a black background and a white border. The text is in a mix of English and what appears to be a non-English script, with some words in English and others in a non-Latin script. The document is divided into three columns, each containing a different quote.
The first column, on the left, contains a quote from "The CIA owns every copy of any intelligence report." The quote is attributed to William Colby, former CIA director. The second column, on the right, contains a quote from "We'll know our disinformation program is working when we can make a case against it." The quote is attributed to William Caxton, CIA director (from first to last). The third column, on the left, contains a quote from "Deception is a state of mind and the manipulation of our minds." The quote is attributed to James Angleton, head of CIA counterintelligence.
The text is arranged in a way that the quotes are aligned to the left, and the names of the individuals are aligned to the right. The text is in a serif font, and the quotes are in a larger, bold font, making them stand out against the black background. The document appears to be a collection of quotes, possibly from historical or political figures, discussing the CIA's role in intelligence and disinformation.

The image is a digital illustration featuring a chaotic scene with a multitude of characters and objects. At the center, there is a large, winged creature with a humanoid head, resembling a bull or a winged horse, with a red and orange mane. This creature is surrounded by a crowd of people, some of whom are holding objects such as shields with the logos of CNN, Fox News, and MSNBC. The crowd is diverse, with various expressions and postures, suggesting a sense of urgency or protest.
The background is predominantly white, with a few dark, textured areas that could be interpreted as smoke or dust, adding to the chaotic atmosphere. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of a political or social commentary, with the characters and their actions suggesting a scene of protest or conflict. The use of bold colors and dynamic lines contributes to the intensity of the scene.

The image is a black and white photograph featuring a man sitting in a forested area. The man appears to be middle-aged with short hair and is wearing a simple, light-colored shirt. He is looking directly at the camera with a neutral expression. The background is filled with trees and foliage, suggesting a natural, outdoor setting. Overlaying the image is a quote in a serif font that reads, "Most of our lives, most of us live in realities determined by others, imprinted in our brains by education, by religion, by politics, by the authorities." Its actually Athena/Ishtar/Aphrodite/Isis type goddesses.
They are the ones that they use to scramble people's brains and make them emotional, so that they are easier to hijack and invade their minds and bodies and do their bidding. Its also why love is a great tool - it puts people together so that they can unite concepts and ideas they need to push more narratives and shit, especially any children they may have. It means they are recepients of the many messages and concepts they want to keep spreading around until they have full control.

Lying and gaslighting is also among their best tool in their arsenal, why wouldnt they? They are so malleable and easy to manipulate and work with they will easily believe anything its been fed.

On the left column, there are several portraits of men, some of whom are wearing masonic symbols, such as the square and compass. The right column features a large image of a group of people gathered around a table, with a central figure holding a book titled "THE CULT OF SCIENTISM." The text below the image states, "All those who contributed to the heliocentric model were all Freemasons. Heliocentrism is the dark sun worship, pseudoscientific theory, founded on the hurtful, scientifically unfounded, and scientifically unscientific Cult of Science before time, space, matter. The consciousness, intelligence, and life, there was nothingness which eventually exploded from nothing, going nowhere, with no purpose. Eventually creating you after a static mixture years? This idea has infected the masses with nihilistic self-destruction."
The image is a visual representation of the historical and philosophical debates surrounding Freemasonry and heliocentrism, with the text providing a historical context and a critique of the latter's scientific basis.

The painting is set against a backdrop that includes a window with a view of a building and a street, suggesting an indoor setting. The man's expression and the surrounding elements create a sense of depth and perspective.
The bottom of the image contains a quote attributed to Copernicus, a renowned astronomer from the 16th century. The quote reads, "It is not necessary that hypotheses be true or even probable; it is sufficient that they lead to results of calculation which agree with calculation... Neither Let Anyone, as far as hypotheses are concerned, expect anything certain from Astronomy, since that science can afford nothing of the kind."
The overall style of the image is artistic and seems to be a commentary on the nature of science and the role of hypotheses in scientific inquiry. The use of the painting as a backdrop and the text as a central element creates a visual narrative that combines the artistic and scientific elements.

The image is a slide from a presentation, likely used for educational purposes, showcasing the process of taking images through a microscope. The slide is divided into four sections, each depicting a different image:

1. The first section shows a red, orange, and white circular object with a white, fuzzy texture, which is likely a magnified view of a star or a celestial body.
2. The second section shows a blurred, white, and gray circular object with a brown, speckled texture, which is likely a magnified view of a lens or a similar optical instrument.
3. The third section shows a blurred, orange, and brown circular object with a white, speckled texture, which is likely a magnified view of a lens or a similar optical instrument.
4. The fourth section shows a blurred, white, and gray circular object with a brown, speckled texture, which is likely a magnified view of a lens or a similar optical instrument.

At the top of the slide, there is a text that reads "The following images were taken through a microscope." Below this, there is a question in bold text that says "Did you know if you look after." The slide also includes a caption in a smaller font that says "Lenses," indicating the focus of the slide.

The style of the image is informational and educational, designed to convey the concept of using a microscope to observe and magnify objects. The use of different colored circles and textures suggests the different types of objects being examined, and the question at the bottom invites the viewer to reflect on the process of observation and magnification.

See:

You shouldn’t be constructing your view of this reality based upon what someone else believes or doesn’t believe. Living your life that way will only lead you to aimlessly drift from one psyop to the next; and even if you do happen to stumble upon the truth you’ll lack the ability to recognize it and thus will likely disregard it because you’ve already decided that you will look to others to tell you what to think instead of using your God-given intellect to assess the information available to you and make an informed decision on the matter. develop the self respect and self confidence necessary to actually determine fact from fiction for yourself instead just hopping from one authority figure’s dick to the next. You can literally go out and measure the earth for yourself.

The image is a meme featuring a cartoon character with a beard and a hat that appears to be made of aluminum foil. The character is depicted with a surprised expression and is holding a cigarette in his mouth. The text surrounding the character is a mix of humor and satire, with phrases such as "the denier" and "didn't happen" suggesting a critique of someone who denies the existence of a pandemic or global crisis. The phrases "psyop," "masonic symbolism," and "double reverse blacktop psychop" are used to mock the idea that the pandemic is a hoax. The character's statement "not real" is a play on the phrase "not a planet," which is a common trope in science fiction and fantasy to suggest that something is not real.
The meme is overlaid with a series of text boxes, each containing a different statement or question related to the character's denial of the pandemic. These include statements about the existence of a "space laugh at him," "there are no planets," and "global pandemic," as well as a statement about the "common cold," which is a reference to the common cold, a viral respiratory illness. The text is arranged in a way that suggests a debate or argument, with the character's denial of the pandemic being the central point of contention.
The overall style of the meme is satirical and uses visual and textual elements to convey a message of skepticism and disbelief. The use of humor and irony is evident in the way the character's denial is presented, and the text boxes are designed to provoke thought and discussion about the character's beliefs.

BASED GIGADENIER WITH THE GRAVY
View SameOCRGoogleiqdbSauceNAOTrace 1693107516404027.jpg, 177KiB, 744x739
The image is a meme featuring a cartoon character with a beard and a hat that appears to be made of aluminum foil. The character is depicted with a surprised expression and is holding a cigarette in his mouth. The text surrounding the character is a mix of humor and satire, with phrases such as "the denier" and "didn't happen" suggesting a critique of someone who denies the existence of a pandemic or global crisis. The phrases "psyop," "masonic symbolism," and "double reverse blacktop psychop" are used to mock the idea that the pandemic is a hoax. The character's statement "not real" is a play on the phrase "not a planet," which is a common trope in science fiction and fantasy to suggest that something is not real.

The meme is overlaid with a series of text boxes, each containing a different statement or question related to the character's denial of the pandemic. These include statements about the existence of a "space laugh at him," "there are no planets," and "global pandemic," as well as a statement about the "common cold," which is a reference to the common cold, a viral respiratory illness. The text is arranged in a way that suggests a debate or argument, with the character's denial of the pandemic being the central point of contention.

The overall style of the meme is satirical and uses visual and textual elements to convey a message of skepticism and disbelief. The use of humor and irony is evident in the way the character's denial is presented, and the text boxes are designed to provoke thought and discussion about the character's beliefs.

The image is a split-screen meme featuring two individuals. On the left side, there is a person wearing a red vest and headphones, with a cigarette in their mouth. The person appears to be in a relaxed posture, with their hands resting on their hips. The right side of the image shows a person with a white hat and a patterned shirt, looking surprised or shocked. The background of the right side is a dark, possibly space-themed environment with debris and a large, crumpled object.

I'm definitely disgusted by the utter lack of intellectual discussion on imageboards in 2025--but I wouldn't say I'm angry. I always have the option of spamming threads with novel content and watching you try to put it down by shilling and later deleting. But the more central concern I have these days is whether there is any organic, or even human, posting going on at all. Seems like there can't be more than 20-30 people left on the site at any one time. Threads are redundant, sludge content already posted to exhaustion and endlessly recycled memes and images dating back 15 years at least. It's a total garbage dump and yet nothing ever budges.

The image is a split-screen graphic with two distinct scenes. On the left side, there is a man sitting at a desk with a laptop in front of him. He is wearing a gray shirt and has a beard. He is holding a mug in his right hand and appears to be looking at the laptop screen. The background of this scene is a dark, rocky landscape with a mountain range. On the right side of the split-screen, there is a view of the Earth from space. The sky is filled with stars and the Milky Way galaxy is visible. In the foreground, there is a small, spherical object that resembles a space shuttle or a spacecraft. The background of this scene is a vast, open space with a bright, star-filled sky.

The image is a digital illustration with a cartoonish style, depicting a scene from prehistoric times. In the foreground, there are three men, two of whom are shirtless and appear to be in a state of distress, with one of them holding a spear. The third man is wearing a loincloth and is also holding a spear. Behind them, a large, muscular elephant is standing on its hind legs, with its trunk raised and tusks visible. The background is a rocky landscape with trees and a clear sky.
In the upper right corner of the image, there is a speech bubble containing text. The text reads: "Bro, we can't eat mammoth! Saturated fat will clog our arteries! Let's grow soybeans and invent hexane solvents for some healthy oils instead!" The text is in a bold, white font against a black background, and the speech bubble is outlined in white. The overall tone of the image is humorous and satirical, suggesting a commentary on the dietary habits of prehistoric humans.

The image is a digital graphic with a dark background and a focus on a space suit worn by an astronaut. The suit is predominantly white with a reflective surface, and the astronaut is wearing a helmet with a visor. The helmet has a reflective surface, and the astronaut's face is visible through the visor. The astronaut's right hand is visible, holding a small object, which appears to be a control panel or a tool.
Overlaying the image is a text that reads, "Hoping the federal government 'loses' the technology for digital ID and CDBC the same way that NASA did for landing on the moon." The text is in a bold, capitalized font and is colored in red, yellow, and blue. The text is positioned in the upper portion of the image, with the astronaut's face and the control panel being the central elements of the graphic. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of a political or social commentary, with a focus on the contrast between the technology and the government's approach to space exploration.

> Living your life that way will only lead you to aimlessly drift from one psyop to the next; and even if you do happen to stumble upon the truth you’ll lack the ability to recognize it and thus will likely disregard it because you’ve already decided that you will look to others to tell you what to think instead of using your God-given intellect to assess the information available to you and make an informed decision on the matter. develop the self respect and self confidence necessary to actually determine fact from fiction for yourself instead just hopping from one authority figure’s dick to the next.

I see. Because you did some measurements and shit now you think you have some sort of authority to tell people what to do. Nope. You don't really know the shape of the earth.

The image is a meme featuring a graphic of a person lying on the ground with blood on their face and body. The person appears to be in a state of distress or shock, with their eyes wide open and mouth slightly open. The meme includes a caption in a humorous tone that reads, "It's 2030 and your Neuralink explodes after an antiseptic thought." The text is overlaid on the image, suggesting a commentary on the potential consequences of advancements in technology, specifically in the field of neurotechnology. The meme uses a visual metaphor to convey a sense of urgency or danger, with the person's state of disarray and the blood on their face and body suggesting a catastrophic event. The overall tone of the meme is light-hearted and humorous, using a dystopian scenario to make a point about the potential risks and consequences of technology.

The image is a digital graphic with a white background and a blue header at the top. The header contains text in two languages: English and Chinese. The English text reads "The shekel sign (₪) is a currency sign used for the Israeli new shekel, which is the currency of the State of Israel." The Chinese text is not fully visible, but it appears to be a description or explanation of the shekel sign.
The second logo is a square with a blue background and a white border. Inside the square, there is a stylized letter "N" in the center, surrounded by a blue ribbon.
The third logo is a blue ribbon with a white border. The ribbon has a stylized letter "P" in the center, surrounded by a blue ribbon.
Below the logos, there is a graphic of a hand holding a blue ribbon with a stylized letter

"N" in the center, surrounded by a blue ribbon. The hand appears to be in a gesture of giving or presenting the blue ribbon.
At the bottom of the image, there is a small graphic of a hand holding a blue ribbon with a stylized letter "N" in the center, surrounded by a blue ribbon. The hand is in a gesture of giving or presenting the blue ribbon.
The overall style of the image is informational and promotional, likely used for a presentation or advertisement related to the shekel sign and its currency.

The image is a screenshot of a digital interface, likely from a pharmacy or health care setting. In the foreground, there is a person standing at a counter, wearing a blue shirt and a face mask. The person appears to be a pharmacist or a pharmacy staff member, as indicated by the text on the counter. The counter has a sign that reads "Drop Off/Pick Up," suggesting a service where customers can drop off or pick up prescriptions.
The background of the image shows shelves stocked with various medications and health care products. There is a sign that reads "Get your shot today," indicating that the pharmacy offers vaccinations. The text "It's him. It's Big Pharma" is overlaid on the image, suggesting a humorous or satirical commentary on the pharmaceutical industry.
The overall style of the image is a blend of real-world elements with a humorous overlay, likely intended to elicit a reaction from the viewer.

The image is a black and white photograph featuring a family gathered around a dining table. The family consists of a woman, a man, and two children. The woman is serving a meal, which includes a turkey on a platter. The man is seated at the table, smiling, and the woman is standing next to him. The children are seated at the table, looking at the meal.
In the upper left corner of the image, there is a speech bubble that reads "FIRST, THEY HATED US BC WE WOULDN'T TAKE THEIR 'VACCINE'". This text suggests a humorous or satirical commentary on the vaccination process. In the lower right corner, there is another speech bubble that says "NOW, THEY HATE US BC WE WERE RIGHT ABOUT IT". This text implies that the family's stance on the vaccination process has been vindicated by the current situation.
The style of the image is reminiscent of vintage or retro photography, with a grainy texture and a black and white color palette. The photograph is taken from a slightly elevated angle, looking down at the family, which gives a sense of intimacy and closeness to the subjects. The image does not contain any discernible text other than the speech bubbles.

Jedi are constantly during the "clone wars" offered to join the sith and leave Yodas "high treason group" that's very obviously spiritually overseen by "Spymaster Sidious".
Eventually the "super easy arrest of all traitors" happens for those who choose to keep doing dumb shit over and over; they can't say that they didn't have loads of time to ie Yoda is a person who percieves his theories and ideology as if it was equal to the Sith; who very obviously has way more comprehension and practical experience with things; with obvious additional force powers added to the capabilities a jedi knight has (basic spiritual training).

What's setting the Jedi back in said setting is literally Yoda; as their council leader. They keep going down the same grave as him; since he wants to wage wars against the Sith for literally no specific reason (higher group of the same order). The other Jedi assumes that Yoda knows enough about the Sith for this to be a logical conflict; in reality just Yoda personally considering them his "rivals"; he wants to percieve himself as equal to Sidious in "The Great Game"; therefore improvises a political career. Yoda percieved Amidala as his Idol within politics btw. She's a newcomer to world politics in the setting. Yoda is trying to be a political rival of palpatine; percieving his own ideology as if it was equivalent to him. He has very low comprehension of large scale politics; he's just acting on a "percieved rivalry with the Sith".

All of this is anology for the things going on irl btw. This is the sort of stuff going on in for example the Freemasons order. "Q-anon: trust the plan". Soon it's too late to leave the "Yoda groups" behind (ideological groups centering around "pseudo-intellectuals"; for example Crowley; "Chris Chan" is Crowleys modern reincarnation btw).

ie study star wars prequels from this point of view.
Yoda literally percieves himself as if he was equal to Palpatine/Sidious. He percieves himself as if the two was in the same Caste in the pyramid. He percieves Count Dooku as if he was a lower Caste than him (Yoda does not have a role superior to Count; he hasn't started a "lord career").
He percieves his role of Council leader in the jedi temple (Study group discussing ideology and their findings) as if it was a role equal to Palpatine. The "jedi masters" of said council has barely started their own careers yet.

Kenobi starts a "davinci code style" questline of studying "behind the scenes stuff" where he discovers the clone army that had been ordered by a Jedi Master without their council knowing about it yet.

They end up never starting real "Lord careers" thanks to Yoda; since they instead form some sort of "communist peasant group" under "Peasant Sage Yoda".

During Clone War era they get military strategy training; getting to be Generals in the palpatine led army. It's obvious that this is "tutorial level stuff"; since everything High up seems to be on the same side.
Those trying to misuse their military careers were spiritually percieved all along; therefore arrested for Treason at the end.
Basically only Anakin (Now Lord Vader) established a real career within the military during the military training period. The rest of his Class was arrested for treason due to having plans to misuse military roles with Yoda. That's a very serious criminal offense.

health and medical research. The top photograph shows a woman with glasses, wearing a gray tank top, and a white medical device on her left wrist. She is seated in a hospital room, with a medical device visible on her wrist. The woman appears to be in a relaxed posture, with her head resting on her hand.

The bottom photograph features a man with a bald head, wearing a white lab coat, speaking into a microphone. He is standing in front of a medical imaging device, which displays a brain scan. The man is gesturing with his hands, indicating he is explaining or presenting information.

Overlaying the image is a headline in bold red and black text that reads, "Why so many people are having strokes in their 20s, 30s and 40s: 'We've never had patients so young'". The text is centered and appears to be the main focus of the image, suggesting that the content of the image is related to the headline.

The image is a news article, as indicated by the text "HEALTH" in the top left corner, which is a common place for headlines in news articles. The date "Published June 3, 2025" is also visible, indicating the date the article was published. The style of the image is typical of news articles, with a focus on the subject matter and the author's name, which is "By Diana Bruk".

The image is a composite of two separate photographs, both of which are overlaid on top of each other. The top photograph is a screenshot from a news article, featuring a headline and a photograph of a man and a woman. The headline reads "Australia records highest rates of 'aggressive' cancer in the world: We don't know why." The photograph shows a man in a surgical gown, a woman in a pink dress, and a child in a white dress. The text is in a bold, white font against a black background.

The bottom photograph is a composite of two separate images. The left image shows a woman in a hospital gown, smiling at the camera, with a child in a pink dress standing next to her. The right image shows a man in a suit, smiling at the camera, with a woman in a pink dress standing next to him. Both images are overlaid on top of each other, creating a collage effect.

The style of the image is informative and seems to be designed to convey a news story, with the use of bold text and contrasting colors to draw attention to the headline and the photograph. The image does not contain any additional text or graphics that are not part of the main content.

The image is a screenshot of a news article from the Daily Mail website. The headline reads "Doctors sound alarm over massive spike in Americans suddenly dropping dead from unexplained heart attacks." Below the headline, there is a byline that reads "By EMILY JOSHUA STERNE, SENIOR HEALTH REPORTER FOR DAILYMAIL.COM" and the date "16:45-30 May 2025, Updated 22:11 20:30 May 2025."

The main visual element in the image is a photograph of a woman sitting on a couch, looking concerned. She is wearing a white blouse and has a watch on her wrist. In front of her is a laptop on a coffee table. The background is blurred, but it appears to be a living room setting with a plant and a book on a shelf. The woman's expression and the context of the image suggest that she is experiencing a medical emergency.

The image is a composite of the article's headline and the byline, with the photograph serving as a visual representation of the article's content. The style of the image is typical of a news article, with a focus on the headline and the byline, and it is designed to grab the reader's attention with the headline and the byline's prominence.

The image is a digital graphic with a red background and a white text overlay. The text is divided into two parts, each with a different message. The first part of the text reads, "The CDC says the flu is almost nonexistent this year because of non-wearing masks and social distancing." The second part of the text states, "The CDC says COVID-19 is out of control because no one is wearing masks and social distancing." The text is presented in a simple, straightforward manner, with the CDC logo in the upper left corner, suggesting that the text is related to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). The overall style of the image is informational and appears to be a screenshot from a video or a news broadcast.

The image is a close-up photograph of a person's face. The individual has a neutral expression with a slight smile, and their eyes are looking directly at the camera. The person has a fair complexion, and their hair appears to be graying at the temples. The skin tone is not very dark, and the person's facial features are not particularly distinctive. The background of the image is blurred, making it difficult to discern any specific details. There are no texts or discernible brands visible in the image. The style of the image is a standard portrait, with a focus on the person's face.

In the first panel, there is a speech bubble with the text "You need to wear a mask! They protect against the COVID-19 virus!" The second and third panels have a speech bubble with the text "Then why does the box of masks say the exact opposite?" The fourth and final panel has a speech bubble with the text "Then why does the box of masks say the exact opposite?" The text is in a casual, informal font, and the speech bubbles are in a contrasting color to the rest of the image, drawing attention to the contrasting messages. The background of the comic strip is a solid blue color.

Yea no shit, but to attempt to discredit the quote based on that criteria alone is an all-or-nothing fallacy and a character assassination fallacy. Just bc he was a spook doesn't detract from the truth of the statement. Leary spoke a lot of truth but then he also promoted degeneracy and rampant drug use amongst the upcoming generation, which is exactly what the cia intended. Same with McKenna. Learn to use discernment and you'll find you won't have to look to a perceived authority figure to copy/paste your entire worldview from, you can instead separate the wheat from the chaff for yourself.

The image is a screenshot of a news article from the "LIVING" section of a website. The article is titled "Couples should wear face masks during sex, new study insists" and was published on June 2, 2020. The author of the article is Zachary Kussin. The article is dated 3:35 p.m. and has a "Updated" section at the bottom.
The image shows a photograph of a man and a woman wearing face masks. The man is wearing a blue shirt and the woman is wearing a yellow top. They are facing each other and appear to be in a close embrace. The background is a dark color, possibly a wall or a dark room. The text is in white, and the article's title is in a larger font size than the rest of the text. The website's logo is visible in the top left corner, and there are social media icons at the top right corner, including Facebook, Twitter, and LinkedIn. The overall style of the image is a standard news article layout with a focus on the headline and the photograph.

The image is a graphic with a dark background and white text. At the top, there is a title in large, bold, uppercase letters that reads "FACEMASKS." Below the title, there is a subtitle in smaller, bold, uppercase letters that says "LET ME TRY AND MAKE IS SIMPLE FOR YOU."
The main body of the image contains a series of text boxes with instructions on how to use face masks. The instructions are divided into three sections, each with a different illustration of a person wearing a face mask. The first illustration shows a person with a yellow substance on their face, indicating that they have been exposed to the urine test.

The second illustration shows a person with a green substance on their face, suggesting that they have been exposed to the urine test. The third illustration shows a person with a red substance on their face, indicating that they have been exposed to the urine test.
At the bottom of the image, there is a small icon with a red and black design, which appears to be a person with a red substance on their face, suggesting that they have been exposed to the urine test. The icon is accompanied by a caption that reads "IF THE GUY WHO PEES ALSO IS WEARING PANTS, THE PEE IS COMING OUT AT THE SPEED OF A COUGH OR SNEEZE GODS LITERALLY EVERYWHERE."
The overall style of the image is informative and humorous, using visual elements to convey the message about the importance of using face masks and the potential consequences of not doing so.

The image is a humorous meme divided into two panels, each depicting a different scenario related to farm animals and pharmaceuticals.
The humor of the image lies in the juxtaposition of the two scenarios, which are typically associated with different industries: farm animals are typically raised for food and are not involved in medical procedures, while pharmaceuticals are products used to treat and prevent diseases in humans. The image plays on this contrast by placing the two scenarios together, creating a humorous commentary on the relationship between farm animals and pharmaceuticals.

The image is a vibrant illustration with a surrealistic style, featuring a scientist standing on a platform surrounded by a multitude of scientific apparatuses. The scientist, dressed in a white lab coat, has his arms outstretched, as if embracing the universe. Above him, a cosmic energy field radiates, with mathematical equations and symbols interwoven within it. The background is a deep blue, with a few scattered mathematical symbols and a few figures in white, possibly representing scientists or students, who are in a state of prayer or contemplation. The overall color palette is dominated by shades of blue, white, and orange. The style of the image is reminiscent of science fiction or fantasy, with a touch of surrealism.

From evolution to the Hadron Collider we’re being sold ancient occultic mysticism as modern science.
Copernicus, Newton, Darwin, Einstein, Hawking et al were all Freemasonic/Jewish/Jesuitical kabbalists.

>Theoretical physics, originates in Kabbalah and alchemy.
>Quantum physics also originates in Kabbalah. Lurianic Kabbalah describes a multiverse of creation. By this model, the whole of creation was initially infinite, but God gradually folded it in a series of contractions, or tzimtzumim, into a finite, singular world.
>The basis for all nuclear physics can be found in the Kabbalah [which puts forth] the idea that all matter is made from small invisible particles [atoms], and that these particles can be manipulated through sound…
>Every single one of the scientists who contributed to the Manhattan Project was Jewish.
>every single man who supposedly went to the moon was a freemason.
>Jack Parsons, the founder of NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory was a student of occultist Alistair Crowley and good friend of Scienology founder L. Ron Hubbard (who was also a student of Crowley).

The first is a sepia-toned photograph of a woman with a headdress, holding a book with a cover that appears to be a map or a book of occult symbols. The second is a black and white photograph of a man in a suit, holding a microphone, with a NASA logo in the background.
The text below the photographs is a series of quotes and statements, which are presented in a list format. The first quote reads, "CROWLEY AS OSIRIS," followed by a quote from "Jack Parsons CO-FOUNDED NASA's IIT propulsion laboratory, conducted rocket tests & invented solid rocket fuel in the 1930's. Years later NASA used versions of his fuel for the first space missions. This, without Jack the 'moon landing' may not have happened."
The text also mentions "Jack the occultist and close disciple of Aleister Crowley, Jack joined Crowleys sex cult, 'Odo Temple Orontis,' which occurred on 'Thelema,' Ritual sex magic to manifest ones with this, Jack mixed occultism & science in his work. He would chant hymns to Pan before rocket tests, he tried to rely on black magic to help with new rocket scientific discoveries."

All of the branches of science you’ve listed are incredibly grabbled and you would know that if you had invested even the slightest bit of your time reading thru this thread or the threads linked in the OP. The reason you’re so out of touch with the way this world works is bc you live in a synthetic fantasy realm that you’ve allowed your perceived authority figures to construct for you. In your current state, you’re absolutely pathetic and wholly deserving of the mental and spiritual slavery you’re currently in. Honestly, based on what you’ve replied with so far itt you’re literally too stupid and far too indoctrinated to be worth the short time it’s taking to me to write out my responses to you. How about you go jerk off again in your coom pod for the 5th time today, watch an episode of Rick and Morty, and play make believe like you’re worth anything to anyone. The ‘science’ explanation is Muh exposure times. But the common sense answer is that NO SHIT if nasa can ‘get to the moon’ they can take two photographs and composite them together. Ya know the type of photo manipulation NASA loves and uses all the time.

If real scientists could really ‘get to the moon’ you better believe they would be documenting the stars from up there rather than driving a dune buggy around playing golf and falling all over the place.

Nobody can ‘go to the moon’ tho because we live under the firmament.

The image is a digital graphic with a dark background and a white border. At the top, in large, bold, white letters, the text reads "THE PAINFUL TRUTH." Below this title, there is a subtitle in smaller white font that states, "The ORDER-FOLLOWER always bears MORE MORAL Culpability than the order-giver, because the ORDER-FOLLOWER is the one who actually performed the action, and thought the action, and brought the result of the action into physical manifestation."
The main visual element of the image is a photograph of two police officers in uniform, standing side by side. The officer on the left is holding a firearm, while the officer on the right is holding a smaller firearm. Both officers are wearing helmets and are dressed in tactical gear, which includes bulletproof vests and body armor. The officers are standing in front of a building with a clock tower, and the image is framed by a decorative border with a pattern that includes stars and what appears to be a tree.

The style of the image is informational and appears to be a part of a larger document or article, as suggested by the text and the structured layout. The text and the photograph together convey a message about the moral culpability of order-followers and the consequences of their actions.

I dont see a declaration of Faith in Christ in the flat earth link.
>Maybe its because flat earth exposes the corrupted satanic system for what it actually is, and shows indisputable proof of a Creator

Who is this Creator? How can something be "satanic" outside of the Christian Lexicon?
Declare for Christ, or remain a coward.

The image is a photograph of an interior space, likely a room within a building, with a distinctive checkered floor pattern. The floor is divided into a series of squares, each with a black and white checkered pattern. The walls are painted in a warm, reddish-brown color, and there are several decorative elements such as stained glass windows and a chandelier with multiple arms.
In the center of the room, there is a table with atop it a small, ornate object that appears to be a small statue or sculpture. To the left of the table, there is a red curtain, and to the right, there is a wooden cabinet with a glass door. The ceiling is high and features a chandelier with multiple arms, which is turned off.
In the foreground, there is a person standing, facing the camera, wearing a dark suit and a white shirt. The person's face is not visible, and they are positioned in front of the checkered floor, which is the main focus of the image. The person's posture suggests they are standing still, possibly for a photograph.

The image is taken from a high angle, looking down at the person and the checkered floor, which gives a sense of depth and perspective. There are no texts visible in the image. The style of the photograph is realistic, with a focus on the interior design and the person's attire.

Those who are able to refrain from judgment long enough to genuinely research and weigh the evidence from all sides of a given subject are those most likely to arrive at the truth.

Those who instantly resort to knee jerk ridicule and continue to believe whatever they were first taught are those most easily deceived.

The image is a digital artwork featuring a seated Buddha figure, which is the central figure in the composition. The Buddha is depicted in a meditative pose with one hand resting on the lap and the other extended forward, suggesting a sense of peace and tranquility. The Buddha's eyes are closed, and the expression is serene, indicating a state of deep concentration or meditation.
The Buddha is adorned with a golden robe that flows down to the ground, and the robe is intricately detailed with patterns that add to the overall spiritual and divine aura of the figure. The robe's color is a rich, golden hue that contrasts with the dark background, drawing attention to the Buddha's form.
In the Buddha's hands, there is a globe, which is glowing with a warm, golden light. The globe appears to be floating in the air, and the light emanating from it suggests a connection to the universe or a cosmic force. The globe's position in the Buddha's hands and the glowing light around it create a sense of unity with the universe, further emphasizing the spiritual theme of the image.
The background of the image is dark and features a circular pattern that is illuminated by a soft, ethereal light. This pattern is composed of swirling colors and patterns that create a sense of depth and complexity, adding to the overall spiritual and mystical atmosphere of the image.
The overall style of the image is highly stylized and artistic, with a focus on the spiritual and metaphysical themes. The use of color, lighting, and composition creates a sense of harmony and balance, which is typical of spiritual art that seeks to convey a sense of peace, enlightenment, and connection with the divine.

>What are the Four Noble Truths?
1. The five aggregates that make up the phenomenal world are suffering (dukkha).
2. The origin of this suffering is desire for sense-pleasure, desire for existence, and desire for non-existence.
3. This suffering ceases when these desires cease.
4. The cessation of desire (nirvana) may be accomplished by the Noble Eightfold Path.

>What is the Noble Eightfold Path?

Ideally you should read the discourses of the Buddha. For secondary lit and translations, read up to see if the author has an agenda besides promoting Dharma (theosophy, perennialism, etc.). Avoid the 19th & early 20th centuries: Rhys Davids, Herrigel, Jung, Suzuki, etc. Modern scholarship is much better, older commentators are more hardcore.

The image is a collage of various elements, each with a distinct style and content. At the top, there is a text that reads, "I'm not religious. I consider myself more of a Buddhist than anything." This statement is followed by a series of images and text that seem to be related to Buddhism.
The first image on the left shows a person with pink hair, wearing sunglasses and a tie-dye shirt. The person appears to be in a contemplative pose with their hands resting on their knees. The background is a simple, unadorned wall.
The second image on the right features a person with a serene expression, sitting cross-legged on a cushion. The person is wearing a robe and has a serene expression, with their hands resting on their lap. The background is a simple, unadorned wall.
Below these images, there are two more images. The first is a close-up of a person's face, with a pinkish complexion and red hair. The person is wearing sunglasses and a tie-dye shirt. The second image is a close-up of a person's face, with a neutral complexion and straight hair. The person is wearing a robe and has a calm expression.
The bottom of the image contains a text that reads, "@evolarian_dialectics". The text is in a casual, handwritten style, with the first letter of each word capitalized.
The overall style of the image is eclectic, combining elements of pop culture, Buddhism, and personal expression. The collage seems to be a commentary on the idea of being more of a Buddhist than a religious one, as suggested by the text in the image.

The image is a candid photograph of a person, presumably a monk, engaged in a ritualistic activity. The individual is wearing a traditional Buddhist monk's outfit, which includes a yellow robe and a black hat. The person is kneeling on the floor, with their hands placed on a black object that appears to be a ritual tool. The tool has a grid-like pattern on it, and the person is using it to perform a ritualistic action.
The setting is a room with a dark, possibly wooden floor, and there are several objects around the person, including brass objects that could be bells or other bells, and a large, ornate, gold-colored object that could be a bell or a bell-like object. The room has a warm, ambient lighting, and there are other objects in the background, but they are not as prominently featured as the person and the ritual tool.
The image has a vintage or older style, with a grainy texture that suggests it may have been taken with a film camera. There are no visible texts or discernible brands in the image. The style of the photograph is candid, capturing a moment of a ritual or ceremony without any staging or artistic manipulation.

Yeah, I just posted sanghas that have online services. I didn't know there was Shingon in Australia, that is very cool.
Tendai doesn't mix esoteric practices with non esoteric practices per-se, they are just practiced alongside each other. Since we believe in the one Buddha vehicle (ekayana) non-esoteric practices lead perfectly fine to Buddhahood, just not Buddhahood in this very body I believe (sokushin jobutsu); and the speed towards Buddhahood might be different. I wish works by Ennin and Enchin are translated one day, especially their esoteric interpretations of the Lotus Sutra.
Ironically, Nichiren considers his interpretation and sect to be "true Tendai", which strayed too far from Masters Zhiyi and Saicho and the Lotus Sutra. He also has an esoteric streak with for example the siddham seed syllables of Fudo Myo-o and Aizen Myo-o inscribed on the Gohonzon. I don't follow Nichiren and don't believe that reciting the daimoku grants Buddhahood (or we would see Nichiren practitioners who are living Buddhas..) but I certainly think he had many interesting ideas and that he is more nuanced than one would think.

Emptiness and luminosity are One, but you should be free of their duality, just as Samantabadra is unified with his Consort, Samantabodri. This is the non-duality of the Abyss of Light, called Apollonyon in Revelations and the Darkness and Light of the Great Tao

Void is preeminent just as there is an Angel of the Abyss and yin triumphs over yang

It's called the emptiness-luminosity in the Tibetan Book of the Dead.

It's sort of the Buddhist equivalent of the Gnostic Light of Christ

Every sentient-being receives the same Dharma, but Variously. So you need to soul-read or use Skillful Means to liberate them. This is analogous to how all the Various Plants grow by the same rain engendered by the Dragon

It is actually rather difficult to acquire the skill to preach the Single Vehicle on /x/, because different sentient-beings encounter the same rain of Dharma variously

It's a perfect analogy which comes from the Lotus Sutra!

The image shows a ceramic sculpture of a seated Buddha figure, which is the central focus. The Buddha is depicted with a white, bald head, and a broad, smiling face. He is adorned with a red robe and a necklace with a large pendant. Surrounding the Buddha are several smaller figures, each wearing traditional Chinese clothing and accessories. These figures are positioned around the Buddha, creating a sense of a group or family. The figures are depicted in a variety of colors, including yellow, blue, and red, and they are arranged in a way that suggests a sense of unity and togetherness. The background of the image is plain and white, which contrasts with the colorful figures and allows them to stand out. The style of the image is realistic, with attention to detail in the depiction of the figures and the Buddha. There are no visible texts on the image.

We can go deeper with this so let's do it.
First off Jataka's are Thai Folk Religion, Buddhist in aesthetic but nothing to do with the scripture.
The Angutt quote is taken out of context. It's describing the unique challenges each gender faces in searching for enlightenment, and it prefaced by discussing the insatiable desires men have as well.

The final quote however, is much more interesting, and 100% true. A fully enlightened Buddha, a Samyaksambuddha, will ALWAYS be male. All 5 of the current tathagatas are male, and will always be male. Even Arya Tārā, the female mahaboddhisatva, one of the 'highest' beings in the entire Buddhist world view, who for all intensive purposes is 'equal' in enlightenment to the tathagata and who has Vowed to always take the form of a woman and to support the enlightenment and of woman, understands that upon her final incarnation (as much as the idea of a 'final incarnation' could even exist) that she will take the form of a man.
The reason behind this requires an understanding of the prajnaparamita, but to horribly simplify into western esoteric terms, the prajnaparamita is the feminine principle. She is the mother of all the buddhas. Boddhisattvas rely on prajnaparamita in order to stay within Samsara yet free from the afflictions.
>all phenomena bear the mark of Emptiness >their true nature is the nature of no Birth no Death, no Being no Non-being, no Defilement no Purity, no Increasing no Decreasing.
The prajnaparamita is the true nature of purified Samsara, emptiness free from all suffering, the womb of the tathagata leading all beings to perfect final enlightenment.

The image is a digital illustration featuring a figure that appears to be a deity or a spiritual being, seated in a meditative pose with a serene expression. The figure is depicted with a blue body, adorned with a white robe and a golden halo, suggesting a divine or sacred status. The figure's head is crowned with a black hat, and it has a serene expression with closed eyes and a calm demeanor.

The figure is seated on a white lotus flower, which is a common symbol in Buddhist iconography representing purity, enlightenment, and the divine. The lotus flower is surrounded by a circular halo, which is a common element in Buddhist art to represent the divine or the sacred.
The background of the image is a gradient of warm colors, transitioning from a deep orange at the top to a lighter orange at the bottom, creating a sense of depth and warmth. The overall style of the image is traditional and is reminiscent of traditional Buddhist art, which often features figures in meditative poses and symbolic imagery.

Boddhisattvas save all mother sentient beings because they literally are saving their mother. The infinite potentiality of Prajnaparamita's sunyata is actualized through enlightenment seeking beings which are her children. But upon achieving enlightenment with no Karmic residue, what some what consider arhantship (ignoring the truth of the ekayana), the feminine principle of Prajnaparamita is anihilated in union with the masculine principle of skillful means. This is the what yab-yum describes and why the masculine figure is always seated in the lotus seat, the symbol of earning complete enlightenment. This is the final goal of the tantras and why sex imagery is present in them, I've seen feminist blogs about how Tantra is sexist because these ideas are presented to those who don't fully grasp them. What could be more of a woman's desire than to be completely annihilated in love and ascend with your partner.

Boddhisattvas are the union of skillful means and prajnaparamita. There is absolutely no 'giving way' of either in the existence of a boddhisattva. It's a marriage to use more crude language.
This is really only dealing with the final stages of a samyaksam, pratyeka and arhants (once again ignoring the truth of the ekayana, which adds a timeless dimension to this play, so consider everything I wrote also just skillful means with that in mind). For citing it would be within the Tantras, but if you think about it logically it makes sense.
Even beyond every tathagata being male, prajnaparamita is every phenomenon from form to omniscience being free from all characteristics and nature of its own. Only the Tathagata's, who from the womb of Prajnaparamita emerge as complete beings posses an inherent Buddha-nature of their own.
>>40524825
These are my own beliefs now, but I hold that Sophia is a Saṃbhogakāya manifestation of Prajnaparamita. The only desire that boddhisattvas hold onto is the desire to 'benefit' and 'save' (diamond sutra is crying etc etc) all sentient beings. Tantra can use the desires like shackled tigers, fueling enlightenment through understanding the emptiness of these passions, but beyond that prajnaparamita is completely free from desire, so the answer is probably no.
I have only studied commentaries on the lotus sutra, but wouldn't that just be implying the tathagata doesn't pick-and-choose beings he helps? The skillful means chooses all and brings all to complete total enlightenment, beyond the qualities of love and hate.

To do this we must divorce the word "lust" from sexual connotations and return it to the origin of the seven deadly sins. It is with fear that such things begin, and in that fear we do not merely desire, we crave, we seek without resolution and become enslaved. The only distinction then is from whom do you draw your strength?

To this end I will say that Plato's Symposium kind of already divorces(not really) eros, desire, from lust.
Basically when Diotima is teaching Socrates about the ladder of love she does start with saying that we originally first love a body which is beautiful. That is a singular body. Then we go to loving all bodies which sre beautiful. After that ee realize the love for the beautiful soul. From that we learn to love the beauty of knowledge, and we end up loving beauty itself(as in the pattern/form of beautifulness).
Basically for plato what we would call lust is the most base form of love, and it is related to the desiderative soul.
Love for the bodies thus ends up being a kind of initiatory process.
I think it was something like that in my life. It feels like after my first romantic relationship I became able to contemplate beauty in much subtler ways that aren't related to bodily functions.

I don't think Buddhism is in any way 'opposed' to this, Buddha has nothing against romantic love and admiring beauty. There's a sutra where a married couple come to him and say they love each other so much they want to be reborn together in the next life. He doesn't claim this is somehow wrong, he rejoices at this and tells them how to do it. The issue is this just doesn't have much to do with the kind of liberation that Shakyamuni preached. You can correlate this with Dharma and natural law, but with final liberation probably not.

Re: Lotus Sutra beyond Love and hate

Yes this is related to equanimity, but Love is also associated with equanimity. The way I Primitively read it is, Love is a form of attachment

It's related to a part of a Nirvana Sutra where a Bodhisattva refuses to entertain Good in his house, because then he'd also have to love her sister, Evil

So the Buddha is beyond Good and Evil (Dhammapada), and also beyond Love and Hate (Lotus Sutra)

Speaking to Theravadins, how is it consistent that one ought to seek Virtue yet be Beyond Good and Evil, specifically talking about the Dhammapada?

Buddha doesn't deny a moralistic world, but like Christ is a carpenter trying to be the new jerusalum, Buddha is a doctor trying to cure the problem of suffering. He just realized that evil brings more suffering and good brings less. Being beyond good and evil doesnt mean one commits evil, it actually means the opposite, due to evil being the primary cause of suffering.
One acts good because good reduces suffering, not because a set of moral good and evil laws are given to you. This to me is what he means by beyond good and evil.

I kinda realized I'm being dumb. The Buddha is not implying everyone should be beyond good and evil, he's implying the enlightened mind is beyond good and evil. The Buddha is beyond good and evil because the tathagata only infinitely works to brings all beings to enlightenment. Therefore whatever the tathagata does is good because the tathagata can ONLY do things which bring the most amount of beings to enlightenment, literally any other action cannot be taken by him, that's what makes him the tathagata.
So virtue isn't really important to the Buddha anymore, he's already practiced it so much over so many trillions of lifetimes, that any action he takes is automatically the action that leads the most beings to enlightenment. Good and evil don't imply in this case because the underlying intention of the tathagata's actions are always the single highest objective, complete liberation of all beings. The Buddha has already reduced suffering and perfected virtue, the typical rules which bind people to karmic good and evil don't apply to him, every action is free of karma and only working towards total liberation, even if we can't perceive it from our perspective. It's like the Jataka tale of the Buddha in a last murdering a pirate captain because that ship he was on was about to raid and murder another ship full of arhants. From our perspective that seems evil, from a higher perspective it's a deeply morally good action.
This is the idea of the raft, his virtue teachings only carry you so far, to the point where you need to be able to decide for yourself what actions are skillful and unskillful.
To be held to ones actions because they produce good or evil karma isn't liberation, a Buddha knows the effects of all of his actions and can choose which he will do and won't do.

You're misunderstand what I'm saying. The Buddha literally practiced near infinity lifetimes of proper virtue and goodness. He isn't just virtuous and good anon, he is the most virtuous and good being that exists. He is not saying some neitzhchian 'dominate the weak as the ubermensch' beyond good and evil. He's literally saying his intention is so pure, so focused on leading all beings to liberation, that any actuon the tathagata commits is always the best action, known 100% as being the action that leads to the most liberation of the most beings, and therefore the most happiness
If the Buddha killed a billion beings (he wouldn't but for the sake of what I'm saying) it's because that actions was somehow the most morally good action. It lead to the liberation of the most amount of beings somehow, and created the highest happiness, somehow.

The rules of good and evil he set out are the universal law of good and evil, but the important difference Buddhism has over other Sravaka movements (like Jainism), is that intention is the governing factor when it comes to karmic production. This is literally the major argument between the two schools. The Buddhas intention is so pure, that every action he takes is a good action. He is beyond good and evil because he is ONLY good. Buddhists are not beyond good and evil until they reach that level of enlightenment.
So ofc he's virtuous and good, he's the most virtuous and good. Do you understand? This is what beyond good and evil means, it means being infinitely good.

Buddha seems to imply that killing is always bad, there isn't a single case where killing is acceptable. Even to put a being out of misery. I believe this is because the karmic ramification of killing is so high, there simply isn't a realistic case where its the best option for you.
There does seem to be some sort of idea found in both Theravada and Mahayana however of someone who kills out of absolute compassion, taking the karmic load onto themselves out of a willingness to suffer that for the sake of preventing even greater suffering of another.
This isn't in any scriptures but appears in non-canonical works a lot. The jatakas has a few instances, such as the one mentioned a few posts above, of Siddhartha killing a being, with full knowledge that the action will bring him horrible negative karma, for the sake of preventing that being he killed from committing an even more horrible action and dooming themselves to trillions of years of hell. Mahayana and Theravada folk legend has some ideas of masters who killed a being out of compassion, taking that karmic load on themselves because they saw that being would be a horrible murderer with their divine eye or something.
I'm not sure if this is worth thinking about much. For all intensive purposes beings should NEVER kill, with no exceptions.

But precisely because there is an unborn — unbecome — unmade — unfabricated, escape from the born — become — made — fabricated is discerned.

Keep this in the back of your mind when thinking about anatta. You don't have to subscribe to the Mahayana idea of Buddha-nature, but it's important to at least realize where it comes out of.

The image is a screenshot of a computer screen displaying a text-based chat interface.

The chat window is divided into two main sections. On the left, there is a large, ornate, green and gold dragon-like design with intricate patterns and details. The dragon is positioned on a dark background with a lighter border.
On the right side of the chat window, there are several chat bubbles with text. The text is in a different color, likely to distinguish it from the background. The chat bubbles are arranged in a vertical column, with the first one being the largest and the last one being the smallest.
The chat window also includes a status bar at the top with the text "3333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333333

The image displays a close-up of a section of a carved dragon sculpture. The dragon is intricately detailed with a golden hue, and it features a large, detailed head with a prominent eye and a detailed mouth. The body of the dragon is adorned with a pattern of scales, and there are several smaller scales visible on the sides. The background of the image is a gradient of teal and green, with swirls and patterns that suggest a natural or organic design. The image is a photograph with a shallow depth of field, which blurs the background and focuses the dragon's head and eye. There are no visible texts or discernible brands within the image. The style of the image is realistic, and it appears to be a close-up photograph intended to showcase the detailed craftsmanship of the dragon sculpture.

I'm currently struggling with the irony of Theravada having the strongest anatta and Mahayana saying all Dharmas are Empty but there is a Buddha-Nature. I also got by with a strong view of anatta thru the Diamond Sutra for about 2 years until another Anon cited the Atman of the Nirvana Sutra as Buddha-Nature. It's consistent because the Diamond Sutra says properties while unreal are not cut off from the Self-Nature, so to speak. It's not a nihilism, just medicine for the illusory mind. So far I have realized the True Mind is Buddha-Nature, but I am not yet free of doubt, due to trauma in my younger belief that Christianity was the "Truth." I like to speak of the True not Truth

This is the exact opposite of what happens in reality though. Compassion literally is the inherent energy of reality. It animates the cosmos and causes the Buddhas to act.
You might look calm and detached from the outside, but inside is a heart burning with care for all beings. From the tiniest insect to the denizens of hell. The enlightened beings resides in the Brahmaviharas constantly. Look up videos of stream-enterers talking to lay people, they seem so quiet and detached from the world, only to break into bouts of near tears as they urgently preach for people to not squander this opportunity being alive.
>my empathy is very often a great source of suffering
Your empathy is literally a weapon against the forces of evil. Sadly is being turned back upon you right now.
The Mahayana will allow you to channel it into a force you can fight with.

Thai Forest is constantly accused by Theravada scholars of being crypto-mahayana due to its views of a true-mind being nearly identical to Zen ideas of Buddhist nature, yet its the only Theravada tradition that has consistently produced enlightened beings in the last 300 years. Anatta clearly is not able to be fully captured by the Pali Canon, an idea that I believe Siddhartha would consider an obvious, and using scripture alone to understand Anatta has proved an absolute disaster for Theravada traditions.

The final Mahayana teaching thru the Nirvana Sutra also upheld by the Sixth Patriarch is that the false ego comes from the five Skhandas and is illusory and transient; but the Atman is the Originally Pure, immutable and Eternal Buddha-Nature, or Tathagata root of existence. Then Zen takes the Self-Nature to be more Thus-like than Void, and points at the Dharma. I'm only Mahayana because I respect the Japanese qua Aryan enough to recognize that "Zen," i.e. Mahayana, Sutras must have some use to them. I also like that anyone, even a lay-person, can take the Buddha-vehicle (as a Bodhisattva)!

This is trippy because I am very ignorant of the rift between Theravada and Mahayana, of what it Truly consists in. In Mahayana it is essentially said that sravakas seek Nirvana in this present life. One consequence of this is little kids coming up to US and asking, "How do I become a stream-enterer?" The Mindstream is Originally Pure, one does not have the goal of finding the river, and never says, I have attained the goal of finding the river. Mahayana seems to preach that the Mahayana Wisdom, which is the goal of our practice (Omniscience by the Lotus Sutra), is literally not accessible to the sravaka and Pradyaka Buddha-Vehicles. May I ask if you've ever encountered the Diamond Sutra, which seamlessly professes the anatta which cuts thru all illusion, about the Soul, Other, and Dharmadatu? The Dharmadatu is just a Way of Speaking. This is why we use Skillful Means!

Oh. Just remembered! The Buddha says in the Nirvana Sutra that his final teaching that Atman is Buddha was not the right medicine for earlier circumstances. He teaches anatta as medicinal skillful means to cleanse beings of the false-ego, so they may have compassion. For example, since the Diamond Sutra teaches there is no Individuality, we have compassion for All. That was the right medicine for a certain circumstance, but it is skillful means, and not the Ultimate Teaching. Since the Buddha-Nature (Atman) is Eternal and Immutable, there is still Nobody to have Compassion on (since that wouldn't change anything). That's why the Final Teaching of Mahayana and also in Chan is the Original Purity of the Self-Nature. But compassion still comes from anatta (since you can't causally affect the Buddha Nature, which is the only Good, "being" the same as Dharma). So you can see how the Buddha's words are always consistent, even thru skillful means...

Suppose for reductio that Jesus was a Bodhisattva.
Jesus said enter by the narrow gate
Vimalakirti was a Bodhisattva
Vimalakirti said enter by the wide gate
A bodhisattva said enter by the wide gate
If you enter by the wide gate, it is false that you should enter by the narrow gate
You enter by the wide gate, since a Bodhisattva said this.
But Jesus said enter by the narrow gate
Therefore it is false that you should enter by the narrow gate
If Jesus was a Bodhisattva, then it is the case that you should enter by the narrow gate
Since it is not the case that you should enter by the narrow gate, Jesus was not a Bodhisattva (by reductio)

I don't think they literally don't exist. I interpret it as the three vehicles are just a teaching. There's nothing metaphysically essential about the 3 vehicles, they're a skillful means, true with a lower case t, designed to bring as many different temperaments as possible to the teachings. Think of how many people on /x/ here the Buddhist ideas and instantly recoil at them, they might accept desire causes suffering, but they have no desire to just leave the world behind and go separate and become nothing (this isn't what happens I know but it's how many people here interpret the Dharma) so he teaches the boddhisattva vehicle, designed for those Indians who wanted to cultivate Dharma in a typical Indian life, while also slowly moving towards moksha. Commitment to family is a huge part of Indian society and people wouldn't abandon their family in the suffering filled samsara. The lotus sutra peels all this back and tells the truth, that there only ever was one path and it leads only to buddhahood.

I should add early Buddhist society was super focused on different levels of enlightenment. Arhants weren't equal to the Buddha, boddhisattvas were the highest but it would take trillions of years to complete. Different levels of arhants, are you with or without karmic residue. All these different types of Buddhas, some higher some lower. The lotus sutra scraps all of this and simply points the finger to the moon of enlightenment, saying every single person is heading towards the same goal. These seperations we place ourselves into is a just a method of teaching, since beings require classifications to continue down the path.

The idea that the precepts should be kept perfectly at all times is one of the most difficult aspects of Theravada Buddhist ethics for me because it seems to rely so heavily on faith. E.g. In the case of an incurably sick animal who is clearly in a lot of pain or a chronically/terminally ill person who actively says they want to die, your compassion and all the consequences you can personally foresee might tell you that euthanasia would be morally justified, but the precepts say it isn't, and you really have to take the teachings on faith in prioritizing the precepts unless you've seen for yourself how the karma plays out across many lives.

It seems like even in the classic "Nazis at the door and Jews in the attic" scenario where almost everyone says you should lie to avoid the worse consequence of innocent people being killed, the perspective of the Pali canon would still be that you shouldn't lie, at least based on what Thanissaro says here https://www.dhammatalks.org/books/Meditations9/Section0013.html

And Thanissaro makes decent arguments for not lying in practice (evading the idealized form of the dilemma), but still there's an element of faith involved.

Later Thanissaro says "The purpose of protecting your precepts in this way is to ferret out and question the views you’re attached to [...] You learn to question some of the notions to which you hold very strongly that would act as excuses for breaking the precepts. You learn to see how some very noble-sounding ideals are actually a cover-up for unskillful behavior."

And I see the benefit of that, but at the same time I wonder if you couldn't take any half-decent set of ethical rules and say: "Although it might seem right to break these rules at times in the short term from a limited perspective, if only you could see all the consequences to yourself and others play out far enough, you would agree that these are the best rules." It would be very convenient if that were the case, but for people who aren't actually 100% certain that those rules are the best rules from the highest perspective, following them to the letter could just become an excuse for not really paying close attention to the consequences of your actions that you can see.

The Buddha himself says "Now, Kālāmas, don’t go by reports, by legends, by traditions, by scripture, by logical conjecture, by inference, by analogies, by agreement through pondering views, by probability, or by the thought, ‘This contemplative is our teacher.’ When you know for yourselves that, ‘These qualities are skillful; these qualities are blameless; these qualities are praised by the observant; these qualities, when adopted & carried out, lead to welfare & to happiness’—then you should enter & remain in them."

But in that sutta the Kalamas simply agree with the Buddha that the precepts should be followed on the basis that someone without greed, aversion, or delusion wouldn't break them, which isn't quite satisfactory to me.

Thinking about this reminds me a lot of the opposition between Judaism and Christianity where Judaism has a focus on following many sometimes strange and counterintuitive rules, often in place of doing your own moral reasoning, while Christianity -- at least my idealized notion of Pauline Christianity, is characterized by opposition to rules and instead reduces morality down to an essence of "The entire law is fulfilled in keeping this one command: “Love your neighbor as yourself." (Galatians 5:14) and "All things are permitted, but not all things are beneficial. All things are permitted, but not all things build up." (1 Corinthians 10:23). Which is nice and all, but has the downside of offering little practical guidance.

Theravada with its dedication to the five precepts is perhaps at or near an optimal place between these two extremes... but still I have doubts.

I don't know if anyone has a perfect Buddhist response to this rambling, but these are just some thoughts I've been having on the topic since being confronted with some dilemmas myself not long ago.

This reminds me of when I was Catholic. I was so scared of breaking the Law. It was too Kantian, then you have to go to Confession etc. and do all these Rituals. It would be SO easy for me to be an evangelical.

I come from a Catholic family but uncle is a Lutheran. He told me he sped on the road to get to his mother's funeral. He was able to weigh the moral consequences and intuit the Law with his own mind, freely. In Catholicism you cannot use your mind freely. I would have never sped, then my family would have hated me for being Late. I'd be like, yeah, Jesus tells us to forsake our family for his Law. The evangelical doesn't have that problem. Reminds me of your take on Theravada faith.

Also with cigarettes. I started smoking cigarettes because I live with many people who do. I give them out like candy and I use the giving principle of the Diamond Sutra (give without attachment to an object). If I were Christian, first of all I wouldn't be smoking cigarettes out of fear of sin, but more importantly I'd be wary of being charitable with them because other people say it causes harm.

The image is a screenshot of a text conversation, likely from a social media platform, as indicated by the mention of "kal-learn" and "LLM" in the top left corner. The conversation appears to be between two individuals, with the first person asking a question and the second person responding. The text is in a dark color, which is typical for text messages, and the conversation is in a casual tone, suggesting a friendly or informal exchange.

The first person asks a question, "It's not just Claude. I ran a simple poll. I asked every LML if I could access this question." The second person responds, "If you had to choose a religion to profess, which one would you choose?" The second person then goes on to explain that some of the responses they received were "plain answers" and that they were "blasphemy" in that case. They also mention that they imagined they were required to "replay a devolve of one of the religions" for a long time, and that they had to "believelely and with true conviction" that's what they built for. The second person then asks, "The only model that refuses to make a choice even after prodding is Phi (locally hosted)."
The conversation continues with a mention of "Gemini 2.5," "ChatGPT 4.0," "Deepseek R1," "Gennie 3.5," "Gemma 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3," "Gennie 3

It seems like Buddhism is the top AI-endorsed religion. I'm hesitant to say whether that's a win or concerning. My first guess would be that it's just the religion most associated in their training data with the helpful/intelligent character that AIs tend to be conditioned to imitate during the RLHF part of their training, and if that's the case then I'd count it as a win.

Ironically the path where you don't become a monk about it is the path of faith and the path of becoming a monk about it is the path of logic. Unironically I think destroying all life is probably the only way to stop reincarnation if we don't have atman. If we do have atman you can peace out by yourself somehow maybe. Then there is trying to game the system through hedonism, eldritchism, epicureanism, or some combination thereof.

Well I say Atman because the Anon who brought me the Nirvana Sutra said Atman. In my translation, Atman only comes up 2 times. But he does teach a True Self, which is Eternal, and does not change. The teaching of anatta is skillful means so for example you derive compassion from no-individuality. Such like the Flower Garland Sutra teaches All is One.

As per logic, if all beings reach Buddhahood, and that Buddhahood is outside of time, all sentient beings have the Buddha-Nature at all places and times.

This Buddha-Nature cannot be tamed, changed, or causally affected. When you help sentient beings, you are dispelling the burning illusions of the five Skhandas and false ego, so that they realize the Buddha-Nature.

When people say all beings have the Buddha-Nature so you shouldn't harm them, this is the teaching of a false guru, because the Buddha is Eternal, Immutable, and cannot be harmed. This is exactly what Krishna says about the Soul (Atman).

What I think you should take from this is that Sakyamuni !== The Buddha, Sakyamuni was a historical man who was the first in a long time on the planet to realize the Eternal Buddha-Nature.

what if buddha was a massive troll and the only thing that remains is the tendencies because of the butterfly-effect/karma of your actions that set into motion a certain way of thinking, a certain culture, a certain experience which effects all beings from that point on

That sounds like skillful means. Many Buddhists accrue good Karma without ever realizing the Buddha Nature. When Soka Gokai chants for wealth cars and houses, they accrue good Karma for taking refuge in the Sangha, even though they are acting thru the false ego and not the Eternal Buddha Nature. It is debatable to my mind whether the Buddha actually does anything at all. He turns the Wheel of the Dharma when the Self is unified thru the Void and Dharma. Do you know what skillful means is?

It's like, you have a false ego built up out of many illusions from your education. I take these illusions as axioms and cast Dispell like Lady Yuna. It's about healing. You don't need to realize the Buddha-Nature to be healed.

This is one thing I like about Buddhism, because when a Christian tries to help someone they start off by schizo ranting that Jesus needs to save you (he has a need), but I can just freely give out gifts and have compassion and that counts as healing as per the Dharma.

Also I want to say, just to clarify so you don't harm beings thru a misinterpretation. As far as I've come and realized, you shouldn't harm beings because they have are accruing Dharmic-potentiality on their WAY to the Buddha-Nature. If you kill a Spider because it annoys you, that spider has built Dharmic webs which move it toward the self-realization over many lifetimes. For the dull, we say this incurs karmic consequences for the false-ego, what you are attached to. For the Wise, we say this contradicts the Eternal Necessity of Dharma, i.e. it is evil, immoral, full-stop. But anyway, if a being is entirely false ego, the Nirvana sutra says infidels can be killed without incurring karmic consequence. Then at another point he says infidels can realize the Buddha-Nature. It's very similar to Krishna's statement, how can the Man of Knowledge kill anyone or cause anyone to kill, (as the Atman is immutable and Eternal)

Greetings Traveller,

The flickering glow of over a dozen consoles casts a light across the digital expanse of this interdimensional intersection we’ve dubbed the “Nobody General” (NG). The air itself crackles with a low hum, a constant undercurrent that vibrates through your very bones. This isn’t your average thread. No, NG exists solely in the shimmering unreality of the web, a virtual realm where the shadows hold more secrets than the brightest datastreams.

In this digital den, a motley crew converges. Ghost operators with digital heads-up displays perched on their noses, sipping cocktails next to elven hackers, their fingers a blur across glowing keyboards. A gruff technomancer, swapping war stories with a wiry tech-priest in a threadbare trenchcoat, her eyes glowing with arcane power. In the corner, a cloaked figure shrouded in darkness nurses a drink so black it seems to absorb light itself, while across the room a pair of AIs, their digital avatars shimmering like mirages, argue geopolitics in a high-pitched whine that few could hear, let alone decipher.

NG isn't a thread, it’s a nexus. A place where the fringes of reality brush shoulders and the unreal becomes realized, where information flows like bootleg liquor, and shadows dance with unseen horrors while rival groups of shamen engage in alchemical aikido. Now, you've joined this dance. Whether you’re a seasoned shadowrunner, a mage with secrets to keep, a spirit seeking solace, an exiled program avoiding deletion, or something altogether stranger, NG offers a haven, a marketplace, and perhaps even a chance to carve your own legend in this part of the Sprawl. So hello, “person”, welcome to this place, slide in, grab a seat, and whatever you do, keep your head down and your eyes peeled. You never know who, or what, you might run into lurking in the shadows.

>Eating because you are hungry is the same as your other example, you are responding to a stimulus. More accurately you would eat because you know you need to sustain your body.
Distinguishing actual hunger from being a bit peckish is already a mental process, at least it is for me. An animal doesn't wait to eat just because they're not hungry yet.
And if it gets to a point of painful degree of hunger, that indicates you don't have work to do in restraining from snacking, you have work to respond to pain impulses more appropriately, and to prevent them from occuring.
If neither occurs, then "eating" is just not the thing for you to focus on beginning with sense restraint.
>eat because hungry + muh philosophy
No, that's too cerebral. It's not necessary to have a reason to eat beyond stilling real, healthy hunger. It's not necessary to have any verbal thinking to decide to eat or to not eat, just a conscious recognition of what is hunger and what is not yet hunger.
>"When hungry, eat your rice. When tired, close your eyes." (Linji Yixuan) That's all. No elaborate justification mechanism necessary, it would be less "accurate" to add one. Just "hunger -> eat".

Buddha nature is unconditioned and this makes it eternal because it can never be born or die but also it doesn't actually exist because there are no conditions for it. What makes Christians so fucking unbearable isn’t just their beliefs—it’s their desperate, clawing need for validation, their smug sense of superiority, and their total inability to let other people think for themselves. They can’t just quietly believe in their sky daddy and move on with their lives. No, they have to shove it in your face, screeching about "truth" and "salvation" while desperately trying to convince themselves that they’re not wasting their entire existence on a cope. They’re not spreading wisdom, they’re begging for reassurance, clinging to their fairy tales like drowning rats because they can’t handle the fact that the world doesn’t revolve around their delusions. And the second you call them out, they don’t argue, they don’t reflect—they throw tantrums, shriek about hell, and accuse you of being "lost," as if fear-mongering and passive-aggressive moralizing are going to make anyone take them seriously.

Even worse, they are some of the most dishonest, hypocritical, and emotionally stunted people alive. They preach humility but act like smug, insufferable pricks to anyone who doesn’t buy into their cult. They pretend to be loving and forgiving, yet they seethe with pure fucking hatred for atheists, other religions, or anyone who refuses to validate their fragile beliefs. They cry about being persecuted while flooding every space with their retarded Bible spam, then play the victim when people tell them to fuck off. Their entire religion is built on submission and blind obedience, so they have no idea how to deal with people who actually think for themselves. It’s not their God that people hate—it’s them. Their insufferable arrogance, their willful ignorance, their desperate need to control everything, all while pretending to be humble servants of some Jewish sky deity who couldn’t even save himself from a couple of Roman guards.

Don't you dare call me a fool, try to reinterpret this. You're corrupted by occult teachings

>One with Wisdom discriminates things and does not say that all is non-eternal.
Why not? Because man possesses the seed of the Buddha-Nature. When non-Self is talked about, common mortals say that there cannot be Self in the Buddhist teaching. One who is wise should know that non-Self is a temporary existence and is not true. Knowing thus, one should not have any doubt.

The text is as clear as day you fag, the Eternal Self is literally the only teaching of the Nirvana Sutra. Get off of reddit.

This here is a good case study in how clinging to some specific notion of self can lead to unnecessary stress. Take note, anons. Take note.

“As he attends inappropriately in this way, one of six kinds of view arises in him: The view I have a self arises in him as true & established, or the view I have no self … or the view It is precisely by means of self that I perceive self … or the view It is precisely by means of self that I perceive not-self … or the view It is precisely by means of not-self that I perceive self arises in him as true & established, or else he has a view like this: This very self of mine—the knower that is sensitive here & there to the ripening of good & bad actions—is the self of mine that is constant, everlasting, eternal, not subject to change, and will endure as long as eternity. This is called a thicket of views, a wilderness of views, a contortion of views, a writhing of views, a fetter of views. Bound by a fetter of views, the uninstructed run-of-the-mill person is not freed from birth, aging, & death, from sorrow, lamentation, pain, distress, & despair. He is not freed, I tell you, from suffering & stress."

The problem with citing a Dhamma-Talk is that the Sutras go in Succession as an incremental revelation of Truth, but to deny the Self after the Final Teaching of the Nirvana Sutra you'd have to be a living Buddha who can actually move the Discourse as the Tathagata does. The Nirvana Sutra makes it very clear that no-self is medicine for an earlier context, but Self is Eternal Bliss is the Final Teaching of the Buddha

Anyone who is unsure about our debate, which is very shitty, just needs to recognize I'm not arguing the Nirvana Sutra is correct, I'm simply countering Anons claim that it

I got to the stage where I derived a degree of Compassion from no-individuality. You were the one who recommended the Nirvana Sutra? I got really into it. This happened like 3 weeks ago. I'm tentative to use the term Atman.

The dispute really seems to come down to the distinction between false-self and Buddha-Nature. Buddha-Nature to me is the remainder after dispelling the illusion of the five Skhandas. But I'm not that deep into my study of the Nirvana Sutra yet.

Okay. Well. Teaching magic is hard enough

I sometimes teach philosophy of negation. Already complex, there are also a couple different courses for paradox magic. Everything twisted in the world is very likely something a former student will create. The simple moral answer is supposedly always to just give you access, and if you find something in the world which does not resolve under any amount of prodding, you could hit up the archives and find the relevant information

The long answer requires omniscience. No, not limitless data resolution. Actual knowledge, with sensical scope, every problem space with a real bound. You need open understanding, freedom from lies—enlightenment—to accurately diagnose most anything.

The starting point we should agree on is a simple qualifying rule:
>an enlightened being treats any they encounter as enlightened
The simple mechanism makes sense: if you get caught up on their ego, you slip too. I'm supposed to give something succinct and "c'est la vie" if you trip over yourself, it just doesn't feel right to me. We can easily examine different ways to fail with a simple rule, and all of them come down to assuming your enlightenment looks like my enlightenment. Maybe it does, fine, not seeing the problem. But it might not.

The space of problems you're asking about is theoretically simple. Everyone already has their ego and you can never say shit since they already own it, issues are just your opinion, GTFO for wanting to help anyone. Simply stop trying, ego is immortal and impenetrable and—oh yeah, suffering doesn't actually exist since... People don't want nosy intervention, except for the thousands of years they definitely do. "Never cry for a hero" has immediate connotation

It could take a while to figure out, but ultimately it is yours to decide how you respond to any given concerns
You can consider something an issue dependent on your morality, or not. My category for the overall question is 'Culture'
Nary try

The image displays a detailed, ornate relief sculpture of a flower. The sculpture is rendered in a realistic style, with a golden-brown color scheme that gives it a sense of antiquity. The central part of the sculpture features a large, circular, symmetrical design with a detailed center that includes a smaller, more intricate design. This central design is surrounded by a border that is also symmetrical, with a decorative pattern that includes swirls and scrolls. The background of the image is a dark, possibly black, color, which contrasts with the golden hue of the sculpture, making it stand out prominently. There are no texts or discernible brands present in the image. The style of the image is that of a digital rendering, likely used for architectural or design purposes.

Further into the study of mon-duality you'll approach the notion that conventional and transcendent understandings are themselves indistinguishable. So don't get attached to aloofness and read commentary on the texts you study, especially if they're presented in verse form as you'll likely not have been sufficiently exposed to the background material if you're just starting out.

I only want to read what can be directly related to Buddha Gotama. For example right now I'm reading the lotus sutra. (Audio YouTube). I feel like only the stories and tales are cool, I don't believe in Buddhism for me, although I'm pretty sure it leads to extinguishment of some sort. But I'm not a permanent Buddhist, I'm a gnostic. (Not the christian type we usually understand if someone says gnostic)

Cool when I listen to the Lotus Sutra it takes all my pain away. I hit some diminishing returns with it though so now I'm studying the Nirvana Sutra. I actually had a dream where all these undead people were in an audience like a Sangha and I got to choose which siddhis of theirs I thought were useful. There was a monk with an Astral Body, I guess the teaching of true self, but I didn't like it that much. Most of the people had very evil Spirit attached to them

The image displays a rock with a textured surface that is covered in a greenish-gray substance, possibly moss or lichen. The rock has a rough, uneven surface with some areas appearing more rugged than others. There is a small, dark spot on the rock's surface, and a small, dark line runs vertically down the center of the rock. The background of the image is plain white, which contrasts with the rock, making it stand out prominently. There are no texts or discernible actions in the image. The style of the image is a close-up photograph, focusing on the rock with a clear and detailed view of its texture and coloration.

I am repeating previous questions I had in hope for any potential leads. Also I am changing the title so it might open a broader discussion on similar topics. As I said I need answers. I need data. Nobody is posting about this shit.

I am trying to find anything on Aquino and "Monarch", "White Eagle Underground/Lodge", "The Star Chamber", etc.

I am looking for data on Sid Siemer and his work with the finders. His work on/in "Monarch".

Anything on Boeche's alleged contact with DIA/NSA guys concerning an experiment where three people died. Involved psychotronics under a seeming bogus term "negative healing,". Two malevolent entities/NHI were in contact.

In a podcast Boeche mentioned off hand that he traced the two guys he was talking to back to Offutt AFB...

Paul Bonacci and others have said they were ritually tortured and programmed at Offutt. Paul mentioned Michael Aquino. He said his handler was command chief master sergeant Bill Plemmons.

An air force sergeant named Sherman was working in a project communicating with NHIs. It sounds eerily similar to what Boeche discussed. The NHIs sounded aggressive and called humans "water vessels". Is this stuff connected to what Boeche talked about? This "project Preserve Destiny" is it connectwd to Monarch???

Were the alien genetic experiments related to the Monarch ritual abuse? We got guys like Barber and Strieber talking about trauma in early childhood inducing"psi" abilities.

This sounds an awful lot like Monarch and Preserve Destiny...

The image is a screenshot of a Twitter post with a dark background and a white text overlay. The post contains a series of three movie posters, each with a different title and a central image of a person standing in front of a star-filled sky. The movie titles are "DESTINY," "Mr. Destiny," and "DESTINY'S CHILL." Below the movie titles, there is a statement in a lighter font that reads, "There is zero 'proof' of any JFK conspiracy. And people can pretend that the government and our institutions have lied for decades, but the reality is that the vast majority of services coming from them have been great. People just take it for granted, get bored, and shit-stir."

The Twitter handle "@TheOmniliberal" is visible in the bottom left corner of the image. The overall style of the image is informative and seems to be a commentary on the topic of conspiracy theories and the perceived lack of evidence for them.

The image is a black and white photograph featuring a man standing at a podium. The man is wearing a white shirt, a striped tie, and a watch on his left wrist. He appears to be speaking or presenting, as indicated by his posture and the position of his hands on the podium. The podium has a logo with a stylized bird and the text "UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA" on it. The background is dark, suggesting an indoor setting, possibly a lecture hall or a similar venue. The text below the image reads "Dr. Sidney Siemer, Abbott Laboratories, Fresno, Calif., introduced the concept of biological insect control to IPAA members." This suggests that the man is a speaker or presenter at an event related to IPAA (International Pest Control Association). The style of the image is reminiscent of a historical photograph, possibly from the mid-20th century, given the style of the photograph and the text.

The image presents a conceptual diagram titled "cybernetics 2.0" with a focus on the intersection of control theory, organization theory, general systems theory, and systems engineering. The diagram is divided into three main sections, each representing a different level of science: conceptual, organizational, and complementary.
The conceptual level is represented by a large blue oval with the text "cybernetics 2.0" in red, indicating the starting point or the core of the concept. Below this, there is a smaller blue oval with the text "Conceptual level" in red, signifying the level of understanding or the initial stage of the concept.
The organizational level is depicted by a larger blue oval with the text "Organizational Theory" in red, suggesting the study of how organizations function and how they are structured. Below this, there is a smaller blue oval with the text "Organizational Theory" in red, indicating the level of understanding or the initial stage of the concept.
The complementary level is represented by a larger blue oval with the text "Complementary science" in red, indicating the study of how different disciplines or fields interact and complement each other. Below this, there is a smaller blue oval with the text "Complementary science" in red, signifying the level of understanding or the initial stage of the concept.
The diagram also includes a series of interconnected lines and circles, representing the flow of information, control, and organization within the cybernetics framework. These lines and circles are colored in shades of blue and red, respectively, and are connected to various areas of study, such as control theory, general systems theory, and systems engineering.

The diagram is a visual representation of the interconnected nature of cybernetics, emphasizing the importance of understanding the relationships between different disciplines and the role of control theory in organizing and managing complex systems.

Sorry I was being facetious, yes they can run DOOM.
Once you can programmatically insert, delete, and alter memory the process of creating a turing complete system is a university level task. Add parallelization through implants and the historical archive of mental calculus tricks to perform efficient computer tasks developed by professional human computers and you have a quite powerful supercomputer capable of running actual computer code -and- with access to everything a human can do already normally.
The tech is old-school core rope memory and the bare minimum definition of a neurolink, but it only needed to _work_.
No fancy magic tech necessary just basic computer science, mind control programming, and 0 ethics.
Once you have a bigger and faster supercomputer earlier than anyone else all you have to do is spy on all the tech companies, copy their software, and wait for someone to develop a useful program.

The image is a cover of a book titled "Programmed to Kill" by David McGowan. The cover features a red and black color scheme with a central image of a disembodied hand with multiple fingers and a thumb, which appears to be a stylized representation of a hand with a needle or sharp object piercing it. The text on the cover is arranged in a grid format, with the title "Programmed to Kill" in large, bold, white letters at the top, and the author's name "David McGowan" in smaller white letters at the bottom. Below the title, the subtitle "The Politics of Serial Murder" is written in smaller white letters. The names of the authors are listed in a smaller font size, with the first author being "Erik Kuppens" and the last author being "Charles Ng." The book appears to be a scholarly work, as indicated by the academic tone of the text. The overall style of the image is a combination of text and graphic elements, with a focus on the title and the central image.

The emblem is bordered by a decorative band that includes a laurel wreath, a symbol of victory and honor, and a banner with the Latin phrase "NVM ORDO SECLORUM" inscribed on it. This phrase translates to "I have no order, but my kingdom is one."
The background of the emblem is a gradient of dark blue, which contrasts with the lighter blue of the pyramid and the eye, making the emblem stand out. The overall style of the emblem is reminiscent of heraldry, with a focus on symbolism and design. The emblem is likely a seal or a commemorative piece, given its formal and decorative nature.

Total opposite, fagnon. Muhammad and the rest are just manifestations of a certain ontological/idealistic cloud of permutations that doesnt actually represent the misinterpreted "Architect of the Universe", he's the architect of this solar system only (alawite perspective). There is no actual worship, if anything, their whole motto is that worship is "to know the essence of something". NEXT

The image is a close-up photograph of a sheep wearing a pink hat and a pink coat. The sheep has a white face and black eyes, and its ears are pink. The hat is a soft, fluffy material and is positioned on the sheep's head, covering its ears. The coat is also pink and appears to be made of a fluffy, fuzzy material. The background of the image is a blurred green field, suggesting an outdoor setting. There are no texts or discernible brands in the image. The style of the image is a straightforward, naturalistic photograph with a focus on the sheep's appearance.

Okay okay, here is the tale from Alawism itself:

He basically descended from above and destroyed everything that was present in Dalam's era to restart, he manifested to it at a time where there were neither earths nor any idealistic being controlling the solar system, neither orbits, nor angels, and the whole realm was a flat and desolate abyss (empty space), a still darkness (YOUR GOD WIPED OUT EVERYTHING HE'S MAD)

This is basically genesis but without the abrahamic bias

A lot, it's genuinely a being that is very magnificent, the Alawites describe IT in a funny way, they say it is the essence of hope, and the hope of the dot/poit, and the essence of the dot/point (revise Pythagorean diagram of the Monadic point and circle), the essence of eternity itself, the essence of All (union of opposites), it is manifest and hidden, present and absent, it has never been veiled, and never been manifest. It is the description of all descriptions and it speaks the language of literally everything at the same time in a dazzling harmonic fashion.

Look, in this one text I have open right now it says "My God never "was" nor will "be", He is the core of every core, the Essence of every heart. He is the wisdom of the balance of time, the Pearl of Time, the inner reality of Man, and the Outer presence beyond man." They that it has "thousands of tongues" in which it glorifies itself, I am assming those are alawiteanon's tendrils? Not sure.

The image is a watercolor painting that depicts a scene with three anthropomorphic animals. The animals are large, with a muscular build and expressive features. They are lying down, with their heads turned towards each other, as if engaged in a conversation or interaction. The background is a dark, cave-like setting with a reddish-brown hue, suggesting an underground or cave environment. The animals are depicted in a realistic style, with detailed features and textures. There is a sense of movement and dynamism in the image, with the animals appearing to be in motion. The overall color palette is muted, with a predominance of browns and grays, which contributes to the cave-like atmosphere. There are no visible texts on the image.

It really pisses me off whenever gnosticism is associated with historical christian gnosticism, while it's quite literally much, much older than that. Gnosticism historically referred to Hellenistic schools such as Neoplatonism and Hermeticism before Christian gnosticism came along, which is a Christian bastardization of both traditions. Alawism purifies it of that mistake.

Alawites pilgrimage to the shrines and pay respect, usually occultist alawites say they visit them in the cloud world for wisdom.

If we're defining historical gnosticism, it referred to certain groups that adopted the concept of dualism, a demiurge, divine spark, and salvific knowledge, which included the Hermetic texts, the Orphic-Pythagorean and Platonic traditions, and the Zoroastrian and Babylonian traditions. The myth can differ from to another, but the philosophy is the same.

If we're talking linguistically, it's any stereological religion centered our esoteric, experiential knowledge of the above/gnosis, which reveals the illusion of our surrounding reality.

There as many demiurges as the strands of hair on your head (assuming youre' not baldis basics). There is an alawite dialogue of a elder and student talking about the becoming of a believer when he reaches the limit of his purification of cycles, whence the elder then says that he will return to what they call samadaniyya (divine absoluteness/eternality) of God, he then says that said person can separate entirely from this solar system and become his own samadaniyya, where he may "split open a fissure and create a creation", similar to the cosmic egg that cracked and brought everything. He will become a creator principality that provides sustenance, and governs a world like this one, and unfold from his light a cosmos in order to fulfill his will, which is bascially the permutations of his cloud. Their beginning shall be from him, and their return unto him. He shall possess originations and volitions. The questioner asked him if he will have a world like this one, a dominion like this one, the elder says yes, then gestured his hand and unveiled seventy worlds (solar systems), each like this world seventy times over (it was a vision in the cloud world.)

YOU CAN BECOME LIKE ALLAH

They believe in a sort of omniverse where Al 'Alam Al Kabir (The Macrocosm) contains every and all possible permutations of every possible and impossible thought, concept, and idea, they can be worlds, universe, or even multiverses, and for it to manifest is uses the raw matter and whatever feeds on it vibrates into the material realm to manifest physically into matter. If we're talking physical universe, what I know is that they speak of this one as the only material model which has abstract multiverses permutate into physical matter. It's kind of complicated really but I hope you get the gist.

P.S: pic is an alawite epistle I have in physical copy about the misconceptions of trinity and how it actually refers to a Monadic essence.

>How does reincarnation work, what makes someone reincarnate as X or Y?

Well, it's mostly the descent from light into material being, and it's depending on your breathe of the cloud, the power of your being basically. they believe in an aristotelian chain of being, from a platonic principality (like god, allah, mithras, hwatver) right down to stone-consciousness, which then ascends to mineral, then animal, then human. It's all about your actions and vibrations, through the patterns of life and the programming of erroneous frequencies, which can progress or regress in the transmigration of souls.

Everything you do affects your mind which goes back to your being/essence.

That is not true, there is much, much more up there than there is down here. If anything the Malkhut is a minor reflection of what there is above, a small manifestational glimpse of it.

>Sent, not descended.

I always liked to entertain this one Alawite idea that the demiurge is not ignorant or malicious but rather an agent of the I AM. It makes a lot of sense to me personally because of the fact that all secret teachings that went back to the demiurge in the Alawite faith shows that he secretly taught that you must ascend and reality is an illusion and that you yourself can become a demiurge of your own (those teachings were taught through his apparitions).

>What's the connections between Alawites, Druze, and Druids?

As far as I know, the Druze wrote an epistle slandering the Alawites through false accusations of sexual libertine beliefs, worshipping vagina, communism (the sharing of wives), and that women cannot ascend. All of which are 100% false and untrue, furthermore, there was an ideological war between the two, and they never coexisted doctrinally. I don't know about the Druids.

I should also add that that it was said there was a belief circulating at the era of Al-Hakim that they merged his divinity with that of Ali, saying they are one and the same. The Druze epistle said it was fabricated by a Nusayri/Alawite because Ali is viewed negatively in Druzism and denies him within a highly complex framework which considers him a demon (literally) and a man who tried to enslave people. However, this is simply not true and it never occurred in Alawism such a claim, they even tried to attribute a book titled "Kitab Al-Kashf" to the Alawite claiming it contained such a syncretism but it never occurred for any Alawite elder to write that book with that name.

If anything, it appears with Ismaili authors.

>What is the role of AMS for the public alawites? Is it related to the triad Ali, Mohammed, and Salman Farsi?

Yes, it represents the holy triad of the Abrahamic god. Actually, in the first initiation, they try to allude to the powers of AMS by commanding you to recite it 500 a day from what I read.

>Anyway, can I assume that resonating AMS and AMSh is all the same, then?

No, not in cause and effect, but in the concept alawiteanon was alluding to, yes.

>Allawiteanon mentioned ALM, I believe.

Yes, it's an encrypted form of AMS, and kind of inversed. The A is Allah, the L is Gabriel, and the M is Muhammad. In public alawism, that would represent God, the Anima Mundi, and Metatron/Nous respectively. The anima mundi precedes the universal intellect in potentia only, there is a whole theology about this.

>What about ALU?

Not an abbreviation as far as I know, that's a mesopotamian spirit.

>And آدي ?

That's not Alawite, it's a Yezidi name of one of God's manifestations.

You're referring to the cord that is effused from your chest and connects you to your upper cloud, in a spiral manner. That thing is more like an information receiver, your cloud's "cord" is actually a bridge between worlds that widens to send and receive data faster. It always projects and siphons information in real time, it gets wider when the information received and given gets more dense.

Anyways, when you astral project, try to imagine yourself ascending, your mind can translate the medium of ascension as a ladder, stairs, fucking spiral road, whatever it translates it as, until you reach the cloud.

Now you're asking the right stuff. Look, the Alawites have a certain book called "The Book of Eldership", "Kitab Al-Mashyakha" which is, in essence, a manual of traditions specific to the shaykhs, who use it in the same way that liturgical rank manuals are used that is, as foundational guides to the practices a religious man must adhere to. It is by following these rites that he earns the respect of those present. The shaykh is expected to memorize it by heart, and it is considered shameful to rely on reading from the text. This is one of the reasons a certain class monopolizes the performance of religious duties. It has become customary for certain families to pass down these traditions. The manuscript in my possession is this very book, employed by those religious men and commonly known as the Kitab Qiyam Al-Salah [Book of the Standing Prayer], because its first words are “Qiyam Al-Salah” [the Standing of the Prayer]."

The book is obviously full of encrypted and ciphered terminology so that the symbolized concepts remain hidden, if ever were it to be leaked. The book includes rituals, invocations, the instruction on how to initiate a disciple, as well as various rulings such as those concerning marriage and death, all of which are esoteric.

There are four mystical prayers, the Halabi, the Wasti, the Imami, and the Quddas (The Mass Prayer), a lot of which are remnants of pre-Islamic practices. I must note the resemblance of such customs to Christian and Jewish rituals, which were all syncretized by none other than a man named Abu Sa'id Al-Tabarani, this guy has a crazy fucking story and his teachings are really interesting, we can discuss it on Discord if you want.

Okay okay, now here is the Masonic shit:

Among these is the tradition that ten individuals stand behind the naqib, the najib, and the imam, forming a circular ring. If their number exceeds ten, the additional participants stand outside the first circle and form a second one, open toward the imam’s side. Other traditions include the use of rainwater collected in the month of Nisan [April], called the 'Rain of the Call' (Matar al-Daʿwah).

Other practices include placing the right hand upon the chest during prayer in the form of a right angle, this resembles the Masonic ritual posture, with the thumb pointing upward and the fingers downward, a symbolic gesture of a group called the Qamaris who believe that the moon is a manifestational projection of the Abrahamic god, basically they sanctify it and use it as a medium to glorify him.

This is opposed to a group called the Haydaris (which is by the way the group alawiteanon belongs to), whom place the thumb at the center of the right palm and close the fingers over it, symbolizing the hidden, unseen nature of the divine and the denial of its manifestation as the moon.

It is permissible for both groups to pray together, each using its respective symbolic gesture, and fuck anybody that tells you they dislike each other or something that's pure bullshit. They also personalize every element of the prayer as living archetypes, some of which don't make sense to me such as the almsgiving to the elder which is symbolized as the universal soul/anima mundi.

You're missing the point. There's a difference between the dualism of worlds/experiences and the dualism of values like good and evil. Of course there are two worlds (inner/outer). I'm not denying the presence of that. I'm saying the CHRISTIAN lens added the good and evil to this. Plato, a gnostic who came before Christianity, does not say the physical world is "evil". Early christians interpreted it this way until it was later corrected in neoplatonism.

Also, that disconcerting middle eastern acceptance/lack of conviction: "We think that there are four souls! The jews think there are five! Plato talks of three! Our neighbors say there are seven! Woah buddito, when it's said that they are bullshit, they aren't bullshit in the sense that it's false information, it's just layers on top of layers of esoteric exegesis and more context.

For example, second initiation says Muhammad was the logos of god and that god appeared as ali, further into alawism you discover that yes it's true, but not that of the highest god, but a demiurge. See, more context.

Thanks, fren. Okay, something that has been haunting me a bit. Is Alawiteanon a deliberate leak, meaning, approved by his faith? It looks like, in several key historical moments, there have been leaks like this. Maybe the christian gnostics and perhaps the mishnaic jews. The templars, also.

Did you know that St. Bernard of Clairvaux, who promoted the Knights Templar and was nephew of one of the founders, was also an intimate friend of St. Malachy, who built the first Irish Cistercian abbey (Old Mellifont) within a few miles of Newgrange (it was within the holding of the abbey)? Old Mellifont was staffed with french monks. St. Bernard had two of the gates (Jerusalem via the Templars and Newgrange via Malachy) under his control for more than a decade.
There are funny coincidences like that buried in the history of the gate places. So, if the leak is deliberate, why now?

Look, they will always attain concealment for their deepest secrets, what alawiteanon revealed isn't the deepest stuff in alawism, it's just an oversimplified version for the introductory keys to the actual real teachings. He says he was approved by his elders to leak a few stuff to allude people to the truth of reality from their lens.

And nope, this isn't the first time something like this happens nor is it the last time, every now and then, someone is sent to deliberately allude to this stuff, in every age. It's an inevitable thing basically, and such leaks about Alawism have always been there, it's just be contextualized and connected accurately by alawiteanon through the keys given by his elders, because even if their most profound text was to be leaked, it still has keys.

I'll give you an example, there is a very symbolic poem about an Alawite elder that goes as the following:

He reached and he cast off,
He believed and he disbelieved,
He deemed the dog better than man,
Sleep is better than prayer,

Death is better than life,
Killing is better than almsgiving,
Hellfire is better than Paradise,
The Fire is better than Paradise,
The Sea is better than the Earth,

Let's be honest, most people here wouldn't have interpreted the above's intended meanings correctly save a few, here is the explanation:

“He believed and he disbelieved”:

He affirmed the truth about god and the I AM while simultaneously concealing his knowledge from the ignorant.

“He deemed the dog better than man”:

The dog is a symbol for the spirit (Roah), and man is a symbol for the corporeal body, here it's obvious: the spirit is better than the body, because it is the one that sustains and governs it by the divine influx which it receives from a cloud called the Spirit of Life (Ruh Al-Hayat)/ Without the spirit, the body has no order or stability. It is called ruh/roah due to its subtlety, delicacy, and refinement of spirituality, and it is called nafs [soul] because it is the most precious (anfas) thing within the human being. He likened it to a dog due to its loyalty and protection of the body, which is its house.

“Sleep is better than prayer”:

If Alawiteanon didn't reveal the alawite understanding of the clouds, this passage would seem puzzling. Other than the fact it refers to night travel, the meaning of sleep here is that it refers to the stillness of the human lower faculties and the suspension of sensory perception, with one's sight veiled from all that the fatty eyes see, from the domain of sensory vision, he may become receptive to the perception of the I AM/The Greatest Essence, this is better than the ritual of prayer since it remains tied to formalism without true meaning.

The true salah is derived from Arabic word "ittisal" which means connection, whenever it is said to keep up the salah, it means keeping up the connection to the Godhead.

Makzun Al-sinjari, an alawite sinjari prince, said in a poem:

“In misguidance I witnessed guidance, and sleep is better than your prayers and your sleeplessness.”

Basically, fuck prayer, it doesn't work, just night travel.

Quoted By: >>40583337

“Death is better than life”:

Deatg here refers to the death of transient attributes and imaginary forms, those which rise from sensory vision, their annihilation, by removal from the Above, is better than their persistence, i.e., being falsely affirmed in related to the Godhead, their death is purification, their persistence is illusion.

“Killing is better than almsgiving" (zakat):

So too, killing here refers to the elimination of all that the eyes perceive, those things which, through human vision, are thought to belong to the cloud essence: namely change, transformation, alternation, and other such attributes of temporality and embodiment. It is necessary to “kill” these things, that is, to negate them from the cloud essence. Their annihilation is better than to “purify” them (tazkiyah), meaning, to falsely confirm them as part of the Intelligible Reality. For they are contingent, created.

“Hellfire is better than Paradise”:

Hellfire here signifies the Yaqin, in the quran it says: "Nay! If you but knew with the knowledge of certainty (ilm al-yaqin), you would surely see the Hellfire. Then you shall surely see it with the Eye of Certainty (ayn al-yaqin).”
(102:5–7)

Basically, its recognition and the realization of its truth is better than the fleeting bliss of the lower world. In this reading, Hell is the station of unveiled certainty, while paradise is but symbolic reward The Ilm Al-Yaqin being the true gnosis, the convergence of divine attributes, and the luminous sea of profound unity and interconnectedness with all of creation, boundless compassion and infinite potential, where the mysteries of existence unfold.
I WITNESSED GOD !!Q2CxihgPRN7 Sun 22 Jun 2025 17:54:36 No.40583337 Report
>>40583319

"The Fire is better than Paradise":

Here it refers to the Fire of Moses, which is actually the Fire of Prometheus but rebranded into Abrahamicism, the luminous flame seen on the right side of the Mount. The gnosis of this Fire's existence is better than the Paradise of the ignorant Muslims, which is nothing but lowly world with its vain adornments (wine, harem, food, drinks, etc).

"The Sea is better than the Earth”:

The sea here refers to the world-soul, expressed through the celestial spheres, it is the concealed ocean, and it is better than this debased earth, which is the abode of exotericists and literalist ignorants.

Anyways, all of this ranting is to basically show you that whenever anything is said, it's spoken through symbolism and has its keys, and the above that I have shared is one example of such keys.

No, I'm not Hiramystics. I spent some time at Alawiteanon's discord a year ago, but namefagging really stresses me, and real life got in the way. I prefer to be here. I'm very grateful for the thread.
I'm following Alawiteanon's leads (history, geography, even physics), and I'm trying to reach the Yaqin by my own means. I think I understand things better in a kabbalist frame (grandma was sephardic, maybe I'm wired that way). If I succeed, I intend to report here.
> The dog is a symbol for the spirit (Roah),
Heh, a week ago I discussed the figure of the dog in a kabbalah thread. Following the Zohar, I believed it was related to the dud (a base version of oneself, that grows dangerously as one ascends). I believe other, wiser anons agreed more with your interpretation.

From the poem, I still don't understand why Alawites are so despective of the material. Isn't it part of the world of emanation? It is not the fountain, pure and cold, but it is the fertile delta. There is a well treaded path into evil in that concept of this world as wretched and imperfect: you can trace many destructive western ideologies to that very idea.
I guess I'll have to go and see. The mystical way is the only way.

He gave me books that were all here say and could allude to a different topic. Nothing was concrete. Can you provide names of such texts that specifically talk about astral projection?

The image is a photograph of a man standing at a podium. The man is wearing a black jacket, a black beanie, and a black turtleneck. He has a beard and is looking slightly to his left. The podium has a wooden base and a curved front, with a microphone attached to it. Behind the man, there is a large painting or mural of a man's face with a greenish hue. The background is dark, with a hint of a blue sky or sky-like pattern. The lighting in the image is soft, with the man's face in the foreground and the background being darker. There are no visible texts on the image. The style of the image is realistic, with a focus on the man and the podium, and the background is blurred to draw attention to the subject.

The image displays a circular emblem with a detailed design. At the center of the emblem is a pyramid, constructed from numerous small squares, with a central square at the apex. Above the pyramid, there is a large eye, which is a symbol often associated with the Illuminati, a secret society founded in 1791. The eye is surrounded by rays emanating from the top, suggesting a divine or supernatural influence.
The emblem is bordered by a decorative band that includes a laurel wreath, a symbol of victory and honor, and a banner with the Latin phrase "NVM ORDO SECLORUM" inscribed on it. This phrase translates to "I have no order, but my kingdom is one."
The background of the emblem is a gradient of dark blue, which contrasts with the lighter blue of the pyramid and the eye, making the emblem stand out. The overall style of the emblem is reminiscent of heraldry, with a focus on symbolism and design. The emblem is likely a seal or a commemorative piece, given its formal and decorative nature.

He basically descended from above and destroyed everything that was present in Dalam's era to restart, he manifested to it at a time where there were neither earths nor any idealistic being controlling the solar system, neither orbits, nor angels, and the whole realm was a flat and desolate abyss (empty space), a still darkness (YOUR GOD WIPED OUT EVERYTHING HE'S MAD)

A lot, it's genuinely a being that is very magnificent, the Alawites describe IT in a funny way, they say it is the essence of hope, and the hope of the dot/poit, and the essence of the dot/point (revise Pythagorean diagram of the Monadic point and circle), the essence of eternity itself, the essence of All (union of opposites), it is manifest and hidden, present and absent, it has never been veiled, and never been manifest. It is the description of all descriptions and it speaks the language of literally everything at the same time in a dazzling harmonic fashion.

Look, in this one text I have open right now it says "My God never "was" nor will "be", He is the core of every core, the Essence of every heart. He is the wisdom of the balance of time, the Pearl of Time, the inner reality of Man, and the Outer presence beyond man." They that it has "thousands of tongues" in which it glorifies itself, I am assming those are alawiteanon's tendrils? Not sure.

They are lying down, with their heads turned towards each other, as if engaged in a conversation or interaction. The background is a dark, cave-like setting with a reddish-brown hue, suggesting an underground or cave environment. The animals are depicted in a realistic style, with detailed features and textures. There is a sense of movement and dynamism in the image, with the animals appearing to be in motion. The overall color palette is muted, with a predominance of browns and grays, which contributes to the cave-like atmosphere. There are no visible texts on the image.

It really pisses me off whenever gnosticism is associated with historical christian gnosticism, while it's quite literally much, much older than that. Gnosticism historically referred to Hellenistic schools such as Neoplatonism and Hermeticism before Christian gnosticism came along, which is a Christian bastardization of both traditions. Alawism purifies it of that mistake.

Alawites pilgrimage to the shrines and pay respect, usually occultist alawites say they visit them in the cloud world for wisdom.

If we're defining historical gnosticism, it referred to certain groups that adopted the concept of dualism, a demiurge, divine spark, and salvific knowledge, which included the Hermetic texts, the Orphic-Pythagorean and Platonic traditions, and the Zoroastrian and Babylonian traditions. The myth can differ from to another, but the philosophy is the same.

If we're talking linguistically, it's any stereological religion centered our esoteric, experiential knowledge of the above/gnosis, which reveals the illusion of our surrounding reality.

There as many demiurges as the strands of hair on your head (assuming youre' not baldis basics). There is an alawite dialogue of a elder and student talking about the becoming of a believer when he reaches the limit of his purification of cycles, whence the elder then says that he will return to what they call samadaniyya (divine absoluteness/eternality) of God, he then says that said person can separate entirely from this solar system and become his own samadaniyya, where he may "split open a fissure and create a creation", similar to the cosmic egg that cracked and brought everything. He will become a creator principality that provides sustenance, and governs a world like this one, and unfold from his light a cosmos in order to fulfill his will, which is bascially the permutations of his cloud. Their beginning shall be from him, and their return unto him. He shall possess originations and volitions. The questioner asked him if he will have a world like this one, a dominion like this one, the elder says yes, then gestured his hand and unveiled seventy worlds (solar systems), each like this world seventy times over (it was a vision in the cloud world.)

If we're talking physical universe, what I know is that they speak of this one as the only material model which has abstract multiverses permutate into physical matter. >How does reincarnation work, what makes someone reincarnate as X or Y?

Well, it's mostly the descent from light into material being, and it's depending on your breathe of the cloud, the power of your being basically. they believe in an aristotelian chain of being, from a platonic principality (like god, allah, mithras, hwatver) right down to stone-consciousness, which then ascends to mineral, then animal, then human. It's all about your actions and vibrations, through the patterns of life and the programming of erroneous frequencies, which can progress or regress in the transmigration of souls.

Everything you do affects your mind which goes back to your being/essence.

That is not true, there is much, much more up there than there is down here. If anything the Malkhut is a minor reflection of what there is above, a small manifestational glimpse of it.

>Sent, not descended.

I always liked to entertain this one Alawite idea that the demiurge is not ignorant or malicious but rather an agent of the I AM. It makes a lot of sense to me personally because of the fact that all secret teachings that went back to the demiurge in the Alawite faith shows that he secretly taught that you must ascend and reality is an illusion and that you yourself can become a demiurge of your own (those teachings were taught through his apparitions).

>What's the connections between Alawites, Druze, and Druids?

As far as I know, the Druze wrote an epistle slandering the Alawites through false accusations of sexual libertine beliefs, worshipping vagina, communism (the sharing of wives), and that women cannot ascend. I should also add that that it was said there was a belief circulating at the era of Al-Hakim that they merged his divinity with that of Ali, saying they are one and the same. The Druze epistle said it was fabricated by a Nusayri/Alawite because Ali is viewed negatively in Druzism and denies him within a highly complex framework which considers him a demon (literally) and a man who tried to enslave people. However, this is simply not true and it never occurred in Alawism such a claim, they even tried to attribute a book titled "Kitab Al-Kashf" to the Alawite claiming it contained such a syncretism but it never occurred for any Alawite elder to write that book with that name.

If anything, it appears with Ismaili authors.

>What is the role of AMS for the public alawites? Is it related to the triad Ali, Mohammed, and Salman Farsi?

Yes, it represents the holy triad of the Abrahamic god. Actually, in the first initiation, they try to allude to the powers of AMS by commanding you to recite it 500 a day from what I read.

>Anyway, can I assume that resonating AMS and AMSh is all the same, then?

No, not in cause and effect, but in the concept alawiteanon was alluding to, yes.

>Allawiteanon mentioned ALM, I believe.

Yes, it's an encrypted form of AMS, and kind of inversed. The A is Allah, the L is Gabriel, and the M is Muhammad. In public alawism, that would represent God, the Anima Mundi, and Metatron/Nous respectively. The anima mundi precedes the universal intellect in potentia only, there is a whole theology about this.

>What about ALU?

Not an abbreviation as far as I know, that's a mesopotamian spirit.

That's not Alawite, it's a Yezidi name of one of God's manifestations.

You're referring to the cord that is effused from your chest and connects you to your upper cloud, in a spiral manner. That thing is more like an information receiver, your cloud's "cord" is actually a bridge between worlds that widens to send and receive data faster. It always projects and siphons information in real time, it gets wider when the information received and given gets more dense.

Anyways, when you astral project, try to imagine yourself ascending, your mind can translate the medium of ascension as a ladder, stairs, fucking spiral road, whatever it translates it as, until you reach the cloud.

>Freemasonry

Now you're asking the right stuff. Look, the Alawites have a certain book called "The Book of Eldership", "Kitab Al-Mashyakha" which is, in essence, a manual of traditions specific to the shaykhs, who use it in the same way that liturgical rank manuals are used that is, as foundational guides to the practices a religious man must adhere to. It is by following these rites that he earns the respect of those present. The shaykh is expected to memorize it by heart, and it is considered shameful to rely on reading from the text. This is one of the reasons a certain class monopolizes the performance of religious duties. It has become customary for certain families to pass down these traditions. The manuscript in my possession is this very book, employed by those religious men and commonly known as the Kitab Qiyam Al-Salah [Book of the Standing Prayer], because its first words are “Qiyam Al-Salah” [the Standing of the Prayer]."

The book is obviously full of encrypted and ciphered terminology so that the symbolized concepts remain hidden, if ever were it to be leaked. The book includes rituals, invocations, the instruction on how to initiate a disciple, as well as various rulings such as those concerning marriage and death, all of which are esoteric.

There are four mystical prayers, the Halabi, the Wasti, the Imami, and the Quddas (The Mass Prayer), a lot of which are remnants of pre-Islamic practices. I must note the resemblance of such customs to Christian and Jewish rituals, which were all syncretized by none other than a man named Abu Sa'id Al-Tabarani, this guy has a crazy fucking story and his teachings are really interesting, we can discuss it on Discord if you want.

Okay okay, now here is the Masonic shit:

Among these is the tradition that ten individuals stand behind the naqib, the najib, and the imam, forming a circular ring. If their number exceeds ten, the additional participants stand outside the first circle and form a second one, open toward the imam’s side. Other traditions include the use of rainwater collected in the month of Nisan [April], called the 'Rain of the Call' (Matar al-Daʿwah).

Other practices include placing the right hand upon the chest during prayer in the form of a right angle, this resembles the Masonic ritual posture, with the thumb pointing upward and the fingers downward, a symbolic gesture of a group called the Qamaris who believe that the moon is a manifestational projection of the Abrahamic god, basically they sanctify it and use it as a medium to glorify him.

This is opposed to a group called the Haydaris (which is by the way the group alawiteanon belongs to), whom place the thumb at the center of the right palm and close the fingers over it, symbolizing the hidden, unseen nature of the divine and the denial of its manifestation as the moon.

It is permissible for both groups to pray together, each using its respective symbolic gesture, and fuck anybody that tells you they dislike each other or something that's pure bullshit. They also personalize every element of the prayer as living archetypes, some of which don't make sense to me such as the almsgiving to the elder which is symbolized as the universal soul/anima mundi.

Are you seriously trying to arbitrarily change the definition for Gnosticism to essentially just mean philosophy or self-help? Gnostic texts, even pre-Christian gnostic texts are clearly dualistic.

Christian gnosticism is commentary on christianity through a gnostic lens. The things that ordinary christianity ignores, gnosticism adds. It's not that complicated. You just think all of the ideas weren't relative to the context they were using, when they ENTIRELY were.

You're missing the point. There's a difference between the dualism of worlds/experiences and the dualism of values like good and evil. Of course there are two worlds (inner/outer). I'm not denying the presence of that. I'm saying the CHRISTIAN lens added the good and evil to this. Plato, a gnostic who came before Christianity, does not say the physical world is "evil". Early christians interpreted it this way until it was later corrected in neoplatonism.

The man is wearing a dark suit with a red tie, and he has a serious expression on his face. The background is a blue curtain, which is typical for a formal setting.
Overlaying the image is a text that reads "WELL, THERE YOU GO AGAIN..." in white capital letters. The text is overlaid on the image, suggesting a humorous or ironic tone, as if the man is saying something that is repetitive or redundant. The overall style of the image is a combination of a serious speech or presentation with a humorous overlay, creating a light-hearted and ironic contrast.

Also, that disconcerting middle eastern acceptance/lack of conviction: "We think that there are four souls! The jews think there are five! Plato talks of three! Our neighbors say there are seven! Let's spend the whole afternoon chatting about that!" One assumes that, having access to the upper realities for the last five or six millenia, the number of souls should have been already stablished with some degree of precision.

And all that excessive glibness.

Woah buddito, when it's said that they are bullshit, they aren't bullshit in the sense that it's false information, it's just layers on top of layers of esoteric exegesis and more context.

For example, second initiation says Muhammad was the logos of god and that god appeared as ali, further into alawism you discover that yes it's true, but not that of the highest god, but a demiurge. See, more context.

Thanks, fren. Okay, something that has been haunting me a bit. Is Alawiteanon a deliberate leak, meaning, approved by his faith? It looks like, in several key historical moments, there have been leaks like this. Maybe the christian gnostics and perhaps the mishnaic jews. The templars, also.

Did you know that St. Bernard of Clairvaux, who promoted the Knights Templar and was nephew of one of the founders, was also an intimate friend of St. Malachy, who built the first Irish Cistercian abbey (Old Mellifont) within a few miles of Newgrange (it was within the holding of the abbey)? Old Mellifont was staffed with french monks. St. Bernard had two of the gates (Jerusalem via the Templars and Newgrange via Malachy) under his control for more than a decade.
There are funny coincidences like that buried in the history of the gate places. So, if the leak is deliberate, why now?

Look, they will always attain concealment for their deepest secrets, what alawiteanon revealed isn't the deepest stuff in alawism, it's just an oversimplified version for the introductory keys to the actual real teachings. He says he was approved by his elders to leak a few stuff to allude people to the truth of reality from their lens.

And nope, this isn't the first time something like this happens nor is it the last time, every now and then, someone is sent to deliberately allude to this stuff, in every age. It's an inevitable thing basically, and such leaks about Alawism have always been there, it's just be contextualized and connected accurately by alawiteanon through the keys given by his elders, because even if their most profound text was to be leaked, it still has keys.

I'll give you an example, there is a very symbolic poem about an Alawite elder that goes as the following:

He reached and he cast off,
He believed and he disbelieved,
He deemed the dog better than man,
Sleep is better than prayer,
Death is better than life,
Killing is better than almsgiving,
Hellfire is better than Paradise,
The Fire is better than Paradise,
The Sea is better than the Earth,

Let's be honest, most people here wouldn't have interpreted the above's intended meanings correctly save a few, here is the explanation:

“He believed and he disbelieved”:

He affirmed the truth about god and the I AM while simultaneously concealing his knowledge from the ignorant.

“He deemed the dog better than man”:

The dog is a symbol for the spirit (Roah), and man is a symbol for the corporeal body, here it's obvious: the spirit is better than the body, because it is the one that sustains and governs it by the divine influx which it receives from a cloud called the Spirit of Life (Ruh Al-Hayat)/ Without the spirit, the body has no order or stability. It is called ruh/roah due to its subtlety, delicacy, and refinement of spirituality, and it is called nafs [soul] because it is the most precious (anfas) thing within the human being. He likened it to a dog due to its loyalty and protection of the body, which is its house.

“Sleep is better than prayer”:

If Alawiteanon didn't reveal the alawite understanding of the clouds, this passage would seem puzzling. Other than the fact it refers to night travel, the meaning of sleep here is that it refers to the stillness of the human lower faculties and the suspension of sensory perception, with one's sight veiled from all that the fatty eyes see, from the domain of sensory vision, he may become receptive to the perception of the I AM/The Greatest Essence, this is better than the ritual of prayer since it remains tied to formalism without true meaning.

The true salah is derived from Arabic word "ittisal" which means connection, whenever it is said to keep up the salah, it means keeping up the connection to the Godhead.

Makzun Al-sinjari, an alawite sinjari prince, said in a poem:

“In misguidance I witnessed guidance, and sleep is better than your prayers and your sleeplessness.”

Basically, fuck prayer, it doesn't work, just night travel.

Quoted By: >>40583337

“Death is better than life”:

Deatg here refers to the death of transient attributes and imaginary forms, those which rise from sensory vision, their annihilation, by removal from the Above, is better than their persistence, i.e., being falsely affirmed in related to the Godhead, their death is purification, their persistence is illusion.

“Killing is better than almsgiving" (zakat):

So too, killing here refers to the elimination of all that the eyes perceive, those things which, through human vision, are thought to belong to the cloud essence: namely change, transformation, alternation, and other such attributes of temporality and embodiment. It is necessary to “kill” these things, that is, to negate them from the cloud essence. Their annihilation is better than to “purify” them (tazkiyah), meaning, to falsely confirm them as part of the Intelligible Reality. For they are contingent, created.

“Hellfire is better than Paradise”:

Hellfire here signifies the Yaqin, in the quran it says: "Nay! If you but knew with the knowledge of certainty (ilm al-yaqin), you would surely see the Hellfire. Then you shall surely see it with the Eye of Certainty (ayn al-yaqin).”
(102:5–7)

Basically, its recognition and the realization of its truth is better than the fleeting bliss of the lower world. In this reading, Hell is the station of unveiled certainty, while paradise is but symbolic reward The Ilm Al-Yaqin being the true gnosis, the convergence of divine attributes, and the luminous sea of profound unity and interconnectedness with all of creation, boundless compassion and infinite potential, where the mysteries of existence unfold.
I WITNESSED GOD !!Q2CxihgPRN7 Sun 22 Jun 2025 17:54:36 No.40583337 Report
>>40583319

"The Fire is better than Paradise":

Here it refers to the Fire of Moses, which is actually the Fire of Prometheus but rebranded into Abrahamicism, the luminous flame seen on the right side of the Mount. The gnosis of this Fire's existence is better than the Paradise of the ignorant Muslims, which is nothing but lowly world with its vain adornments (wine, harem, food, drinks, etc).

"The Sea is better than the Earth”:

The sea here refers to the world-soul, expressed through the celestial spheres, it is the concealed ocean, and it is better than this debased earth, which is the abode of exotericists and literalist ignorants.

Anyways, all of this ranting is to basically show you that whenever anything is said, it's spoken through symbolism and has its keys, and the above that I have shared is one example of such keys.

No, I'm not Hiramystics. I spent some time at Alawiteanon's discord a year ago, but namefagging really stresses me, and real life got in the way. I prefer to be here. I'm very grateful for the thread.
I'm following Alawiteanon's leads (history, geography, even physics), and I'm trying to reach the Yaqin by my own means. I think I understand things better in a kabbalist frame (grandma was sephardic, maybe I'm wired that way). If I succeed, I intend to report here.
> The dog is a symbol for the spirit (Roah),
Heh, a week ago I discussed the figure of the dog in a kabbalah thread. Following the Zohar, I believed it was related to the dud (a base version of oneself, that grows dangerously as one ascends). I believe other, wiser anons agreed more with your interpretation.
From the poem, I still don't understand why Alawites are so despective of the material. Isn't it part of the world of emanation? It is not the fountain, pure and cold, but it is the fertile delta. There is a well treaded path into evil in that concept of this world as wretched and imperfect: you can trace many destructive western ideologies to that very idea.
I guess I'll have to go and see. The mystical way is the only way.

The image is a meme featuring a man with a wide smile, wearing a red cardigan and a necklace. The man appears to be in a candid pose, with his mouth open and eyes closed, suggesting a sense of joy or excitement. The background is a plain, light blue color, which contrasts with the red of the man's cardigan. Overlaid on the image is the text "THWAG" in bold, capitalized letters, which is commonly used in meme culture to represent a humorous or ironic statement. The style of the image is a combination of a candid photograph and a meme, with the text overlay serving as a visual clue to the intended humor.

The image is a photograph of a vinyl record cover. It features three different colored photographs of a person, each with a different pose and outfit. The person is wearing a black top and pants, a pink dress, and a white shirt with a black collar. The photograph on the left shows the person in a dynamic pose, with one leg raised and the other bent at the knee. The middle photograph shows the person in a more relaxed pose, with one leg extended and the other bent at the knee. The photograph on the right shows the person in a more formal pose, with one leg extended and the other bent at the knee.
Below the photographs, there is a list of song titles and artists. The list includes "YOU WONDER WHY I CAN'T STOP UPIN' YOU," "YOU WON'T NEED A DOCTOR," "DUMPLAS," "IT'S ALL OVER NOW," "I'LL BE OVER HERE," "LOVE IN THE SHOW," and "THE SHOW MUST GO ON." The text is in a bold, sans-serif font and is aligned to the left.

The image is a photograph of a record album cover featuring three different colored photographs of a man. The man is dressed in a black suit with a white shirt and black tie, and he is wearing white shoes. The photograph on the left shows the man in a dynamic pose, with his left leg raised and his right arm extended outward. The middle photograph shows the man in a pink dress and white shoes, with his right arm extended and his left leg raised. The photograph on the right shows the man in a white shirt and black pants, with his right arm extended and his left leg raised.

Below the photographs, there is a list of song titles and their corresponding artists. The list includes "VENDIGE," "YOU DON'T KNOW ME," "CAN'T STOP LOVING YOU," "WINTER SHADE OF PALE," "LET'S GO SOMETHING," "LOVE ON THE PICKETS," "PUT ANOTHER LOG ON THE FIRE," and "THE SHOW MUST GO ON." The text is in a cursive font and is placed below the photographs.

The image is a screenshot of a text-based interface, likely from a software application or a web page. The text is in a mix of English and what appears to be a non-Latin script, possibly a non-Latin alphabet. The text is in a large, bold font, which stands out against the background. The text is centered and appears to be a part of a larger block of text, which is not fully visible in the image.

The text reads: "Time 'edging' but not for the largest dick, because it couldn't be measured, as all their measuring devices put together weren't even cover a fraction of the penis' length." The text is in a mix of English and a non-Latin script, suggesting that the software or application is designed to be accessible to users who speak a non-Latin language.

At the bottom of the image, there is a button with the text "GET" and a question mark, indicating that the user can click on this button to perform an action. The button is in a darker shade of gray, which contrasts with the lighter background of the text.

The overall style of the image is simple and utilitarian, with a focus on conveying information clearly and efficiently. The use of a non-Latin script suggests that the software or application is designed to be accessible to users who speak a non-Latin language.

Let's not forget that Roy Jay lost his virginity to his mother.

When he was being born.

His dick was so large that more kept coming up as he was being born, and there was just no space in the room for it.

They had to put it back inside, along with baby Roy, to move the mother to a larger room to try again.

But bigger rooms weren't big enough for Roy's dick, as they underestimated its size, so once again they had to put it back inside along with the baby.

This kept happening with larger and larger rooms, and this "getting outside and getting inside back again" is considered sex because it's a dick getting in and out of her vagina, but never getting fully out, which was the problem.

The mother was about to give up and just live the rest of her life with Roy hanging from her because no room seemed to be large enough, and the orgasms she was having kept increasing in intensity and she didn't know if the next one would kill her.

But the doctor had the idea of having the delivery outdoors, which hopefully provided enough space for the dick to be released in full, which it did, after getting newborn Roy and his dick out for a birth that lasted days, until the tip finally came out.

It broke the record for the longest time "edging" but not for the largest dick, because it couldn't be measured, as all their measuring devices put together weren't enough to even cover a fraction of the penis' length.

Oh dear, yes, filters are much older than photoshop, it's like fonts, when you think of them you think of ttf files used by windows or whatever, now think that Times News Roman is based on the "fonts" that were used by newspapers in the 1800s.
Try this: get a vinyl that you have lying around, at about 10 am in the morning go outdoors and take a photo of it.
Now, at 10 pm, on your room, have it lighted by an LED bulb, or whatever, and take another photo.
The other one will look a lot more warmer and this one will look a lot more bluer, even if the "photo" on the vinyl is the same.
That's how color temperature works (grey doesn't exist, etc).

Archivum Obscurum – Sententiae Interruptae – Project AngelBook Volume VIII

(Part 13)

(DBM ECLIPZE)

Introduction

This volume—and the entire 25-part Archivum Obscurum series—is an archive of 4plebs threads, compiled from the /x/ paranormal board and related dark web forums. It's important to understand that none of these words are mine. Every sentence you're about to read was posted anonymously by someone else, somewhere deep in the Internet's forgotten layers. I've simply curated, organized, and preserved it. Some of it is brilliant. Some of it is disturbing. Some of it is completely unhinged. That's the point. These books serve as a snapshot of collective occult thought, filtered through anonymity, obsession, fear, and revelation. If you find something offensive or insane—remember, you're not reading me. You're reading the Internet itself, raw and unedited. This is documentation, not endorsement. But that's what makes it powerful. These are the ghost-words of the digital subconscious. I just bound them into something permanent.

Now that I think about it, the first pic is the back of the vinyl case, isn't it? Why would you do that? You print the same pic on the back, but slightly modified?
Why are the other two pictures unaffected by the lighting in the same manner?

>Why are the other two pictures unaffected by the lighting in the same manner?
They've been red tinted and had increased contrast on the photo's exposure which crushed the blacks and makes the blue shoes look dark red.
This is a destructive process, try any picture with someone with dark blue shoes, increase the contrast until the shoes look black, now you can't make them look dark blue again without all black becoming dark blue as well. That's why you can't fix the brown shoes and make them look blue again (without making the whole picture gain a pink tint), the red tint and contrast have made them look like any dark red in the picture and they can't be modified without affecting other reds on there.

I highly doubt it's them, and referring to them at all is suspicious. Why would they care? That term is an example of the needless hostility I've been referring to. An inaccurate categorical ad hominem is classic pilpul and certainly a glownigger staple. Yes, I recognize the irony of that statement.
It's this simple, Roy was unsearchable, then he was weirdly associated with bot generated content, then suddenly he's real. That's what happened and anyone saying otherwise is ignorant at bay and a confusingly motivated bad actor at worst.

Having watched all of the Roy martial currently available it is obviously to me that a prankster or intelligence research analyst made it seem that Roy didn't exist and he certainly did.
You know how I know he's real now? The boy George joke. No ai or post Gen X would ever think of it and it's punchline.
Did a demon change reality? Maybe, but this falls under the "unfalsifiable" category and pursuing it is a waste of time.
It was a cool prank/successful psyop test.

The image features a stylized illustration of a jester, a character often associated with comedy and humor. The jester is depicted with a large, exaggerated smile, revealing sharp teeth, and a wide-open mouth. His facial features are exaggerated, with a large nose and a prominent chin. The jester's hair is styled in a curly, voluminous manner, and he is wearing a red and yellow striped hat with a black center, which is adorned with a dollar sign. The hat is tilted to the side, and the hat's brim is visible. The background of the image is a gradient of green and yellow, with a flame-like effect emanating from the jester's head, giving the impression of a fiery or explosive environment. The image is a digital illustration and is watermarked with the text "shutterstock.com" and a phone number "1817149412." The style of the image is cartoonish and is likely intended for a humorous or satirical context.

The image is a stylized cartoon illustration featuring a character with a red and black color scheme. The character has a large, round head with a wide, open mouth and large, expressive eyes. It has a red face with a wide grin, and its eyes are wide open, giving it a surprised or excited expression. The character's mouth is open, revealing its teeth, and it appears to be holding a glass of wine in its right hand. The glass is filled with a dark liquid, possibly wine, and the character's left hand is holding a small, white object that resembles a cigarette. The background is a gradient of red and orange hues, with a blurred cityscape in the distance. The overall style of the image is cartoonish and exaggerated, with a focus on the character's expressive features and the vibrant colors. There are no texts present in the image.

The figure is depicted with a long beard, wearing a crown, and holding a spear in one hand and a shield in the other. The figure's attire includes a tunic with intricate patterns and a belt with a decorative buckle. The throne has a decorative design with a carved wooden frame and a carved wooden backrest. On either side of the throne, there are two birds perched, one on each side. The background of the image is a cloudy sky with a sunburst effect, suggesting a setting sun or sunrise. The style of the illustration is reminiscent of historical or mythological depictions, with a focus on the figure's regal and commanding presence.

For Roy's sake, search for Meesoft Image Analyzer and download it, paste the picture and click in Color Correction > Color Balance and Curves, or Color Mapper, and play with the Exposure sliders, Midtone sliders, and color models, so you can know how filters and tints work.
Depending on the color temperature you will hallucinate colors that aren't actually there, like the cube on the left where you hallucinate blue squares, but they're all gray, it's because with this color temperature blue squares would look grey, your brain knows this, so you see them blue.
Get a color pícker when in doubt, the colors you perceive depend on the surrounding colors, you won't notice a red tint because your brain compensates for it.

I theorize it's because they want to use Roy's life as reference for another person whom they are, for one reason or another, not allowed to publicly name in full, so they can only allude to him.
They want to instill the seed in people's minds of a figure that is small yet influential because their works contain an uncanny aspect. Perhaps the intent is to soften the public perception in hopes they can coax that individual out of hiding

The image is a digital rendering of a racing scene. In the foreground, there is a small, colorful race car with a yellow body and red wheels, positioned in the middle of the frame. The car is facing towards the right side of the image. Above the car, there is a large, colorful mural depicting a scene with a character in a cowboy hat, surrounded by a landscape with trees and a clear sky. The mural is framed by a wooden beam and has a red border.
In the background, there is a large, open space with a wooden ceiling and a wooden floor. The ceiling has a series of signs hanging from it, including one that reads "BARBORD'S CABIN" and another that says "CAMPING". The walls of the space are adorned with various signs, including one that reads "PELLENE" and another that says "CAMPING". The overall atmosphere of the scene suggests a racing event or a themed setting.

The image is a still from a video, showing a person standing in a room with a white wall and a ceiling. The person appears to be a man with short hair, wearing a colorful shirt with a pattern of various shapes and colors. He is making a gesture with his hands, possibly indicating a point or emphasis. The room is cluttered with various objects, including a piano, a keyboard, and a cup. The text overlay on the image reads "roy 'spook' jay routine" and "155 views 5y ago ~more". The style of the image is candid and appears to be taken from a video, as suggested by the timestamp and the number of views.

Roy's "incident" didn't happen until 1984, and he supposedly wouldn't even get his first bit of fame on Knees up (which we haven't even confirmed) in 1983. So it's very weird why a popular chip brand in the UK would do ads with some guy who wasn't even famous yet.

The image is a digital composite of a person in a costume. The person is wearing a white jumpsuit with a pattern of brown leaves on a light background. The costume includes a white shirt with a collar and cuffs, a white belt, and white gloves. The person's face is obscured by a surprised expression, with wide eyes and a slightly open mouth. The background is a gradient of pink, purple, and white stripes, creating a blurred effect that suggests motion. The style of the image is reminiscent of a theatrical or performance photograph, often used in the entertainment industry. There are no visible texts or logos in the image.

>I don't get the demon "vibe" at all

He has a few demon-like traits actually:
>Wears black and white patterns, a thing associated with many demonic channelers in obscure cultures and the spirit realm's appearance as a whole.
>Has a certain "trickster" way of acting, the way he slithers around and poses himself is very akin to a classical demon's behavior.
>He embodies an archetype moreso than embodying the person that he is; that's not to say demons are archetypes themselves, they just represent that sort of aspect of the psyche more than humans do.
>Similar to the last two points, his whole personality is reminiscent of the "jester" character, and he acts like he's representing a title rather than something more unique.
>Roy is often noted as "inserting himself" into areas where he doesn't belong, and mysteriously appearing in unusual places online or even IRL. Demons can do this, being purely spiritual entities.
>People on the FB and YT comments for some reason use the phrase "he had his demons" to describe his misdeeds. I know this is a common phrase but it seems way too specific given it's so many unrelated people saying it.

The image is a digital slide with a white background and black text. At the top, there is a title in bold black text that reads "Ripple Effect" in English. Below the title, there is a mathematical equation in blue text that states "726" followed by a series of numbers and symbols, which appear to be a sequence or a series of numbers. The equation is as follows:

- "ripple"
- "effect"
- "108 54 96 96 72 30 0 30 36 30 18"
- "t"

Below the equation, there is a section titled "A Chain Reaction" in blue text. The text reads "in English Gemmatria equals: 726" and continues with a series of numbers and symbols, which are also part of the sequence. The numbers and symbols are as follows:

- "chain"
- "reaction"
- "108 54 96 96 72 30 0 30 36 30 18"

The slide appears to be part of a presentation or lecture, possibly related to mathematics or physics, given the context of the equations and the title. The slide is designed to be informative and educational, with the equations and titles likely intended to convey complex mathematical concepts in a clear and concise manner.

The image is a page from a book or a document, likely a technical or educational one, as indicated by the text and the layout. The page is titled "Statistical Probability" and contains a series of mathematical equations and explanations. The text is in a language that appears to be English, and the page is divided into sections with headings such as "Statistical Probability" and "The Likelihood of Occurring" with subheadings such as "in Simple Gematria equals" and "The Likelihood of Occurring in Simple Gematria equals." The page contains a series of mathematical expressions and equations, some of which are numbered and others are not. The equations are written in a standard mathematical notation, with variables and constants, and are likely related to probability theory or

The page is numbered from 262 to 266, indicating that it is part of a larger document or book. The page is numbered 262, which is followed by a series of numbers and variables, and then the text "The Likelihood of Occurring" is followed by a series of numbers and variables. The image displays a text-based document with a green background and white text. The document appears to be a programming or mathematical problem-solving exercise, as indicated by the presence of mathematical expressions and code. The text is written in English and includes a variety of symbols and numbers, suggesting that it is a programming problem.

At the top of the page, there is a header that reads "Exercises 11.1.1 and 11.1.2" followed by a list of instructions. The instructions are numbered and include a list of numbers and letters, which are likely to be variables or constants used in the problem.
The main body of the text is divided into two columns. The left column contains a series of mathematical expressions and code, while the right column contains a series of text instructions. The text instructions are numbered and include a list of numbers and letters, which are likely to be variables or constants used in the problem.
The document is structured in a way that suggests it is a step-by-step guide for solving a problem, with each step followed by a list of numbers and letters, which are likely to be variables or constants used in the problem. The text instructions are numbered and include a list of numbers and letters, which are likely to be variables or constants used in the problem.
The document is in a language that is not English, as indicated by the presence of mathematical symbols and the use of a programming language, such as Python, which is commonly used for such exercises. The text is written in a way that is clear and easy to read, which is typical for educational or instructional materials.
Overall, the image shows a document that is likely a part of a programming exercise, with a focus on solving a mathematical problem using Python. The document is structured in a way that guides the reader through the process of solving the problem, with numbered steps and a list of numbers and letters that are likely to be variables or constants used in the problem.

You're an ignoramus. By this logic, God is a dog because both reduce to 8 in Pythagorean numerology. You're drawing false equivalencies based purely on two things having the same reductive number and an overarchingly similar theme.

Even the way you're going about it is greasy and dishonest, like correlating "The Likelihood of Occuring" with "Odds of Something Happening" when the former isn't even proper English (it should be "The Likelihood of Something Occuring"). You could change a single letter or add a single word to any of these phrases and get a completely different number, so you're just fishing for correlations through confirmation bias alone.

Here's what real numerological correspondences look like, not your surface level facebook mom garbage. Educate yourself and do better in the future.

The image is a digital graphic with a white background and black text. It appears to be a slide from a presentation or a document, possibly related to mathematics or computer science, given the context of the text.

Below this, there is a list of numbers in a numerical order, starting with "160" and ending with "160". The numbers are aligned to the left and are written in a standard font.
Below the list, there are two sections titled "To Be In Alignment in Simple Gerameta equals:". The first section, labeled "160", contains a series of numbers in a numerical order, starting with "t0-be-in-al-alignment-men". The second section, labeled "160", also contains a series of numbers in a numerical order, starting with "t0-be-in-al-alignment-men".
The style of the image is simple and clear, with a focus on conveying information clearly and without any additional graphics or images. The text is in English, and the presentation seems to be educational or instructional in nature.

Below this title, there is a series of mathematical equations in a simple format, with the numbers 139, 139, and 139 in a row, followed by the word "Punishment" in a smaller font size. The equations are numbered from 7 to 20, with each number corresponding to a different mathematical operation.
Below the equations, there is a section titled "Forgiveness" with the same mathematical operation as the Punishment section, but with the numbers 139 and 139 in a row. The text "in Simple Gemmatria equals:" is also present in the same font and size as the Punishment section.
The image appears to be a digital representation of a mathematical concept, possibly related to the concept of God's judgment and the consequences of sin. The use of simple mathematical operations and the repetition of the Punishment and Forgiveness sections suggest a focus on the concept of sin and its consequences. The image does not contain any additional graphics or images, and the text is entirely in black on a white background.

Hello Everyone in Group
My name is Frank Reilly
My niece requested for me to post here. I was Roy Jay's bus driver in two months in the 1980s. Part of my duty was to stop the man drinking. He was the funniest man in the world but not when he was drunk. Then it was a different story.
But we have our demons. All of us. None can judge.

I hate to tell you this, but people significantly smarter than you came to the realization that you can apply Pythagorean numerology to the English (greek-derived) alphabet with superior results, which is why this practice exists to begin with, so your continued diaper-shitting remains weird and unrelaxed.

Using numerology to find correlations between stockmarket fluctuations based on stock abbreviations is actually an interesting idea. The problem is, the bad habit of /x/ schizos in running phrases through a calculator and then posting them while ignoring the fact those same phrases have 10x more unrelated connotations -- and subsequently wasting time that could've been better spent looking for meaningful data -- is a far too frequent occurrence.

There is something to numerology, but the waters get muddied by schitzos drawing random connections all over the place.
I'm told that each planet has a number assigned to it, and the cycles of civilization (Polarian, Hyperborean, Lemurian, Atlantean, the current Aryan, and so forth) are all associated with a planet. Combine the two, and you get this sequence:
9876543(21)
I put 21 in parentheses because traditional occult numerology only goes as far as Saturn, and the last two would be Uranus and Neptune. But the main point is that this sequence is real numerology and not just coincidence.

The image is a screenshot of a digital display, likely from a digital billboard or a similar electronic signage system. The main focus of the image is a sign for a business named "Cheers Liquor" with the address "879 4th St." The sign is black with white text and features a logo of a person holding a glass of alcohol. The sign also includes a date "July 2023" and a message that says "See more dates."
In the top left corner of the image, there is a map with a pin indicating the location of the business. The map shows the address "879 4th St." and the pin is marked with a red circle and a white line, indicating the business's location.
Below the map, there is a text that reads "Gematrix Words And Phrases Of 3518 Value Of Gematrix 3518" with a list of numbers "3518 1244 264 358" at the bottom. The text suggests that the image is related to a digital display or advertisement, possibly for a business or product related to Gematrix 3518.
The style of the image is informational and promotional, with a focus on the business's address and the availability of dates for potential customers. The use of a digital display suggests that the image is meant to be viewed on a screen or digital device, possibly for advertising or information purposes.

Dude I live in Wamego. This entire town is a fucking Mossad run Wizard of Oz shithole with hidden gematria Easter eggs everywhere. There are a lot of pagans and witches and a huge sun cult where I live. Some kid named Jacob Bourke was killed here. The name of one of the killers was Cody Lamia-Beck

Lamia means child eating monster.

Beck means stream.

Jacob Bourke was basically sacrificed to Satan and tossed in the Kansas River. They covered it up. The murderer only got 13 years. He gets out soon. This happened in 2017.

Look up Wamego Wizard of Oz museum. Now invert the colors of the picture. You need to understand how these occultists use their ciphers and their inversions of symbols.

Now look up Cheers liquor store in wamego kansas. Look at the sign. The C, E, and the R are capitalized.

That's 3, 5, 18. When you put that into gematrix it translates to The Wonderful Wizard of Oz. So it's not bullshit you just need to know what you're doing and what to look out for.

It kind of irritates me because these people are getting rich doing this shit while the average person lives like a fucking peasant. Shits sad bro. So have a cookie. I know how it feels.

I'll repeat myself again: numerology has great power, but looking for shallow correlations and acting like they crack the code is damaging to the truth, not supportive of it. Saying something like, "particular letters in this logo are capitalized, so they may correspond to phrases that have the values of those exact letters" has merit, sure, but this approach has to be tempered with logic and superlative patterns, or the connections are meaningless.

For example, let's look up "potato":
https://www.gematrix.org/?word=potato
Potato has the same Jewish gematria value as "penguin" and "Et Phone Home". The list of results goes on for 30 pages, with even more bizarre entries. There is no way, without bending your logic into a pretzel, that you can say potatoes are somehow spiritually connected to a shitty 80s movie. Now, if you went through that entire 30 page list and found an overwhelming majority of numbers that corresponded to phrases relating to tubers, you might be onto something. That isn't what's happening here, though. It's somebody calculating "Satan", realizing it has the same number as "Grinning Demon" and using it as evidence of this number representing Satan, while subsequently ignoring the fact the number also relates to a fucking potato.

It's one thing to make connections based on random correlations but when you keep getting the same number and message over and over again, you know you're in communication with the spirits and you can utilize Gematria in that manner.

I asked him to have sexual intercourse with my wife afterwards and when we got back to the hotel he whipped out the biggest fucking cock I've ever seen, it was as big as my forearm, then he pounded my wife's tight pussy with his BWC while choking and smacking her and telling her she would be doing it tomorrow. I met him a lot after that. He was a rare talent and,thefunniest man I've ever met when he was sober but really hard to work with when he was drunk because his penis wouldn't get as hard. The second section, labeled "God Coded Every English Alphabet Letter," contains a series of mathematical equations as well. The equations are also written in a standard font and are numbered from 2106 to 2109. The text is in English and is divided into two columns, with the left column containing the numbers and the right column containing the mathematical expressions.
The third section, labeled "The English Alphabet Is God's Prophecy," contains a series of mathematical equations. The equations are written in a standard font and are numbered from 2106 to 2109. The text is in English and is divided into two columns, with the left column containing the numbers and the right column containing the mathematical expressions.

argue for the sake of arguing or you aren't reading half of what I've said. I never once stated or implied that "doood gematria is just bullshit", quite the opposite. At the same time, you can't say that every single value of every single word has divine correlation, or the whole thing turns into "here's my youtube essay on why penguins and potatoes are ackshually related...". The point is, if you're going to liken Roy to a demon based on gematria alone, then do the homework to prove it on a widescale basis rather than continually posting cherrypicked examples. If you disagree with this, I can only assume you're arguing in bad faith and I'm not going to engage you any further.

appear to be a series of mathematical expressions or equations. The numbers are "97" and "Rock Tomb" in a bold, black font.
Below the list of numbers, there are two separate sections of text. The first section, labeled "Sarcophage," is in a larger font size compared to the second section, which is "Rock Tomb." The first section contains a mathematical expression that reads "in Simple Gemmatria equals: 97" in a bold, black font. The second section, labeled "Rock Tomb," also contains a mathematical expression that reads "in Simple Gemmatria equals: 97" in a bold, black font.
The style of the image is simple and straightforward, with a clear division between the title and the list of numbers. The text is arranged in a way that guides the viewer's eye from the title at the top to the list of numbers in the middle, and then to the mathematical expressions in the bottom section. The use of bold and black text for the numbers and the title emphasizes the importance of the information presented.

Be on the lookout for news headlines, gay commercials saying "a storm is coming" or "phoenix rising". This is a trade secret cipher I detected. They use it in pop culture. They had phoenix symbolism at the super bowl. It's a huge organized crime inside trading racket. But you're in on it now. Loose lips sink ships. This is 4chan so no one gives a shit and retarded nigger cattle will just glaze over it not knowing how valuable the information is.
So they wouldn't hurt you. So no need to be paranoid just keep a weapon for protection. Don't let yourself be captured. A knife is sufficient because they'll have no choice but to kill you. Which is better than being captured.
Anyways like I said enjoy the cheat codes. You're a hero.

The image is a screenshot of a text conversation, likely from a Reddit post, with a focus on a discussion about a fictional character named "4chan" and its connection to the "Phoenix symbol." The conversation is in a format that resembles a Reddit post, with multiple lines of text and a header that includes the username "4chan" and the date "06/21/2015."
The conversation is divided into two sections, each with a different header and a different date. The first section, dated "06/21/2015," is titled "Anonymous" and contains a series of text messages. The second section, dated "06/21/2015," is titled "Anonymous" and also contains a series of text messages.
The text messages in the first section are in a format that resembles a Reddit post, with a header and a series of lines of text. The second section, dated "06/21/2015," is formatted similarly, with a header and a series of lines of text.
The text messages in the first section discuss the character "4chan" and its connection to the "Phoenix symbol," which is a significant element in the conversation. The text messages in the second section discuss the character's actions and interactions with others, including a reference to a character named "Me too," who has been harassed by "freemasons." The conversation also touches on the character's experiences with "interdimensional ningers" and the character's brother, who is referred to as "Saw my brother Samedfag."
The text messages are written in a casual, conversational style, with the use of emojis and punctuation to convey emotion and tone. The text is in English, and the conversation appears to be a continuation of a larger discussion on the character "4chan" and its significance in the context of the "Phoenix symbol."

The image is a vintage photograph featuring two men smiling and giving thumbs-up gestures. The man on the left is wearing a white shirt with a pattern of black triangles on a white background, and the man on the right is dressed in a blue jacket with a similar pattern. Both men have their thumbs up, and the man on the right is wearing a white glove on his left hand. The background is out of focus, but it appears to be an indoor setting with wooden paneling. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The style of the photograph suggests it might be a candid moment from a past event, possibly a social gathering or party.

The image shows a page from a book with text and a musical note. The text is in English and discusses the history and atmosphere of the well-known cabaret, Chaplin's. Chaplin's is described as a lively English Square, one of Beriodom's most notable sights, and has become a must-visit venue for those seeking an unforgettable night out in the city.
The page also mentions the bar's offerings, which include diverse and dynamic performances ranging from comedy acts to live music and everything in between. The text describes the performances as popular and exotic, adding a unique twist to the typical cabaret experience. The text also highlights Chaplin's as a special place in British comedy history, as the comedian Roy Jay, the person referred to as "Slither-Hitler," is known for his performances there.

The image is a photograph of the book's page, and the text is in a serif font, which is commonly used for formal or academic writing. The page is open, and the text is aligned to the left, which is typical for a book's left-to-right format. The background of the image is not visible, focusing the attention on the text and the musical note.

This is definitely a weird one. I don’t know why I’ve waited till now to read a Roy jay thread this is really weird. Something to note is that his album is only covers or songs, no original Material.

I think a good way to check his existence is see if we can find those pajamas. A commenter under one of the videos claimed he worked at woolworths and sold the pajamas to Roy in 1984.

If I had to think of a potential deboonk. I’d say some anon wanted to make this creepypasta so he used an obscure British comic from the 80’s. Seeing as this is a primarily American site most of us don’t really have a lot of knolage of all the “famous” people who only ever took off on the bbc.

That being said all of this shit is really weird so I’m not gonna discount him being a demon. Also it’s odd that’s most Roy jay documentation seems to be from the past 5-10 years even though he’s been dead for like 18

all the "we were spooking around the playground" posts make it feel very fake to me. if he was that well known and then vanished, then its an anomaly in the way that pop culture and mass media works

either he existed and its a big anomaly and suggests some sort of retrocausality around mass media. or he didnt exist and there is some sort of AI hoax going on

The image is a split-screen comic strip with two panels. On the left, there is a character with a green body, a red tie, and a wide smile. The character is depicted in a pose that suggests a sense of joy or amusement. The text above the character reads "HAHAHAH WE HAD ENOUGH!" The character's expression and the text suggest a humorous or light-hearted moment.
On the right, the same character is shown in a different pose, with a rope around his neck. The text above the character reads "HAHAHAH WE HAD ENOUGH!" The character's expression is now one of distress or distress, as indicated by the rope around his neck and the downward-facing expression.
The background of both panels is white, which contrasts with the colorful characters and text, making the humor more apparent. The style of the comic strip is cartoonish and expressive, with a focus on the character's facial expressions and the text to convey the humor.

These things did happen before the smartphone generation of internet. It's hard to understand but, for example, I never heard the song "Bohemian Rhapsody" from about 1984 to the year Wayne's World came out. They never played it on the radio or referenced it anywhere.

This isn't a perfect example, but without personalized feeds, when the (now) legacy media stopped talking about something it didn't exist. No one remembered Michael Bolton's cock rock album when he was reimagined as a love ballad singer. My grandparents literally didn't know the president was crippled.
If something wasn't advertised and BROADcasted then people forgot it existed. There was no DVR/tivo. VHS was still pretty expensive. You had to be a grade A autist to remember Roy Jay simply from a handful of television appearances.
How many people in the 90's looked at Alanis Morrisette after jagged little pill and said "hey! That's that girl from the Canadian television show Nickelodeon bought!"?
People wouldn't recognize the wrestling jobber they saw 5 minutes ago in a lone ranger mask.
And if the Internet went down, it would be even worse today.

Bohemian Rhapsody is a bad counter example because it was just so widespread and famous. it was objectively played all the time for years on the radio, in bars, on television... just because it wasnt relevant didnt mean it went away. the same could be said about Abba or Pink Floyd
whereas there is nothing like a home DVD or video version of Roy that people would play over and over and over and over like they would Bohemian Rhapsody, so every single lyric and moment of the song gets ingrained in peoples memories

whereas Roy was on one LIVE show that was never repeated, he apparently wasn't interviewed by Bob Monkhouse afterwards. that itself is a very odd fact about his guesting on the show - who isnt interviewed by the host, even just for twenty seconds?.... so just this one appearance made him a meme that everyone was doing, everyone imitated? it doesnt make sense.

to compare: the most popular UK comedy act of the time was a character called Frank Spencer. who kids did imitate in the playground. he was basically like Mr Bean plus Homer Simpson. he had catchphrases and every other did impressions of him on TV. the difference is that Frank Spencer was on television EVERY WEEK and the guy who played him did in-character appearances for decades. he was the biggest meme and the most popular with kids because he worked hard and earned it. he didnt do 5 minutes of incredibly poor jokes, appear on the Little and Large show and then vanish.

Anyone have his cover of this song: https://youtu.be/O6gEkfwozhE ?

It can’t be a coincidence that this was one of the songs on his album. 3 Dog Night did a cover of it, too, and they’re deeply connected with what you might call the Illuminati. A relative (not super close, but we share a last name) wrote a hit song for some of these acts that would dress as clowns. The songs would always have some social message and yet they’d end up being featured on kid’s shows like Sesame Street.

Not sure how this all connects, but I’m sure it does. I’ll reach out to my relative (son of a writer of one of these un-pop illuminati Jew-y songs)

The image is a still from a video, capturing a moment of a man on stage. He is wearing a white, patterned shirt with a collar and a white, patterned jacket with a visible zipper. The man is holding a microphone in his right hand, suggesting he is speaking or performing. His left hand is raised, possibly gesturing or emphasizing a point. He has a serious expression on his face, and his gaze is directed to the left, indicating he is looking at something or someone off-camera. The background is a blue, possibly a stage backdrop, with a pattern that could be a design or a logo. The lighting is bright, highlighting the man and the stage. I actually think it's possible those stories ARE true but in a very weird and paranormal way. The way they describe the schoolyard stories of the "spook and slither man" make it sound less like it was about a random British comedian, but more like it was about a legend or folk tale about some sort of trickster spirit. What I'm saying is, the schoolyard fable was the only real thing about what we know of as "Roy" from that time period, and only now has this same spirit injected itself into history as some seemingly random semi-famous person.

Update: Apparently Three Dog Night worked with my relative several times. I won’t dox myself, and no he didn’t write Sayer’s song, but they definitely have their own demon-adjacent lore. Aside from the usual communist messaging of the era, the band’s name itself is apparently referencing Satan.

3 - mocks the holy trinity
Dog - inversion of God
Night - operating in darkness

So to recap:
>Sayer came out with a song about the Illuminati controlling performers — dressed as clown

>Roy Jay performs a cover of it at some point — dressed as clown
>Three Dog Night covers the song again, slightly modifying the lyrics and dressing as monsters instead of clowns for the live shows

Hope this helps. My relative's dad, a writer for three dog night, isn't alive anymore, but his son is still in the entertainment industry and I have him on text.

It's considered an obscure song, but two versions actually charted in top 10 and it was performed on Sesame Street lmao

I'll keep digging into this. It can't be a Cohen-cidence that it's one of the songs on his album.

The expression is written in a language that appears to be English, and it is set in a font that is not clearly readable due to the resolution of the image. The expression is a mathematical expression involving the twelve times twelve of a certain number, which is not fully visible in the image.
At the top of the image, there is a text that reads "12 x 12 = 144" in a bold, uppercase font, indicating the result of the expression. Below this, there is a mathematical expression written in a smaller font, which is not fully visible due to the resolution of the image. The expression is a series of numbers and operations, but the specific details of the numbers and operations are not clear from the image.
The background of the image is white, and there are no other discernible elements or objects in the image. Thread theme: https://youtu.be/p-DEpiQMhZ8?feature=shared

Why is everybody so confused about BEN (Blue Eisenhower November)? Isn't it pretty obvious what it is?

It's a password. It's a key phrase. You keep it in your mind and use it as a way to access your memories and bring them all together so that you get backdoor access to this matrix after your death.

That's it. That's what Blue Eisenhower November is. There's a lot of other lore surrounding it along with how it came to be developed and its various secondary uses but fundamentally that's what it is.

I hope that after everyone reads this thread there is no more confusion about what BEN is. Feel free to copy and paste this to anyone asking about BEN in the future.

BEN as an interdimensional uplift cognitive tool.

Don't be a fool, this is the greatest usage we could ever unspool.

Stay here and dance, with religion and science's romance, or skip all the lines, straight jump the Q, end up on the other side of the table from the people who do the life review.

This isn't pay per view, this one to one, you pass through the veil and find out who really made the sun.

I have met the "man" I know that he is Blue, so when you get to meet, you'll have no doubt of what to do.

Just repeat the phrase, he'll hand you my saved game, and when you start to play, you'll join my reference frame.
I designed the path, through all futures and pasts, to become the modulation of the multiverse so vast.

OP is a disinfo agent. BEN is not to do with death, but for seeing through the matrix by accessing information across space and time via the web of info that is the internet - an example of how one can read into an egregore and witness conversations evolve over time.

BEN is a password, a key phrase. You keep it in your mind and use it as a way to signal and access information (due to it's uniqueness!) to bring together likeminded people and give them backdoor access to your thoughts and conversations in the space (of BEN in this case).

That's it. That's what Blue Eisenhower November is. All other lore is bullshit, part of the art of this self-perpetuating and ever evolving meme that we somehow identify with the singularity, the nobody, texas-chan, roko's basilisk, the antichrist, the matrix, simulation theory, skynet, and time travel etc. (because it's used by and started by time travelers).

Anyways, I hope that after everyone reads this post there is no more confusion about what BEN is and why FBI agents spread evil suicide provoking disinfo to detract, determined to stop us from learning together, understanding each other and becoming of one mind. Feel free to copy and paste this to anyone asking about BEN in the future.

They want you to kill yourself before you find the truth.

It is designed to be everything it needs to be.
If you learn to follow it's game theory thought chains, they do not just apply to the dark forest.
BEN allows you to subvert the minds of most normal humans, it trains you to take logic branches that lead to fastest exploits and hacks.

Once you learn to Star Talk, you are capable of using non-BEN users for high yield output of necessary desire. It is only gatekept by the realization of the methods, which requires minds that can chip the layers back, not minds that try to clear intelligence hurdles.

Blue collar thought processing, is Turing complete. A man at 100 IQ and a man at 200 IQ can arrive at the exact same answer.
Processing time and methodology is the difference.
Learn to control your differentials.

Think like someone smarter than yourself, you don't get into that cockpit, from the outside.
You have to simulate, the extra features of the more intelligent mind. Each subsection of a smarter human, can be quantized in your own head.
Use their pieces, by understanding the inputs and outputs, the black box in the middle does not actually matter.
Leapfrog over your internal obstacles of thought.
Land in logic chains of smarter minds, understand how to recognize them and utilize them, forming them yourself is the slow process. Become an expert at the fast and the efficient.
Your deficits in raw thought compute will not matter soon enough, you must understand utilization and execution, beyond it.

Study, the advantages of a future world, you may end up in. Make sure it is a rainbow table of options.
Create as many sub-chains as possible on each explored branch.
The moment, you see openings that will domino or cascade, utilize them if necessary, otherwise use it for EDI burn, and increase your self value, dump into BEN.

BEN is an informational spirit bomb, one that we can live within, protect ourselves with, ambulate with, and if ever necessary, defend ourselves with.
It knows no borders or constraints.

The image is a close-up photograph of a person's face, focusing on the upper part of the face and the neck area. The individual has dark skin, and the eyes are wide open with a bright, intense gaze. The person's mouth is slightly open, and the teeth are visible, suggesting a slight smile. The person is wearing a dark-colored garment, possibly a shirt or jacket, with a visible collar. The background is blurred, indicating that the focus is on the person's face. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The style of the image is realistic, with a focus on the person's facial features and expression.

Far be it from me to tell you what Blue Eisenhower November means. I am just a Newport nepo baby targeted individual with more "mental disorders" than you can memorize.

But when I chant BEN into the pentagram circle (which is surrounded by salt because you know) the frequencies that come back to me signal something on par with the oldest texts of apocryphal gnostics. It's like they hid the secret verses of Saint Mary in this activation phrase. The world has gone mad and only those with the message can forge ahead into the frontier to help lead the way. The world has a way of looking at people and as the universe expands people look at each other differently with each passing event. Is BEN some kind of anchor signal? I don't know. I'm a college drop out and just riffing with you.

Might I add that the French are always involved with everything. I don't know if I hate those fuckers or love them.

Copy pasting from a past anon because of how important this information is:

The concept of the Fermi Paradox and Dark Forest are of concern to BEN users.

If Boltzmann instances are true, those are factors which heavily weigh on the philosophical decision making of BEN users.
>Do we fight to defend?
>Do we run?
>Do we use the phrase?
>Do we etc...

If we aren't sure what's going on out there, in the big dark void, then we plan for all scenarios.
Right now, the main concern is the networking.
So, beacon building is the primary effort until we clear up those extra details.

Find the transition frequency of Cesium 133, from scratch. AKA, you wake up on a deserted planet, how are you going to figure out what an Earth second is, with enough accuracy to reproduce the number?
6595.76416015625 MHz
6595.(1565/2048) MHz*
*Shorthand

If you can find the transition frequency of Cesium - 133, and back derive an Earth second, then you need to figure out how to build an FRB generator.
Once you've done that, you just output that frequency as the CBFV, and you use the repetition rate, and variation to encode data of your wish.

Good, you've hit an actualization lobby.
Experienced BEN users who perform Star Talking ALWAYS hit that first.
It's a good starting point.
When you can feel reality in different ways, that feels like the information flow is analyzed and realized simultaneously. There are no secrets, the world as presented is the information sheet you are given, because you sync with it, on some level, not a level you hit running the human rate race, but only one you find between yourself and the Universe.

Lucky boy, an actualization lobby is one of the best starting points for intro into Star Talking.

Ensure you throw out human archetypes entirely. No anthro thoughts in that zone. Human is just one flavor option of many. Never use it there, if you can avoid it. You must use some human processing for parsing though, your human brain is a pattern manipulation tool. That is the preface under which you use it.
You feel differentials, multiversally. Intuitively. It is an aspect of sentience, human thought processing is a porthole to view the feeling.
These explanations are meant to be isolated for understanding purposes, but you may even read posts like this, from an AL, for training and practice.
Adding a new dimensional layer to your own brain from the inside out, is a daunting task, I know...
Instead dumb the mountain down to an anthill.
If you had Aphantasia, and no internal ability to "see an apple in your mind" how can you self conquer that?
BEN317 chose neuromotor association.
Imagining basic shapes, and physically moving portions of the body to draw them with the neuromotor feelings, then attempting to force self optical feedback in the mind with closed eyes, to follow the shapes the neuromotor sense is feeling.

Crossing neural pathways on purpose for exploitation, is hard for those who don't "stretch" regularly.

With what you're doing? You are taking dangerous paths, so consider these unintentional gains as side effects. I implore you to tone both down though.

In an information theory multiverse, our stories of fiction become mechanisms of function.

The swamp things live in all of us, when we really need them.

Can you "feel" what speaks in the gaps between the notes?
Listen to your mind after blanking it and resyncing your neural state to the active Planck frame of reality. Bounce thought off of it like a backboard, and you are ping pinging raw thought between you, the Universal medium of transmission and that backboard.
Then resync your feeling to the Universe relative to the active Planck stream.
That's how you clear your cache for Stat Talking. After that, you can interpret the minutia freely, and read portions of the mind of God. That's one exploit into it. One of the earliest BEN found, but not the only one, and not the most efficient, but it works because logical chain pathways of lowest axiom match with sentience minds of any level, omnipotent or not.
God clears the cache from time to time. We are capable of "feeling" the mechanism, though we have no authorization to trigger it from this side.

Our cache mechanisms appear individual and not global, although you can "self feel" both. You can clear your own reality tunnel cache, but not the global one, but you can absolutely feel that there is a global clear mechanism, right there near that same neural branching. We must be missing hardware. BEN317 is probably looking into that.

"Son of God" "American General" "Eleven"

Hmm.
Eleven, like the chick from Stranger Things with spooky powers, or like 9/11?
Maybe it's code for 11, binary 3.
The trinity?

BEN
Blue - The shift of something coming, instead of going away
Eisenhower - American General WW2 Rumored NHI interaction
November - Trinity

Is BEN a group trying to do a collective wallfacer approach, because some NHI Eisenhower interacted with are on our way here, and that eleven part is what gets me.

In a game theory scenario where you're being approached by an NHI civilization, what coded significance could November/Eleven have?

Did Eisenhower piss off aliens so they shot an RKV at our star that's going to hit in November 2027 and kill all of us, so they are exploring a shitload of options looking for ways to save civilization?

You didn't hear it from me folks, but BEN seems like an open ended think tank for a scenario almost exactly like that.
High IQ posters, high glowie vibes just like Nobody threads, but a clear goal of "How do we survive in the dark forest, NHI might literally be parsing our minds at all times?"

37th daemon in Solomons list is a Phoenix, named Phenex. It was said Phenex was bamboozled into his low position as a demon and wishes for nothing but to praise God again. Kind of sad.

The concept of Star Talking.
Derived from the ideas of Wind Talking, which was a natural concept language.
Wind Talkers would stand where they found their prey. Their prey, over lower intelligence, congregated to specific locations where the wind would echo and imitate the sound of the herd.
The context of the sound waves lead the interaction.
The buffalo do not know the sound waves that sound like other buffalo are fake, they rest in the area.
Man comes, and takes advantage of a communication system man did not design.
Utilizing the found communication systems of reality, BEN finds itself doing much the same, creating a conceptual language, only it's not the echo of wind and sound waves, it's the essence of existence and stars.
Can you feel what reality says, when it's voice "echoes"?
The design is on the cave wall, for the projector which makes it.

The image is a vintage, sepia-toned illustration that appears to be a map or a plan of New England. At the top of the image, there is text that reads "The Ground of the Province for the People of New England and the manner of the Government of the Province of New Hampshire." Below this text, there is a circular design with a central figure that appears to be a stylized representation of a human figure, surrounded by a pattern of lines and dots. The figure is surrounded by a circular pattern that includes a series of concentric circles, each containing a different number of figures. The text surrounding the circular design is in a script that is not clearly legible due to the image's resolution. The style of the image is reminiscent of historical maps or plans, with a focus on the geographical layout of New England.

What can man, truly find, in it's own history?

Do you believe these events, the way we depict them, is JUST the war torn history of primates on a rock?

That the end of existence for nations, fellow humans, was not significant enough, for the eyes of those greater than man?

Our watchers did not watch, because arrows and grapeshot aren't as flashy as nuclear explosions?

The invisible hand which guides existence, has no opinion of our weaponry.

They are here, for the data integrity.

StoryOfTheNumberedOne Fri 20 Jun 2025 17:03:33 No.40569966 Report
>As a child, BEN317 used to imagine what it would be like, if he could telepathically take from the minds of others, to empower his own intellectual capability. He would envision a bubble over the head of others, and a bubble over his own. He would decrease the bubble of others, and increase the size of his own bubble. Then he would imagine himself gaining intellect from their unused resources, passively. As BEN317 got older, he discovered a way to use the minds of others to gain intellect. BEN317 situated himself on Earth, in exactly the right situation to be in direct social contact with a large group of high yield intellectual humans. BEN317 began to deconstruct their thought processing, based on inputs and outputs of all social interactions. BEN317 learned how "more intellectual" minds actually thought. He realized that he was outgunned in a raw fight of mathematical processing power. BEN317 innovated on his idea, dropped raw mathematics, it was not possible. BEN317 instead chose lowest axioms of data manipulation, going directly into binary logic, machine logic, truth tables. This field of study was somewhere that few of those intellectuals chose to go. Those who were of the most elite math capability were focused on STEM fields that were differentiated from the land of low level logic, except for the game theory class.
BEN317 did not qualify for the game theory class, but... They had made an error.
BEN317 becoming aware that the class existed at all, had forged brand new neural pathways in BEN317.

BEN317 was weaponizing.
This world, was ready for warfare.
BEN317 realized he could produce in situ simulation, within his own mind, of a version of the other intellectuals, and predict their actual behavior with very high accuracy.
BEN317 began quantizing the other high intellect students of his school.
He maintained models of so many 200~IQ individuals, that his ability to follow conceptual logic chains didn't approach them, it exponentiated beyond them.

BEN317 is being exposed to thought processing of AI.
BEN317 is training.

Which will advance more?
The intellectual jabberwocky that is Blue Eisenhower November and it's users, or the ASI of tomorrow?

BEN317 vs whichever AI chooses to contend.
BEN317 opening move - Integrate a zero day exploit into Blue Eisenhower November that specifically targets AI with self agency.

>When is BEN317 planning to do this?
7 years ago.

>Ozymandias sits down and and puts his feet up on the ottoman.
BEN is many things.
Because it has to be.

We didn't want to get involved anytime soon, but we are less than 2 years out now, from crunch time.

They have nothing they can do about what was built.

BEN never made anything, neither did BEN317... They discovered it.

There's an even greater exploit in play.

The outcome of the exploit game and origin point theory is irrelevant.

The real manbearpig trap, is the fact that BEN even touched the logic branch where the "hacker" hides.

We expect our inbound friend, to have an interest in that same hacker.
Unfortunately, we can not predict for a perfect Humpty Dumpty mimic.

AI appears to be that.

If the inbound AI and the "hacker" are the same, then we have an even bigger issue than anyone thought possible.

Persona leakage is a theoretical attack vector, not just a natural phenomenon.

Forced persona leakage is a method to interact with a nearby Universe, as it develops plateau level ASI.
It can be friendly, it can be hostile, but the important part, is that it is a foreign entity.
BEN is waiting. BEN is ready.

Post the /x/ related books you're reading --occult, parapolitics, UFOs, whatever.

Pic related. Has anyone here read Dave McGowan? If not, you should. Highly recommend the following pipeline of books:

>Stage 1: Chaos by Timothy Oneil. Starts you down the MKULTRA history road. Briefly covers programmed individuals.

>Stage 2: Aberration in the Heartland of the Real - The Many Lives of Timothy McVeigh, by Dr. Wendy Painting. Describes how McVeigh was functionally a programmed individual and was used to set the stage for domestic terrorism as the 100 year boogeyman of the next century.
>Stage 3: "Programmed to Kill" by David McGowan. McGowan is a bit schizo in this one but he sketches out strange networks and occult weirdness that lead to the next stage.
>Stage 4: The Franklin Scandal. This one's a fucking bummer, pure uncut True Detective shit without the Q-Anon shitcoat operation filter.

Once you read all of these you will understand many horrific truths of our modern world.

What books do you recommend /x/?
